FAIR GROUNDS—Smathers Entry Will Be Favorite in Debutante Stake This Afternoon. UNION TRACK—W. B. Gates Won His Race in the Mud, Scoring at Odds of 8 to 1. MARATHON RACE—Fourteen Contenders Will Start in Distance Race of the M. A. C.

SMATHERS MAY WIN DEBUTANTE STAKE; OPERATOR LOOKS GOOD AT UNION

Abjure and Auray Seem to Have Best Chance in Two-Year-Old Fixture at Fair Grounds—Little Scout's Chance.

Stringer Horse Should Score in Fifth Race at New Track, in the Sticky Going—W. B. Gates in Mud.

With the Debutante Stakes as a feature this afternoon at the Fair Grounds, a first-class field of 2-year-olds is scheduled to race the barrier, and of these it seems that the Smathers pair have first right to distinction.

Abjure won her solitary race at the Fair Grounds in handy fashion. Auray ran two good races at Memphis, twice being within the money and once running a fair sort of race after going wide on the stretch turn. Both have shown good form over slow and sloppy tracks.

All the prospects for to-day point to a track of a heavy and sticky sort. In this kind of going the most dangerous competitor, Ala Russell, would seem at something of a disadvantage. The Williams filly ran a nice race or two in exactly similar footing at Lawton. Yet her specialty, so far as has been shown in her local work, would seem to be over a fast track.

Osee, from the Chinn stable, has won both her local outs. Her last victory was scored in commanding style over a field including Ala Russell. Yet, considering the customary bad acting of the Williams youngster at the post, which brought to her a trifle the worst of the break, it seems as if Ala Russell can be selected to beat Osee.

The other contenders, it would seem, should gracefully give way to the quartet included in the above selections, when the final test comes in the run from the head of the stretch. It would look as if Abjure should score in this race, while Ala Russell should be well up to the fore when the pinch comes. Osee may be third.

Next in importance to the stake event is the fifth race, where a high class field is assembled at a mile and a sixteenth. Handicap figures here will show that any one of the quartet composed of Little Scout, Lubin, Rainland and Careless should beat the other three. This is simply a testimonial to the handicapping ability of Judge Edward Murphy.

If Mr. Magnin can so balance his field that each horse looks to have an equal chance, he has fulfilled the ambition of the handicapper—for his profession is to so match the contenders that they seem likely to run a dead heat.

Weights will throw little light on the probable winner this afternoon. The condition of the track will do more to decide the outcome. Little Scout, Lubin and Rainland have all displayed fondness for a similar track in bygone races, and it should be a tight fit between them.

Of the trio, Little Scout seems to deserve first mention. Although he beat Lubin by the narrowest of margins on their last out, and although the shift in weights would seem to favor the Elliott entry, a trifle, it appears as if first mention should go to the Bennett campaigner.

Little Scout is a steady, forceful racer. He is always trying, and his sole handicap is the fact that he is generally slow to begin. Jockey Dominick will ride him again to-day and should place him nicely when the stretch turn is reached.

On the last race of the past, May 3, when Lubin was beaten a nose, Little Scout turned into the stretch fully a length and one-half behind Lubin. The Elliott horse bore in a trifle and Little Scout seemed in danger of being cut off, so much so, that Paddock Judge Finney stated that he had to watch the pair narrowly to see that no foul was committed.

Without ever hesitating an instant, Dominick sent his mount through an opening which seemed too small for Little Scout to pass through, and fairly drove Lubin out of the way. It was his riding down the stretch which won the race for the Bennett horse, and his presence in the saddle to-day means about a five-pound advantage for the Memphis horse.

Lubin should beat Rainland for the place. The Goldblatt horse appeared to tire in his last race on similar going, and it hardly seems that he can beat out Lubin in the latter's present form.

Uncle Charley should win another race for the Schorr stable in the sixth event. Bronze Wing looks most dangerous here, but his performance is for a sloppy course rather than sticky going. Bonebrake has not done anything particularly sensational, but may be third on the fashion in which he has finished in heavy footing heretofore.

In the last race Waterpure should finally score. He won a rather nice race on his first local out, and was in the money on his next two starts. Amberita has been showing consistent work to date. She may be second and Aladdin should be third.

In the first event Miss Goldblatt should win another race with Fargo. Henchman seems able to run in any kind of going and should be second, while Wes may be third.

Red Leaf should score once more in the second event, beating Miss Mae Day, who will probably be favorite. Jocosa looks capable of getting show money.

Van Ness ought to score in the third race if he does not bleed, while Kleinwood and Tyrolean may be second and third.

JAKE SANDERS WON FEATURE HANDICAP.

Smathers Colt Scored in the Distance Event Over the Fair Grounds Course, Defeating Broomhandle.

Coming home in the easiest of fashion, with a trio of struggling competitors behind him, Jake Sanders won the feature event at the Fair Grounds yesterday without a touch of a whip or spur or without ever being urged at any stage of the journey.

That the Smathers colt held his opponents safe was proved as soon as the gate went up. It was presumed that Little Broomhandle might make a bid for setting the pace that Tartan might also be close up and that Toby Tom could not be shaken off, even if the going was not exactly to the liking of the gray gelding.

Instead Jake Sanders went to the front at the first turn, as though he was running over a fast track. Going ahead without urging, he shot to the fore in the first turn, increased his lead at the second turn and on the backstretch came with a rush on the lower turns and was as he pleased, with his ears pricked up and with Auberchon fairly straining his arms to keep the colt within reasonable distance of his field.

Tired, muddy and struggling in the going, the game little Broomhandle finished second, running with the same determination he has always shown in his race. It was a hopeless task for him to catch the galloping leader, but he struggle in as gamely as though first money was in sight for him.

Tartan was a distant and a lucky third. Although Jockey Moore took Toby Tom wide on the turns, knowing that the gray gelding favored a better footing than the slush near the inner rail, he made up all the ground he lost on the turns and was catching Tartan with every stride. In a few more jumps he would have had third money.

The race simply showed that Jake Sanders was far and away the best performer in the going, and that it will be hard to beat him at any distance, if the track is muddy or sticky.

Our Lillie was another candidate who scored over her favorite sort of track. She laid in third position, ran a good enough race and was coming strongly at the end. She shook off Howling Derwish at the end, and was simply drawing away at the close. In the sticky track she was easily the superior of her opponents.

Security showed that his first race, locally, was an accident, when he came home in a gallop in the opening event on the card. He had gone wide on the stretch turn on his first start and had thereby lost many lengths. Yesterday, held at odds on in the betting, he came home an easy winner, and scored as he pleased.

Pointsticker was a good second and Harry Scott a fair sort of third. Turn-Over might have been a contender, but went very wide at the head of the stretch.

Lelia Hunter led all the way in the second event and scored a rather handy victory.

POOR RIDE BY JOCKEY LOWE COST BEECHER FOURTH RACE

Displayed Poor Form in Feature Event at Union Track and Lost to C. R. Campbell.

Maurice Lowe's bad ride on Beecher, the 2-to-1 favorite, gave to C. R. Campbell, a 20-to-1 chance, an opportunity to win the fourth race at Union track yesterday afternoon. Beecher was about two score the best but Lowe rode such a bad race that he was beaten a head.

The race was a joke, although Beecher, Pointsticker and other sprinters were in the event. Beecher hustled along in front all the way, while the rest ones pulled along behind him. Lowe held Beecher in check at the start, then went after the lead.

At the turn of the back stretch Beecher was going to the front, but Lowe took him back. Turning for home he swung wide and did a thing he rarely does when riding in his best form—threw a whip. Beecher darting up and was shooting to the front when Lowe again checked Red Jim, and took him to behind The Bard. The Bard pulled him and again went after his whip.

Beecher swerved and fouled Little Margaret and Governor Sayers. After all this C. R. Campbell only had just him a neck. For the foul committed Beecher was disqualified and the place and show given to Little Margaret and Governor Sayers. Lowe is a good boy and can do better.

Sharp finishes were the order of the day. The sixth event furnished a pair tried between Rudolek and Miss Mokohoa and gave their backers heartburn. Mokohoa at 2 to 1, led to the very last stride, when Rudolek, 3 to 1, under a vigorous ride from Heidel, shot past the post leads. Rudolek interfered with Clandeline in the last fifty yards, the result might have been different. Ethel Mark, who opened up at 6 to 1, went to 4 to 1 and on a pool proportionate to the betting.

John Garner, a legitimate 4-to-5 shot, won the first race pulled up from Inquisitive Girl, who ran to her best form. Dawson beat Watermelon a head for third money.

Good, backed from 5 to 2 to 1 all the way and won the second race by a wide margin from Rosi Ni Ni, the 2-to-1 choice. Long Bright was fine. Miss Nannie L. Little Mollie Long coil was third. The horse is by the famous winner of the St. Louis Club Members' Handicap of 1903.

Chicarra, at 6 to 5, showed good speed in the fourth event, and easily outran Soundly, coming from behind her and the fear Miss Marconi. Hilarity ran over the tired Soundly at the end. Miss Marconi ran one of her fast races, and was last or thereabouts.

The fifth event saw W. B. Gates beat First Attempt. The loving Gates was at 7 to 1, while the mare to beat, First Attempt, a match. Attempt led all the way and seemed to be winning easily in the last hundred yards, when Houbre swung Gates up with a tremendous rush, and just nipped the mare on the wire. Gates went well all the way. Athlana was third.
