"SHOW FOLKS HERE AND ON THE WAY"

Mme. Calve's concert repertoire includes excerpts from "Carmen," for her name has been so closely identified with the role of the cigarette girl of the Bizet opera that many requests for "Carmen" numbers have come to the diva. What particularly pleased the hearers who assembled in the music-room of the prima donna's suite recently in New York was her singing of some dainty French songs and some Scotch and Irish airs, the latter in English, which marked Mme. Calve's first attempt at using the Anglo-Saxon tongue.

One of the biggest hits of "The Heir of the Hoorah" this week, has been made by Wilfred Lucas in the part of Bud Young, Joe Lacy's friend and partner. His impersonation of the uncouth miner is so faithful, that it is difficult for the audience to realize that the man can be much different from the character in private life. As a matter of fact, Mr. Lucas is one of the most accomplished gentlemen of the profession. A graduate of McGill University, he is conversant with the best literature of most of the continental languages. He possesses an excellent singing voice and is familiar with the arias of the standard French, Italian and German grand operas. There was a benefit for a hospital in Cincinnati when the company was in that city, and his contribution to the programme was the Toreador song from "Carmen" in French. It was the hit of the entertainment. All the men who furnish the comedy with the dress suits in "The Heir to the Hoorah" are really more at home in the "open-faced" suits than in the rough garb of the West, though their acting makes the fact a surprising one.

• • • •

Louise Drew, daughter of John Drew and first cousin of Ethel Barrymore, will be seen at the Century next week as Molly Livingston in "Strongheart." Miss Drew bears a marked resemblance to her father.

• • • •

"An American Lord," in which William H. Crane will appear at the Olympic, is the joint work of C. T. Dazey and George Broadhurst. Hilda Spong is to impersonate an Irish widow, who figures prominently in the comedy.

• • • •

T. Tamamoto, the Japanese valet Hush in "The Heir to the Hoorah" is a graduate of the University of Tokio and knows several languages. He is a master of jiu-jitsu, and his representation of that system when he removes the burly English butler from the room in the second act is the "real thing." Mr. Rich, who plays the butler, has to be perfectly passive during the incident to prevent accidents. His predecessor in the role suffered a terribly contused arm one night through absent-mindedly resisting the little man.

• • • •

Mary Boland, leading woman for Robert Edeson in "Strongheart," says "an actress should not marry," and follows up her argument with a good many facts in favor of her ideas. As Miss Boland is young, she will likely have a chance to try a good many "noes" to the important question of "Will you?" if her views remain the same.

• • • •

Carrie Reynolds, who will be seen at the Garrick next week in "The School Girl," is a firm believer in the value of poise on the stage—even in musical comedies. "By repose," says Miss Reynolds, "I do not mean stiffness by any means, or standing still, but quietness of method. Of course repose is not necessarily naturalness. In real life the convent girl of 'The School Girl' would not dance in a stock broker's office as I do in this play, but I am afraid that the convent girl in real life—or rather entirely true to life—would be rather impossible for a mirth-provoking musical play."

Thanksgiving Eve was celebrated at the Odeon by the German stock company with the first presentation of "Liebes Manoeuvre" (Love Manoeuvres), a sprightly comedy, which is especially timely on the eve of the day on which Cupid holds sway. Kraatz and Schlicht, the authors, have shown in three lively acts the pranks which Cupid plays to achieve his ends. Cecelia, a meddlesome old aunt, is Cupid's aide-de-camp in his funny warfare. The military uniforms gave a brilliant background to the handsome toilets of the women in the cast.

Next Sunday night the management announces a capital production of "Die Geyer-Wally," (Vulture Wally), a dramatization of Wilhelmine von Hillern's thrilling romance.

Bills to Come.

Mr. Crane's new play, "The American Lord," is to be seen at the Olympic Theater after Lent. Harry Lee, John Brewster, the chief character, is an American who has no use for anything foreign. Circumstances over which he has no control force him to go abroad and assume a title that is his by inheritance. In contrast to this transplanted American is a dignified nobleman, Sir Morbury, who thinks it his duty to coach his inferiors in all things. Both men are honest, and the Englishman finally comes to admire the American through the latter's manliness and sterling qualities.

There is a young Irish widow in the play, who will be portrayed by Hilda Spong. In the company are Rosalind Cephas, Nellie Malcolm, Richard Pitman, George H. Riddell, Frederick Eden, Oliver Grandin, Edmund Whitney, Edgar Norton, Harry Blakemore, John Nesbitt, Gabriel Ravenelle and George F. DeVere.

• • • •

Robert Edeson, who was last seen here as Lieutenant Hansen in "Hansen's Folly," will return to the Century in a play entitled "Strongheart." It has to do with college life, the scenes are laid at Columbia University, New York. The main theme of the play is the race question, as the hero is a full-blooded North American Indian. The scenes are laid in the training quarters of the Columbia football team during a big game. One of the players, who has bet heavily on the opponent's victory, sends the signals of his own game to the man opposing the college team. This is discovered previous to the play of the last half, and Strongheart is blamed. He is therefore forced out of the game and from the window of the training quarters he descends to his friends. Strongheart had a long run in New York, and also in Boston.

• • • •

"The School Girl," with Carrie Reynolds, is to follow. "The Genius and the Model," at the Garrick. In the cast of this festival are Mabel Raymond, Arthur Rooley, Robert White Jr., Helen Byrne and Harry Maxwell.

• • • •

Hap Ward, formerly of Ward and Vokes, will be seen as the star of "The Grafter" at the Grand Opera house after Texas. With him will appear Lew Daly and a large company including a chorus of forty. Among the musical numbers in the new comedy are "They Love for Me," "Queen Again," "In Dear Old Pennsylvania Town," "Little Mary Wise" and "Independence Day."

• • • •

Coming to the Columbia next week are Bert Leslie and Robert Bailey, Willis Brothers, Gilliman Trio, Susie Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Higgins and Phelps, Lillian Burkhart and company, Jack Gardner, the Estelle Wilson company, Stanley Brothers and Marvelle and Gleason.

• • • •

The offering for next week at Havlin's Theater will be "A Desperate Chance," by Theodore Kremer, who has put so many successful melodramas before the American public. The members of the cast are Harry L. Waterhouse and Harold Vosburg, who portray the parts of Ed and Jack Riddle, M. T. Ryan, Harry B. Vokes, Bob McClung, M. Lopez, Bert Martin, George W. Hughes, William Perry, Dave Vokes, Bert Martin, Frank Churchill, Fred Lewis, Gertrude Don Magill, Baby Jennifer Sinclair, Jessie Clement and Mrs. Nell Kyrell.

MARY BOLAND,
Robert Edeson's leading woman in "Strongheart."

Jessie Mae Hall, in "The Street Singer," is the current attraction.

• • • •

The Imperial Theater's attraction is Charles E. Blaney's military play, "Across the Pacific," with its Gatling guns and sensational war scenes.

"The Smart Set" will appear at the Imperial next week with a new cast and new scenery.

• • • •

The New York Stars will entertain at the Gaiety after Fred Irwin's Majestics. On the bills of the performance to be given by the New York Stars are the Faust Trio, Raymond and Clark, Campbell and Canfield, Catherine Taylor and the Majestic Musical Four.

• • • •

The Star Show Girls are to appear next at the Standard. Among the special acts to be presented by this new organization are "Professor Schmalz's Academy," by Ten Brooke, Lambert and company, the Toreador Trio in "Hot Food Bill," Nolan and White, singers and parodists, Carney and Warsonee, dancers and singers, Day and Vestal, acrobatic comedians, and Detta and Venton.

SCHUYLER COUNTY LOCAL OPTION LAW IS INVALID.

Publication of Notice of Election Not Made According to Statutes—Many Cases Affected.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL.

Lancaster, Mo., Nov. 29.—The local option law in this county was declared inoperative this week on account of the failure to comply with a curious provision of the law. A test was made on the case of the State against H. C. Davis, who was accused of violating the law.

There are about twenty-five or thirty cases which will be governed by the result in the Davis case. The law requires the publication of the notice for an election under the local option law four consecutive weeks, the last publication to be within ten days of the election.

In order to make the matter perfectly safe, as they thought, the managers of the local option campaign in Schuyler County saw to it that the notices were printed in the local papers at Lancaster five times before the election.

The fifth publication came within the ten days previous to the election, but the fourth publication was eleven days from the election.

Judge Shelton held this a failure to comply with the plain terms of the statute, although the fact was the notice had been given an even greater publicity than the law contemplated.

This feature of the local option law has never been presented to any appellate court in the State, Judge Shelton says.

MYSTERIOUS MURDER AT INDEPENDENCE, KAS.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL.

Cherryvale, Kas., Nov. 29.—To-night at 8 o'clock at Independence C. W. Purkey, a farmer, who for two years lived on H. E. West's farm, one mile south of Peru, was found murdered in a box car, in which he was moving with his household goods to Mound View, Mo.

His son, Charles, 20 years old, who notified the officers here, said he came on a passenger train from Peru to Independence, where he joined his father in the freight car, and there discovered his father murdered. The son says that the body was still warm when found. No money or other valuables were taken from the body, and, so far as known, there could be no motive for the deed.

The son took what money his father had and his watch. The son will be held by officers until after the inquest, which will be held before Judge Courtney to-morrow.

The dead man is 51 years old, had no enemies, and, being very poor, it is not likely he was murdered for money. His skull was crushed in several places. There were bloody tracks in the car where he was found. Mrs. Purkey rode on the passenger train with her son to Independence, and is now traveling toward Mound View, ignorant of her husband's death.

TWO SALOONS ARE ROBBED.

Suspect at Neosho, Mo., Arrested After Short Fight.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL.

Neosho, Mo., Nov. 29.—Two saloons were entered by burglars here last night. Entrance into one of them, the Corn Exchange, was effected from the cellar through an opening used for storing beer. The robbers secured some small change and whisky.

Entrance to the Palace bar was effected through the back door. The burglars broke a pane of glass in the door and reaching through released the latch that fastened it. Here they secured $20 in good overcoats and a couple of revolvers.

Constable John White and City Marshal Herman this afternoon undertook to arrest a man whom they suspected. He drew a large revolver and opened fire on the officers, his bullets went wild, and after a short struggle, the officers secured their man and he is now in jail. He is a stranger and denies any connection with the burglaries.

PRETTY WEDDING AT LOUISIANA.

Mr. A. Clark Haley and Miss Nina Flambor Married at Church.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL.

Louisiana, Mo., Nov. 29.—One of the prettiest weddings of the season in this city was that of Mr. A. Clark Haley, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Haley to Miss Nina D. Flambor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. H. Flambor of Cumberland Presbyterian Church, at 8 this evening. The Reverend L. N. Montgomery performed the ceremony.

Miss Hallie Shaw was maid of honor, and Miss Stella Leach bridesmaid. Mr. Cleveland Pribe was best man and Mr. Walter Kennedy of Sedalia was groomsman. Doctor Guy Magee and James Kanely were ushers. Miss Gillette McGlew sang "With You," and Mr. Claude Flambor played the wedding march. The bride wore a princess gown of white satin messaline, with silk appliqué trimmings.

Mr. Haley and his bride are members of prominent families. Mr. Haley holds a position in the Post Office here.

The bride's father gave the young couple a home and they received many beautiful wedding presents.

Mr. and Mrs. Haley will be at home in this city after December 2.

Car Strikes Buggy; Man Hurt.

Roy Vosburg, a butcher at No. 326 Hamilton avenue, while driving a horse and buggy last night, was struck by an Olive street car. Vosburg was thrown from the buggy and one of his ribs broken. The horse was killed and the buggy damaged.

NOT A "PATENT MEDICINE."

Scott's Emulsion is not a "patent medicine." It has no secret ingredients. Your doctor can, no doubt, tell you as much about it as we could. We have merely perfected the method of blending the Norwegian cod liver oil, hypophosphites of lime and soda and glycerine. As one grocer will blend coffee better than another so we have succeeded in making Scott's Emulsion a little better than any other cod liver oil preparation. There's no "patent" and the only secret is the secret of knowing how, with the perfected mechanical means at hand to do it. Get Scott's and you get the perfect emulsion. It's the greatest thing in the world for regaining strength and flesh lost through wasting.

FISHING TRIP FATAL TO ST. LOUIS MAN

Arthur Pabst Drowned in the Stonewall River in Arkansas—Funeral Takes Place To-Day at Family Residence.

Word reached St. Louis yesterday that Arthur Pabst, a young business man of the Fourth Ward, had been accidentally drowned while fishing in the Stonewall River, in Arkansas.

The victim is the younger son of William Pabst, who has been in the saloon business at Franklin avenue and Seventh street for years.

With a party of St. Louis sportsmen, among them Angelo Chiardi and Fred Mussey, Pabst left St. Louis more than a week ago for hunting and fishing.

The party had enjoyed two or three successful days, when the boat overturned, upsetting Pabst. Before he could be rescued by his companions he sank. His body was recovered and brought to St. Louis. The funeral will take place from the family residence in Seldon street to-day.

Pabst leaves a brother, Otto, both of whom were engaged in business with their father. In the ward the young man was prominent and was one of its most straightforward representatives. He was an intimate friend of Senator Kinney.

River and Business.

Little business was done along the river yesterday, there being slight receipts and only fair offerings.

The gauge at the Harbor Office at 8 o'clock yesterday morning registered 9.4 feet, showing that there had been no change in the stage of the river in 24 hours.

River Rialto Brevities.

—The wharfboat of the Diamond Jo line will be moved to Grandelet in a few days, probably Saturday. Workmen were engaged in drawing the staging above a possible winter rise yesterday. The wharfboat will be up at Grandelet during the winter and will be repaired.

—The Spread Eagle arrived from Alton yesterday.

—The Annie Russell, the pleasure boat of Russell E. Gardner, arrived from the Lower Mississippi late Tuesday night, and is tied up at her wharfboat.

—The Grey Eagle will be the only arriving boat to-day. She will come in from Commerce and depart for the same port to-morrow.

—The City of Saltillo will be in from the Tennessee River to-morrow and will depart the day following for the Lower Mississippi.

—The Stacker Lee departed yesterday afternoon for Memphis. She will transfer Ohio River freight to the Reese Lee at Cairo.

—Captain William R. Massie, one of the pilots in the Florida fleet, has returned to St. Louis from the lower stretches of the river.

—The Fred Herold left Memphis yesterday, and will arrive in the St. Louis port in time to leave on her down trip Saturday.

—The India Givens departed yesterday afternoon for Cairo, where she will enter the corn trade as far as the Bende.

—The J. B. Richardson departed yesterday afternoon for Hamburg, with a fair trip.

—Rivermen expect the weather to prevent traffic on the river soon.

—The Bald Eagle departed for Beardstown late yesterday.
