AFTER PERMANENT INJUNCTION

Citizens of Zeigler to Testify for Leiter at Springfield To-Day.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL.

Duquoin, Ill., June 19.—Ten citizens of Zeigler and the surrounding community, including Postmaster O. C. Smith, departed today for Springfield, where they were subpoenaed to appear before the Federal Court to testify in the case of Joseph Leiter, who seeks to make permanent the injunction against the various miners of Southern Illinois.

The injunction issued by Judge Humphrey in the Federal Court several months ago was only temporary. The delegation which will testify to-morrow is composed chiefly of farmers.

Despite the fact that every house in Leiter's town is occupied by employes, the output of coal is comparatively nothing. The result of the fatal explosion in early April yet presents the operation of the mine on a scale scarcely great enough to supply even the mines.

It is estimated that there are no less than 200 men now employed in or about the mine.

Candy Machine Case.

Judge Rogers, in the United States Court, yesterday afternoon took the case of the Electric Candy Company against Calvin S. Morse under advisement. The Electric Candy Company sought to secure damages against Morse for operating a machine of his own make in the Agricultural building at the World's Fair last summer, which was claimed to be like the one on which they had secured a patent.

Civil-Service Examination Postponed

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced that the examination of firemen and engineers, scheduled to take place June 21, to fill vacancies in the United States Mint at Denver and other cities in the United States, had been postponed until July 18.

WABASH GETS INTO THIRD ST. TO-DAY

Railroad Takes Possession of Six Produce Commission Buildings—Trouble Over Some of the Leases.

The Wabash Railroad, which recently notified the produce commission men on North Third street to vacate, will get possession of six buildings at Third and Carr streets to-day, and it is expected that work on wrecking them will be begun either to-morrow or Thursday.

Several of the commission men have secured temporary quarters and will likely vacate their present locations during the latter part of the week or the first of next.

P. M. Kiely has secured a building at Fourth street and Franklin avenue and is expected to move into his new quarters within a short time. The store which he will vacate has been his quarters since he entered the commission business.

The building was built by Philip Ostermeyer at a total cost of $17,000, and immediately following its completion it was leased to Mr. Kiely for $2,000 a year. Mr. Kiely has occupied the building twenty-two years, for which he has paid the owner $44,000. Two weeks ago Philip Ostermeyer sold the property to the Wabash Railroad for $60,000, realizing $67,000 in the twenty-two years.

The building will be wrecked as soon as P. M. Kiely vacates.

The commission men have until August 1 to vacate the property they now occupy, but owing to several of the tenants having leases which do not expire for several years, it is not expected that the railroad will get possession of the property as soon as was expected. What means will be used to get the tenants who have leases to vacate has not been ascertained.

A meeting of the commission men is expected to be held the latter part of the week to discuss the purchase of a city block where produce row will be built.

AUCTION OF CITY LOTS CARRIED ON AT NIGHT.

Mercantile Trust Company Disposes of $100,000 Worth of Property at Tower Grove Heights.

More than $100,000 worth of lots in Tower Grove Heights were sold at auction by the Mercantile Trust Company yesterday afternoon. The auction will be continued to-day.

The trust company officials seemed to have profited by the experience of Saturday, and had extra facilities for conveying the purchasers to the various sections of the subdivision where the sale was being held.

The first lot sold was the business corner at the southeast corner of Grand avenue and Humphrey street. The bidding started off at $75 a foot, but rose rapidly, and the lot was finally knocked down at $82.50. The sale then progressed east, and all the lots below Grand avenue on Humphrey, Connecticut and Wyoming streets were disposed of in rapid order.

A novel feature of yesterday's sale, which was in evidence on Saturday, was the presence of purchasers who bought more than one lot. On some of the blocks the bidders were given the privilege of buying any or all of the lots adjoining, on which they were bidding at the price at which it was knocked down to them, and in a number of cases this privilege was taken advantage of.

The figures realized for the different lots were to a large extent on a par with the prices obtained Saturday. The sale was continued after nightfall, when the crowd was augmented by those who couldn't leave their business to attend during the afternoon, and the number of people present was sufficient to justify the agents in continuing the auction until many hours after sundown.

In this respect it stands unique among auctions held in the city of St. Louis, but L. E. Anderson, vice president, stated last night that it was their intention to continue the sale as long as the crowd stayed with them, as their instructions were to dispose of the property in the shortest time possible, regardless of the prices the lots brought.

He stated that the owners realized that the property might not bring the prices after dark that it would during the day, but they were satisfied to sell it that way as long as the people attended the sale and bids were offered, and if necessary the sale would be continued from day to day until all the remaining lots were closed out.

The names of those who purchased lots on the different streets are as follows:

LIVE-STOCK MARKETS.

Natives Weak and Slow—Texans 10c Lower—Hogs Weak.

NATIVE CATTLE—Beef Steers—The proportion of native beef cattle was not very large, and did not include any such as are the right kind. Receipts of this kind averaged less than a dozen loads and all ranged from $4.00 up, average towards of 1,200 lbs. of medium and fairly good at. Dairy cows were weak for most of the week, and trade throughout was characterized by weakness, still there was not a great deal of change since last Monday.

Several loads of strong fleshed steers were included, which met with no packer competition, selling to feeder buyers at comparatively low prices.

Butcher Cattle—Although the run of butcher stock was comparatively light, the demand also was very weak, and sellers experienced considerable difficulty in disposing of their few holdings to-day. Heifer stock, especially, was a fair trifle lower. The cow stock showed a lower tendency, but there were so few of them available that it was rather hard to get an exact line on the condition of the market. Two loads of very choice fat heifers brought $5.75, with good light grades at $5@5.25, and some good heavy kinds at $5.50, the balance mostly on the medium order from $4.50@5.00. A few cow sales ranged from $2.50@3.50 for common canners to a good class of beef cows.

SOUTHERN CATTLE—Buyers had a liberal supply of quarantine cattle to select from to-day, and were not nearly as aggressive as they were during last week. Trading was accompanied by considerable weakness, and while there was a fair amount of activity, it took the entire day to make any kind of a clearance of the 168 cars and 4,352 head which were offered.

The proportion of steers was much large, and the kind, while averaging about the same as it did last week, contained many more pretty good cake and grass fed steers from $3.60@3.85 than on any day last week. Several lots of very good cattle sold from $3.85@3.90, with quite a few fair grades around $3.60@3.75, with several large bunches light-fleshed ones going at $3@3.25. Values were on a weak basis compared with general conditions of the lower prevailing Saturday, but sales were largely the lower than Friday, and in places showed 15c, but at the same time there were quite a few fair steers that did not show so much ease.

Quite a few cows and heifers were offered and the general trade was fairly active at steady prices, though some unevenness developed, and some lots were considered lower. Not many bulls were here, and prices were good and steady. Calf receipts were 427 head, with the market in good, steady condition.

HOGS—A very small number of hogs was on sale, receipts amounting to only around 4,000 head, which is but little more than half of a good moderate run. The quality was fairly good.

The market opened on a slightly lower basis than the close of last week, the decline amounting to 5c for most of the best offerings of yesterday, on this basis a good demand prevailed and trading was quite active on the best hogs of all weights, but those that were only fair grades did not sell so readily. The shipping demand was not as good as for some days past, so that the light hogs were not so ready sale as last week, except for a few loads of the very best. Pigs and lights from Southern Missouri were extremely slow sale, and prices irregular and unsatisfactory.

The top of the market was $5.40 and the bulk went at $5.20@5.35, but some trashy kinds sold from $4.90@5.00. Lights under 150 lbs. and pigs sold from $4.50@5.25, the bulk at $5@5.25.

SHEEP—A good liberal run of sheep was on sale, a large proportion of which was lambs and a good many of them came from Tennessee. The offerings for sale were fairly good, a double deck of sheep and yearlings from Nebraska also a load of Western ewes from Missouri. The market was quite active with all good mutton stock selling full steady, with the lambs and yearlings, while the common kinds were slow sale and possibly a shade lower.

Tennessee lambs sold at $6.50@6.75, native lambs at $6.50@6.60, fall lambs $4.25@5, Western ewes $4@5, native and Southwest mutton sheep at $4.25@5, stockers at $2.50@4 and bucks at $3.50@4.

HORSES—The week opened with light horse receipts, less than 200 head altogether being offered in the market. Of these less than 50 head were available for the auction, so that the prospects of much activity were not good. Few Southern buyers were on hand, and while there was a fair demand from Eastern buyers, but there was no aggressiveness evident in the demands, their orders being limited to small consignments, and no doubt conservative as to price.

The auction therefore opened on a slow and dull basis, and there was no improvement manifest from the conditions displayed last week, when values declined $50@75 per head. To make matters worse, the quality was plain, and what kind of the kind wanted by buyers at present.

Horse quotations:

Harness horses	$150@250
Heavy draft, choice to extra	170@200
Heavy draft, common to good	110@150
Eastern chunks	150@200
Farm chunks, 1,150 to 1,250 lbs	90@125
Southern horses, choice to extra	75@100
Southern horses, plain to good	25@50
Small ponies	50@75

MULES—No improvement is manifested in the mule market, the demand upon the dealers from Eastern and other sources being small, and in turn influencing a limited and backward demand on local account. There were only a couple of pitches reported on the commission market yet there was very little inquiry, and no sales during the forenoon. Sellers reported the inquiry light and unaggressive, even at the lower prices quoted last week.
