BLUE AGAIN VICTORIOUS

YALE'S ELEVEN DID THEMSELVES AND THEIR COLLEGE CREDIT.

The Game Was Hard Fought From First to Last—Final Score 20-10 in Yale's Favor—Very Little Slugging—Fully 35,000 People Witnessed the Game—Princeton's Line Was Weak—Campus Opinion of the Harvard-University of Pennsylvania Game—Championship Lies Between Yale and Pennsylvania.

When the gates at Manhattan field were opened preparatory to the great Yale-Princeton game last Saturday the steady stream of ticket holders for stand seats began and continued steadily until at 2:30, when the game was begun, every seat in the stand, boxes and bleachers, together with every coach position, was occupied. There was on every side a waving sea of blue and orange and yellow banners, while the cheers and songs made such a noise that one could not hear his neighbor speak. The "Sis-boom-ah," "Rah! Rah! Rah!" and "Brek-ke-kex" went in surges and rolls of sound over the field, and with the banners tended to rouse enthusiasm in the most stable minds. At the Eighth avenue side of the field close up to the side lines were the coaches' boxes, twenty-three in number, occupied by members of Yale's, St. Anthony's, Hall, the Cloister, Delta Psi, Chi Phi, One Hundred and Twenty-five, the Cottage club, the Ivy club and the Colonial club of Princeton, and other students' clubs. The space between the stands and the fence around the gridiron was packed with those who were only holders of admission tickets. The aqueduct was black with people and over on Deadhill Hill every point of vantage was occupied, so that the total number of those who witnessed the triumph of Yale can hardly be estimated. It must have been fully 35,000, and as nearly every one joined in the demonstration for every particularly good play, the scene can be better imagined than described.

When the game began the sky was almost clear and better conditions for the game could not have been asked for. For some time after the line-up things looked like a toss-up for either side, but the weakness of Princeton back of the line became apparent. Yale's half-backs, especially Thorne, composed her greatest strength. After surging up and down the field Yale got the ball and Bass went down the field like mad from the forty-yard line and scored a touchdown, from which a goal was kicked.

Soon after the next line-up Princeton got the ball and Baird tried to kick, but was blocked. Yale got the ball and only a minute before time was called on the first half Thorne went through Princeton's right guard and made a touchdown, from which he kicked a goal. Time was then called on the first half, with the score 12 to 0 in favor of Yale.

The line-up for the second half was the same as that in the first. Thorne kicked off to Rosengarten of Princeton, who recovered twenty yards. The battle then raged fiercely, each side making desperate efforts to force the opposing line. Time and again Princeton attacked Yale's center with hardly a gain, and all the valuable gains were made around the ends. Jerrems finally kicked into touch and DeWitt made the touchdown, from which Jerrems failed to kick a goal.

Soon after the line-up Princeton, by fierce, rapid play, worked the ball towards Yale's goal and Baird made a touchdown. Suter kicking the goal and making the score 16 to 6 in favor of Yale.

Rosengarten was soon after disqualified for slugging. After the line-up Princeton, within two minutes, carried the ball to Yale's goal and made a touchdown. Suter tried the goal, but failed.

Yale made one more and the last touchdown of the game, making the final score of 20 to 10. The rest of the game was a continual hard struggle in which Princeton played a stronger game than Yale, but failed to score. Had Princeton played the game in the first half which she did in the last a different story of victory would have been told.

The game was unusually free from slugging and was clean all the way through. No one was seriously injured, although Rhodes was somewhat bruised in the eye and nose, and Thorne, Murphy and others received slight bruises, none of them, however, being obliged to leave the field. Captain Lea of Princeton wrenched his shoulder and his physician advised him to leave the game, but Lea hung on and, although he could not put up his usual good game, did good work.

In this game Yale has placed another well earned and hard fought for victory to her credit. It was the hope of Yale students that Harvard would win from Pennsylvania; then the Yale victory over Princeton would have been the Yale eleven practically intercollegiate champions, but as matters now stand the supremacy lies between Yale and the Philadelphia institution.

WALLINGFORD.

The new board of burgesses met Saturday evening for organization. The time set for the meeting was 7 o'clock, but it was nearly 8 before the session was opened. The board was all present, and included Warden D. E. Morris, Burgesses Darrigan, Kimberly, Backes, Hassett, Luby and Phelps. Clerk Hale administered the oath of office to the new warden and newly elected burgesses. The flurst business in order was to ballot on the seniority of the burgesses. The ballot resulted in the choice of William Luby for senior burgess, and the others in order as follows: William Hassett, S. W. Phelps, G. W. Backes, J. T. Kimberly, P. J. Darrigan. By a vote the matter of appointment of borough attorney was laid over until a future meeting. The matter of appointment of special constables was next in order. The first ballot resulted in the selection of J. W. Mooney, who received 4 votes, D. O'Reilly 2. On the second ballot D. O'Reilly had three votes and Thomas Kenney 3. No choice. The second ballot resulted the same. The matter of the warden casting the deciding vote was spoken of, and Warden Morris stated that he would rather the matter would lay over until a future meeting until he could acquaint himself on the matter. It was voted that the two officers now on duty continue until their successors are appointed. For officers of the fire department the selections made was Chief Engineer Luke Martin, First Assistant William M. Casey, Second Assistant M. M. J. Redmond. The committees appointed were as follows: Health committee, Warden Morris, J. T. Kimberly; sewer, F. W. Phelps, William Hassett; sidewalks, G. W. Backes, J. T. Kimberly; road, Warden Marros, P. J. Darrigan, William Luby; fire, William Hassett, William Luby; police, Warden Morris, William Luby.

The matter of the correct line of North Orchard street, where the sidewalk is being laid, was discussed, as there seemed to be a mistake in the survey, as J. W. Newton, who owns the property on the corner of Orchard and Christian streets, claims that the line of sidewalk as given, encroaches 2½ inches on his property, and damages him to considerable amount. The matter was referred to the sidewalk committee with power to act. The bill of $48.21 to James Morrisey for services as sewer inspector was ordered paid.

Some changes for the payment of the contractor for the building of the Wallace hose house were made in the contract, which were recommended by the building committee, was accepted by the board.

The matter of claims against H. F. Hall regarding sewer assessments on Church street was discussed, and there seemed to be a misunderstanding as to the amounts paid and the amount of property owned, subject to the assessment. There is what is known as a blanket lein placed on the property for the sewer assessment, and since it has been found that 113 feet of the property assessed to H. F. Hall, when it was owned by another person. Hall claimed to have settled the matter and wants the lein removed, but there seems to be no record on the borough books of such settlement. The claims extend back to 1888, when the sewer was built.

The bond of Lorenzo R. Cook of $5,000 as treasurer with George Cook and J. R. Campbell as bondsmen, was accepted.

Voted, That the warden draw all orders on the treasurer for pay of the street laborers and night patrolmen weekly.

The clerk was authorized to grant licenses to drain layers as during the past year.

Voted, That H. Wales Lines company be granted a drain layers' licens, providing the proper application is made and bond furnished.

Nicholas Bridget was appointed sewer inspector for the ensuing year.

Adjourned until the first Tuesday in December.

The action of the board of burgesses Saturday evening on the appointment of the borough's night patrolmen places Warden Morris in an unpleasant predicament at the very outset of his official career. The first vote for the appointment was in favor of J. W. Mooney, one of the regular men on duty for the past year. On the second vote for the other patrolman there was a tie, Daniel O'Reilly who has filled the position of night patrolman for several years, and who to all outward appearances has faithfully performed his duties and against whom no charges have been preferred, and as far as can be learned no intimation has been made that he has in any manner neglected his duties or given any reasons why he should de deposed from his position, received three votes, and Thomas Kenney, a new candidate for the position, received three votes. Another vote was taken with the same result, and naturally it devolved upon the warden to cast the deciding vote, as in his position of presiding officer he is supposed to do in case of a tie. But rather than commit himself the new executive asked that the matter be put over until a future meeting so that he could acquaint himself with the situation. Should he decide to cast his vote in favor of Officer Reilly then he will antagonize the friends of Kenney, who are working for his appointment, and on the other hand, should he decide in favor of Kenney he will merit the displeasure of Officer Reilly's friends. Whichever way he chooses he will have to lose the approbation of one side or the other. The same situation existed when W. H. Newton was warden, but he decided the matter at once, after the first vote was taken, which resulted in a tie, and cast the deciding vote in favor of the candidate for the position which he believed was justly entitled to the appointment. Warden Morris will find before the year is out that the position he has assumed will not always prove a bed of roses.

"McCarthy's Mishaps" will be the attraction at the opera house this evening. The play is too well known to require any comment. The company supporting Barney Ferguson this season is unusually strong, including as it does, Miss St. George Huesey, America's greatest Irish character singer. The songs, dances and catchy music are the latest public hits. Barney Ferguson is the same little funny man as of yore. His clever daughter, Marguerite, is also a member of the company.

The annual concert and sociable of Court Windemere, A. O. F., will be held in the armory Thanksgiving eve, Wednesday, November 27. Music by the opera house orchestra. Prof. Harry Mitchell prompter.

Bert Sherman, formerly residing here, now in Roxbury, Mass., is the happy father of a daughter.

Margaret Bowe has sold to Thomas H. Prisk forty acres of land in Yalesville.

The football team of the Boys' Brigade defated the St. Paul's choir boys on Saturday by a score of 24 to 6.

The visit of the degree team of Connecticut Rock lodge, F. and A. M., of New Haven, here to work the master Mason's degree in German, has been changed and the date is now fixed at Wednesday evening, December 4.

There was another big crowd at the T. A. B.'s fair Saturday evening which included delegations from New Haven, Bridgeport, New Britain, Meriden and other towns. The fair will be continued several evenings this week.

Over fifty visitors from Meridian and Center lodge of Meriden were Compass lodge's guests Saturday evening. One hundred and six sat down at the banquet.

Miss Nellie Holmes of Meriden has been engaged as contralto in the Congregational church choir in place of Mrs. Terry, who resigned.

Changes at the Hospital.

Dr. William J. Sheehan, jr., has been appointed house surgeon at the New Haven hospital, vice Dr. Fred N. Sperry, who has resigned and opened an office at 76 oWoster street. Dr. Charles D. Phelps becomes house physician, Dr. J. Flynn assistant house surgeon and Dr. John W. Durkee assistant house physician.

The United Order of Trainmen of the Consolidated railroad held a meeting in the Odd Fellows' building yesterday afternnoon, but transacted only routine business.

Wallingford Man Arrested.

Waterbury, Nov. 24.—John Haden and James Berry, both of Wallingford, are locked up in this city, and they are to be taken to Wallingford to-morrow. The two hired a livery team in Wallingford on Saturday to go to Southington. They came to this city instead, and early this morning were found asleep in their team. They answered telephonic descriptions received from Wallingford, and were held.

An informal reception will be given to the Hon. N. D. Sperry, president of the Quinnipiac club, to-morrow evening at 8 o'clock, prior to his departure for Washington, D. C., for the winter.
