RECOMPENSE FOR INJURY.

Bill for Relief of Falsely Arrested Postal Clerk Introduced.

Representative Shattuc has introduced a bill for the relief of J. W. Jones, a postoffice clerk, of Cincinnati, Ohio, for loss of salary and legal expenses incurred in connection with his erroneous arrest in this city by a United States Secret Service officer, resulting in his summary dismissal from the postoffice service in 1898.

The bill appropriates $621.20 for Mr. Jones. It recites that on investigation it was discovered a mistake had been made, and Mr. Jones was reinstated in the office of the Auditor of the War Department, June 20, 1898, and transferred to the office of the Auditor for the Postoffice Department, from which office he had been dismissed.

Mr. Jones was arrested February 25, 1898, and discharged from the civil service the following day on the charge of being implicated in certain money order frauds committed in 1897. Secretary Gage, in endorsing the request for a statement to establish his innocence, under date of January 20, 1902, says:

"The accusations against Mr. Jones, made in 1898, were the result of an unfortunate misinterpretation of certain facts. A closer examination brought this clearly into view, and served to entirely exonerate him from any suspicion of culpability in the matters then in question. It is due to him to have this said, and my regret has been deep and will be permanent that his good name was at all brought under doubt."

Mr. Jones, who lives in this city, was formerly General Shattuc's private secretary.

SHOEMAKER'S HALLUCINATIONS.

Would Prevent War With Turkey. But Is Sent to Asylum.

Hilary E. Royer came to Washington to save the country from a serious war with Turkey, which would involve billions of dollars and millions of lives, but instead has been committed to the Government Hospital for the Insane, pending action by the courts on his case.

Royer is a shoemaker by trade, and lived at 370 Bartlett Street, Manchester N. H., and is twenty-four years old. He came to Washington about a week ago to see President Roosevelt, and since then has had nothing to eat, as he feared that food would drive him crazy. He tried to enter the White House on several occasions, but was not permitted to do so.

He told an officer who apprehended him that he left his wife weeping and his father dying, but that he came to the city to see the President and save the country.

Wednesday afternoon he called at the Capitol to seek the aid of Senator Gallinger in reaching the President. With his card, he is said to have sent in to the Senator $3.50 in money. Not comprehending the situation the Senator went out to see his strange visitor.

After the exchange of a few words the man gave evidences of becoming violent, and Senator Gallinger called one of the Capitol policemen, who conducted the man to the guard room and summoned the city police.

With the understanding that he was to be taken to see the Secretary of War he left the Capitol and was taken in the patrol wagon to the stationhouse, where he was locked up. Yesterday morning Drs. Marbury and Vale examined him, and on their certificate Sanitary Officer Frank had him committed to the asylum.
