THE STORM KING'S FURY.

Further Details of Destruction by the Late Tornado in the Northwest.

Two Children Blown Away and Never Found—Many Persons Killed and a Large Number Wounded.

Vast Injury to Buildings, Stock, Fences and Growing Crops at Many Points.

DELL RAPIDS, DAK., July 23.—At three o'clock Monday afternoon a tornado struck this village from the northwest, and wrought considerable damage. None were killed or seriously injured in the village. Barns and other out-buildings without number were blown to pieces. Nearly all the glass in the west side of buildings was broken by the hail which accompanied the storm.

In the county there was great havoc. Those reported killed are: Mr. Hale, Mrs. Dickinson's daughter. Two children of Mrs. Maffey, living eight miles west of town were blown away and can not be found. Four other deaths are announced. Those seriously injured are: Cora Boff, two children of Jones Helms, Christopher Walters, a son of Chris. Walters, two children of General Gunderson, Peter Hallworsen, and Mrs. Marcus.

Several farm-houses were destroyed, and nearly every farm lost barns and outbuildings. A great many horses and cattle were killed. Crops were leveled and destroyed by the hail. The track is about eight miles wide at this place, with the village in the center. The loss in the village is about $30,000. Three-fourths of the crop in a strip six miles wide and twenty long are gone. The storm lasted about thirty minutes. Mrs. Hale was buried to-day.

LUVERNE, MINN., July 23.—Two men and two young women were killed in the vicinity by the storm of Monday and a number of others injured. The damage in Luverne is estimated at about $12,000. A good many buildings were blown down through Rock County, and crops were somewhat damaged. Toward four o'clock in the afternoon the outline of the approaching tempest became clearly defined in the northwest, and very soon after a huge mass of overhanging clouds, plainly indicating the approach of a strong wind, rolled toward town with startling rapidity. The appearance of the storm, though unusually threatening, was not such as to occasion serious alarm, and after the first vigorous gust the impression prevailed that the worst was over. In this appearances were deceptive. After a brief cessation of the storm the rain began to fall in torrents, and the wind gathered strength. A moment later the wind tempest began the work in real earnest. The rain was driven before the wind in a vast sheet, with great force, and each moment the terrors of the tempest grew fiercer.

There was now good cause for alarm. The spire of the Baptist Church was hurled to the ground. The strongest structures trembled to their foundations. Others rocked and swayed in momentary danger of destruction, while those less substantial or more directly exposed to the wind were blown into a thousand pieces. Tin roofs, shingles and cornices were torn from the business buildings. Signs were wrenched from their fastenings and dashed into store fronts and broken boards and windows were driven through the air in wild confusion. The tempest raged thus furiously for over half an hour, and the scene during the time was appalling. For a time it seemed that the destruction would be general, but the force of the tempest was diminished and toward five o'clock it completely subsided.

ROCK RAPIDS, IA., July 23.—A severe storm passed over this place about three o'clock Monday afternoon. It did no serious damage here, except to the crops.

HURON, DAK., July 23.—Reports from the track of the wind and hail storm which crossed the southwest part of this county Monday afternoon, are very discouraging. Crops within a strip about seven miles wide by twenty long, from Wolsey on the Milwaukee Road, to Carthage on the Northwestern, are almost destroyed. The loss to farmers will reach $40,000. The towns of Wolsey and Carthage suffered much damage from breaking of glass, but no lives were lost.

GRAND ARMY VETERANS.

Ten Thousand Ex-Soldiers in Camp at Minneapolis, Minn.—General Sherman There.

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN., July 23.—The Grand Encampment of the G. A. R. Veterans took place last night at the Fair Grounds, fully 10,000 ex-soldiers being present. The hotels are all crowded, and fifty 600 tents are pitched in the Fair Grounds. Governor Hubbard, of Minnesota, delivered the address of welcome, which was responded to by R. B. Heath, the Commander of the Grand Army of the Republic, who said the Grand Army now contains on its rolls 254,000 members, all of whom had bravely served their country from the root at Bull Run to the surrender at Appomattox. These were followed by the addresses of General Warner, of Missouri; Colonel Hicks, of Minnesota; Colonel Grosvenor, of Ohio, and General Gibson. Among those on the platform were General Sherman, General Logan, Governor Hubbard, Mayor Pillsbury, Governor Rusk, of Wisconsin; General Fairchild, and Grand Commander Heath and staff.

TERRIBLE GAS EXPLOSION.

A Store Blown to Pieces and Several Persons Killed or Wounded.

ATLANTA, GA., July 23.—A terrible explosion occurred yesterday afternoon in the store of Chas. M. Barrey, 170 Decatur street, resulting in the killing of two people and the wounding of seven others. Several workmen were running gas pipes into Barrey's grocery store, and while making the connection a large quantity of gas escaped from a pipe under the floor of the building. With a view of examining some portion that commanded their attention, one of the workmen lool shly struck a match. Instantly an explosion took place. The men were buried into the street and the store was torn to pieces. Bill Madison, one of negro workmen, was so badly injured that he died while being taken home. His assistant, named Carrington, was picked up terribly mangled, with a large hole in his head, thought likely to be of a fatal character. A negro woman, Annie Gater, was killed instantly. Barrey, the proprietor, was found on an upper shelf wedged in between the rafters with one of his legs broken and body injured internally. Mrs. Barrey, Miss May Barrey and Mrs. J. Grace were quite severely injured. The store is torn literally to pieces. Carrington is reported to be dying.

IT DOES PROHIBIT.

The Notorious Mary Blank, Fined $250, "Takes Water" and Begs for Clemency.

MARSHALTOWN, IA., July 23.—The trial of Mary Blank, who was arrested so many times last week for selling beer, resulted in her conviction. A fine of $250 was imposed. When the second case against her was called yesterday she submitted a statement that she had discontinued business and promised that she would hereafter desist from selling beer contrary to the law, and asked to be shown as much clemency as possible. The prosecution, after considering the matter, consented to abandon the two remaining cases, the costs so far accrued being taxed against the defendant.

A Jilted Lucretia.

MUSKEGON, MICH., July 23.—Somebody stole into the back kitchen of Mr. Wm. Fritz in this city Monday night, and put some "Rough on Rats" into the kettle. On drinking coffee made from the water at breakfast yesterday morning four persons were poisoned. Wm. Fritz, his two daughters, aged five and seventeen, and Jno. Sprick, a boarder. Sprick lived with Mollie Mulligan some time ago, and then left her. A woman was seen loitering about the place after one o'clock Monday night, and suspicion strongly points to her as the woman who did the deed. The police went to the hotel where she had been engaged as cook, but learned she left Monday night, and had not been seen here since. She was arrested in Chicago last night.

Fatal Explosion of a Threshing Machine Boiler.

LITCHFIELD, ILL., July 23.—A threshing machine exploded at a point a few miles from this city Monday afternoon. Jno. West was instantly killed and Frank Gaskell died in three hours, while Wm. Fisher, Jas. King, Geo. West, Floyd West, Jas. Fardell and Daniel Richardson were scalded and cut, and four of them are said to be fatally hurt. The thresher and the most of the machinery were blown to atoms, and most of the wheat stacked was burned.

St. John Heard From.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 23.—Ex-Governor St. John, the temperance orator, while here was interviewed yesterday. He said: "I am not a candidate before the Pittsburgh Convention, and my friends understand that I could not accept the nomination. But I shall give the nominee my hearty support. I think seventy-five per cent. of the Prohibitionist votes in the North will come from the Republican party, while in the South the majority of Prohibitionists were originally Democrats."

Forty-three School Districts

The commissioner's court have divided the county into 43 school districts. The lines can be seen by reference to minutes of commissioner's court. Under the law all school districts are entitled to three trustees, to be elected by the district on the first Saturday in August. In several instances there will be more than one school in a district. In such cases the county judge will appoint substitute trustees. He will also appoint trustees for the districts that fail to elect. The county judge has not yet secured the blanks upon which districts are to be returned. The law expects the trustees to be elected just at the time above stated. Immediately after the election of trustees, scholastic population, from eight to sixteen, must be taken, with names and age on list same as old community list, and returned to county judge. All persons who live upon the line of districts and prefer to send to another district, will be allowed to do so, and such are requested to place the names of their children upon the list of the district they desire to patronize. Children on county lines will be allowed to attend school in adjoining counties as heretofore.

The county judge will make publication as to the return of his school house examination of trustees, etc., immediately after the first Saturday in August. Under the law no tax can be levied upon school districts before the second Monday in February next, and districts desiring to have an election to decide upon taxation must apply to commissioner's court by the second Monday in November, so as to give time to order such election, etc., before the time levying the general county taxes.
