Large Fire in Cabbotville, Mass.—About midnight, last Saturday night, a fire broke out in the basement of the brick building, No. 2, Exchange street, Cabotville, which destroyed that building, two frame stores, one either side of it, a paint shop and a small barn in the rear. The buildings were all, with the exception perhaps of the barn, owned by Wentworth and Taylor, and three of them were insured by the proprietors in office, Hartford, as follows: The brick building for $1500, the store next west $1200, and the paint shop in the rear for 300. The basement where the fire commenced, was occupied by E. B. Kimball as a refreshment saloon and grocery; his loss is estimated at $700—no insurance. The first story of the same building was occupied by Mr. A. Taylor, as a clothing store. His stock was entirely consumed, involving a loss of several thousands. He was insured at the Hartford office, but to what amount we do not know. Above him in the second story, was the office of the Cabotville Mirror, which was wholly destroyed. We did not learn that the publisher had any insurance. The wooden building west, No. 3, was occupied by Vainey & Winchell for a dry goods and jewelry store. His stock was mostly removed in a damaged state. He was insured at the Hartford office. The paint shop was occupied by Churchill & Co. who removed their property. The frame building on the east of No. 2, was unoccupied but in course of preparation for a dry goods store.

Second Sight.—"Twins by the powers!" exclaimed the horror-struck Irishman as the nurse approached bearing a new pledge of affection, from his fruitful helpmate.—"Twins, honey," cried the nurse, "faith Murdock, and it is the blessed whiskey that makes ye see double this morning!"

☞Sympathy with the Pope and his people, in their present course, was expressed by a large assembly in the Philadelphia Chinese Museum, on the 9th inst. Jno. K Kane presiding, with 12 Vice Presidents and 9 Secretaries, embracing citizens of good standing. Mr Kane opened the meeting. Mr. Dimond then read a long address to Pius IX, which was adopted. Speeches were then made by Wm. A. Stokes, David Webster, and Mr. Vaux. The meeting is said to have exhibited a strong flow of feeling.

A Female Farmer.—The second premium for the best cultivated farm in Litchfield county, Ct., was awarded the past season to Mrs. Vesta Hawkins, of Watertown. The farm contains 160 acres. It has been under Mrs. H.'s management for the last ten years. The committee of examination says:—It is divided the present season into twenty-two acres of meadow, three and a half of corn, six of oats, one and a half of rye, two of buckwheat, a half acre of potatoes, seven acres of woodland, and the residue of pasture land. The product of the farm for the present season is estimated as follows: Fifty tons of hay, two hundred bushels of corn, 133 shocks of oats and 150 bushels of potatoes. The stock kept on it this season consists of 26 head, including six calves raised this season, two horses and 50 sheep. This farm is conveniently laid out into small fields, the fences mostly of rails all in good repair, together with the buildings, presents a neat and tidy appearance.

Corn Cobs.—A friend who had read an article in some paper recommending corn cobs ground or unground, as consuming a valuable feed for stock, undertook to test the truth of the statement for himself. He had a large quantity on hand, and having provided himself with a proper vessel—(a half-hogshead tub,) he filled it with cobs and then with a solution of salt in water. In this steep the cobs were suffered to remain till they had imbibed a sufficiency of the fluid to render them soft. In this condition they were fed out to his stock—half a peck to a full grown cow or ox in the morning, and the same quantity at night. He remarks that all his animals are extremely fond of them, and that they consume a much less quantity of hay and grain then before he commenced giving them 'corn feed.' Neither do they require salt in its natural state. He has several bushels of cobs ground, and finds the meal an excellent article for making 'mush.'—The most economical mode, however, of appropriating corn cobs, is to grind them with the corn. The corn should be first 'crushed,' in a mill constructed expressly for the purpose, and then ground into meal, the same as corn, when shelled.

Stare, January 28.

Mr. Brown,—Sir, it affords me great pleasure to be able to testify to the wonderful virtues of your Sarsaparilla and Tomato Bitters. I think my case is one of peculiar interest; therefore I send you a perfect sketch of my face before taking your medicine, and after its use, which you can make use of if you see fit, for the benefit of yourself or those that are similarly afflicted. I have been for the last four years most terribly afflicted with a humor covering my face and part of my body most of the time. I have been unable to attend to my business during that time. I have taken every medicine that has been recommended, and have drunk gallons of the Sarsaparilla Syrup and Tomato Bitters, all of which has had not the least effect upon my disease. At last I was recommended by my physician to give your Sarsaparilla and Tomato Bitters a trial, which I had scarcely commenced taking before I noticed a change for the better. I continued to use them, with great improvement, a number of months. I have cured only four bottles, and I do not hesitate to pronounce them a most valuable article. I remain, respectfully, yours, &c.

Years Truly, I. RYAN.

Oregon.—To the statement in the Oregon Territory, we add the testimony of a lady resident in the Oregon, which shows a new kind of wealth, to the physicians who are operable by patients known to come from the Oregon, appears that both gardens, orchards, and medicines for human suffering. A lady may not be found in the population of Weight's Indian Vegetable Pills continues to increase, before the Oregon will be noted for the medical plants.

Beware of medicines under any other name than Weight's Indian Vegetable Pills and see that the signature is on the box.

Beware of counterfeits of all kinds. Some are coated with sugar, others are made to resemble in outward appearance the original medicine. The safest course is to purchase from the regular agents, a list of whom may be found in every village and town in the state.

Wistar's Balsam at Home.

Boston, April 14, 1847.—S. W. Fowle, Sir—I have been induced at the suggestion of many of my friends, to make known to the public through you, the great benefit I have derived from the use of your medicine called Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, in the hopes that others suffering from the lung complaint may find the same relief from its use that I have.

The latter part of last summer and in the fall I suffered greatly from a severe cough, pain in the side, difficulty of breathing, loss of appetite, and other symptoms which indicated a rapid decline. Three of the most learned and intelligent medical practitioners pronounced my case consumption, and stated to me that nothing but a change of climate could be of the least possible advantage to me, as my lungs were in a very inflamed and diseased state. At this time, in hopes I might find a remedy for my cough, I bought a bottle of the Balsam which not only gave me the relief my failing strength required, but seemed to give me new life and energy. In five weeks' time I gained eight pounds of flesh, and have been able ever since to attend to my regular business. Wm. H. Hancock.

We shall in a few weeks put forth the history of one of the most singular results of that great characteristic of the American people, (from a heathenish nature) which has ever taken place in this country. A business of one hundred thousand dollars a year built up from nothing in the short space of four years. We are told that the sales of Vaughan's Vegetable Lithontriptic Mixture, the Great American Remedy have been brought to their present enormous ratio in four years only. So famed is the article for its curative and medicinal properties, that it is used for all diseases, in all parts of the world. A great talk wonders at it, rave about it and get it patronized.

To the Citizens of Rutland.

The Executive Committee of the Society for the Relief of the Poor, recently formed in this village, would call the attention of the citizens generally, to the object of the Society's organization, viz:—to collect articles and money to be bestowed in charities to the poor.

Doubtless there are hundreds who have articles of clothing thrown aside as useless, that would add much to the comfort and health of many now destitute, and which have not been given because not asked for. These articles, together with any thing else the donors are disposed to place in the hands of the Society, the public may rest assured will be properly distributed among the poor of our town.

An adjourned meeting of the Society will be held at the Court House on Friday evening Jan. 14, at 6 o'clock. All interested in the objects of the Society are invited to attend.

By order of the Committee.

Rutland Co. Temperance Society.
