CLERICAL WIT.—A certain parson of the Unitarian sect who whilom dwelt in Winnosimmett, and who loved a joke better than preaching—went one day to pay a bill to one William Spade of that village. The master of the shop not being in, the money was handed over to the boy. A few moments afterwards, the facetious parson meeting the tradesman he addressed him with—"Billy Spade, your bill is paid!".

This same parson was not over fastidious about his wardrobe. One day meeting his brother, who was also a divine, he was censured by him for being so careless about his dress, and especially reprimanded for wearing striped pants, it being altogether unclerical. Whereupon the humorous preacher retorted by saying—"Brother C., my religion does not lie in my breeches!"—Post.

AN IRISH OFFICER, a thousand miles at sea, in the Atlantic, observing three vessels right ahead of his own, called out to some friends who were paring the quarter deck,—"By St. Patrick, boys, what a fine landscape!"

A better half yet, was the one who, in reply to the remark—Well, Pat, Jim didn't quite kill you with that brickbat, did he?—said, "No; but I wish he had." "What for?" "So I could see him hang, the villain."

Another combines chivalry with its absurdity. At the battle of Spires, a regiment had orders not to grant any quarter; and an unhappy enemy, wounded and disarmed, begged hard for his life, from one of its officers. Touched with the situation, the other replied, "I pity your misfortune, and—ask anything else but that—and, upon my honor I will grant your request!"

DIDOT told an anecdote of a man who, having been asked repeatedly to dinner by a person whom he knew to be but a shabby Amphitryon, went at last, and found the dinner so meager and bad that he did not get a bit to eat. When the dishes were removing, the host said—"Well now the ice is broken, I suppose you will ask me to dine with you some day?" Most willingly—"Name your day then?" "To-day, for example," answered the dinnerless guest.

A FAIR EXCHANGE.—The following is a literal copy of a billet sent by a clerk of a parish in Warwickshire, to a neighboring friend of the same calling. "Dear John—wul you bury my wife and ill bury yours any other day when you want me I shall be very happy any time. I ham dear John yours to be oblige. WILLIAM TURNER."

THE SNAKE AND CHILD STORY SPOILED.—A gentleman from Gilmanton informs the Concord Statesman that the public are grossly imposed upon in the affair of the girl and the snake, by Hill, the father of the little girl. The gentleman lives near Hill's residence, and says, that instead of there being a spontaneous and friendly feeling between the child and the reptile, there was the utmost repugnance between the two at the time the father commenced his work. People there entertain no doubt whatever that he caught the snake some time ago; that he obtained it for the purpose of training the child to handle and control it, and that the exhibition of for two or money is the consideration had in view from the first; by the inhuman parent. The assertion that Dr. Wright, who is a highly respectable and widely known physician, gave it as his opinion that a separation of the child and the snake would be fatal to the former, is a falsehood; there is no foundation whatever for it. The people of the neighborhood being full in the belief that Hill trained the child to the hideous duty to which he seems inclined to subject her, were inclined to move in the matter, and by force frustrate his cruel design. He is reported to be a criminal, debased, and scottish man.—Portsmouth (N. H. Chronicle July 21.

NATIONAL VANITY.—De Tocqueville devotes a chapter to the consideration "why the national vanity of the Americans is more restless and exclusive that that of the English." "As our British friends are so fond of alluding to our national pride and the sensitiveness of Americans in regard to the comments of foreign writers upon our country and its institutions, it may be well to note what the profound and philosophical Frenchman above named says of the English. "An Englishman, remarks De Tocqueville, "calmly enjoys the real or imaginary advantages which in his opinion his country possesses. If he grants nothing to other nations, neither does he robert anything for his own. The censure of foreigners does not affect him, and their praise hardly flatters him; his position with regard to the rest of the world is one of disdainful and ignorant reserve; his pride requires no sustenance. (Democracy Redf.

PREVALENCE OF BALDNESS.—From some cause or other, baldness seems to befal much younger men than it did thirty or forty years ago. Very recently I have further informed me of a short time since, that he imagined much of it was owing to the common use of wearing silk hats, which, from their impermeability to the air, keep the head at a much higher temperature than the old beaver structures which, he has also informed me, were not principally because he had used up all the beavers in the Hudson Company's Territories. The adoption of silk accordeles the fact. This lack of silk is a singular instance of the influence of fashion upon the animals of a remote Continent. It would be more regular still, if the silk hat theory of baldness has any truth in it, as it would then turn out that we were ascribing our own natural baptin order that the beaver may recover his. Without endorsing the speculative opinion of our latter, we may, we believe, state it as a well ascertained circumstance that soldiers in helmetted regiments are often bald than many other of our heroic defenders.—Quarterly Review.

CONVERSATION WITH WOMEN.—Perhaps there is no single case in connexion with school education, that more impedes a child in his attempts to gain knowledge and improve himself, when he has grown up, that the ignorance of all but the commonest words. There is hardly any department of art, science, or book of amusing and instructive reading, with which a person can make himself acquainted, if he has only learnt the vocabulary in use among the laboring classes. This ignorance of the meanings of words is, I believe, the main reason why mechanics' literary institutions are so scantily supported, and why lecturers are so little attended by the classes for whom their means of improvement were chiefly designed.

Hence many a sermon fails of its effect, as the hearers cannot understand the language in which it is couched. I know a gentleman in Kent, who tried to instruct and interest his parishioners in the passing events of the world by reading to them the Times newspaper. He found, however, that he could never get through twenty lines without meeting twenty words which none of his auditors could understand. One sentence talked of "the operations of our fleet in the channel." This was a complete puzzler. The word operations puzzled them; the word fleet puzzled them; they did not know what a fleet was, and they had not the slightest idea of what channel meant.—Mr. Tufnell, English School Inspector.

A CARD.

DOCTOR GEO. M. TIGHE, A STUDENT of the Royal College of Surgeons of the City of London, England, has taken up his abode in Rutland, Vermont, and is now prepared to practise upon Cancers, Tumors and Ulcers; Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Venereal Diseases, whether acute or chronic, and all Cutaneous Diseases of the skin. Hopeless cases will not be taken and prices under treatment will in no case be more, and usually less than others in the case effected. Persons bringing certificates from the Ministers of their Religion, of their inability to pay, he will cure without charge, and will forfeit a hundred dollars in every case of failure. The above testimonial will be sufficient to convince the public, that he does not belong to that class of persons called charlatans, or quacks, who live upon the sufferings and credulity of their fellow creatures.

SYMPTOMS OF CANCER.—This disease originates in the form of Pimples, Warts, Scales, Bony Protuberances, Preternatural enlargements, and Tubercular Elevations. Sometimes unusual heat, and very unpleasant itching, succeeded by a twitching, and a sensation felt as if there were a fly or spider crawling over the part, and at intervals a darting, shooting pain, which becomes more frequent as the disease progresses.

It also originates from blows, bruises and the ordinary causes and states of inflammation produce Cancer; grief and anxiety are also its causes.—Sorrow for the loss of relatives, also, often produces it. It is favored by age and by the unmarried state in women; when it occurs in the married, the menses almost always cease first, showing a connection between them; it also opens very commonly at the period when the secretion disappears. It occurs even in subjects at young as five years, but most common in advanced life, and scrofula predisposes to it.

The Doctor will attend on patients in the country if called on to do so, to inform them of his knowledge, that they may avail themselves of his services. His address is "Dr. GEORGE M. TIGHE, corner of Mechanics and Forest streets, Rutland, Vt.

WOLFE'S SCHIEDAM AROMATIC SCHNAPPS.

This medicinal diet drink is manufactured by the proprietor at Schiedam, in Holland, expressly for medicinal purposes. It has been submitted to nearly all the first Chemists and Physicians in the United States, who endorse it over their own signatures as one of the great essentials of the Materia Medica. It is now prescribed with great success in Gravel, Gout, Rheumatism, Obstructions of Bladder and Kidneys, and for Dyspepsia it has no superior in so wide.

Put up in quart and pint bottles, enveloped in yellow paper, with my name on the bottle, cork and label, and for sale by all respectable druggists in the United States.

WONDERFUL DISCOVERIES

SUCCEED each other so rapidly in the present age, that we scarcely recover from the astonishment caused by one, before our credulity is taxed by the announcement of another till more astounding. And among the most important discoveries which have ever been made in medical science, we may number that of

G. W. Stone's Liquid Cathartic,

A Family Physic in the most desirable form, perfectly agreeable to the taste, and a reliable remedy in almost every disease to which the human race is subject. It needs only to be once highly extolled. Indeed, it may be called the panacea. Its efficacy in the cure of the following complaints, will be readily admitted by all who give it a trial, viz: Habitual Costiveness, Affections of the Liver, Impurity of the blood, Piles, Epilepsy, Scrofulous, and all other humors, Dropsical Affections, Dysentery, Diarrhea, and all other diseases of the bowels will be completely removed by its use.

In short, it will renovate the whole system and place it in a condition to resist the attack of all contagious diseases. Let those who do not enjoy perfect health, resort at once to the use of this medicine, and that great blessing will be restored to them.

Sold in Burlington by THEO. A. PECK, in Winooski by S. C. ISHAM, Principal Depot, 38 Central street, Lowell, Mass.

G. W. Stone's

Cough, Consumption & Bronchitis Elixir.

THE Proprietor would respectfully call the attention of the public to his invaluable Remedy for all Affections of the Throat and Lungs, and hopes that those who are undecided what to select, from the numerous medicines advertised, and recommended for such complaints, to give his ELIXIR a trial. Having done so, they will no longer hesitate what to take themselves, or recommend to others. A single trial will prove to them that this is the most valuable remedy ever discovered for the various affections of the Throat and Lungs; it will immediately relieve the most violent Cough, and in a few hours completely cure the most severe Cold. As a Preventive and Cure for Consumption, it has no equal. It is purely Vegetable, contains no poisonous ingredients, is quite agreeable to the taste, and may be given with perfect safety to the most delicate child. The numerous testimonials received almost daily from those who have been cured by it, fully justify the assertion, that no family should be without this Medicine. Let Mothers give it to their Children who have the Whooping Cough or Croup, and they will alleviate at once the sufferings of their little ones; it will at the same time purify the blood and completely expel all humors from the system. Call for G. W. Stone's Cough Elixir, and see that his name and Cough Elixir, with the words Boston, Mass., are blown upon the bottle. Also a seal, with his name upon the cork, without which none are genuine.

Sold in Burlington, by THEO. A. PECK & GEO. W. ALLEN; and by S. C. ISHAM, Winooski, Vt. Price 50 cents per bottle. Principal Depot, No. 38 Central street, Lowell, Mass.

CONE CUT CORNERS; The Experiences of a Conservative Family in Fanatical Times; Involving some account of a Connecticut Village, the People who lived in it, and those who came there from the city. By Benauly. 450 pp. 12mo, cloth, Illustrated. Price, $1.25.

This tale deals with home matters and familiar scenes, presenting in the happiest manner many of the peculiarities of American, and especially of New England life. It has real humor and sound satire, and is, withal, a thoroughly enjoyable tale, with a good moral. It we should pronounce it equal to Charles Dickens' best effort people would say, (this is merely a publisher praising his own wares,) but we believe that after reading it every man will award it this degree of praise. It CONE CUT CORNERS does not prove very popular, we shall lose confidence in our own judgment of books.

AGENT.—A. C. SPEAR, Burlington.

The Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

MR. Kennedy, of Roxbury, Mass., has discovered in one of our common pastures, a remedy vegetable that cures every kind of humor, from the worst scrofula down to a common pimple. He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases, and in over eleven hundred of the worst cases of bad humor. He has now in his possession over two hundred certificates of its value, all within twenty miles of Boston.

Two bottles are warranted to cure the most humorous mouth.

One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of pimples on the face.

Two or three bottles will clear the system of boils.

Two bottles are warranted to cure the worst canker in the mouth and stomach.

Three to five bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of erysipelas.

One to two bottles are warranted to cure all humors in the eyes.

Two bottles are warranted to cure ringing of the ears and hardness of hearing.

Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running ulcers.

One bottle will cure salt rheum of the skin.

Two or three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate cases of rheumatism.

Three or four bottles are warranted to cure the salt rheum.

Five to eight bottles will cure the very worst cases of scrofula.

As a general rule is always experienced from the first bottle, such a perfect cure is warranted when the above quantity is taken.

Nothing looks so impossible to those who have in vain tried all the wonderful medicines of the day, as that a common weed, growing in the pastures, and along all fences, should be the very thing in the system; yet it is now a fixed fact. If you have a humor, it has to start. There are to-day hundreds, hence no's about its curing some cases, but not years. I peddled over a thousand bottles of it in the vicinity of Boston. I know the effect of it in every case. It has already become one of the greatest extensive sales in Massachusetts. I gave it to children a year old; to old people of sixty. I have seen poor, puny, sorry looking children, whose flesh was soft and flabby, restored to a perfect state of health by one bottle.

To those who are subject to a sick headache, one bottle will always cure it. It gives great relief in catarrh and dizziness. Some who have taken it have been costive for years, and have been regulated by it. When the body is sound it works unnoticeably, but where there is any derangement of the functions of nature, it will cause very singular feelings, but you must not be alarmed—they always disappear in from four days to a week. There is never a bad result from it, but on the contrary, when that feeling is gone, you will feel just so fine like a new person. I heard some of the most extraordinary testimony of it ever was listened to.

No change of diet is ever necessary. Eat the best you can get, and enough of it.

CURE OF ERYSIPELAS.

MR. KENNEDY.—How can I express my joy at think I got cured at last of the erysipelas? My face was at times as red as a piece of beef; I suffered from the headache more than tongue can tell of. I tried every remedy to be had, without the least benefit, so that I despaired of relief; then hearing your medicine highly praised in Quincy, I procured it and in a few weeks was well. It worked not like a charm than medicine.

HARRIET BLAKE, Quincy.

CURE OF HUMOR.

My son was troubled with a humor; some called it scrofula, some call them a some one thing, some another. By the use of your Medical Discovery, he is now cured of it.

E. H. LAYTON, Quincy.

CURE OF PIMPLES ON THE FACE.

MR. KENNEDY.—About two years ago my face looked out in pimples of the worst kind. Seeing the good effect of the Medical Discovery on a friend of mine, who was troubled the same as I was, I tried it, and I am happy to say a complete cure has been the result.

J. P. TAGGELL, Brighton.

CURE OF CANKER.

MR. KENNEDY.—To you can describe what I suffered from a running sore mouth and canker—so—but it matters not, who had it, can possibly believe what it is—and none but those who used it can possibly believe the efficiency of your Medical Discovery in curing it. ELIZABETH CROSS, Cambridge.

STARTLING, BUT TRUE!

WHAT EVERY WOMAN SHOULD KNOW.

How often it happens, that the wife lingers from year to year in that pitiable condition as not even for one day to feel the happy and exhilarating influence incident to the enjoyment of health

THE BLOOMING BRIDE,

But a few years ago in the flush of health and youth, and buoyancy of spirits, rapidly, and apparently inexplicably, becomes a feeble, sickly, suffering, debilitated wife, with frame emaciated, nerves unstrung, spirits depressed, countenance bearing the impress of suffering, and an utter physical and mental prostration, arising from ignorance of the simple, natural rules of health as connected with the marriage state, the violation of which entails disease, suffering and misery, not only to the wife, but often
