APENTA

NATURAL HUNGARIAN APERIENT WATER

FOR A

GOOD COMPLEXION

THE WOMAN who values the freshness of her skin, bright eyes, glossy hair, and sweet breath, must remember that close rooms, rich diet or late hours, are her most powerful enemies, and that a slight aperient, such as a small wineglassful of APENTA WATER. taken every morning before breakfast, is one of the greatest aids to HEALTH and therefore BEAUTY.

authority to do business, except as specifically conferred by statute.

Under the general insurance laws of the State of Missouri and the system of annual licenses provided thereunder, foreign insurance companies are required to file in the office of the Superintendent of Insurance Department a certified copy of its charter, or act of incorporation, and an annual statement, under the oath of its president and secretary, showing the condition of the company at the close of the previous calendar year, and specifying the kinds of policies and the aggregate amount of insurance outstanding, which statement must be received and approved by the Superintendent of Insurance before the license fee can be paid, and before any license can be issued by the Superintendent of Insurance authorizing the company to transact business in the State under the laws of which the company organized, provided that such company is treated in the same way as companies of other States and countries are treated under the statutes of Missouri, and provided that such company shall have complied with the laws of Missouri governing the organization of insurance companies, and shall have deposited the required amount of capital stock, and shall have complied with all the requirements of the laws of Missouri governing such companies.

The laws of Missouri also provide that the Superintendent of Insurance may revoke the license of any foreign insurance company when, upon examination, it shall appear that such company is not complying with the laws of Missouri, or is transacting its business on a plan or method injurious to the public or its policyholders in this State, or when any such company shall refuse to submit its books, papers and accounts for examination, or any officer thereof shall refuse to be sworn or to answer any question relating to its affairs, when properly demanded by the Superintendent of Insurance, or when such company shall be in an unsound condition, or shall have exceeded its powers, or shall have failed to comply with its contracts, or shall have failed to pay any judgment rendered against it in this State within thirty days after the same shall have become finally adjudged against such company, or when such company shall have failed to pay any policyholder in this State who shall have obtained judgment against such company, or when such company shall have failed to make such examination of its affairs and business as may be required by the Superintendent of Insurance, or when such company shall have failed to make any report required by law, or when such company shall have failed to comply with any lawful requirement of the Superintendent of Insurance, or when such company shall have failed to make any change in its articles of agreement or charter when lawfully required to do so by the Superintendent of Insurance, or when such company shall have failed to furnish such information as may be required by the Superintendent of Insurance concerning its business and affairs, or when such company shall have failed to furnish such information as may be required by the Superintendent of Insurance concerning any company with which it shall have had any business relations, or when such company shall have failed to furnish such information as may be required by the Superintendent of Insurance concerning any person, association or corporation with which it shall have had any business relations concerning any of its business or affairs in this State or any other State, or when such company shall have failed to furnish such information as may be required by the Superintendent of Insurance concerning any of its officers, agents or employes in the State of Missouri, or when such company shall have failed to furnish such information as may be required by the Superintendent of Insurance concerning its business in any other State or country, or when such company shall have failed to furnish such information as may be required by the Superintendent of Insurance concerning any of its officers, agents or employes in any other State or country, or when such company shall have failed to furnish such information as may be required by the Superintendent of Insurance concerning any of its officers, agents or employes who may be or have been in charge of its business
