ACCIDENT INSURANCE

Another Suit to be Entered Against an Insuring Association,

TO RECOVER THE TARDY BENEFITS

The Domestic Troubles of the McGearys Recalled by a Decision.

GENERAL NEWS OF THE COUNTY COURTS

Thomas H. Davis, Esq., has prepared the papers and will this morning file them in the case of Joseph Mickel vs the Peoples' Mutual Accident Insurance Association of Pittsburg. On the 18th of July, 1887, the defendant company issued to plaintiff a policy, or certificate, of membership, agreeing to pay to him $15 a week "if he should sustain bodily injuries which, independent of all other causes, should prevent him from prosecuting his regular occupation, and to pay him the same sum during the continuance of such total disability as would immediately follow the accident—not to exceed, however, 26 consecutive weeks from the time of accident."

The plaintiff is a glass blower and sets forth that on the 29th of October, 1887, while engaged in his regular and ordinary occupation, cut the forefinger of his left hand on a glass cylinder and was wholly disabled during 21 weeks, and butresses his statement by offers to show by medical men that such was the case; that he forwarded to the proper agent of the insurance company the proper proofs and demanded the weekly benefits; that he was informed by the Secretary that the papers had been held under advisement, and that they were so held until June 23, 1888, when plaintiff was informed by the Secretary that the claim had been rejected by the company, and that during the time mentioned he, plaintiff, received two letters stating that his claim was still under advisement and no intimation since he claims $345 with interest, etc., amounting in all to about $400.

There is a provision in the policy making a death worth something like $5,000 to the representatives of the deceased, but interest hinges on certain other provisions in the policy.

A TRAGIC HISTORY.

The Domestic Troubles of the McGearys Recalled by a Decision.

About ten years ago Henry McGeary died, leaving an estate valued at from $150,000 to $200,000. His heirs were a widow and four sons, Henry S., Marshall H., A. L., and Frank McGeary. A few years later, and before the estate had been settled up, the widow died, leaving an estate worth about $50,000. One of the sons, Henry S. McGeary, was administrator of the estates of both his father and mother. Afterward one of the sons, A. L. McGeary, died, unmarried, as it was supposed. Henry S. took out letters of administration in his estate and an amicable division of it was made between the surviving brothers. This was followed by Frank McGeary becoming insolvent and his share in the different estates was purchased by his two brothers.

Two years after the death of A. L. McGeary a woman, claiming to be Kate McGeary, the widow of A. L., came forward and presented a will purporting to have been made by her husband, and leaving all his estate to her. While the family had known of relations between A. L. McGeary and this woman they were not aware of the marriage and contested the will. The case went to the Supreme Court and was finally decided in favor of the widow. She recovered $25,000 from Henry S. McGeary, as administrator of her husband's estate.

The day after the decision of the Supreme Court in the case was announced Henry S. McGeary committed suicide by shooting himself. This was followed shortly afterward by the suicide of Marshall H. McGeary, who also shot himself. The widow of Henry S. McGeary took out letters of administration for the estate of her husband and instituted proceedings against the estate of Marshall H. McGeary to recover the share of A. L. McGeary's estate which Henry S., as administrator, afterward had to refund to the widow of A. L.

In this case Judge Over yesterday made a decree ordering the estate of Marshall H. to pay $6,759 69 to the estate of Henry S. McGeary. The case will probably be taken to the Supreme Court.

The Parochial Schools.

An answer was filed yesterday to the bill in equity entered by Thomas Maxwell, against the school directors of the First ward and Rev. Morgan M. Sheedy, relative to routing a portion of the public school building to Father Sheedy. The defendants in their answer deny that Thomas Maxwell, the plaintiff, is a resident of the First ward. They further deny that the use of the said rooms is exclusive of or in any manner interferes with any use which could possibly be made thereby for public school purposes by the said school directors.

Grand Jury Work.

The grand jury yesterday returned the following true bills:

George W. Backofen and Agnes Taylor, assault and battery; James Moorhead, nuisance. The following bills were ignored: P McIneirny, Peter McGovern, and Link Morganroth, assault and battery; Anna King, assault; Jacob Needy, false pretense; Elizabeth Johnston, selling liquor without license to minors and on Sunday; N. C. Cowan, nuisance.

Use Horsford's Acid Phosphate.

TO ELEVATE THE NEWSIES.

An Official's Idea of Licensing and Overseeing the Kids—Councils Will Try to Break Up the Syndicates.

The newsboys are to be elevated, not by the toe of a boot, as many would suppose, but by Chief Brown with the aid of Councils. The plan is the same as that in vogue in other large cities, and will be submitted to Councils at next meeting.

The newsies will be registered, numbered and duly licensed, and those not licensed cannot sell. Those under 8 years cannot receive a license, nor can those who are unable to read and write. They will have badges and be under police surveillance. The bootblacks will probably be included also.

In a talk yesterday Chief Brown said that both boys and newspapers would be benefited, for the former would be protected and the latter would receive more reliable service. He said some boys now selling are scarcely 5 years of age, but the worst feature is that many are controlled by a syndicate of Hebrews or Italians who pay them a few cents for selling. The boys are frequently so ill-treated they fear to go home.

He proposes to pay some attention to the syndicates and some certain inhuman parents. He wishes to compel them to send their children to school if he possibly can.

HOW PEOPLE ARE ROBBED.

The Dangerous Game Played on Charles Wolfe.

William Jasper, who was charged with robbing Charles Wolfe, a butcher of Apollo, Pa., in a house on Clay alley about two weeks ago, had a hearing before Alderman Gripp yesterday, and was committed to jail, in default of $1,000, for a hearing in court. Mr. Wolfe was present, and testified that he had met Jasper when he was in the city two weeks ago. The latter enticed him to the house, where Jasper and a colored woman in the house succeeded in stealing $165 in gold, some paper money and a gold watch and chain from him.

Wolfe admits the crime, and says the woman was to receive half the money, but that he has not settled with her.

TO START AT ONCE.

The Western University Building Scheme Acted Upon Yesterday.

The Board of Trustees of the Western University met yesterday to hear the report of the committee appointed in June last to arrange for erecting a school building. A report was made as to the observations made in other cities. At its conclusion the matter was discussed, and at the committee's request it was decided to go ahead at once with the new building.

The committee was continued with instructions to proceed at once and procure plans and specifications.

The resignation of Prof. Dause, the Professor of French, was read and accepted.

RAPID TRANSIT.

On a Road Where the Cable Has Not Been Introduced.

The team attached to car No. 43 on the Pittsburg, Allegheny and Manchester road, took fright yesterday afternoon on Beaver avenue, near Brady street, Allegheny, and run off. When near Washington avenue the team and car collided with one of Clark's sand wagons with such force that the wagon was nearly demolished and the street car mules were thrown to the ground.

The dash-board of the car was broken and the driver, Thomas Williams, had his leg crushed. One of the mules will have to be shot.

THAT FATAL ONE CENT.

The Recovery of His Money Too Much for a Court Litigant.

Prosperity was too much for George James, the man from whom $14 01 was stolen a few days ago. The court returned the money to him and imprisoned the thief for three months. George began to celebrate the event, ending in the Central station with a charge of drunkenness and $7 46 about him, with that fatal one cent, with which he couldn't buy anything worth while. His costs will probably be $4 54, leaving him with two dollars and that one cent with which to begin the world anew.

Down on the Scalpers.

In an interview at the Union depot yesterday, Judge Cooley, the head of the Inter-State Commission, who was on his way from Toledo to Washington, remarked that he hoped all railroad companies would cease to pay commissions for the sale of railroad tickets, and so do away with scalpers. He wants a law passed to that effect.

In Order

That our reputation of having the cleanest stock in the city be sustained, and to make room for the early spring importations, we have reduced prices in every department, the opportunities we offer for the next two weeks to secure a genuine bargain should not be neglected.

In our cloak department we have an elegant line to select from in long and short wraps, jackets, seal and plush garments, shawls, etc., which will be offered at about half price. These are not simply high-priced goods marked down, but were considered good value at original prices.

The cheapest line of dress goods in the city. English checks from 12½c (were 25c) per yard up to $1 50, to which price we have reduced those West of England suitings which were $2 50 and $3 per yard.

Black goods in great variety of weaves, both staple and fancy, silk warp and all wool, at very much lower prices than ever before offered.

Black and colored silks, of which we have a complete line of the best makes, also marked down. Our $1 black silk was $1 25, the $1 25 was $1 50—from these to highest priced, all reduced from 15 to 25 per cent. A special bargain in black faille Francaise at $1 50, which heretofore sold for $2 per yard.

A TAILOR'S JOKE.

How a Fifth Avenue Merchant Was Cured of Drinking.

A number of jokers, including several of the most prominent citizens of the Sixth ward, victimized a Fifth avenue tailor on Wednesday. On New Year's Day he got glorious and suspended business. The people residing in the vicinity were surprised early Wednesday morning by the appearance of a bow of crape upon the door of the small tailoring establishment. If there is one thing many of the Sixth warders like better than another it is a wake, and with visions of a rally flitting through their minds they stepped closer to the door to read the inscription over the crape: It was as follows:

Died——; born in County Tipperary, Ireland. Notice of funeral in Presbyterian Banner.

The tailor is not a Presbyterian, and when he read the latter part of the notice his ire arose. He got so mad that he said he would sign the pledge.
