CURRENT EVENTS IN ALEXANDRIA

Joint Meeting of Hounds on Washington's Birthday.

Chevy Chase, Hampton, Deep Run, Warrenton, and Other Clubs to Meet at Mount Vernon.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., Feb. 20.—A joint meeting at Mount Vernon has been arranged for Saturday next by the Chevy Chase Hunt, of Washington, and the Hampton Hounds, of Fairfax County, together with delegations from the Deep Run Hunt Club, of Richmond, the Warrenton Hunt Club, of Warrenton, and various Virginia and Maryland Clubs, at Mount Vernon.

The regular monthly meeting of the board of police commissioners was held last night. Chief Webster reported that all was quiet in police circles. The application of Joseph J. Bradley for position of policeman was received.

The three-story brick dwelling at the southeast corner of Duke and Royal streets, known as the old Lambert house, has been sold by the heirs of the late Benjamin Lambert to the Florence Crittenton Home Mission.

Mr. George Reynolds reported to the police this morning that he was held up at an early hour last night on Commerce Street by two unknown men. They secured $1, all the money he had.

A small fire occurred at the residence of Mr. Paul Kuhn, 109 North Fayette Street, yesterday morning. It was caused by a defective flue.

The executive committee of the tercentennial, appointed Monday night, will meet at 7:30 o'clock tonight at 119 South Fairfax Street.

In the corporation court today H. E. Knight was appointed guardian of the two infant children of the late E. D. Soper.

Herman Scott, formerly of this city, died in Montgomery County, Md., yesterday. The remains will be brought here for interment.

Mr. Malcolm B. McLean, who has been visiting friends in this city, left this evening for his home in Seattle, Wash.

OATHS ONE DOLLAR EACH.

Kentuckian Fined $15 for Using Fifteen Strong Words.

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio, Feb. 20.—John Bloomfield, of South Portsmouth, Ky., was fined 1 cent for swearing and assessed $1 each for fifteen curses in 'Squire Austin's court yesterday. It was alleged that Bloomfield engaged in a wordy war with William Wilburn, a neighbor, during the course of which the latter received a general cursing. According to a Kentucky law oaths are finable at $1 each, and Wilburn swore that exactly fifteen had been applied to him.

SNAKE BITE SCIENCE.

Practical Application of Prof. Calmette's Recent Discoveries.

Dr. Calmette, director of the Pasteur Institute, Lille, has shown the resemblance between the poison secreted by the salivary glands of snakes and the microbe, or toxic poison, of diseases, such as plague or diphtheria, and that the serepathic treatment of such diseases by inoculation and antitoxic serum from the blood is applicable to snake bites with even greater success.

It is stated that over 200,000 persons die annually in India from snake bite, chiefly of the maja or cobra de capello. In Martinique the "bothrops" or fer-de-lance, in Algeria the "cerraste" viper, in Senegal and the Soudan the black napa, or "spitting snake," also kill many of the natives. The poisonous principle of all snake or viper venom is the same in kind, but not in degree of virulence.

The venom of a cobra is eight times stronger than that of a French viper, half a milligram of it killing a rabbit. The poison causes sharp pain, then torpor, and cramp at the root of the affected member, and almost the whole body. Fainting and syncope ensue. If the dose is mortal the breathing becomes painful, anxiety, the mouth contracts, slavers, the tongue swells, the teeth clench, and the victim falls in a coma to die in some hours.

Dr. Calmette keeps a stock of snakes at Lille, and extracts the venom by pressing the jaw. It falls into a watch glass, and when dried to preserve it, resembles brayed design. The snakes are fed by introducing raw eggs into their stomachs, if, as usual, they refuse to eat. Solutions of the dry venom in salt water (1 per cent in strength) are made, and used in the experiments. Rabbits and other animals are inoculated with increasing doses for several months until they become immune to doses 200 times greater than a mortal dose.

A horse after six months can stand venom enough to kill 200 horses not vaccinated. Horses furnish the anti-toxic serum for inoculating against snake-bite, and six or eight litres of blood can be drawn from them every two or three weeks. This yields two to three litres of active serum. The serum is exported to all countries where poisonous snakes abound, especially India, Australia, and South America. Some ten to twenty cubic centimetres of it simply injected with a large hypodermic syringe under the skin of the abdomen, where it is easily absorbed, are efficacious if the patient is not yet in a state of asphyxia.—London Globe.
