ALL GRAINS ADVANCE ON OUTSIDE SUPPORT.

WEATHER CONDITIONS FAVOR BUYERS.

Corn Is Strong in Line With Wheat and Bulls Control the Market.

Bulls controlled Saturday's market for wheat. There was a very good outside demand and some of the professionals who have been holding out for a decline were rather anxious to cover when they saw how overwhelmingly bullish was the general sentiment. Weather and crop conditions were practically unchanged. There had been some light showers in portions of the belt, but these were not sufficient to affect the speculative strength of the options.

Corn was on the advance, in line with wheat. There was not a great deal of trading, but sentiment favored the buying side.
