Local and State News.

Very cold, dry and backward spring up to date.

The Second Adventists immersed fourteen believers at Paddock village last Sabbath.

Religious meetings are to be held at the Catholic church every evening during the month of May.

The letter from Rev. Mr. Jewett will be read with interest. All will be glad to learn of his prospective journey this way.

A young lady furnished the Caledonian office with a bouquet of May-flowers last Saturday, notwithstanding the backwardness of the season.

A telegram was received from Oshkosh from Mr. Joseph Boles, saying his life alone was spared from the great conflagration there last week.

Rev. J. H. Little of West Concord, has accepted a call from the Universalist church at East Jaffrey, N. H., and has removed to that place.

Geo. H. Hastings has returned from Boston, and his photograph rooms will be open for business next Monday, see his advertisement next week.

Mrs. Fairbrother and daughter, and Miss Hopkins, left this place for Baltimore, Maryland, Tuesday morning, via Suspension Bridge and Michigan Central.

In digging down to thaw out his water pipe Hector Lacourse found the ground frozen seven feet and three inches deep, in front of his store on Main street.

Rev. W. L. Noyes, formerly of Saffron, has for a year or two past at Jackson, Michigan, is about to return to Lyndon Centre, if he has not already decided that place.

The Queen of the May came out on Saturday, May 1st. She appeared this time in Court House square, at the soldiers' monument, and seems to be in the act of crowning some one, instead of being crowned.

We learn that Dr. Adgate of East Hardwick, formerly of this place—is greatly afflicted in the loss of his only son and youngest daughter, both during the last week. The Doctor buried his wife last year.

Those who did not unite with the church of the Messiah last Sunday, on account of the unexpected absence of the pastor, will have an opportunity to do so next Sunday afternoon. Gospel meeting at this church next Sunday evening, to which all are invited.

The report that Dr. H. S. Browne was to remove to Cowansville, P. Q., undoubtedly goes out of the fact that he has received an earnest request to remove there, signed by many of the prominent citizens of the town. But he has given no encouragement that he can do so.

We understand the County Judges have decided to enclose the Court House yard with a neat fence; also to make some repairs upon the building. We believe the town voted a year or two ago to have a suitable fence about the monument, and we presume all the fencing will be done up this spring.

Geo. B. Walker is in possession of the St. Johnsbury House, and already things begin to hum about that proverbially quiet hotel. Painters and paper-hangers, upholsterers and plumbers, are renovating inside, and from twenty to thirty arrivals a day already indicate that the spring business is reviving.

It is said that "those who dance must pay the fiddler." Those who play ball must pay for the glass they break. It costs all the way from $2.50 to $5.00 a light in the brick block. Two lights have already been broken in the bank, one in the post office, and one in Howard & Rowell's. It will probably occur to the boys bye-and-bye, that the principal streets of the town are not suitable places for ball playing.

A. E. Rankin, Esq., of this place, has received the appointment of consul at Messina, Sicily. This is an island just south of Italy, in the Mediterranean sea, about half way between the straits of Gibraltar and the isthmus of Suez. The climate is mild and salubrious, though the near proximity of Mt. Etna, on the same island, may make it unhealthy in time of an eruption. Mr. and Mrs. Rankin are abroad now for his health, and it is not known if he will accept the appointment.

At the earnest solicitation of both clergy and laymen of this place, the Massachusetts laymen, some of whom have been with us now these three times, will come again on Saturday. The time and place of meeting to be held, given elsewhere. If any of our friends from out of town can possibly do so, they will find this a good place to be next Sunday and Monday. The Lord has worked wonders in these meetings now these three times—why should we not expect it the fourth time?

Our readers will be glad to learn that Mr. Horace Fairbanks, who has been seriously ill of pneumonia, at the Tremont House, Boston, is much better, and a speedy recovery is now anticipated. Nearly two weeks ago Mr. Fairbanks came on to Boston from New York, where he had been on business connected with the P. & O. railroad; a week ago he was taken violently ill with pneumonia, and during Sunday and Monday, great anxiety was felt for the result. The deep solicitude of this community was relieved by the report Tuesday, that there was a decided change for the better, and this report has been confirmed several times since; and as we said above, a speedy recovery is now anticipated.

Union Gospel Meetings.

Our Massachusetts friends, Messrs. Moore, Remington, Winslow and Littlefield, are coming to us again this week, and a series of union religious meetings will be held as follows:

Saturday, May 8, Young People's meeting, at South Church, at 7 p. m.

Sunday, May 9, Prayer meeting, at North Church, at 9 a. m.

At 10.30, meeting at Academy Hall. Subject, "The Prodigal's Return."

At 3.00 p. m., at North Church. "Conditions and methods of successful Christian labor."

At 6.30 p. m., at South Church. "Jesus the sinner's friend."

Monday, 7.30 p. m., at South Church. "The Believer's privileges."

At 8.00 p. m., meeting at Fairbanks's machine shop.

At 7.00 p. m., at South Church. "Salvation through Christ." Hebrews 2: 3, first clause.

Admitted to Church Membership.

Last Sabbath was a day long to be remembered in this community, because of the large ingathering into the churches. Seventy three united with the South, and fifty five with the North Congregational church, nearly all on the profession of their faith. About seventy of these were baptised, and over forty were heads of families. Several of those who came forward at the North church, brought their children with them for baptism.

Seventeen persons have united with the Congregational church at Lyndon since the week of prayer, fourteen by profession and three by letter.

Ten have united with the Congregational church at Lyndonville, six by profession and four by letter. The religious interest seems to continue at both places.

Forty-one persons were admitted to membership in the Congregational church, at St. Albans, twenty one of whom were males.

Gough's Lecture.

John B. Gough gave one of his inimitable lectures in the course of the Y. M. C. A., at Academy hall, last Thursday evening. His subject was "Peculiar People." Although much of the lecture was descriptive of the eccentricities and unpleasant peculiarities of people, there was a moral and elevating tone throughout that was truly ennobling. And this is one of the characteristics of Mr. Gough—while he can convulse an audience with his witty stories and inimitable acting, he can also preach such a sermon as few men are capable of. He is a power for good. Long may he live.

The audience was very large and attentive some nine or ten hundred people from this and surrounding towns. A special train was run from West Burke, bringing a goodly number from that town and stations this side.

Bibles on the Cars.

All the passenger and saloon cars of the Portland and Ogdensburg Railroad have been supplied with bibles for the use of passengers. These books are the gift of the American Bible Society at New York. The entire bible is divided into four books, thus giving good type and convenient size, and an opportunity for four in each car to read the scriptures at the same time. The books are well bound, and are lettered in gilt on the outside not only the portion of the scriptures each volume contains, but also the following: "Presented by the American Bible Society, to the Portland and Ogdensburg Railroad Company." Neat racks are put up in each car for the reception of these books, and employes are instructed to see that they are in their place when not in use.

Good Work for Hard Times.

There were 4747 scales manufactured at the scale works during the month of April, which is 977 more than during the same time in 1874. The company are now filling a large order to be sent to Moscow and St. Petersburg, Russia.

Postponed.

The excursion to California, advertised to leave this place May 15, is postponed for the present. The reason is because the party from Hardwick "went back" on Mr. Harvey. He was assured of sixty from that town by Mr. Hall, who has been the chief mover in the business, and he certainly thought he was sure of twenty-five, expecting to get the other twenty-five in this town and vicinity. The quota outside of Hardwick was nearly obtained, but at a late hour, Hall telegraphs that half his party had backed out and the rest were going by water. This of course "bursts" the thing, and Mr. Harvey is now making arrangements for an excursion on a different basis, where the bottom is not liable to drop out.

The "Spell."

At the spelling match in the Church of the Messiah Friday evening, Miss Mary Shorey and Phin. Houghton chose up sides: H. C. Bates acted as schoolmaster, and A. T. Beane and O. S. Burke, umpires. Only words in common use were put out. Frank Bryant, a small boy, was the first one down, very appropriately getting the prize therefor, a box of A-B-C. blocks. He spelt chagrin with an e, much to the chagrin of his parents, no doubt. Mrs. N. M. Johnson took the second prize, the Life and adventures of Livingston, but finally went down on portemonnaie, leaving off the e on the first syllable. Mrs. John Marshall took the first prize, a silver cup, but finally succumbed on the word laboratory, omitting one o.

At the spelling match at Summerville Tuesday evening, Miss Huse won the first prize, a silver cup; the second prize, a gold pen and stock, was carried home by Judge Boyman; the third prize, a portemonnaie, was taken by Miss Doane, portemonnaie being the word that she went down on, omitting the first e, as did the one at the previous match.

The First of the Season.

Mr. Abial Cheney of East St. Johnsbury, brought us a bunch of rhubarb, cut the 30th of April, several of the stalks being over a foot long. Fourteen days before, this plant was under the snow. This may be called pretty rapid growth. No glass was used; it was simply covered cold nights and days. Mr. Cheney will have pie plant in the market in a few days.

Work on the P. & O.

During the past week a gravel train has been put on the P. & O. road over west, which is ballasting up that end of the road between Hyde Park and Johnson. It is expected that work will soon commence on the eastern end of the Vermont division, and that the road from this place to the Connecticut river will be completed this summer.

Religious Meetings.

Gospel meetings are held this week at Newbury, May 1 and 5; Norwich 3, 6 and 7—at Derby Line Friday, Saturday and Sunday; at East Hardwick Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, May 11, 12 and 13. Meetings are held at Barton Landing nearly every evening, which are well attended and much interest manifested.

The Montpelier Fire.

We give elsewhere quite a full account of this second disaster which has overtaken our sister town. The people there do not wish to think that the fire was set; the crime is too monstrous—yet the fact remains that a fire was set in a house near by, only an hour and a quarter before this one broke out; and it is almost certain that this too was incendiary, although there is a chance that it may have been set accidentally, by some tramp, or otherwise.

Two acres were burned over; thirty five families lost their homes; and forty men their places of business. But the people of Montpelier are plucky. They will rebuild of brick, increase their facilities for fighting fire, and be prosperous again.

Among those who were so unceremoniously turned out of doors on Friday night, was Mr. Zenas Wood and family, the father of Mrs. T. M. Howard and Mrs. E. D. Blodgett of this place. This old family mansion, on the corner of Main and Barre streets, which has hospitably sheltered so many in years gone by, went with the others. Mr. Wood, Mrs. Burnham and Mrs. Barker—all his family who are left to him—will probably reside in this place for the present.

Heavy Failure at Lyndon.

The mercantile firm of George H. & J. M. Weeks of Lyndon, failed on Saturday last, attachments being first made by Boston creditors, and then by people whom they owed, boardmen and others, about home. It has been known to some extent that this firm has been cramped all through the past winter, but it has been hoped it would weather the hard times and come out all right. We understand that the liabilities of the concern are about $125,000. Their assets are also large, but they are in houses and lands and mills and mortgages, that cannot be turned into money now to advantage. Their debts are also widely scattered. They owe considerably in Boston; $30,000 it is said to the Lyndon bank (we think this a mistake, as the capital stock is only $100,000)—some at this bank, the Joel Fletcher estate, and a few other debts in this town. But their indebtedness is largely in Lyndon, and much of it is to men who will not be distressed. We presume the hardest part of the failure is the few hundred dollars in a place, which widows and other women have loaned them, and who have no security. This class of sufferers is said to be large. We understand that their brother, Charles M. Weeks of Woodsville, N. H., is on their paper to the amount of $20,000, and is consequently involved.

The Weekses have done a large business, and their failure is probably attributable to undue expansion. A few years ago one of the partners moved to Lyndonville and built a store and a house there, at considerable cost, and since then they have carried on the mercantile business in both places. We understand an effort will be made to compromise with the creditors.

Fire at McIndoe's Falls.

About midnight on Saturday, fire was discovered in the lumber yard at McIndoe's Falls, by the light shining in at Mrs. Duncan's window. She at once awoke her son, who went out and found a large pile of edgings and shavings on fire, which had caught from the pit where waste from the lath mill is burned. A strong wind prevailed at the time, which was fast driving the flames towards the saw and planing mill, and a dwelling house near by, all owned by the McIndoe's Falls Lumber Co. Mr. Duncan saw the situation, and after arousing the family in danger, started for help. Just then the Montreal express train, due at 12.10, came in, and the engineer aided materially in spreading the alarm, by a free use of his locomotive whistle. But before help arrived, it was too late to save the dwelling house and planing mill, and it was only by the most persistent efforts that the saw mill was saved. For more than an hour, no advantage could be gained over the fire in the edging pile connecting with the mill, but determination, and plenty of water, finally triumphed. Great credit is due the men who worked so hard, as this was the key to the saving of much property.

The loss mostly falls upon the Lumber Co., and is about $2000. The family who lived in the house burned, lose about $200; and Mr. Nixon, who lives in a house near by, loses about $100, moving all his things out of the house for safety. No insurance on any of the property destroyed.

The fire was raging so when the up train passed McIndoe's, a little before 2:00, that help was solicited from St. Johnsbury. An alarm was sounded on the new bell at the Methodist church, and Engine Co. No. 2, went down to render what assistance they could. Fortunately a heavy shower came up, and helped extinguish the flames, and the fire company did no service except to show their good will.

Cabot.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Knights celebrated the tenth anniversary of their married life with a tin wedding, the 26th ult. Friends to the number of nearly one hundred assembled, bringing with them all kinds of tin, numbering 79 pieces, but one or two pieces were alike, and most all of a useful character. We can mention but few, but among them was a tin chime, tin vases containing handsome bouquets, dish pan, etc. As Mr. Knights is a jeweler some friend presented him with a large tin watch that was suspended over the table which was headed with a beautiful repast to which the company did ample justice. Afterwards the marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. B. S. Adams. Although Mr. X. knows nothing of the sweets of married life by experience, he was able to give good counsel to those that have been walking in that way for some time, in fact many of the company thought he had been reading up in this branch of late. The bride never looked more blushing and if ten years to come should add no more cares to her house, she will be a young looking middle aged woman. The bridegroom made fair promises for the future. The whole affair passed off very pleasantly. The company dispersed leaving for the host and hostess their best wishes for their future success in life.

Ten teachers presented themselves for examination the 2d.

Two men did a good day's work in the saw mill of Tyler A. Town, the 27th, sawing 107 logs into inch boards, making over 6,000 feet of lumber and cutting the slabs, numbering 428, into 16 inch wood.

The light of the fire at Montpelier last week, was distinctly seen in this village nearly all night.

Lyndonville.

The remains of Mrs. Wm. D. Babcock, who died at Springfield, Mass., March 12, were brought to Lyndon for interment the 29th ult. Mrs. B. was daughter of Mr. Manning Morrill of Lyndon.

Wheelock.

We are greatly pained to learn of the death of Capt. Stephen O. Elkins, which occurred in Hersman, Ill., on the 23d inst. Capt. Elkins was well known in Wheelock and that vicinity. In 1862 he enlisted and was chosen 2nd lieutenant in Co. G, 15th Regiment Vt. Volunteers. He served with distinction, having received promotion, and returned to engage in farming, and in teaching music during the winter season. About 1866 he went West, together with other persons from Wheelock, and settled in Hersman. Here he engaged in mercantile pursuits in company with Mr. Hersman, a leading citizen, who gave name to the town. He afterwards married the daughter of the senior partner. The business of the firm rapidly increased and they added to it a manufacturing establishment for the making of agricultural machines and implements. Capt. Elkins has suffered some time from a lung difficulty and was taken suddenly and violently ill with congestion of the lungs. He lived but a few days after the attack. He leaves a wife and a beautiful little girl. Capt. Elkins was one of the most genial, social and noble men we ever met. He was much esteemed here, and held a prominent place in society, the church, and the masonic fraternity in his western home. His age was about 38 years.—G. H. B. in Monitor.

MUSIC LESSONS!

I am desirous of getting a class in music for the coming summer. My method is modern and thorough. My former home was within a few miles of Boston, and my education in music has been wholly acquired of the best teachers there. Should be very grateful for patronage.
