CUSTOMS RECEIPTS SHOW ACTIVITY

Surveyor Gallenkamp Says Collections Indicate Unusual Briskness in Summer Trade.

What was probably the largest sum ever derived from taxes on goods imported to St. Louis during any day in June, was that recorded in the office of Judge Henry Gallenkamp, Surveyor of Customs for this district, Monday, when the total for the day exceeded $22,000.

According to Judge Gallenkamp, that represents an unusually heavy collection for this time of the year, though in December, January and February amounts in excess of that figure are of frequent occurrence.

The increase in the sum of collections implies a corresponding growth of imports, and both indicate a mercantile activity which is said to be unusual here in summer time. Last year's receipts from customs in St. Louis, exclusive of $[illegible] collected on exhibits sold at the Exposition, exceeded $[illegible].

At the rate indicated by Monday's collections the receipts for this year will be considerably heavier, and would establish a high record for this port.

GOVERNMENT CROP REPORT IS OF MIXED CHARACTER.

Weather in Some Places Unfavorable, but as a Rule of a Kind to Promote Farmers' Interests.

Washington, June 27.—The Weather Bureau's weekly summary of crop conditions issued today, says in part:

The general features of the season to the North Pacific coast continue the best lack of moisture is generally noticeable in Western Kansas and in parts of Texas.

Decreasing temperatures prevailed in central and West Gulf districts and in parts of the Central Mississippi and Ohio Valleys and the Lower Lake region, and in parts of the South Atlantic States and in the Eastern Middle States the weather was decidedly cooler. Rains were generally needed in the central Gulf states, Tennessee and the Lower Lake region.

Except in the Southern Plateau and Rocky Mountain districts, generally speaking, the rainfall was sufficient for the growth of the crops in the Western States.

Rains were needed in the Western Gulf States, Tennessee and the Lower Lake region.
