—A musical friend reminds us that in the notice of the "old folks" last week, we seemed not to recognize the home talent. The notice may be open to that objection, but nothing of the kind was intended. We spoke of the chorus as a chorus, and certainly all did their parts finely. Did we not disdain to make invidious distinctions we should have said (what every one about here already knows) that Miss Hallett's fine voice was prominent in all the choruses, and that the piece entitled "Strike the cymbals," in which she had a solo, was particularly well sung, showing in the soloist a sweetness and volume of tone as rare as it is refreshing.

—We do not like to hurt the feelings of any; and particularly careful would we be of the feelings of those who have been bereaved in the loss of friends near and dear—but we would esteem it as an especial favor if in notices of deaths all poetry would be omitted. It is not showing proper respect to the memory of the deceased to append to the notice such doggerel as we frequently receive. Anything more than the announcement of deaths in this paper to be paid for at the same price as advertisements.

—The Barker family sung at Union Hall Tuesday evening to an appreciative and gratified audience. This troupe of concertists has been before the public for a number of years, and we hear of them everywhere as maintaining the reputation they gained so long ago. Mr Barker's tenor is smooth, rich and powerful, while Mr Tanner has long had the name of being one of the deepest basses in the country. Mrs Barker has a clear, sweet voice, and the boys "fill up the chinks" admirably. All the voices blended well, and it is the first traveling concert we have attended for a long time where not a single obscene or silly piece was sung. The instrumental part of the program was quite a feature of the entertainment, and made all wish there was more of it. This concert came at an unfavorable time, when the people were surfeited with entertainments of a musical and other character, but if the Barkers return in the spring, as they hinted they might, we must give them a full house.

—Mortimer Thomson (Doesticks) gave his lecture in rhyme, entitled "Pluck," at Union Hall on Wednesday evening. The poem was well received by a good audience, especially the apparent addenda to the original which spoke of our late successes over the rebels. The lecturer made many good hits, and was frequently interrupted by applause from the audience. On the whole Mr Doesticks has left the impression here of a decidedly funny man.

—Another old-fashioned snow storm came last week on Friday. Something like a foot of heavy snow fell, making a little too much of a good thing. Traveling is a particularly hard now, more so than it has been known for years at this season. The roads are so full of cradle pitches that a sleigh-ride is not the most agreeable thing imaginable. The snow in the woods must be nearly three feet deep.

P. S. Last night another foot of snow fell, and more is now coming. Unless we have a thaw it will be about as hard sledding about in northern Vermont as it is at the present time on the sacred soil of Virginia.

On the receipt of a telegram here on Monday that Fort Donelson and the rebel army entrenched there had been captured, some of our citizens brought out and fired the big gun, rang all the village bells for an hour, and made other demonstrations of joy. Prominent among the latter was the appearance of a company of forty or fifty boys from five to fifteen years old, who marched through the streets with the stars and stripes waving and drums beating.

As blame may fall upon innocent persons, we feel it due the "profession" to say that the article signed "a subscriber" in last week's paper came from a neighboring county.

Addison County.

Mr Lafue, of Vergennes, was taken with a fit last Wednesday morning, fell upon the stove, and knocked the oven off. His wife lifted it to its place, and immediately died because of the exertion.

Orange County.

The Journal says that Mr Oliver Carter, of Bradford, went into the woods last week Friday, about three o'clock in the afternoon, and not returning at sundown, search was made for him. He was found about six o'clock, where he had been chopping, with his head badly bruised, and in a state of insensibility. From appearances, a tree which he had just felled had lodged upon the limb of another tree, by which the butt of the falling tree was thrown back from the stump, and Mr Carter's head struck by it, and perhaps caught between that and another tree. He was taken home at once, but never recovered his senses. He died Monday evening about eight o'clock.

Rutland Co.

At the late term of the Rutland county court there were granted thirteen bills of divorce. A rather dissatisfied community, we should judge.

Washington Co.

J. G. A. Peck of Montpelier had his hands badly injured in a rolling machine on Saturday. The bones of the left hand were broken, and he will be disabled for some months.

Windham Co.

On the evening of the 27th ult., a little daughter of Holland Bellows, of Marlboro, was badly burned, in consequence of her clothes taking fire from a lighted candle, that she survived but a few hours.

Horace Stone of Chesterfield, N. H., on Wednesday was driving a load of wood to Brattleboro, and while walking by the side of his team came to a "sliding place," where he fell and went under the oxen, one of which stepped upon the back of his neck. He was finally caught under the roller of the sled, and the team stopped. The wood had to be thrown off before he could be released, which was done as soon as possible, but his injuries were so severe that he lived but a few hours after the accident. He was about 56 years of age, and well known as a very odd and eccentric genius, some specimens of which we should be glad to mention this week, if we had the time to write them out. We remember one which was somewhat in this wise: He was left to take care of the premises, and especially to see that some geese got into no mischief. He did not, however, desire to be closely confined, and to make things sure, got a "bar post," and having caught the geese, inserted their heads into each mortise, and, to make things doubly sure, drove a wedge in by the side of their heads, with a beetle. We believe the geese not only gave no trouble at that time, but were never troublesome afterward.—Bellows Falls Times,

The above reminds us of a freak of McMenus, a foolish man, well known in this vicinity. Although he was easily intimidated and would mind the command of the smallest child, he was as full of original sin as the next man, and only an opportunity was needed for him to display it. One day he was left at home alone by his father to "see to things," while the old gent came to town.—When the father returned home he found all his hens dangling from the fence-posts about his yard, dead. The son had caught them, and inserting their heads between the cleets and the posts, by considerable fluttering the hens had managed to as effectually wring their necks as it could have been done by hand.

"A GIFT SENT FROM GOD."—Mr Wilson Higgins, of Jamaica, buried an infant son on the first day of February, which left him without an heir. On Thursday morning, the 6th inst., Mr Higgins was aroused from his slumbers by a loud "knocking at his door," when he heard a horse and sleigh as if in the act of turning around. He went to the door as soon as possible, but saw neither man, horse nor sleigh, but on the door-step was a small bundle carefully done up, which he carried into the house. Upon examination he found, much to his surprise, a living infant boy, evidently not more than 24 hours old, warmly enwrapped in flannel folds and sleeping sweetly therein. Enclosed in an envelope were two jewels as his companions—first a 5 dollar bill, and second a note bearing these expressive words, "A gift sent from God."

The child, we learn, is tenderly cared for by Mrs H., the recently bereaved mother.

Vermont Military Items.

Ethan Allen Hitchcock, confirmed by the Senate as major general of volunteers, will immediately take command at Cairo. Gen Hitchcock is a Vermonter, a grandson of Ethan Allen, and has given evidence that he inherits the courage of the old hero. He was educated at West Point and was assistant adjutant general to Gen Scott in Mexico, where he reached the rank of brigadier general by brevet. Soon afterward Jeff Davis, then secretary of war, quarreled with him, and he was obliged to resign. Since his resignation he has resided in retirement at St Louis.—Walton's Daily.

SEVENTH REGIMENT.—The companies of the 7th regiment are organized and ranked as follows:

Co.	A, David B. Peck,	Captain.
"	B, William Cronan,	"
"	C, Henry M. Porter,	"
"	D, John B. Kilburn,	"
"	E, Daniel Landon,	"
"	F, Lorenzo D. Brooks,	"
"	G, Salmon Dutton,	"
"	H, Mahlon M. Young,	"
"	I, Charles C. Ruggles,	"
"	K, David P. Barber,	"

EIGHTH REGIMENT.—The 8th Vermont Regiment under Col Thomas, is organized as follows:

Co.	A, Lumon M. Grout,	Captain.
"	B, Charles B. Child,	"
"	C, Henry E. Foster,	"
"	D, Cyrus B. Leach,	"
"	E, Edward Hall,	"
"	F, Hiram E. Perkins,	"
"	G, Samuel G. P. Craig,	"
"	H, Henry F. Dutton,	"
"	I, William W. Lynde,	"
"	K, John S. Clark,	"

The first battery of Light Artillery, Geo W. Duncan, Captain, and the second battery of Light Artillery, Lensie R. Sayles, Captain, are attached to the 8th Regiment.

The 7th Regiment was duly mustered into the United States service at Camp Phelps, by Capt. Jones, of the U. S. Army, on Wednesday afternoon. About fourteen soldiers refused to take the oath, and were placed under guard.

TIT-BITS.—The N. Y. Tribune is one of the most earnest papers in this crisis. The following sentences appeared in a late number:

When you hear a man say that the Black Republicans have caused the war, be sure that his heart is with the Rebels.

When you hear an officer say that if the war is to be waged for the destruction of Slavery he will resign, be sure that his heart is with the Rebels.

When you hear a man find fault with the energy of Secretary Stanton, be sure that his heart is with the Rebels.

Whoever does not cry with all his heart, Live the Republic, though Slavery perish! is a traitor.

Remember that every friend of Slavery is an enemy of the Republic.

☞ In the explosion on the gunboat Essex, during the bombardment of Fort Henry, one of the seamen was shockingly scalded.—His clothing was at once removed, linseed oil and flour applied to his parboiled flesh, and he was carefully wrapped in blankets, and placed in bed. A few moments after, came news that the rebel flag was struck, and the fort surrendered. In his enthusiasm, he sprang out of his berth, ran up on deck, and waved his blanket in the air, huzzaing for the stars and stripes. The poor fellow, after the first excitement was over, was assisted below, and in the night he died, full of rejoicing to the last, at the triumph of the old flag.

☞ O. Jennings Wise, reported shot through the hip at Roanoke, is the former editor of the Richmond Enquirer, who shot Sherrard Clemens through the hip in a duel, laming the latter for life.

☞ When the news of the surrender of Fort Donelson was announced in the U. S. Senate, the audience in the gallery cheered, and Vice President Hamlin arose as if to check the feeling thus demonstrated, when the cheering ceased. With joy sparkling from his eyes, he said: "Cheer away; it is in order to cheer, boys!" and those in the galleries gave the toleration its widest latitude.

☞ The New York Post says the Southern spy who was said a few weeks ago to have been in Washington, disguised in the uniform of a federal officer, is now known to have been O. Jennings Wise.

☞ Next Saturday, the 22d, is set apart for the inauguration of Jefferson Davis, the President-elect of the Confederate States.—If Jeff is present, and the affair should come off, it will be a very solemn one.

A GENERAL PRICE CAPTURED!

The following despatch was received at headquarters to-day:

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 19.

To Major-General McClellan:

Gen Curtis has captured Gen Price, Cols. Dorsey and Cross, and Capt Judge of Gen Price's staff. (Signed) W. H. HALLECK.

SEDALIA, MO., Feb. 19.

Brigadier General E. D. Price, son of Gen Price, Col Phillips, Major Cross and Capt Cross were captured near Warsaw, Sunday night, and have been brought here. They were captured by Capt Stubbs of the Iowa 8th.

☞ When Gen McClellan received, on Monday morning, the dispatch announcing the surrender of Fort Doneison, he was sitting in his private room, with Gov Curtin of Pennsylvania, the latter consulting relative to the disposition of ten Pennsylvania regiments still at Harrisburgh. The general apologized for reading the dispatch, which he did with a strong but suppressed emotion.—Gen McClellan then took the dispatch to Secretary Stanton on foot through the rain. There were some three hundred spectators assembled at the war department. Gen McClellan, in breathless haste, barely announced the fact, when Secretary Stanton threw up his hat and proposed three cheers, which were given amid the greatest excitement.

☞ General Scott rode out in his carriage in New York Monday, and was the recipient of a flattering popular ovation. His carriage was followed by a crowd of people, whose cheers were vociferous and hearty.—While stopping at a bank in William street a dispatch was sent to him announcing the surrender of Fort Donelson. The veteran read it and remarked "it is a pity that great rascal Floyd has escaped." The General's health has much improved lately, and he now walks easily without assistance.

Herrick's Sugar Coated Pills.

THE BEST FAMILY CATHARTIC in the world, used twenty years by five million of persons annually; always give satisfaction; contain nothing injurious; patronized by the principal physicians and surgeons in the Union, elegantly coated with sugar.

Large Boxes 25 cents; five Boxes for One Dollar. Full directions with each box.

Warranted superior to any Pill before the public.

Tallahassee, Leon Co., Florida, July 17, 1860.

To Dr. Herrick, Albany, N. Y.—My Dear Doctor:—I write this to inform you of the wonderful effect of your Sugar Coated Pills on my elder daughter. For three years she has been affected with a bilious derangement of the system, sadly impairing her health, which has been steadily failing during that period. When in New York in April last, a friend advised me to test your Pills. Having the fullest confidence in the judgment of my friend, I obtained a supply of Messrs. Burtis & Park, Druggists, Park Row, New York. On returning home, we ceased all other treatment, and administered your Pills, one each night. The improvement in her feelings, complexion, digestion, etc., surprised us all. A rapid and perfect restoration to health has been the result. We used less than five boxes, and consider her entirely well. I consider the above a just tribute to you as a Physician, and trust it will be the means of inducing many to adopt your Pills as their family medicine.

Ever, dear sir, with many thanks,
Your obedient servant,
S. G. MORRISON.
