Infant baptism, why it is practiced by the Episcopal and other churches, and the scriptural and other historical authority for the same will be the subject of a discourse at St. Paul's church on next Lord's Day, February 26th, 1893. T. F. C. JAMES.

Whenever there is an entertainment of any kind in the Academy of Music, a lot of boys and men make a practice of congregating in the entrance and obstructing the way, much to the annoyance of parties entering the hall. It is an abuse long complained of and should be abated.

Everybody is cordially invited to be present at the Academy of Music tomorrow (Thursday) evening. An excellent supper will be served by the Y. P. S. C. E. for only 25 cents. Also the best of cake and ice-cream. Supper ready at 6 o'clock. Meals sent on orders to any part of the city.

Chas. Paullin, who lately purchased the Lotz farm from W. D. Russell, arrived in Ironton last week. The purchase price named in the deed is $8,000 and Mr. Paullin exchanged city property valued at that amount in return for the farm. Mr. Paullin expects to make his home here and will take charge of the property at once.

Born—To Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Huff, Thursday morning, February 16th, 1893, a ten and one-half pound boy. Art. has been receiving congratulations all week and there isn't a happier dad anywhere in the world. All the same, though, it isn't generous in him to splurge around so much in the face of other and less lucky benedicts.

BORN—At Pilot Knob, Mo., Tuesday, February 14th, 1893, at 7 o'clock P. M., to Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Hinsdale, a daughter: a bouncing ten pounder! The REGISTER tenders its compliments to all—not forgetting Grandpa Fritz. May the sweet bit of tender femininity just arrived prove the blessing a good and loving daughter ever is to all her family.

A friend from Pilot Knob complains that some persons have been in the habit of poisoning all the town dogs up there. If the sufferers can find out the guilty parties there will be the mischief to pay. He evidently understands his business for the poison is administered with skill and evidence of knowing the business. It is a cowardly way of seeking revenge, to say the least.

Joe Kerchner advertises for a lost overcoat, but we think his garment has gone glimmering, with a tramping colored tonsorial artist who left the same night. One of the colored residents says he saw the fleeing "coon" at the depot, comfortably arrayed in the overcoat, which matched his complexion to a dot. The first outgoing train wafted him upward and onward to fresh pastures and beyond the reach of the quondam owner of the outer covering which so gracefully enveloped the person of its new possessor.

The Valley has been fairly overrun with tramps for two months past, and they are out begging and stealing at all hours of the day, a nuisance to the public generally and terror to housewives in particular. They make their homes at night in the sandhouse at Arcadia and in day making daily excursions to all parts of the Valley for plunder. It is a nuisance that has too long been permitted and the public is now complaining bitterly. If these vagrants were deprived of the sandhouse they would have no place to stay and we would soon be rid of them. We trust the attention of the railroad officials will be called to the matter and we doubt not that such orders will follow as to put an end to the practice.

The following from the Steelville Mirror refers to a locality not so far from Iron county as to be of sufficient local interest to justify reproduction: "It has been reported that three young men living near Berryman, who had wished to possess more of this world's (green) goods, borrowed several hundred dollars each and proceeded to New York City some weeks ago to buy some 'filthy lucre' which was represented as being as good as the genuine article. After making the purchase of $4,500 for $1000, they ordered it securely packed and expressed to Potosi, and on arriving home the would-be 'shovers-of-the-queer' found a nice little ash box awaiting them at the express office, and on taking the supposed $4,500 from the office, they proceeded to a private room where it was to be divided, but on opening the box found it contained a fire brick. They had received a 'green goods' circular and acted according to instructions. They are now hard at word trying to earn enough of the 'genuine article' with which to lift their notes."

Sheriff Fisher last Monday had an official task to perform, the like of which never happened to any of his predecessors in Iron county, nor probably in the Southeast or entire State of Missouri. It was that of serving papers to replevy an elephant, the same animal that has been wintered in Ironton by W. C. Clark, the showman quartered at the Ironton House. The Empire Show and Printing Company, of Chicago, claim the elephant on chattel mortgage, and two of their representatives, J. C. Jones, and a Mr. Davis, arrived here Sunday night. Early next morning they proceeded to the courthouse, displayed an affidavit, claiming "Empress" (that's the elephant's name) as the property of the Empire Show and Printing Company of Chicago, stating her value to be $1500, and filing bond for twice that amount to insure Mr. Clark against loss and damage should he afterwards be given possession of the animal. On this showing the Circuit Clerk issued a writ of replevy directed to Sheriff Fisher and returnable to the next term of the Iron county Circuit Court, empowering that official to seize the said Empress and turn the animal over to Messrs. Jones and Davis, as the representatives of the Empire Show and Printing Company. Armed with this authority, Sheriff Fisher, his deputy, Wm. Henson, and Messrs. Davis, Jones and an elephant trainer from St. Louis, who had been brought here for the purpose, Monday afternoon repaired to the Ironton House, where the papers were served on Mr. Clark, who made no protest at all but simply stated the elephant was in a stable in the rear. There the party proceeded; in a little stable across the alley the Empress was quartered, the left fore leg chained to a post; the apartment was a small one, barely high enough for her majesty to stand upright, and hardly affording room for her to turn around. And here this monarch of the jungles had passed the long and severe winter, with the cold wind blowing through the many cracks and crevices of the poorly constructed building. How different from the roomy freedom and mild and sunny clime, which nature had intended should be hers. Is it to wondered that the poor brute would at times lose patience, and in dumb agony, exert the powerful strength with which she was endowed, to show her displeasure at captivity? Sheriff Fisher pointed out the animal and the elephant trainer entered. It was truly astonishing to see how the massive brute wielded to the almost magic influence of the trainer; she was as docile as a lamb, and did his every bidding with wonderful meekness and alacrity. The entrance was probably three feet less in heigth than the animal, and at a single command from the trainer, down on her knees she went, and passed into the alley; and from there she followed at the heels of her new found trainer, much as a dog would follow in the wake of his master; wholly unconcerned as to the writs of replevin and legal technicalities, Empress was doubtless more than pleased to leave the gloomy stable in exchange for the balmy air and warm sunshine of this most delightful early spring day. She was taken to the stock pen at the depot, whence it was intended to ship her to Alexander, La., but the large and roomy furniture car which had been ordered for that purpose had not yet arrived, having been detained at Bismarck. Not caring to wait, and, perhaps, fearful of the law's delays, Messrs. Jones and Davis ordered the trainer to take the Empress overland to Bismarck, which was done and the animal loaded on the car, and started on the journey southward that same night, and just in time to escape the heavy snow storm that visited this section a few hours later.

The hotel is receiving a new coat of paint; R. W. Kendrick, of Des Arc, is doing the work.

A painful accident happened to little Johnnie Travis last Thursday while hauling a load of empty barrels to the distillery. About half a mile below town, the front gate came out of the wagon, allowing the barrels to roll out onto the team. This scared the horses and they ran away, tore up the wagon and broke Johnnie's left leg near the ankle. Dr. Cloonan set the bone.

The sentence of Thos. Boyet, of 6 days in the county jail, was not in default of the fine, but was the original judgment, being the shortest limit of imprisonment for the offense. I make this correction in justice to Esq. Hampton, who thinks the ambiguity in my former article might lead some to believe that he did not understand the law.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Pierce are in Annapolis on a visit.

Annapolis is packed with cars loaded with through freight from the south. Several trains of cars are set out here some days, the engines returning to Piedmont. If this is to continue, it would pay the company to have a car repairer here.

I have been informed that there is a movement on foot to double track this road from St. Louis to Bismarck.

Mrs. Hunt is said to be very sick.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. West took their little child to Pilot Knob one day last week, to have a little spot removed from its cheek, said to have been caused by a broken vein. MURPHY.

There was $1900 sent from here last week to the bank. Most all of this money was pension checks from around Des Arc and Brunot. The pension business has gotten to be immense; no wonder the government is in debt. Some are benefited by it; others are not, for they try to live on it and they cannot die on it, so there it lays.

I am glad to say that the report which was brought to our town in regard to Mrs. Jos. G. Clarkson's health, was a mistake, as I have since been informed by several, that she is in Arcadia looking better than she has for years. ISAAC.

Having used it in my family for the past eight years, I can safely say it has no equal for either colds or croup. It seems to expel the mucus from the lungs, and leave the system in as good condition as before taking the cold. We have also used several other kinds, but unhesitatingly say Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the best of all." 50 cent bottles for sale by P. R. Crisp.

Ed. Register—Mud is the most plentiful thing that people have to contend with nowadays, and every person you meet about the first thing said, "Isn't it awful?" "Yes, it's terrible," and so it goes.

Mrs. Henry Hartman happened to a very painful accident Saturday evening last. While they were sitting at the supper table, Mrs. H. discovered that their little baby was in the act of falling off the bed, and, in making an effort to catch the little one, fell over a chair and broke her right arm. A physician was immediately sent for and in a short time rendered the necessary aid. At this writing she is resting as comfortably as the circumstances will permit.

Another Cleveland Democrat has made his appearance in our town and taken up his abode at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Tim Donahue's. Rumor has it that our neighboring town, Ghermanville, is to soon have a barber shop. The business men of that place are also talking of putting in an electric plant. The only obstacle now is the necessary capital, as they were expecting an appropriation through the present Congress, but now that the United States Treasury is almost, if not altogether depleted, they have about abandoned the project until the income tax on whiskey will have replenished the treasury to an amount equal for the occasion. If Secretary Foster had many more months to manipulate the treasury there wouldn't be money enough to freight a coal barge across the Potomac River, say nothing about appropriations. It is presumed that his visit to the gold bugs of Wall Street has enabled him to borrow enough money to carry the present administration to its end, which, we thank goodness, is only about fourteen days more.
