"Apples of Gold in Pictures of Silver."--No. 2.

Credit, judiciously used, is a part of your capital.

Place your credit in the hands of people who appreciate its worth and are able to take care of it.

It is far safer to owe one thousand dollars to one strong house than to owe two hundred and fifty dollars each to four houses in as many different markets.

Let the amount of your credit trade be in proportion to the capital invested in the business.

Remember that no one house can do all the business in a given community. The successful tradesman decides how much he can safely do, and selects the best men with whom to do it.

Go slow in the spring and early summer, and push trade in August and September. Remember that the only jobber whose interests are absolutely identical with yours, is the local home jobber, and forget not this cardinal principle--don't scatter your trade.

FOR RENT OR FOR SALE.

[illegible]

A Young Josie Spices His Pies Unique.

Justice Wm. [illegible] was sitting in his office yesterday morning, waiting for the constables to fetch some kind of business to his door. The Judge had read the morning EXAMINER and was tired to death over the dry and raw weather. So he concluded to write out his thoughts and learn how to marry. Taking up the pen he began, "morning for thought of the morrowing day, and what a [illegible] thought it was just to say a few words and wait to a happy groom go down in his pantaloons and fetch on a great big round dollar and then a man let go and pass it over to him. So the honorable man put the dollars. The first one did not suit him on account of its length, and here was a [illegible] and on it down so as to make it binding jaddy pointed, short and sweet. His honor struck an attitude, as an unfortunate preacher, put on a solemn face and imagined two chairs which stood in front of him were the couple to be married. He repeated over time and again, "Will you, Mr. Black, take this woman, whom you hold by the right hand to live with her, love, and while he was still standing in this attitude, who should open the door but a country lad, who had seen about twenty-two of our half-springs, and a country lassie who is apparently about fourteen summers and was traveling toward the fifteenth. His honor's cow-[illegible] began to be a little shaky and it was some time before either spoke, but when the fellow wanted to know if he was a prince of the peace, a great jump filled his honor's throat, but he finally said yes, and wanted to know if the best person spoken of and the lady to wed with wanted to be married. An affirmative reply was given and in less than three minutes Wilderness time Mr. John M. Wedlock and Miss Ora Richards were husband and wife. Justice Sweeper had a dollar and four bits in his pocket and all were happy.

FROM SARTARIA TEXAS TO WACO.

Since the above romantic marriage was written supplying gaps have taken a different turn, and the young couple are not so happy as they were. A young wife weeps on her husband's bosom and they will be rudely separated by the stern hands of the law, the man is locked up in the jail and the girl is gone to her mama. Justice Sweeper was not satisfied with the youthful appearance of the girl, and he made known his suspicions to County Clerk Baker, who upon investigation learned that Westbrooks had made a false statement in the affidavit, and a charge of false swearing was made out against him. Officer Lee Jenkins took the warrant, and after a long search he found the couple at Finch's Southern hotel. Westbrooks was arrested and taken to the jail. When the arrest was made the couple had been married about five hours. THE EXAMINER reporter visited Westbrooks at the jail and found one of those kindly, wild and woolly fellows, sitting in the steel cage smoking the stump of a bad taking five-center, and he blew volumes of smoke in the air, a smile that sat kinder sideways on his broad or black hair, his keen black eyes looked defiantly through the bars, and with pants stuck in his high-heeled boots, all went to complete the make-up of our hero. He said he was not guilty of anything that it was his brother Jim, who is the very picture of himself, that got the license and made out the affidavit. His brother Jim was not found, and the girl said he did not come to Waco with them. The girl, who is a mere child, was brought to the jail and she told Mr. Baker and County Attorney Taylor that she was just married, that her father was dead, and her mother had married again, that she was bitterly opposed to the marriage, and would never give her consent, that they lived on the line of McLennan and Hill counties near Aquilla station, that they had run away and came to Waco, they got on the Central at Rosebud and came to Waco Tuesday night. Mr. Baker then concluded to take the girl home to her mother, and if she would consent to the marriage, he would let Westbrooks go without prosecuting him, otherwise he will have to submit to the penalty of the law. Mr. Baker found a gentleman in the city who lived near the Richards, he placed the girl in his charge and left on the Central train last night with the girl, and will see her safe with her mother.

What Baking Powder Shall We Use?

This plain question comes home to every housekeeper. We all desire pure and wholesome food, and this cannot be had with the use of impure or poisonous baking powder. There can be no longer a question that all the cheaper, lower grade of baking powders contain either alum, lime or phosphatic acid. As loth as we may be to admit so much against what may have been some of our household gods, there can be no gainsaying the unanimous testimony of the official chemists. Indeed, many seem to find no baking powder entirely free from some one of these objectionable ingredients except the Royal, and that they report as chemically pure. We find some of the baking powders advertised as pure, to contain under the tests of Professors Chandler, Hamlin-Shaw and others nearly 12 per cent of lime, while others are made from alum, with no cream of tartar. This, we presume, accounts for their lack of leavening power as sometimes complained of by the cook, and for the bitter taste found, in the biscuits so frequently complained of by ourselves.

But aside from the inferiority of the work done by these powders, the physiologists assure us that lime and alum taken into the system in such quantities as these are injurious. They are not decomposed by heat and not dissolved by mixing or baking. They go with the bread, therefore, into the stomach where their physiological effects are indigestion, dyspepsia or worse evils.

The question naturally arises, why do these cheap baking powders use these things? Alum is two cents a pound, lime still cheaper, while cream of tartar costs thirty-five or forty. The reasons for the chemical purity of Royal Baking Powder were recently given in the New York World in an interesting description of a new method for refining argol or crude cream of tartar. It seems that it is only under this process the cream of tartar can be freed from the lime natural to it and rendered so really pure that the patents and plant for this cost the Royal Baking Powder company about half a million dollars and that they maintain exclusive control of the right.

Professor McMurtrie, late chief chemist of the department of agriculture at Washington, D. C., in the interests of commerce, made an examination of this process and reported upon the results attained in the refining cream of tartar. The following extract from his report would seem to answer the question repeated at the head of this article, which we have heard so frequently propounded by our lady friends.

"I have examined the cream of tartar used by the Royal Baking Powder company in the manufacture of their baking powder, and find it to be perfectly pure, and free from lime in any form. The chemical tests by which I have submitted the Royal Baking Powder prove it perfectly healthful and free from every deleterious substance.

WORKMAN'S FESTIVAL.

Celebration of their second anniversary last night.

A large number of members of the Workman's Mutual Aid Association, both ladies and gentlemen and a number of their friends assembled at their hall on South United street last night to celebrate the second anniversary of the organization. The association numbers nearly 200 members, and is one of the solid institutions of Waco. It is composed of the very best and really true working men and their families in this city. The order is subordinate to nothing and no body, but is supreme and grand within itself. Its real true objects are benevolence, friendship and aid to the working men, and since its organization two years ago, much good has been accomplished. The names of the officers of the association are: John A. Sey, president; Chas. L. Moore, first vice-president; F. L. Dowling, second vice-president; A. P. Harris, recording secretary; J. B. Claston, financial secretary.

The following was the program for the evening:

Address by the president.
Music by the Firemen's band.
"Birdie's Ball," song by seven little girls.
Speech by J. P. Clark.
Recess, a social promenade and guess the masters.
"Courting," song, by the little girls.
Music by the band.
March to supper.

THE EXAMINER reporter was present when the march to supper was announced, and to Mrs. A. J. Sey and others thanks are returned for a most bountiful supper of everything nice to eat.

While the speeches were simply at encouragement and calculated to do much good for the order, and the workers made fun for all, the real attraction for the evening was the songs of the little Misses Bayne, McCarne and Harris, twin belonging to each family, while Miss Bertie Blanchard presided at the organ. The little ones really deserve much praise and the singing was a credit to their efforts. May the W. M. A. live forever.

THE PO-TOTTER.

The Way the Business Goes, Kept Up, and How the Postmaster is Paid.

Some persons here think that the postmaster either receives the total income from the rent of the boxes or a large commission upon the same. This is a mistake. The postmaster receives nothing from the office except his fixed salary of $2,200 per year. The fees of the money order office are his if he does the work, or he can have some one else do the work and receive the pay, which is the case in this office. Out of the $2,200 salary the postmaster is required to furnish the boxes and all other office furniture, and to keep the boxes in repair. While it would seem that the government might pay for the repairs on the boxes which cost it nothing, yet it does not, and when repaired it is at the expense of the postmaster. The postmaster is required to collect the box rent promptly in advance for every quarter and if he fails to do so, and the boxes need over ten days, he is held for it. The government receives about $2,000 a year from the rented boxes in this office.

By reading the instructions on the back of the notice so any one placed in the boxes one can readily see that there is no discretion to be used, and if the rent is not paid they need not complain at their boxes being closed up.

DON'T SMOKE.

Wanting a Cigar Gets a Colored Boy in the Coolest Jar.

Andrew Johnson is the name of a colored boy who attempted to steal a cigar from Bud Orman's White Hall saloon on Bridge street Tuesday night, and just as he lifted the smokers and attempted to appropriate them to his own use, Bud made a rush for him and Andy rushed madly out of the house. A chase was commenced, but after running up First to Washington thence to Second and to John Farley's coal yard, when Andy's legs became weary and Bud overtook him. Officer Falwell then came up and the two took Andy to jail. A charge of burglary was made against him yesterday, and he will languish in jail until he has a hearing before the court.

All Fool's Day.

Auctioneers at the court-house tonight.

Corn sells out of wagons for 50 cents per bushel.

The street gang did a good day's work yesterday.

Remember this is the first of April, and do not let anyone fool you.

Let there be a big turnout at the anti-perquisite meeting tonight.

The charity sisters of Emmettsburg, Md., say Red Star cough cure is very efficacious.

Prof. J. Boyd Creasap's school at Preston springs, is having a week's holiday.

An absolute cure for chicken cholera has been found in St. Jacobs Oil. Price 50 cents.

Hon. E. A. Sturgis addressed a mass meeting of anti-perquisiters in East Waco last night.

Freight trains are coming in thick and fast from the north over the Missouri Pacific railway.

Mr. John Tennant will commence cutting in the stone basement for the new roller mill elevator today.

The sickening, dull thud was heard in Marlin yesterday, and Wash Washington paid the penalty of his crime.

Wood-hauls redispose of their loads as soon as they reach the city. Wood is not a drug on the market just now.

A large number of men and teams resumed work excavating on the Belcher building and roller mill lots yesterday.

The frost nipped tender vegetables yesterday morning, but very little damage was done. It did not hurt young corn but very little.

The committee on streets were out last night selecting places for the new arc lights, and will make their report to the city council tonight.

The wind blew from the north yesterday, and the air was quite chilly until the afternoon, when outdoor walking was very comfortable.

The rise in the river has about run down, but the water carried away about a thousand tons of drift which had been deposited at the lower ford.

The passenger train which came from the south over the Missouri Pacific railway yesterday did not need to overtake a freight train until it arrived at Waco.

The sun positively no fishing here without a permit, and no fishing on Sundays, still swings on Franklin street, between Fourth and Fifth. The mad hole is simply fearful.

Judge O. L. Walker will deliver an address on "capital and labor" before the Workmen's Mutual Aid association on Sunday afternoon, next, at [illegible] o'clock. The public generally are invited to hear the judge's speech.

The committee will meet at the Baptist church this morning at 10 o'clock and select a site for the Baylor college. There are about ten thousand people in Waco who are anxious to know where the building will be erected.

Note Mr. Curtis's big stove emporium. The Curtis establishment has recently undergone some very marked improvements, allowing a much better display of his very large stock. Watch his advertising space for announcements in a few days.

THE EXAMINER night force were not forgotten last night, and the ladies of the W. M. A. sent up a most bountiful supply of nice things from the supper. Many thanks ladies. The weary toilers enjoyed the feast and wish you all long and happy lives.

The arc electric light which swings across the street in front of the Pacific hotel is worth more to the city than any other in Waco. Besides lighting up a dark spot, it will be a beacon to the firemen in getting out of the Franklin street engine house on dark nights.

Prominent speakers will address the mass meeting at the court-house tonight. Some of our best citizens will tell about the vexatious perquisite system, and the multitudes will be out to hear them. Every citizen who has the welfare of Waco at heart should be there.

The following notice is posted on the bulletin board at the Missouri Pacific passenger depot: "Arrangements have been made to start a pay car out of St. Louis as soon as possible. The paymaster will pay all men on February rolls without prejudice. Nanitz all concerned." The telegram is dated St. Louis, March 31.

Much credit is due to the invention of the telephone, telegraph, locomotive, steamship and the wonderful ocean cable. But it is but the truth to say, that for the real benefits to humanity, the discoverer of Brown's Iron Tonic tops them all. Thousands cured of rheumatism, biliousness, blood poison, and kidney troubles know Brown's Iron Tonic is the paragon of medicines. For sale by H. Behrens, Waco, Tex.

THE NARROW GAUGE.

The St. Louis, Arkansas & Texas Railway to the Front.

Mr. C. D. Drake, pay-master on the St. L., A. & T. railway, arrived in the city yesterday afternoon and paid off the employees for February. For four years the Missouri Pacific pay-car has always been ahead, but the plucky little narrow gauge has got ahead this time. The transportation department of this road is ably conducted by Mr. W. R. Compton, formerly connected with the C. B. & Q., now general superintendent of the narrow gauge. THE EXAMINER is informed by Messrs. Eaton, Guinan & Co. that they have had five car loads of goods brought through in the fast time of four and a half days from St. Louis. This road has stood by us in the strike and helped us out amazingly. Let us give it a fair share of our business. We help those always who helps us.

THE STRIKE IS OVER

Freight Trains Coming in and Our People Happy Again.

It is a fact this time. The strike is sure enough ended. The terms of settlement between the two factions will be found in our telegraph columns this morning. Two freight trains arrived in this city from the north last afternoon, and agent Smith has received instructions to commence receiving freight today. So the old Missouri Pacific is all right again.

PERSONAL.

E. M. Ewing, esq., left yesterday on a short business trip to Gainesville.

Rev. A. J. Holt, of Dallas, superintendent of missions, is in the city, a guest of Rev. Dr. Burleson.

Mr. John Douglas left yesterday on a short visit to his mother and father, who reside at Thorp Springs, Hood county.

Mr. Harry Bisher, who has been attending the Philadelphia college of pharmacy for the past two years, is at home again.

Mr. S. D. Scudder, of Patterson, Scudder & Co., invoice of baskets, San Antonio and Waco, is again in charge of the Waco office.

Colonel Wm. Cameron left yesterday morning for Fort Worth to attend a meeting of the Texas Lumber company, which assembles in that city today, and of which he is the president.

Sheriff Tom Bell and H. L. Gibson came down from Hillsboro on one of the freight trains last afternoon, and reported no sign of the passengers. Tom said he determined to see the train come through safe.

Mr. Lancelot Watson left Tuesday afternoon for Mexia City, Iowa, where he will remain two or three months. Mr. Watson will, in all probability, bring his family back with him when he returns.

Mr. Louis Weinrich left yesterday for Taylor, where he will take and weigh the United States mail between that point and Denison. Louis will pass through Waco on the night run, and consequently his friends will not see much of him. Having never done much else in his life but handle United States mails, Louis is well fitted for the position, and will give entire satisfaction.

Rev. M. A. Smith, of Belton, one of the committee whose business it is to locate the site for Baylor college, came up last afternoon, and is a guest of Rev. Dr. Carroll. During the past few months Rev. Smith has visited us quite often, and while no man is more welcome in our city than he, it is hoped he will not have business to Waco again on the same business which has called him here so frequently in the past.

Hello, Hello! Who is This?

Why don't you know me, this is John, at the Waco Supply Store. Well, what do you want? I thought you might want some of that choice, pure apple, peach or pear butter, the boys got in yesterday, it is very fine. We have just received five barrels of the finest Sugar Drip from New Orleans yesterday that you ever tasted. It is the dripping of pure white sugar before it is barreled, and there never has been anything like it before in Waco. Let us send you down a gallon at 90 cents a gallon. We have also just received some nice, new comb honey, pure kentucky apple cider and vinegar that is extra choice. We will receive new vegetables, fresh fish, and many new things in the market home in the next few days—but don't forget to see that the word "Fleischmann's" is on every box of compressed yeast that you get now, as there is an inferior article on the market which is being sold as the genuine compressed yeast. We are the only agents that present for this yeast, so be sure you get the right brand if you expect to have good bread. Yours for good things.
