Marshall & Heard, the live grocers of Austin street, lead their usual large trade. This house has a name for the excellent quality of their goods, the promptitude with which business is transacted, for reliability in every respect and for cheapness in prices, which secures for them at all times a steady trade. Families who have dealt with this admirable house rarely go elsewhere.

Messrs. Patterson, Scudder & Co., investment bankers of San Antonio, who also have an office on South Fourth street, Waco, are the pioneer money lenders of Texas. Mr. Patterson, the senior member of the firm was the first to induce foreign capitalists to invest their moneys in these parts, in real estate and on real estate securities. This firm has brought over two million dollars into Texas and has done more to abolish the old usury rates than any other individual or company in the Lone Star State. Their terms are so reasonable that borrowers can well afford to give them their best securities.

MR. WHITE INTERVIEWED.

What He has to Say in Regard to Burning Up Newspapers and Connections.

In refute the statement made by W. L. Prather, esq., to the effect that the new papers and the city council had conspired to burn Mr. L. W. White, an EXAMINER reporter visited this gentleman yesterday and propounded the following interrogatories:

Reporter—"Mr. White, it has been said by Counsel Wm. Prather that you have bought out the newspapers and the city council, and as a representative of THE EXAMINER I wish you to state, for the benefit of our readers, whether you have ever won the present management of that paper any money to defend your rights?"

Mr. White, emphatically—"I never have, nor did I ever offer them any money for such a purpose."

Reporter—"Have you ever paid the Evening Day any money to defend your interests?"

Mr. White—"I never have."

Reporter—"Have you ever paid any member of the city council anything to defend your cause?"

Mr. White—"No, sir. I have not. The proposition for the rake-off service came from the council, without any solicitation."

Reporter—"Mr. White, who was city attorney when you made the contract which we are now working under?"

Mr. White—"Mr. W. L. Prather."

Reporter—"Did you pay him anything to draw up the contract?"

Mr. White—"At the time the present contract was made, I was a non-resident of Waco. I did not have any lawyer here to represent me, and I told Mr. Prather I would give him $25 to draw up the contract so as to make it as good for me as for the city. After the contract was adopted, I gave Mr. Prather the $25."

Reporter—"Mr. White, have you ever paid City-attorney Blair anything for the contracts he has drawn up?"

Mr. White—"No, I never have."

Reporter—"Mr. White, is it not your opinion that men who are most willing to accuse others of being bribed are the very ones who are amenable to bribery?"

Mr. White—"That is the general supposition among all sorts, but as I have never attempted to bribe anyone, I cannot say that it is a fact. I do not want to, nor have I ever given money to anyone to draw up contracts for me, except the $25 I gave Mr. Prather. What I do and say is open and without the fear in favor of anyone."

ONE WAY TO SOLVE THE WATER PROBLEM.

Waco, Tex., February 17, 1886.

Let our city council issue bonds of sufficient amount to build not only waterworks, and supply the people with plenty of as good water as can be had, regardless of what the outlay will cost, and, in the end, the people will bless them. The Waco water company, not any other stock company, are going to build the city good and sufficient water works simply to accommodate the people, neither are they going to build them with money of their own, which is worth from 12 to 18 per cent. per annum, which can be realized in other fields, as money is dear, in order to get cheap money they must have an assurance of a contract with the city that will not only pay the interest of any money they put up, but create a sinking fund for the absorption of the bonds in the water company.

If a contract can be had that will pay the interest on $200,000 and create the sinking-fund, the bonds can be sold, provided the water works only cost the company $200,000 or $300,000. If the city must make a contract with some stock company, so they can sell their bonds, why not issue our own bonds for an adequate amount and give the city all the water needed for fire purposes, sewerage, etc., and the people good water for manufacturing and domestic purposes, at a minimum rate of taxation, so as the interest and creation of a sinking fund for the bonds. Let Waco own our own water-works, make such additions from time to time as is needed to reduce her water tax as the city grows larger, and in a few years I have no doubt the city will be drawing a revenue from this source, and the people will be getting cheap water. Let the people cry bonds, bonds, in preference to such a contract as is offered by the city council to the water-works company. If necessary to get an indorsement from the people, submit the question to them at our April election.

A GREAT WORK

One that Should be in Every House hold in Waco.

Rev. Edmund C. Spinney is now canvassing our city for Samuel Cox's great work, entitled "Three Decades of Federal Legislation." He will call upon our citizens for subscriptions to this work, and to enlighten those who have not heard of it, or who do not know anything about the book. We copy the following from the pen of Hon. J. G. Carlisle, speaker of the house of representatives. Mr. Carlisle says: "The work involves slavery, secession, emancipation and reconstruction, and embraces sketches of the most prominent actors during the most interesting period of our history, or the history of any other country. Other volumes have been written covering some of these points, but no one has yet been published which presents these remarkable events from a democratic standpoint."

The Evening Day, after reviewing the book, says: "It embodies a review of the period extending from 1861 to 1885, and embraces personal and historical reminiscences of events preceding, during and since the civil war. Does it show full justice to the southern view goes without saying. There is no more or more liberal and unpartisan observer of events than Mr. Cox, and he has woven into his book all the charms of literary excellence and accuracy. The illustrations are in the highest style of art, and present portraits of all the leading actors in the stirring scenes of the time. Altogether, it is a book of rare merit and interest, a valuable contribution to current history, and throws new light upon disputed questions from a candid point of loyalty to the government and to constitutions, liberty as interpreted by the democratic party. It will be especially important with southern readers, who only ask what Mr. Cox has evidently given them—the impartial justice of honest history."

ST. PAUL'S

A Fine Congregation Last Night. An Eloquent Sermon. Order of Services for To-Day.

The several services at St. Paul's yesterday were well attended, and a great interest in this series of meetings is springing up. The congregation last night was a large one for a week-day night, and it was truly representative, not only of the church but the city generally. Leading merchants, bankers and business men generally sat in the body of the church. The sermon was a chaste, beautiful and learned discourse from the text, "I sleep, but my heart waketh." The eloquent bishop never preached upon a more tender and touching theme, and it was more than fully appreciated by an attentive audience.

The order of services for to-day is as follows:

Celebration of Holy Communion, at 7:30 a. m.

Intercessory prayer, at 9 a. m.

Meeting for men only, at 3 p. m. The bishop, the visiting clergy and our faithful vestry all desire that the business men of Waco, without regard to creed, will attend this service. The sermon will be by Rev. Dr. Rogers and the hour is fixed at 3 p. m. so as to the business of the day is usually over, so that all may attend. We especially urge the business men of Waco to hear the eloquent gentleman who has so many sincerely attached friends in this city.

Evening prayer and sermon by the Rt. Rev. R. W. B. Elliott, bishop of West Texas, at 7:30 p. m.

Our Dr. counter is new novelty in our business and is becoming very popular. Call and we will save you some money. We also carry a full line of A. B. pipes and show chow pickles, Quaker preserves, in 5lb. Trupert's French prunes, L. L. raisins, etc., in fancy grocery goods have the cup, mushroom, vermicelli, seed rye and rolled oats, cracked and rolled wheat, pearl barley, farina, hominy, etc., and many other goods too numerous to mention. Yours,

O. J. SHILLER.

Dolls, Dashes and Clicks Caught Over in the Fifth Ward.

The improvements which are being made by the Central railway will cost several thousand dollars.

The old switch which crosses through Mr. Carothers' lumber yard has been taken up, and a new one is being put down.

There two saloons on the East side and said some of the citizens are kicking about not having anything to drink.

Superintendent Donald Allen is pushing roofing away the roundhouse and other old railroad buildings, and cleaning the Central yard with a good letter.

Dr. Woodyard says it may be that he cannot solve the next alderman for East Waco, but he can talk Washington machine to the "Bun Branch Wakins can buy hides in Canada."

Dock Huggett says it is strong that East Waco is without whisky, says he will open twenty kegs of Kilgoubah's beer over there to-day, and let the citizens who are dry come and wet their whistles.

Mr. J. B. Mobley will answer the call made on him in yesterday's EXAMINER, where he is asked to allow his name to be used as a candidate for constable of precinct No. 1, in the morrow morning's issue.

The workmen have struck hard pan in the well which is being dug for the Central railway, and are now wearing the great look upon the rock. They have found enough water to supply a city four times as large as Waco.

Some of the citizens offer to bet that Alderman Spright, chairman of the committee on fire alarms will suggest to the city council the advisability and the necessity of having an annex added to the fire school building. The children certainly need more room.

A solicitation took THE EXAMINER reporter to raw yesterday about calling the village East Waco. It says it should be designated as the Fifth ward, and then people abroad would think it was a part of Waco. A good suggestion. Mr. Bell, but then there is not more than one person in twenty in the City of Waco who can tell where the Fifth ward is. It would be like the fellow who came here some time ago and tried to make us spell it Hoss. It would not be a success.

Important Change Contemplated and an Unusual Cut to Reduce Stock.

I am contemplating some important changes in my store, such as removing the middle wall, setting up the door stove, which I will also besize, constructing stairway from below and ceiling the entire establishment, and in order to make the improvements and to save my present enormous stock from damage by removal, breakage, etc., I propose for the next sixty days to sell toys and fancy goods of every description, for cash, at actual cost and to make very great and unusual reductions in staple goods, such as china, queensware, glassware, lamps, stoves, kitchen utensils and housefurnishing goods.

This is no catchpenny scheme, but is the solid sober truth. A visit to my store will convince the most skeptical.

Recollect, however, that these terms apply only to cash purchases.

BOOTS AND SHOES

Consolidated—On the 1st of March the K. P. Sturgis Bankrupt Stock of Boots and Shoes will be Moved to the Old Stand of Sleeper, Clifton & Co. Where They will be Pushed Until All Are Sold.

Now is the time to secure bargains and good fits in good reliable boots and shoes. These goods are being offered to the retail trade at manufacturers' cost, and they are going fast. The trade is appreciating this opportunity. We are asked every day, are you selling the Sturgis stock of boots and shoes? Why don't you sell them in job lots to some merchants in the country and around Waco? We answer that we are retail merchants in boots and shoes, and every advantage that we can secure, we want our customers to enjoy it and share the most benefit from it. Boots and shoes is our business, and we strive hard every day to make this business benefit our patrons. No one undersells us. No one sells better goods for the money. No one treats his customers better. No one is more ready to make amends for a faulty boot or shoe than we are. We try to sell just what we represent, and if the goods are not up to what the customer expects, we claim that it is a favor from the customer to come and let us make amends for it. We have a large line of boots and shoes and we appreciate it and we want to make it in our, so when you want a good boot or shoe, come to see us and we will do better for you than any house in Waco.
