The Parkman and Webster Affair.

We find the following paragraphs in the last Boston Atlas:—

☞We learn that Mrs. Webster, wife of Dr. Webster, now under sentence of death, accompanied by her three daughters, called upon Governor Briggs, at the Adams House, at 10 o'clock yesterday (Sunday) morning, for the purpose of presenting a petition for the commutation of the penalty which now awaits their relative.

It is fortunate for the best interests of society, that the Judicial and Executive departments of the government of this Commonwealth, are at present entrusted to those in whose ability, firmness, and stainless integrity, all classes and parties in the community have the most perfect confidence. We have no doubt that the case of Dr. Webster will receive all due attention from the State Officers, and that the same degree of impartiality and uprightness, which have hitherto been exercised towards the prisoner, will continue to influence those who shall be called to official action respecting his situation.

☞Robert G. Shaw, Esq., in behalf of the Parkman family, on Saturday paid Mr. Ephraim Littlefield, janitor of the Medical College, the sum of $3000, being the reward offered for information which would lead to the detection and conviction of the perpetrators of any injury that might have been done to Dr. Geo. Parkman, and for the discovery of the body.

☞Mr. Bailey, the young author of that most remarkable and poetical of poems, Festus, has published a volume entitled "The Angel World and other Poems." Messrs. Ticknor, Reed and Fields, of Boston, have republished it, doubtless in their usual neatness of paper and typography. The Evening Gazette quotes the following beautiful lyric as "one of the minor poems in the collection." We shall take the earliest opportunity to possess ourselves of both minor and major:—

The rose is weeping for her love,
The Nightingale;
And he is dying too above,
To her he will not fail.
Already golden eve appears,
He wings his way along;
Ah! look, he comes to kiss her tears
And woo her with his song.

The morn in pearly light may steep
The still blue air;
The rose hath ceased to droop and weep,
For lo! her love is there.
He sings to her, and o'er the trees
She hears his sweet notes swim;
The world may weary; she but sees
Her love, and hears but him.

APRIL.
A SONNET.

Swallow of northern skies! again is heard
Thy welcome song, the song that doth impart
New hope to drooping life. To ever heart
It comes like notes of some soft-warbling bird,
Or like the thrilling of a love-winged word,
That timid flatters from a trembling tongue,
Beneath the gazing stars who love is young;
A thrill that life but once doth ne'er afford.
But, sweet-voiced April, such are not thy ways!
Thy song is heard with each returning spring,
Renewing youth, as when sweet strains have rang
To withered hearts the joys of life's young days.
For this we love thee, April, hold thee dear;
As nature looks to heaven we look to thee.

A rare Attraction.

Mr. Gill and Thompson are about to offer to our citizens an entertainment which has the reputation of being of rare attractiveness. Our readers will notice the programme which accompanies our paper this evening. We saw the Panorama of Mexico, about a year ago, in Washington, where it was highly drawing crowds of visitors. If this is the same, as we suppose it to be, it will enable those who see it to obtain a very vivid idea of the country between Corpus Christi and the City of Mexico, which has been rendered memorable ground by the brilliant victories of Generals Taylor and Scott. The Panorama was painted from sketches taken on the spot by officers of the army, and is doubtless accurate as well as spirited.

The Drop Scenes, and the antics of "The Thumb Family" are spoken of as finely executed and entertaining.

The Exhibition will commence tomorrow Evening, at Concert Hall.

Ogdensburgh Railroad.

The Directors of this Road held one of their quarterly business meetings at the American Hotel, to-day. We believe there was a full Board. We noticed the President, T. P. Chandler Esq., and Messrs. B. T. Reed, Edmands and Spaulding of Boston, Judge Brown, Messrs. Hopkins, Horton and Hoyle of N. Y., and also, Mr. Eustis, the Treasurer, and Col. Schlatter, the Chief Engineer.

We learn from Col. Schlatter that the road will be completed, for some 45 miles westward from the Lake, by the 1st of June, and that the whole line will be in operation by the 1st of October.

If our excellent friend, "old Whitey," is ready with that dreadful "Bridge" by the time named, (and he is "death" on obstacles!) we don't see why Boston will not have her "dry road" to Ogdensburgh, beyond a peradventure! Burlington will then be put down, in geographies, as "a small hamlet, 6 miles west of the city of Essex!"

Supposed Murder.

The body of a man, whose name we did not learn, was found in Winooski River on Sunday evening, (the 7th inst.) about a mile and a half west of Hubbell's Falls, in Essex. From the appearance of his head, which was dreadfully cut and bruised, it is supposed that he was murdered, or killed in an affray. We understand that the physicians who have examined the body have given it as their opinion that the man came to his death by violence. An inquest was held, but we have not learned what verdict was rendered, though our informant thinks there is no doubt that the man was murdered. He was an Irishman, and a laborer on the Railroad.

☞A paragraph in yesterday's Boston Atlas informs us that the Hon. George P. Marsh, the American Minister to the Ottoman Empire, has arrived at Constantinople.

We trust he and his interesting Suite are in good health and spirits. We suppose, being under the protection of the American Flag, they will not feel absolutely compelled, while in Turkey, "to do as the Turkeys do;"—though such an act of conformity would doubtless be considered complimentary to Mehemet Ali, the presiding Gobbler of the Turkish Dominions.

An extraordinary touch of the pathetic.

Mr. Attorney General Clifford, whose management of the prosecution, in the late trial of Prof. Webster, has attracted very great and deserved admiration, for its ability and adroitness, is reported by all the papers, to have indulged in the following strain of pathetic oratory:—

"They [the jury] had been invoked to remember his [Dr. Webster's] family, and God forbid that they should forget them. They would remember them more than he remembered the family of Littlefield, when he sought to fix upon him the suspicion of murder.

There was another family—that bereaved wife—that invalid daughter—that son who was called from a distant land to take upon himself, PREMATURELY, THE MANAGEMENT OF A LARGE ESTATE."

We don't know what Mr. Clifford's idea may be on the subject, but we suspect that that "son" will manage, somehow or other, to sustain himself, with some show of composure, under the calamity of succeeding, "prematurely," to a "large estate!"

☞An Eastern paper, acknowledging the receipt of several extraordinary specimens of the productions of nature, adds:—

"Mr. B. Simmons has also laid an egg on our table of extraordinary size, measuring &c &c."

Since this announcement we understand that the hens have held a meeting and resolved, unanimously, that if Mr. Simmons is going into the business of laying eggs it is high time that the poultry of New England should take immediate steps for the probable results. They have addressed a memorial on the subject to the next Hen Convention in Massachusetts, on the publication of which we incline to think Mr. Simmons will conclude to go in ruins!

☞The following is the very elegant "Dedication" which Mr. Webster makes of the "authorized edition" of his great speech:—

DEDICATION.

WITH THE HIGHEST RESPECT, AND THE DEEPEST SENSE OF OBLIGATION, I INSCRIBE THIS SPEECH TO THE PEOPLE OF MASSACHUSETTS.

"His ego gratias, dictis hoc esse satis; sed me NEBULA CORATE hospitali amicum ingenium non nemens, necessitas cogit. Nolim, equidem, vobis plaserit; sed omnia tamen vos salvos esse, qualecumque ergo me accipite fortissimi."

DANIEL WEBSTER.

Washington, March 18, 1850.

The Latin may be rendered as follows:—

"Other things, I am aware, would be more agreeable to utter than these. But necessity, if not my own inclination, compels me to say what is true rather than what is agreeable. I should be happy to gain your approbation, but still more so to promote your welfare, whatever feeling you may entertain towards me in future."

LATEST NEWS.

Telegraphic Despatch

REPORTED EXCLUSIVELY FOR THE DAILY FREE PRESS

Washington, April 10.

It is expected that Secretary Crawford will resign, after the report of the committee of investigation. The committee will not implicate any one.

Congress have passed the Dalphin act, without knowing the amount involved.

The rumors that a treaty was agreed to on Friday by the British Minister and Mr. Clayton, is credable but it has not been communicated to the Senate. The treaty it made excludes British jurisdiction from Central America.

Worcester, April 9th.—10 A. M.

The down train from Worcester, at 7 o'clock last evening, on passing over a bridge about 70 feet long, three miles below Webster was by the breaking down of the bridge precipitated into the river below, about 10 feet with about 100 passengers on board. The engineer perceiving the bridge was going, put on all the steam suddenly and broke away from the train. Two passenger cars went down and were entirely rocked to pieces. The third passenger car fell at an angle of about 45 degrees and remained in that condition the baggage and freight cars were hanging on the opposite shore. John Gallaghon a linkeman was instantly killed and 15 or 16 more or less injured but none thought seriously.

FURTHER EVIDENCE.

As to the great efficacy of Dr. Corbett's Concentrated Syrup of Sarsaparilla.

Messrs. Edward Brinley & Co—

Gentlemen,—I was brought quite low in the summer of 1847, with the Dysentery. I sought a Physician several times and was dangerously sick, so much so as to believe I must die. I grew worse daily, and was so reduced and weak that I frequently fainted away. For many days I complied with the directions of my Physicians. But obtaining no relief and hearing of "Corbett's Shaker Syrup of Sarsaparilla," I was induced to make trial of it.

My little boy about five years of age was also very sick of the same disease at the same time. The first few doses took revived me speedily. The pains were speedily allayed and the disease was so early checked that I was enabled to attend work in the course of a week. My little boy was also soon cured, and only part of a bottle was taken by both of us. Absent from home some time after, I returned from Montreal, in 1848, with the same disease, which had been increasing on me many days. I restored again to the "Shaker Syrup of Sarsaparilla," and took only a few doses, when again I was early and fully restored to health. I know this Syrup cured me, and I recommend it to all who may suffer as I have.

GEORGE L. DANIELS.

PRESERVATIVE FOR THE HAIR.

KITCHEN & HENDERSON'S HAIR PRESERVATIVE has now been in use nearly four years, and has proved itself to be the best article for improving the growth and beauty of the hair that has ever been invented, as hundreds are ready to testify. It entirely stops the hair from coming out and imparts to it strength and vigor, and gives to hair the most coarse and harsh, a soft and glossy appearance. It also removes all scurf and dandruff from the skin and head which ought always to be kept out in order to have a healthy growth of hair; because if allowed to accumulate, it becomes imbedded around the roots of the hair and clogs up the pores of the skin, thereby preventing a free and healthy action. The consequence is the hair becomes dry and dead, and very soon begins to show signs of decay and falling off. All this can be prevented by a proper use of this preservative, as it gives life and action to the skin, and at the same time imparts nourishment and strength to the hair, and leaves it soft and glossy with no being greasy.

Afflicted Read!

PHILADELPHIA MEDICAL HOUSE—Established 15 Years ago by DR. KINKELIN.

North-west corner of THIRD and UNION Sts., between Spruce and Pine, a square and a half from the Merchants Exchange, Philadelphia.

Persons suffering from Pains in the Loins, recent and chronic Affections of the Kidneys, Disease of the Bladder, Gravel, Stricture, Seminal Weakness, and all the concomitant traits of Syphilitic affections, and those who by indulging in a secret habit, have entailed on themselves constitutional debility, should apply immediately for the most speedy remedies, to Dr. KINKELIN, the most expert and successful practitioner for and near, in the treatment of all diseases of a private nature.

Invariably—Are supposed that Dr. KINKELIN confines his practice to a particular branch of medicine, which engages his undivided attention. Recollections of unfortunate cases of mercury, or those who are annually metamorphosed out of his 100 cent affections are promptly extinguished. Sore eyes cures properly eradicated, not patched up. "Married people and those about to marry, should be particularly careful to avoid those accidents which are a decided hindrance to their happiness and prosperity."

Take Particular Notice.—There is a habit which does much evil, and it is the duty of every Physician to warn the young of its ruinous tendency, namely, the practice of self-abuse, which by friends, in solitude, commencing with the boy to manhood, and which, if not restored in due time, not only begets serious disorders, to matrimonial happiness, but gives rise to a series of protracted, insidious, and devastating affections. Few of those who indulge in this pernicious practice, are aware of the consequences, until they find the nervous system shattered, feel strange and unaccountable feelings, vague fears in the mind. The individual becomes feeble, he is unable to labor with accustomed vigor, or to apply his mind to study; his step is feeble and weak, he is dull, irresolute, and gives indications of a weak and enervated mind. These are symptoms which should awaken the attention of the unfortunate sufferer.

Young man—If you value your life or health, remember, the delay of a month, may, even a week, may prove your ruin, both of body and mind. He can be consulted by letter you, on making your case known to one who from education and responsible diploma is a friend to all. He who places himself under Dr. KINKELIN's treatment, may rest assured he is in no hands of a regular training, and in whom he can repose implicit confidence and the utmost secrecy.

Too many alas! have fallen into the snares of their own hearts, and sink untimely. And how often are these fatal dangers, and how many a promising young man, who might have been an ornament to society, has yielded to the snare.

Remember that solicitations of the unethical are frequently honeyed by the acquaintance of a new therapeutic agent, which can only be Dr. K. Medicines and consult Kinkelin's Infallible Diagnostic Chart, and the vision restored.

Address as above, single letter.

Country Invalids—Finding it inconvenient to make personal application, can by stating their case explicitly, together with any their symptoms, inclosed the price, have forwarded thereto a suitable remedy. Dr. K's medicines, are prepared so as to be free from all taste, smell or nauseous ingredients, and can be taken without exposure, or hindrance from business, or family, and in the comfort of home.

Packages of Medicines forwarded to any part of the Union, free from DAMAGE or observation.

Dr. K. is the only person in Philadelphia, who has his name in the Public Journals, who can be relied on. Private Cabinet, containing valuable medicines, per mail, $1 00.
