THE CALEDONIAN.

LAWS OF VERMONT.

PASSED AT THE ANNUAL SESSION, 1862.

[Designated by the Secretary of State for publication in all the Newspapers.]

No. 10.—An act to tax dogs.

It is hereby enacted by the General Assembly of the state of Vermont as follows:

Sec. 1. The listers in the several towns in this state shall in each year set all dogs in their respective towns in the grand list to the owner or keeper of the same, at the sum of one dollar each; and no person shall be entitled to have the amount so assessed deducted from their list, in consequence of any debts owing.

Sec. 2. Every owner or keeper of a dog, shall, when called upon by the listers for their list, notify them of the number of dogs by him owned or kept, and every owner or keeper of a dog who shall neglect or refuse to notify the listers as aforesaid, shall forefeit and pay to the town in which he resides, the sum of two dollars to be recovered in an action on the case in the name of the treasurer of such town before any court competent to try the same, with full costs.

Sec. 3. It is hereby made the duty of the owner or keeper of a dog, whether set in the list or not, to cause a collar with the name of the owner or keeper plainly written thereon, to be worn upon the neck of each dog by him owned or kept, and it shall be lawful for any person to kill any dog running at large on the premises of the owner of keeper not having on such collar, and the owner or keeper of such dog shall recover no damage for such killing.

Sec. 4. This act shall take effect on the last day of March, A. D. 1863.

Approved Nov. 26, 1862.

No. 11.—An Act establishing the State arms, seal and flag.

It is hereby enacted, &c.:

Sec. 1. The Coat of Arms of the State shall be, and is described as follows:

Green, a landscape occupying half of the shield; on the right and left, in the back ground, high mountains, blue; the sky yellow. From near the base, and reaching nearly to the top of the shield, arises a pine tree of the natural color, and between, three ever sheaves, yellow, placed bendwise on the sinister side, and a red cow standing on the sinister side of the field.

THE CREST.

A buck's head, of the natural color, cut off and placed on a scroll, blue and yellow.

THE MOTTO AND SCROLL.

On a scroll beneath the shield, the motto: Vermont: Freedom and unity. The Vermonter's Badge: two pine branches of the natural color, crossed between the shield and scroll.

Sec. 2. The State Seal shall include the Coat of Arms, excluding the crest, scroll and badge, and with the motto in a circular border around the same.

Sec. 3. The flag of the State, shall be thirteen stripes, alternate red and white; the Union shall be one large star, white in a blue field, with the Coat of Arms of the State thereon.

Sec. 4. The Secretary of State shall obtain, a Facsimile in the archives of this office, a representation of the Coat of Arms of the State according to the above description thereof.

Sec. 5. This bill shall have a place in the General Statutes of this State, as title 41, chapter 131, and be entitled "Of the State Arms, Seal and Flag."

Approved Nov. 25, 1862.

No. 12.—An Act in addition to chapter twenty-two of the compiled statutes relating to laying out and discontinuing highways and bridges.

It is hereby enacted, &c.:

Sec. 1. Whenever in the opinion of the selectmen of any town it shall be necessary, for the purpose of constructing, altering or repairing any highway in such town, to divert the course of any brook or stream, the selectmen shall give notice to all persons whose rights or property may be affected by such diversion of such brook or stream, of the time and place at which they will hear and consider any claim for damage, which notice shall be given either personally or by writing left with, or at the residence of, the person required to be notified; or, if he be not a resident of this state, with his agent or attorney.

Sec. 2. The selectmen shall, after a time so assigned for such hearing and consideration, allow to all persons whose rights or property may be affected by such diversions of such brook or stream, such damages as they shall deem they are respectively entitled to, and shall cause to be recorded in the town clerk's office or such town an order directing the diversion of such brook or stream, specifying particularly the point at which such diversion shall be made, and the direction and distance there fr. and shall also in such order state the damages allowed by them to the several persons interested in such diversion, and the mode of notifying them, which order shall be kept on file in the town clerk's office.

Sec. 3. If any person, whose rights or property shall be affected by such diversion of such brook or stream, shall be dissatisfied with the same, or with the amount of damages allowed therefor by the selectmen, he may make application for a new hearing upon the question of the necessity of such diversion of such brook or stream, and the amount of damages to which he is entitled therefor, by petition in writing to the county court in the county, at the next term after such allowance, if there shall be time for such notice, if not, at the succeeding term; and any number of persons aggrieved may join in such petition, together with a citation for that purpose, shall be served on one or more of the selectmen of such town, at least twelve days before the sitting of the court; and the court shall appoint three disinterested persons, commissioners to enquire into the necessity of such diversion of such brook or stream, and the amount of damages the petitioners are respectively entitled to by reason thereof.

Provided, That no such application for a new hearing shall be made to the county court, unless the petitioners shall, within twenty days after the order of the selectmen, referred to in the second section of this act, shall have been recorded in the town clerk's office, give notice to one or more of such selectmen of their intention so to apply for a new hearing.

Sec. 4. The commissioners shall give notice to one or more of the selectmen of such town, and to petitioners, of the time and place when they will make such enquiry and hear the parties, and they shall decide whether such brook or stream ought to be diverted, and if so, at what point, and in what direction, and for what distance, and shall allow to the petitioners such damages as they shall respectively be entitled to by reason of such diversion of such brook or stream, and report such decision and allowance to the county court; and on the report of the commissioners the court shall order the diversion of such brook or stream, in such manner as shall appear just, and shall render judgment for the petitioners to recover against the town such sums for their respective damages as shall be shown by such report to have been sustained; and may tax costs for either party as shall appear just.

Sec. 5. When application shall be made to the county court as provided in the third section of this act, the diversion of the course of such brook or stream shall be stayed until the decision of the county court; and such court may fix the time for diverting such brook or stream, and for paying any damages which may be awarded; and if such damages shall not be paid within the time limited, the court may issue execution for the same.

Sec. 6. Whenever, in the opinion of any board of commissioners, appointed by the county or supreme court to enquire into the convenience and necessity of any highway, and the manner in which the same shall have been, or ought to be, laid out or altered, as well as the damages which may have been sustained by parties interested, there is good reason to believe that it is necessary for the purpose of constructing or altering such highway, to divert the course of any brook or stream, such commissioners, before they shall finally decide that such brook or stream ought to be diverted for the purpose aforesaid, shall give notice to all persons whose rights or property may be affected by such diversion of such brook or stream, and also to one of the selectmen of the town, or each of the towns in which such highway may be situated, of the time and place at which they will hear and determine upon the necessity of such diversion of such brook or stream, and the compensation in damage to which the several persons interested are respectively entitled therefor: which notice shall be given at least twelve days previous to the time of hearing, either personally, or by writing, left with, or at at the residence of, the person required to be notified.

The commissioners shall, after such hearing, decide whether such brook or stream ought to be diverted, and if so, at what point, in what direction, and for what distance, and shall allow to the parties interested such damages as they shall be respectively entitled to by reason of such diversion of such brook or stream; and report such decision and allowance to the court by which they were appointed: and such court shall thereupon proceed to dispose of the case in the manner provided in the fourth section of this act.

Sec. 7. This act shall not authorize the diversion of the course of any brook or stream upon which there are at present any mills or manufactories propelled by the water therefrom.

Approved Oct. 29, 1862.

It will contain, in addition to its stirring details, the public Speeches and Acts of the Chiefs of the War, by JOHN LOTHROP MOTLEY, LL. D. author of "The Rise of the Dutch Republic," etc., the status of all the important events from the John Brown raid, and an accurate and revised account of the great national battles, with engravings.

NOW READY.

The First Volume,

VICTOR'S HISTORY OF THE SOUTHERN REBELLION.

It is the Civil, Political and Military History of the great Conspiracy against the Union. It will cover the entire ground of the Secession movement in the several states: the proceedings of the Montgomery convention and of the Confederate States congress; all proceedings in the Federal Congress relating to the questions of secession and rebellion, giving full reports of the great debates, resolutions, reports, &c.; all the messages, proclamations, &c. of the President: thus proving a complete compendium of the political phases of the attempted revolution. As a record of the stupendous military features of the rebellion, it will be all that could be desired—full, authentic and graphic—leaving nothing unsaid which is necessary to render it the best history of the war for the Union which will be presented for the patronage of the American people.

The History will be comprised in three royal octavo volumes, of about 600 pages each, beautifully illustrated. In typographical neatness it will be a model; its printing, paper and binding will fit it for the place in the library assigned to the "choicest works." Volume I is now ready for delivery: Volume II will be ready during the summer, and Volume III at as early a moment as practicable with reference to placing the entire history in the three Volumes.

The work can only be had of the Canvasser. It is not sold by "the trade." All who wish to become possessed of it should avail themselves of the first proposition of the agent. The volumes to be delivered by the agent will correspond exactly with the specimen copy exhibited.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS

R. H. EDDY,

SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington (under the Act of 1837.)

76 State Street, opposite Kilby Street, Boston.

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States also in Great Britain, France, and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with despatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of Patents or Inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but throughout Inventors have advantages for securing Patents, of ascertaining the patentability of inventions unexpected by, if not immediately superior to, any which can be opened them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none business secured at the Patent Office than the subscriber; and as success is the best proof of advantages and ability, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate. The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specification and official decisions relative to patents.

Hence, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

The necessity of a journey to Washington, to procure patents, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."

CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office" EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me thirteen applications, on all but one of which patents have been granted, and that is now pending. Such uniform success proof of great talent and ability on his part, leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges." JOHN TAGGART.

During eight months the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications, seven appeals, every one of which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents.
