THREE DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE — ARRIVAL OF THE ROYAL MAIL STEAMSHIP CAMBRIA

The steamship Cambria, Capt. Hewett, arrived at Boston on Friday last. [illegible] Liverpool and Liverpool papers to the morning of the sailing of the Cambria, which we extract from Liverpool.

The Cambria brings 87 passengers, [illegible] from Liverpool and 21 from Halifax.

COMMERCIAL.

Liverpool, [illegible]

Trade in all departments remains in nearly the same position as at the departure of the America. Our Cotton trade is very steady, and a moderate amount of business continues to be transacted. The corn market has also firm and prices on the whole have been well maintained.

Money is still plentiful, and can be obtained, as for some time past, on easy and moderate terms.

Breadstuffs. On Monday last the Wheat trade evinced rather more activity in the London market. As the supply was limited prices therefore advanced 1s per quarter. The demand for Indian Corn for export to Ireland was good, and somewhat higher prices were paid. Flour fully supported the rates current last week. The transactions on Wednesday and Friday, although moderate were done at firm prices.

On the following day, at the Liverpool market, holders of the best American Flour were enabled to obtain from 32s to 33s per barrel, while Indian Corn was sold at 26s to 28s, and in some few instances 30s per quarter were paid. Indian Meal changed hands at an advance of 6d per barrel, 17s 6d to 18s 6d being the rates paid.

Yesterday the market was very firm, with a disposition to purchase manifested by the trade of moderate dealers. Wheat and Indian Corn were in fair request, and all other articles of the trade brought full prices. The weather, since our last, has been favorable for bringing in the yet ungathered portion of the harvest.

ENGLAND AND SCOTLAND

England and Scotland continued to enjoy a state of profound tranquility. Serious outbreaks of Chartist leaders have taken place in the manufacturing and coal mining districts, and they have been examined for trial. True bills have been found against the Chartists committed in London some weeks ago, and their trial was fixed for yesterday.

Some verdicts for extensive incendiarism have already been [illegible] but the attempt to secure convictions has scarcely even shadowed forth a fact.

The Chartists are confined and arraigned for offences in the manufacturing districts will be shortly brought before the Assizes in our town. All excitement upon the subject appears to have subsided.

IRELAND

The special commission opened at Cork on Tuesday. Chief Justice Blackburne charged the grand jury, after which [illegible] and late in the day brought in true bills against Meagher, Smith O'Brien, M Manus, Dowling, Thone, and O'Donoghue. Traverse jurors were then placed at the bar, and on application, copies of the indictment were granted to them.

The court was then adjourned, the following day, when the trial of [illegible] Meagher and the other state prisoners would be taken into consideration. The trial of Mr Smith O'Brien and the other parties against whom true bills have been found for high treason, will not take place before Thursday next.

There is not the slightest excitement amongst the people, but are there a sense pervading the community in the very [illegible] of the [illegible]
