WHEAT SELLS SHARPLY LOWER IN LOCAL MARKET.

CORN AND OATS ALSO ON DOWNTURN.

Lower Cables and Bearish Advices From Grain Regions Factors in Decline.

Saturday's local grain market proved a field of victory for the bears. Wheat, corn and oats declined in value under heavy selling pressure, and absolute lack of support of any kind. Sentiment was all bearish. Crop reports, weather conditions, foreign cables, receipts, and in fact all the factors which are supposed to have influence, favored the selling side.

Armour and other big dealers in Chicago failed to hold out a helping hand, and the pit element appeared to be eager to wage battle against the great long interests. Their success was shown in the close on wheat, which was 1½c below the last figures of Friday.
