Conspirators Arrested---Interesting Developments.

Washington, April 18.—To Sanford: Uncle is much better; he sat up a quarter of an hour this morning. Was bright and cheerful. To-day there is marked improvement upon yesterday. Frederick is slowly but surely recovering his consciousnes; he has spoken twice this forenoon, He sleeps much of the time and breathes regularly and easily. His pulse and appetite are good. I think every one feels encouraged with regard to both. The messenger and nurse are both doing well.

(Signed) C. A. SEWARD.

Baltimore, 18th.—A gentleman who was at Point Lookout yesterday was informed by an officer of a gunboat that Booth and other conspirators, about thirty in number, were in St. Marys county heavily armed, endeavoring to make their way across the Potomac, which is strongly picketed, no one being allowed to pass. He also stated that on Sunday evening a small squad of cavalry had a collision with them, and were repulsed but succeeded in capturing one of them. Our cavalry were reinforced yesterday morning, and were understood to have them completely surrounded, so that escape was deemed impossible.

Baltimore, 18th.—A highly important arrest was made here to-day, the name of the party is at present withheld. He has made a full confession of being one of the conspirators against the life of the President, acknowledging himself to be the author of the letter signed Sam, found in Booth's trunk.

Washington, 18th.—Last night a man disguised as a laborer, carrying a pick on his shoulder, approached the house occupied by the family of Survalt, in this city, and was about to enter when he was arrested. Upon removing the the dirt from his face he appeared to be quite a different looking person from what his appearance indicated. He called himself Payne, and exhibited not a little embarrassment. He managed to ask in an agitated manner, why he was arrested. The colored servant of Secretary Seward was sent for, when he exclaimed immediately, "that is the man, I know him by general appearance and by his mouth." The servant said there could be no mistake. There were others in Mr. Seward's house at the time who have a recollection of Survalt's appearance and will be afforded an opportunity to recognize him. The man arrested is believed to be Survalt who perpetrated the dreadful acts at the house of Mr. Seward.

Baltimore, 18th.—It is understood that the party alluded to as under arrest here, states that the original design of the conspirators was to merely capture Presid[illegible] Lincoln some time [illegible] comp[illegible] [illegible]eral releas[illegible] all rebel prison[illegible] then h[illegible] by the United States, when a general exchange of prisoners commenced, however, this project was abandoned by him and others. He says he refused to have anything further to do with it, and endeavored to induce others to give up their designs upon the life of the President.

This is substantially a correct statement of what the prisoner has divulged. He is a well known resident of Baltimore.

New York, April 19.—Herald's special dispatch says: It is reported that the assassin who entered Mr. Seward's house has been arrested. It is certain that one of the assassins, probably Survalt, has been arrested. Samuel Mattoon of Hookstown, Md. and who wrote the letter found in Booth's trunk, signed "Sam," has been arrested.

New York, April 18.—Post's special dispatch says: President Johnson yesterday said to a clergyman who begged of him to be merciful to rebels that mercy to individuals was not mercy to States. He also declared to prominent members of Congress that he was willing to act with utmost magnanimity toward people of rebel States, but unrepentant leaders must be punished.

Headquarters in the field, April 9th, 9 P. M.—To Hallack—Spanish fort and its defences were captured last night. We have 25 officers and 538 enlisted men as prisoners, and have taken 5 mortars and 25 guns. The Major and part of the garrison escaped by water. Blakely is already invested and will be assaulted to-day unless works are stronger than I now believe them to be,

(Signed), CANBY.

Headquarters in the field, April 9.—To Grant; I have the honor to report the capture of forts at Blakely, with 2,400 prisoners and 20 guns.

(Signed), CANBY.

New York, April 18.—Herald's Richmond dispatches of the 16th says Gen. Lee arrived in that city at 4:30 P. M., on the 15th. He and staff were received with the greatest enthusiasm by the populace, cheer after cheer being given them, Even Union soldiers raised their caps to him, MISCELLANEOUS NEWS.—The Canadian authorities and people generally were profoundly shocked at the murder of President Lincoln, and gave expression of there feelings in suitable solemnities. The news at Halifax produced profound sensation.

Andrew Johnson, the Vice President, was sworn in, and entered upon the duties of the office as President, at 11 o'clock, on the same day of Mr. Lincoln's death. The oath of office was administered by Chief Justice Chase, at the Private rooms of Mr. Johnson, in the presence of the Cabinet members, and other distinguished gentlemen, among them were Senators Foote, Ramsey, Yates, Stewart and Hale The ceremonies were solemn and all the surrounding circumstances important in the highest degree.

From Sherman's army very little has been heard the last few days.

Startling transactions at Washington have occupied public attention to the exclusion of almost everything else during the week.

Grant and Lee are on the most friendly terms of intercourse, and all their powers are directed to close up the war. But for the convulsion of the Nation by the terrible tragedy at Washington, this desirable end would have been consummated by this time.

Immense meetings have been held all over the Nation, especially in the great cities, expressive of grief at the death of Mr. Lincoln, and a determination that justice shall be done hereafter in crushing out the rebellion, without much mercy. In some cities, San Francisco and others, mob violence was taken on opposition newspaper presses, and in a few cases men who expressed sympathy with the rebels were shot down or hung.—All mob violence is to be deprecated, and should not be resorted to. But men must not be allowed to express sympathy for a rebellion, after this dreadful exhibiton of its workings, much less to signify approbation of this terrible murder. However, let law and order prevail in bringing men to justice who will do so.

What is the condition of Mobile and the contending armies in that vicinity is not known. But it is either in the possession of the Union forces now, or soon will be. The rebel trans-Mississippi army under Kirby Smith, are inoperative, and said to be under orders to surrender on the same terms that Lee did.

FRUITS, HARVEST,—The season is far enough advanced to afford a very safe conjecture of what the harvest will be. The breadth of wheat sown during the last Fall and Winter in this county is not very extensive—less than usual, The cold rainy Winter has not been a favorable one for wheat. The Fall seeding gave better promise of a good yield than the Winter seeding does. The spring has now come, however, with the warm sunshine and gentle showers, which brings much that was thought hardly worth harvesting, forward with some promise. Altogether, a medium harvest may be relied on. Oats are hardly forward enough yet to determine the probabilities of the yield. Not a great breadth is sown, Farmers are now busy planting potatoes.

Fruits are more promising. Unless a late frost should injure the young fruit, which sometimes is the case in Oregon, there will be abundance of apples and pears. Plums and cherries are also promising; the blooms will soon be, or are perhaps now, full blown. Peaches are uninjured, but orchards of peach trees are not numerous, as the farmers have very much neglected this valuable fruit. The smaller fruits, gooseberries and currants, are said not to be very full of young berries, though sufficiently so as to promise plenty.

Every body that has a garden is busy this week spading, raking, seeding and trimming [illegible] round the tables, [illegible] people will not want [illegible] us that the harves[illegible] All and all, seed time and harvest this seasoned. Seed time is here and we have the [illegible] are promising of a harvest in due season. [illegible] double [illegible]
