could no longer restrain themselves they openly protested.

SHAY PUT OUT.

Klem's answer drew only laughter from Shay and he doubled up at the plate in glee. When Klem shouted "Blay," Shay couldn't stand straight at the plate.

"Stand up mit a blate back in der batter's box." This was too much for Shay, and despite the fact that the umpire's decisions were against him the humor of the situation struck Dan and he muttered something about a "fat-headed Dutchman." Klem had him.

"Rous mit you, Shay," were the next words from the umpire, who had dropped his chest protector and mask. Burke came in from the third-base coaching line and tried to dissuade the umpire from his determination, but Klem was obstinate, and when Shay was slow about getting to the clubhouse he took out his watch and timed the march of Dan across the lot.

By this time the crowd was in an uproar. Klem was the object point of the most varied assortment of epithets and remarks regarding his physique hurled at an umpire on a local ground this summer. Brain went to short in place of Shay.

In the next inning Grady, who had been declared out on a decision at first, became enraged when Klem called two strikes in succession. Klem had called Grady out on a wide throw from Babb to Gessler when the latter had to stretch so far as to pull his leg off the bag by at least three feet. Mike rolled over in the grass and threw up his hands. Grady was at bat but a minute when Klem suddenly jerked off his mask and pointed his finger to the clubhouse for Mike.

BURKE PROTESTS.

Burke came running in from the coaching line again, and Louis Ritter joined in the comedy. Burke stood up for his club for several minutes against the severity of Klem, and finally walking his way back to his bench, Zearfoss succeeded Grady and was promptly out.

The legs of two of his best players burned deeply, and when Jimmy went to take the field in the eighth inning Klem halted him. A moment's conversation followed. It may never be known just how eloquent "Topsy" was at that moment. His face was red and his arms were moving up and down like the evening he administered a bitter dose to two bullies outside the park for striking a small newsboy.

Jimmy probably had the same impression Klem which the latter was showing for his fellow-countrymen among the visitors. Anyhow, two minutes elapsed and Manager Burke for the first time since the first year he played in St. Louis was driven from the field. Nichols went out into center field and Clarke moved up to short, Brain going to third.

Burke was accompanied to the clubhouse by a crowd from the bleachers, who swarmed over the field and walked alongside of the popular idol of the local fans. With the eighth and ninth innings in progress Klem was made the target for some bitter remarks. Unquestionably he would have met with severer treatment at the hands of spectators had not Sergeant St. John and his squad of patrolmen been on duty to protect him.

POLICE GUARD KLEM.

The game was no sooner ended when Sergeant St. John formed his detail in line and walked behind the arbiter to the office of President Robison. The crowd was swarming about the grounds and running in the direction of Klem. The German lost no time in getting under the protecting wing of the law. He was as white as a sheet when he walked through the alley from the gate to the clubhouse, through the alleyway, where he met some of the fans.

As he turned near the box office a friend loaned him a the shoulder. Klem was so frightened that he jumped back, dreading the experience which baseball (sister) sometimes credits to umpires.

St. Louis could do little with Mitchell. He was pitching great ball under the watching eye of the umpire. He weakened in the last three innings, filled with anger at treatment on the part of Klem the day should have been.

Shackard joined the club in the third inning with a base out. Gessler walked despite the fact that the Brown has a wonderful eye and when Taylor had Hatch struck out he peeled off a terrific drive straight for the left field fence. When the ball was returned three of Hanlon's players had crossed the plate.

Babb tagged in the seventh and scored on Shackard's trial to the right field fence. With Mitchell out in the eighth Gessler doubled and went to third on Shackard's sacrifice. Lambe then walked to load the bag for the third time in an attempt to force home run.

Jimmy Burke walked back and forth between third and home and when Zearfoss walked to right Nichols and Brain were easy outs and the game had ended. Klem had made great enemies against St. Louis by his work with Mal Evans.

Notes of the Game.

Burke, Shay and Grady put out by a Klem. Wouldn't that startle you? It is to be hoped that the fines accompanying the generosity of Klem will not be augmented with a suspension of these three players. McGraw and Klem will get along nicely, with little opposition possible, if Burke, Shay and Grady are kept out of the grounds.

Klem should have taken compassion on his countrymen two days earlier, as it is the best that Brooklyn can do now is to break even. Klem's Eastern reputation is not of the best, and just such plays as displayed yesterday put him in wrong with the crowds everywhere.

Jimmy Burke pulled off two neat tricks yesterday, when he caught Lumley and Mitchell on fake throws to first. Batch hit to "Topsy" in the first inning, and Burke went through the motion of throwing to Beckley to catch the runner, and turned and tossed the ball to Lumley, who was covering this, to catch Lumley off the sack. The scheme worked. When Babb hit to center in the fourth Clarke returned the ball to Burke, who threw to catch Babb going to second. Mitchell led off, and Clarke started across the diamond to run the pitcher down. Mitchell did the high-diving act a few feet from the sack, and rolled over neatly on his shoulder, allowing Mike Grady to touch him under the chin ten feet from home.

"Buster" Brown was out in uniform yesterday. The youngster is big and strong, and appears to be in excellent form. Brown had little practice, and care he will be ready to pitch as soon as Manager Burke sees on him. "Buster" may be the first chance against Boston, which follows the Giants after next Monday.

Christy Mathewson catched the first double game of the season yesterday against the Cubs. Miner Brown fanned the Giant's great hoodoo to extend himself to the limit, allowing the visiting crowd but five hits and one run in the last inning.

"Wild Bill" Donovan forced the great "Rube" Waddell to strike his colors for the second time of the year at Philadelphia yesterday. Both pitchers allowed but four hits, and the players behind them fielded in erratic form.

Jake Ritter has a whole lot of funny stories of the exchange of compliments during the turbulent series about the homegate yesterday. Jake thought the performance immensely funny, and still is willing to lose his chances of owning that "Topsy" team with another year in the league" to hear the arguments again.

FIVE PLAYERS TO JUMP BOSTON?

Reported That Young, Wolverton, Sharpe, Raymer and Delehanty Will Go to "Outlaw" Tristate League.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 13.—According to the most reliable reports five members of the Boston National League team are about to jump to the outlaw Tristate League. All arrangements for the wholesale raid have been completed, and the quintet, not one of whom will deny the reported jump, will leave the Boston team about July 1, or as soon as the present Western trip has been completed. The players who are expected to jump are Cy Young, the pitcher; Harry Wolverton, the former Phillie third baseman, Fred Raymer, "Bud" Sharpe and James Delehanty.

For some time past an agent of the Tristate League has been working on the Boston players and followed the team to this city, where the negotiations were completed.

Sharpe, it is alleged, is the man who worked the deal among his fellow-players. He was the first of the Boston men approached, and the most alluring inducements were held out to him. He was offered a larger salary than he is getting at the present time. He hesitated, however, and then the agent of the outlaws went to Philadelphia, where Sharpe and his wife reside, and, it is alleged, gave Mrs. Sharpe money with which to pay her expenses to Boston to plead with her husband to make the change, and offered Sharpe a $300 automobile as a bogus if he would make the jump. This latter offer was too tempting and he accepted.

Raymer and Young are both sore over the amount of salary that they are getting, while Wolverton and Delehanty have been offered such excellent inducements that they could not turn the offer down. Raymer, it is alleged, was induced to come here from the coast at great expense, and, after he arrived, the owners of the Bostons refused to give him the amount of salary promised.

Manager Fred Tenney was seen tonight in reference to the reported jump, but would only say that it was all news to him. The players whose names are mentioned refuse to talk.

CHICAGO LABOR LEADERS IN DANGER

Teamsters' Strike Lost Sight of When Driscoll Says He Will Expose Bribery Proceedings of Last Four Years.

Chicago, June 13.—The teamsters' strike proper has almost been lost sight of, attention of both sides to the controversy being occupied more with the charges of bribery in connection with labor unions in Chicago than with the real issue.

Within the next twenty-four hours, it was said to-night, a history of the secret transactions of labor unions in Chicago, for the last four years, will be made public, and that the information will implicate many labor leaders, whom it is asserted have accepted bribes to call off strikes.

The man who is expected to give this information is John C. Driscoll, former secretary of the Coal Team Owners' Association, who has been the intermediary between the employers and the teamsters' unions in this city for the last four years.

TO MAKE INQUIRY ON CHINESE TRADE

President Roosevelt and Secretary Metcalfe to Take Up Subject in Definite Way.

Washington, June 13.—Several important departmental matters were considered by the cabinet at to-day's meeting. After an informal discussion of pending trade negotiations President Roosevelt took up with Secretary Metcalfe of the Department of Commerce and Labor the protest filed with him by members of the American Asiatic Association against what they regard as the harsh enforcement of the Chinese exclusion law.

Both the President and Secretary Metcalfe are eager to do all in their power to promote the export trade of American manufacturers, and with that end in view they will take up this subject of the admission to this country of the Chinese exempt classes in a definite way.

ASSUMES SERIOUS PROPORTIONS.

Tientsin, June 13.—The boycotting of American goods by the Chinese guilds is daily assuming more serious proportions. The guilds have quietly determined to carry the boycott through, and the aspect for the American manufacturers is rather gloomy. The native newspapers are refusing advertisements of American goods.

CLASS TREE PLANTING PICTURESQUE EVENT

Graduates of Washington University Plant Small Elm on Campus—Commencement and Dedication Take Place To-Morrow.

One of the most picturesque events of the commencement week exercises at Washington University was the class tree celebration by the graduating class of 1905 yesterday morning on the college campus. This was part of the regular class day programme, which took place during the day.

The graduates in the college, engineering and architectural schools assembled, dressed in the traditional cap and gown in the quadrangle at 10 o'clock. Forming a long procession they marched to the rear of Cupples Hall No. 1, where the tree, a small elm, had been set out earlier in the spring.

A small plate bearing the name of the class was attached to the tree. The tree oration was delivered by Professor Hall of the Greek department. Then each member threw a shovelful of earth in the hole as a token of allegiance to his or her alma mater.

After the ceremonies around the tree, the graduates marched to the Greek room in the university halls, where a pleasant informal luncheon was served. The university women acted as hostesses at this. Informal speeches were made by Chancellor Chaplin and Dean Snow.

At 1 o'clock a ball game between the faculty and the seniors began in the Stadium. The seniors were dressed in all sorts of outlandish costumes, including pajama suits. The game, which was scheduled for five innings, was exciting throughout, and on account of a tie had to be extended two innings. The faculty team won by 15 to 9.

The festivities were continued with a reception at Professor Calvin M. Woodward's home in Hawthorne boulevard. This evening a dance will be given by the Phi Delta Theta fraternity. The week's events were opened by the chancellor's reception last night and a trolley party given by the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

To-morrow night the "Two Gentlemen of Verona" will be presented by the Washington University Dramatic Club at the Century Theater. To-morrow the commencement and dedication exercises will be held on the campus.

ST. DE CHANTAL ACADEMY COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES

Fifth Act of "Merchant of Venice" Presented by Young Girl Graduates.

The private closing exercises of St. de Chantal Academy of the Visitation took place yesterday in the study hall, which was beautifully decorated with flowers and palms.

The four graduates, the Misses Susan E. Snyder, Grace Reading Von Phul, Isabel Cooper Parrish and Anita Fisk Parker, occupied the places of honor, under a bower of palms, at the farther end of the study hall. The other pupils, attired in white, were seated on either side. The guests were the Reverend P. F. O'Reilly, T. J. Walsh, T. H. Miles, S. J. P. O'Rourke, F. X. Mura, S. J. and T. Kearney.

The exercises were opened by a semi-chorus, "The Wind," by Roeckle, which was well rendered by the senior vocal class. Then followed the salutatory by Miss Von Phul. Premiums were distributed in the academic department, after which Miss Snyder executed a piano solo.

The fifth act of the "Merchant of Venice" under the management of Miss Grace L. Sheets, who instructed the physical culture class of the school, followed.

Those in the cast were:

Portia ..... Miss Susan E. Snyder
Bassanio ..... Miss Isabel Cooper Parrish
Jessica ..... Miss Anita Fisk Parker
Lorenzo ..... Miss Mabel Wright
Nerissa ..... Miss Grace Reading Von Phul
Gratiano ..... Miss Florence A. McCarty
Stephano ..... Miss Isabel Helmbrecher
Antonio ..... Miss Hilda Hunicke

The Christian Doctrine medal, donated by the Most Reverend P. J. Ryan of Philadelphia, and competed for by the Misses Von Phul, Parrish, Snyder and Hunicke, was won by Miss Von Phul. Miss Parrish, as next in merit, received a premium. The premium for mathematics in the graduating class was awarded to Miss Parker. The musical number, "Near the Brookside," by Rubenstein, was well executed by Miss Nettie Helmbrecher. The gold medal for composition, donor the Reverend P. F. O'Reilly, was won by Miss Von Phul.

A pleasing French recitation was given by the primary children, after which premiums were awarded in music and art, followed by a chorus, "Salve Regina," by the senior vocal class. Gold crescents and diplomas were then conferred on the graduates. As Miss Snyder won the first honors of the class it devolved on her to deliver the valedictory, which she did in a very pleasing manner. The address was given by Father O'Rourke, pastor of St. Marks.

SMITH ACADEMY GRADUATES EIGHTEEN

Fiftieth Annual Commencement in Memorial Hall Is Well Attended by Relatives and Friends of Young Men.

With oratory, music, class yells and good wishes, eighteen young men last night were graduated in Memorial Hall, Nineteenth and Locust streets, where the fiftieth annual graduating exercises of Smith Academy took place.

The hall was a mass of ferns and flowers and was crowded with friends and relatives of the "boy graduates."

In the class were thirteen graduates from the scientific and five from the classical division. Each of the young men is prepared for other special courses and next season will find them distributed about the country, enrolled as students in various institutions. Among the colleges for which the graduates of Smith Academy have been prepared are Yale, Harvard, Boston Tech., Bowdoin, Washington, Michigan and Missouri.

ENTERS GUILTY PLEA TO BIGAMY CHARGE

After Hearing Testimony of Man Who Performed Mock Marriage, G. H. Jobe Gives Up and Is Sentenced.

After hearing the testimony in the case of William McQueen, charged with performing a mock marriage ceremony, in the Court of Criminal Correction, G. H. Jobe late yesterday afternoon went downstairs to Judge Foster's court and entered a plea of guilty to bigamy. He was sentenced to two and one-half years in the Penitentiary.

The trial of the McQueen case will be completed in the Court of Criminal Correction this morning.

It is alleged that McQueen represented himself as the Reverend Doctor Roberts and performed a mock marriage ceremony for Jobe to dupe Miss Mary Kubik of No. 611 Park avenue on April 19.

Miss Kubik met Jobe on October 25, 1904, at a mission in South St. Louis. Jobe had just been released from the Penitentiary, where he served five years for forgery. He declared that he was studying for the ministry and expected to depart before long for foreign lands to teach the heathen. Miss Kubik was interested in this kind of work and Jobe made a favorable impression. At the time he had a wife living not far from Miss Kubik's home.

One day Miss Kubik was called to the telephone. The person at the other end of the line introduced himself as the Reverend Doctor Palmore. He said that Jobe would have to depart earlier than expected and advised that they be married.

MOCK MARRIAGE.

Jobe told Miss Kubik that the Reverend Doctor Roberts of No. 614 Russell avenue was a friend of his, and, producing a marriage license which was issued in good faith, took her to the Russell avenue house.

Here, it is alleged, McQueen, who is a street car motorman, performed the mock ceremony. Jobe took Miss Kubik to a rooming-house at Twenty-second and Olive streets. He was working in a shoe factory on Locust street.

Meantime the real Mrs. Kubik grew suspicious, as her husband had been away several nights. One night she followed him to the Olive street house, where she learned the state of affairs. Miss Kubik was then informed of the fact that she had been duped and learned what manner of man Jobe was. She then obtained a warrant and he was arrested. The Grand Jury indicted him on the charge of bigamy.

The charge against McQueen is a misdemeanor, meaning a sentence to the Workhouse if he is convicted.

OPPOSITION TO SALE OF LIQUORS IN PARK

Public Hearing to Permit Disposing of Intoxicants in Forest Park to Be Held To-Day.

With strong opposition expected from the Antisaloon League and residents in the vicinity of Forest Park, the Public Improvements Committee of the Council will hold a public hearing this afternoon at 2 o'clock on the bill which will permit the sale of intoxicants in the cottage in that park.

Samuel I. Lindsay, president of the Missouri Antisaloon League, was about the Council chamber yesterday, but the only reference to the measure was the announcement that a public hearing would be given this afternoon.

The bill was introduced a week ago by Doctor Heine Marks, by request. He is also chairman of the Public Improvements Committee.

The chances of the bill becoming a law, even should the Council pass it, before fall, is doubtful, the House of Delegates by its action last night preventing passage in that body before the adjournment for the summer recess Friday. The bill must have three readings in the House, but that body adjourned last night to meet Friday afternoon. This would not give time for more than one reading.

TO GO IN BODY TO PORTLAND.
