FIREBALL MAY WIN STAKE RACE; THE DON BEST AT UNION TRACK

Williams Colt, With Much Weight Off Yesterday's Impost, Should Get First Money in Feature at Fair Grounds.

Daniels Brothers' Entry Looks Best in Handicap Over the New Course—Erbe to Capture the Mile Event.

With twenty-three pounds off his weight yesterday and with Forehand as his most apparently dangerous contender, it seems as if Fireball should come home first in the Mississippi Valley Stakes at the Fair Grounds this afternoon.

In a fourteen-horse field, it seems as if a quartet of performers stand out prominently. They are Fireball, Forehand, Angleta and Colonel White. Considering the light weight on the last-mentioned pair, it is clear that a fast pace will be set for the early stages. But the distance is at a mile of ground, and this seems to give a better chance to the distance performers.

Forehand is carrying big weight here. The Bennett entry is a high-class horse, but 119 pounds is a heavy impost for him. Jockey Dominick will have the mount today, and it appears as if a strong bid for first money should surely result—for Dominick is one of the best judges of pace at the local tracks.

Fireball carried 115 pounds in his race yesterday. The first four furlongs of that event was covered in time, but a bare fraction of a second behind the track record for the distance. Fireball, with more than his weight for age, was simply outrun in the early stages, and could never get up when it came to a final tussle.

To-day he packs but nine-two pounds. At this weight he should keep close to Angleta, who will probably be in the lead for the early stages. If he is within striking distance at the head of the stretch it is hard to see how anything in the field can beat him save one contender, Forehand.

Forehand is a powerful animal and has packed weights of 119 pounds before. Although top weight in the race, and although he should be hampered somewhat by this impost over one mile of ground, it seems as if he should surely get in the money.

Schreiber has both Dargin and Angleta in, but it seems as if Angleta should be the dependence of the local turfman here. She has a world of early pace, will be helped by her light impost and should be able to make things interesting for the pair, which may possibly finish in front of her.

The race should furnish a first-class contest and the field seems evenly balanced. All the likely starters are of capacity fit to make a good race out of the match, and it seems as if at least ten contenders should face Starter Dade at the post.

Next to this event one really good race is shown in the last contest on the card. The route is one mile and one-half, and these distance events have always proved popular with the turf followers. A good field of long distance horses is entered, and of these old Aladdin stands out nicely, with Tolness and The Bobby as possible antagonists at the finish.

Waterside has been held at a short price in the betting, but it would seem that he may prefer a soft track. The same applies to Tolness, who opened such a gap on her field in the last distance race wherein she figured. The Bobby ran a good race yesterday, made a bold bid for just a neck at the stretch head, then dropped back into the stretch.

He does not like much weight over 100 pounds and will carry just that amount today. With this impost and with the extra distance to cover, it surely seems as if the old Cross gelding was going to be in the money. The horse that may beat him will have to run his best. But it looks possible that Aladdin may do this.

On his last start the Bennett horse was hampered by the fact that Bravery crossed his path in the last fifty yards, forcing him to pull up. But for this he would surely have been second. It seems as if the outcome of this race should be Aladdin, The Bobby and Tolness.

In the sixth event Miss Affable, who seems to have been a trifle underrated, looks capable of winning. She has light weight up and may be able to score over Action and Howling Dervish. Action should be improved by her last race, and may finish ahead of Howling Dervish, although the Longo gelding was in the lead when they crossed the wire on their last out.

In the third race, whether Silver Sue will like the going seems to be the question on which the victory may hang. If she favors the course first money in this event should go to the Williams stable. We may take Second and High Chance, ought to be there at least. This last will probably be favorite, but it seems as if third place can be selected to him.

The fifth should go to Ethics. Light weight to-day should make a world of difference in her running. Tern's Rod cannot be overlooked, while Gregor K., making his first bow on the local tracks, should be third.

Miss Manners showed distinct improvement in her last race, although she is clearly not the mare she was last season. She will not have to give away so much weight as she did on her last start, and ought to be able to lead this field home. Daisy Grey went rather wide on her last out and may improve her position to-day, while Folies Bergeres is always dangerous in a similar field.

In the first event Netting may put the last end of the purse to the credit of the Hughes stable. Light weight ought to favor her chances, and Hecos may be second in line, with Delusion third.

OTTO STIFEL WON FROM BIG ELASTIC.

Schreiber Colt Defeated the Heavy Lemp Horse in Handy Style Over Six-Furlong Course at Fair Grounds.

Running a first-class race under heavy weight, Otto Stifel, from the Schreiber stable, came home first in the feature event at the Fair Grounds yesterday, beating the ponderous Elastic from the Lemp string and having a good margin of lead over Fireball.

From start to finish it was clearly Otto Stifel who had to be reckoned with. Although Fancy Dress set a fast pace out in front and ran the first half mile in time which nearly equaled the track record for the distance, she backed up when the real test came, and was not in the money.

Fireball was the surprise here. Although held as almost equal to the betting with Otto Stifel, he was far back when the stable tipster was reached, did not make his run until the stretch turn, then scalped a little ground under a hard drive.

Otto Stifel ran a first-class race and was well ridden by Jockey Dominick. The boy took him between Fancy Dress and Ahola near the stretch turn, kept the bulky Elastic from crowding him back, then forced his way to the front and won in clever enough style, with Elastic rolling along in the rear.

Next to this event, probably the most thrilling finish came in the last race, where Amberita got first money, although it was a question of whether Tristan Shandy or herself would nod first at the end. They came down to the finish in alternate strides, with the head of the Trotter gelding whipsawing with that of the Bratton mare.

Amberita set the pace all the way, showed the way into the stretch, responded gamely when called upon to stall off the rush made by Tristan Shandy, and was fighting it out at the end. Amberita just got the tip of her nose in front as they crossed the line, and first money went to the Bratton stable.

In the fifth race, Colonel Preston won handily enough after running in third position at the stretch head. The Quinn 3-year-old made a determined rush three sixteenths from home, crossed the eighth pole with a margin of advantage and won handily enough at the end.

R. F. Williams was considered something of a good thing, being from the stable of J. W. Fuller, who has put over two good things in the last week.

The horse ran a good enough race and might have been dangerous, had he been able to get through at an earlier stage of the contest. As it was, he was going easily enough at the close and was eased up as he crossed the line, despite the fact that he barely won by a nose. He will bear watching in future races.

CLANDESTINE AT 7 TO 1 WINS LAST RACE AT UNION.

G. H. Keene's Chestnut Gelding Proves a Good Thing, Defeating Billy Handsel, the Favorite.

Although the books laid long prices against Erbe, First Attempt and Clandestine, the legitimate choices at Union yesterday, the public did not get on. The bettors refused to take any of the trio at good prices. Clandestine was as good as 8 to 1, and won the last event easily.

Running Miss at 4s led all the way in the first and won easily from Sweet Flavia. Lady Chiswick was third. Delmar and Long Bright, favorites, ran dull races and did not get near the money.

The second event went to Erbe, a natural 4-to-5 shot, against whom the books laid 2½ to 1. The Daniels horse led all the way and won by three-fifths. Thora Lee followed Erbe all around, and lasted long enough to land second money from the fast-coming Viola. Postmaster Wright, the favorite, was not placed.

All Scarlet at 3s won the third race. Mrs Bob was the choice of the favorite. Mrs. Bob was leading at the last eighth pole, but tired badly, and All Scarlet beat Many Thanks in the run home.

Mamie Algol, at 10s, led all the way in the fourth race, and beat Irish Jewel, the 2-to-1 favorite in a hard drive. Alabarch was played from 6s to 2s. He refused to join his field at the start, and then ran third after being practically left at the post.

First Attempt, the 3-to-1 favorite, won the fifth race easily from Patapoof, who was played for a good thing. Caterpiller, the pace-maker, was third.

Clandestine, at 7 to 1, won the last race from Nellie Russell, who was a 6-to-1 choice. Billy Handsel, the favorite, was off badly. Planet, heavily backed, led for a half, then tired.
