The Metal Market.

New York, May 1.—There was a sharp break in the London tin market which opened at £127 for cash and at £127 10s for futures. Locally the market was rather unsettled and ruled easier throughout, with the break should closing at 30.50@30.75 cents. Copper was more active, closing at 12@12.25 cents for spot and 12.25@12.50 for futures. Locally the market seems quite unsettled. It is understood that leading producers are still asking 12.50 for lake and electrolytic, but it is now reported that these prices are not firmly adhered to, and that business could be done at less than this. Lead was steady, at 4.20@4.30 cents. Spelter was unchanged at 5.90@6 cents. Pig iron was quiet and steady.

The Visible.

Liverpool, May 1.—The following are the weekly wheat statements and movements in Liverpool, as cabled: Wheat, 2,000,000 bushels; corn, 1,000,000 bushels; flour, 100,000 bbls. Wheat afloat, 1,000,000 bushels; corn afloat, 1,000,000 bushels.

New York, May 1.—The following are the quantities of grain in store in this city on Saturday, April 29, as compiled by the New York Produce Exchange, in all figures: Wheat, 2,[illegible] bu. decrease 1,[illegible]; corn, 3,[illegible] bu. decrease 1,[illegible]; oats, 1,[illegible] bu. increase 4[illegible]; rye, 1,[illegible] bu. decrease 7[illegible]; barley, 1,[illegible] bu. decrease 4,[illegible].

Coffee.

New York, May 1.—Office—Spot, fair quiet. No. 7 invoice, 7[illegible] cost and freight, Santos, 8[illegible]. The market for futures opened to-day at a decline of 5 points under moderate selling by bulls, under the low point of last week, while news from the Brazilian markets and crop reports were unsettled by the weakness of the French market, where the depression was attributed to May tenders. There was comparatively little demand here and prices improved there some another partial 5 points, leaving steady at a decline of 3@5 points. Sales were reported of 47,500 bags, including May at 6.[illegible], July at 6.[illegible], Sept. at 6.90c, Dec. at 7.[illegible]c, March at 7.3[illegible]c.

LIVE-STOCK MARKET.

Native Supply Light—Beef Cattle Steady—Sheep Hold Firm.

NATIVE CATTLE—Both local and Eastern buyers wanted; very few cattle to-day, and satisfactory for the selling side, that the receipts were light. However, even with so few cattle on offer, the trade was very dull and lifeless, and, while a few orders were had which cleaned up most of the offerings at last week's prices, yet sales were reported slightly under the close of the week.

The offerings were largely on the medium order, showing just decent kill, bringing from $4.[illegible], while a few common to fair kinds and odd lots sold from $4.[illegible]. Two loads of prime grass steers sold at $5.[illegible], while the best load of the day were weighed at a late hour.

Butcher cattle: Demand from all sources for butcher stock was of a fruitless nature, and sales were made in a slow manner, at just about steady prices with the previous week's close.

The few lots of medium to good heifers sold at $4.[illegible], with common to fair at $3.[illegible] to $4. A few good cows brought $4.[illegible], most of the medium to good at $3.[illegible]@4, a good many cutters between $2.50@3 and a few canners under $2.

SOUTHERN CATTLE—The inquiry in the quarantine division kept up, yet through the small supply the receipts values were held almost steady with last week's close. However, it was a jobbers trade throughout the day, and it took up to the last hour to make a clearance of the 28 cars that were received.

STEERS—Sold at $4.[illegible] and steers sold at $4.[illegible] for bulls. Of steers were on the fair to medium order at $3.[illegible]@3.[illegible]. Several loads of grass cows of fair flesh brought $3.[illegible], while the balance of the supply embraced scattering odds and ends.

SHEEP—A moderate supply of sheep arrived and they were all for sale. Besides a fair representation of native sheep and lambs there were also two double decks of Colorado lambs on sale and five double decks of Texas.

The market opened on a good steady basis, and the offerings were soon cleaned up; however, those having plenty of fresh and quality were readily sold, as those on the half-fat or poorer order were slow of sale.

Colorado lambs sold at $6.[illegible] and $6.[illegible], native lambs up to $[illegible] a few choice native sheep at $5 and a string of 1,291 head of light-weight Texans weighing only 77 lbs sold at $4.60.

HOGS—A good, moderate supply of hogs arrived, the receipts amounting to around 3,000 head, and the quality was about as usual, including a few loads of real good hogs; also some pigs and lights that were on the common order.

The market opened a little slow, with prices on the early market being slightly better than on Friday, but hardly as good as on Saturday, but by the time the market was fairly under way there was no material difference from Saturday, most of the decent hogs selling close to steady, but the market was not at any time very active.

Lights and pigs that were inclined to be on the common order or that classed as only fair were very slow sale, and prices irregular and not at all satisfactory to sellers.

The top of the market was $5.[illegible] and the bulk sold at $5.[illegible]@5.[illegible], with lights 10c to 15c lower, going at $4.[illegible]@5.[illegible], and packers mostly at $5.[illegible]@5.[illegible]. Little pigs sold at $5.[illegible]@5.[illegible], lights under 150 lbs, at $4@5.[illegible]; the bulk at $4.[illegible]@5.[illegible].

HORSES—The horse market opened with somewhat more liberal arrivals than a week ago, owing to the consignments arriving for the special sale, which takes place this week. Many of the offerings consequently are of very choice character, and an interesting week is looked for. The special sale offerings, however, had no bearing on the market to-day, other than their inclusion in the receipts. The offerings for the auction consisted about 250 heads, and were of ordinary character, comprising chunks, Southern horses and a few drivers. The buying force was quite liberal, but the line of demand were more closely drawn. There was a distinct check of demand for plain Southern horses, hardly any buyers seeming to want them, and the consequence was that they sold less satisfactorily than for several months, values being $[illegible] lower than two weeks ago. The market on other classes, such as good chunks, drivers and Kansas horses, was steady and firm.

MULES—Mule receipts amounted to about 200 head, but only about 50 head were available on the commission market, the balance being confined to dealers. The quality of the offerings was as good as usual of late, and the trade was inclined to move slower, but the market was quoted steady to firm on all good to choice full-trade and full-speed mules, sound and broken. There is no call for the plainer, rough, blemished, aged and weak kinds, at a season at which they are active having passed. None of the dealers want to buy such classes, as there is no outlet for them, and they do not care to hold them on their hands, perhaps a month or two, before a demand will develop.
