FAITH IN PITTSBURG

Expressed by a Gentleman Who Is a Champion of the Whaleback.

A POSSIBLE CLYDE OF THE OHIO.

Boats That Could Be Built Right Here Cheaply and With Profit.

THE POOR WAGES OF FOREIGN SAILORS

A gentleman said yesterday: "The articles published in THE DISPATCH regarding whaleback ships, last week, have stirred up interest in New York as well as in Pittsburg. If Pittsburg loses the opportunity of making the Ohio river the Clyde of the Western Continent, it will be the fault of those of her citizens who have the means to make it so. I was in New York the other day, and having some time to spend on Sunday, went on board a sailing vessel, and finding an intelligent young Scotchman, a sailor apprentice, induced him to give me some points that might be valuable pointers for manufacturers of this city. The vessel was a large one and complete in her appointments and carried a large crew. She sails between New York and Australia. I discovered that the vessel had been built at Greenock. Her carrying capacity is 2,100 tons, and she cost £30,000, $125,200 in our money.

THE COST OF A WHALEBACK.

"I have investigated the whaleback business somewhat, and know that one of 4,000 tons capacity can be built in Pittsburg for $50,000, or rather less, perhaps, as the freight on steel plates to Duluth would be saved. Just here it struck me that if the United States expects within anything like a reasonable time to get back its share of the carrying trade of the world, it must come about by having these vessels built where they can be put out the cheapest. I broached the subject to a man who has a considerable stake in a line of vessels plying between New York and the West Indies and the Isthmus. He was rather inclined to disparage the whaleback. He admitted that he knew but little about it. I found his opposition to be that which might be expected from one who had a large amount of capital in a line of steamers whose business would be badly hurt were the whalebacks to be turned out numerously.

"You see, there is almost $100 000 difference between the cost of the sailing vessel I spoke of, built on the Clyde, and a whaleback built at Duluth, and in following the idea indicated Pittsburg might equal, if not surpass the world."

MONEY SAVED IN A CREW.

"Then, too, the whaleback costing $50,000 will carry 4,000 tons, while the Clyde-built vessel, costing three times as much, carries only 2,100 tons, and must carry a much larger crew. While the Mentmore had 20 of a crew in her voyage to Liverpool, 14 will answer. Now, you see taking the cost of the two vessels, the whaleback has the advantage in saving $8,000 a year in interest, and her carrying capacity being double and her crew less, you can see that it is only a matter of a little arithmetic to demonstrate that the whaleback could pay even American wages and drive the regulation freighter off the ocean, without taking into computation the value of saving of time, and her coal consumption is but 12 tons a day. Why, the extra two armed out earned almost their entire cost in a year.

"We need to build cheaper vessels, and of greater carrying capacity, than our European rivals. Why, I was astonished to learn the low rates at which seamen are hired in English ports. The young Scotchman with whom I talked told me that he was apprenticed for four years to learn the business of a sailor, and for this four years of service he will get £30, $145 30 of our money, $36 30 a year, or $3 02½ a month—or rather, he will have gotten that much in clothing.

A SNAP FOR THE SHIPOWNER.

"He said he must furnish his own clothing, and it was made by a tailor kept on board, and he also got his shoes from the company, and he and all the apprentices were in debt for their raiment, and would be when their time was out. He said it he were sure of employment in Pittsburg he would desert the ship, but he seemed to have very confused ideas of what a landsman's duties might be, having never known anything except ships, docks, etc. I learned that the wages of an able seaman on this ship were £3, 10s. per month, $16 92 in our money, and for this paltry sum, less than is paid a common laborer on a farm, Jack works like a slave and braves the perils of the deep.

"Of course we cannot expect to get American sailors for such money—able seamen—but as I have above outlined, much of the handicap can be removed by building cheaper vessels, of greater carrying capacity, and the whaleback is the school, the freighter afloat and the most buoyant. The vessels could be built here and loaded lightly and sent to sea via New Orleans, and whether we ever saw them again would make no difference so long as they were earning money in other parts of the world.

THEM FAITH IN PITTSBURG.

"I firmly believe that if yards were established for their building here the sound of the workmen's hammers would never cease, and that commercial depression would never be seriously felt in the business, for I am confident that within a few years, perhaps a few months, the building of the old line freighters will cease forever. These already built will be worn out in the most profitable manner possible, and Pittsburg possesses facilities for building the Mississippi that I believe are unsurpassed by any city in the world, and our inland situation protects us from possible disaster and interference in the event of war with other powers."

SOME COURT HOUSE CHANGES

Rendered Necessary by the Creation of the New Common Pleas Branch.

Carpenters are busy at work in the Prothonotary's office, making alterations and putting in new desks, rendered necessary by the creation of Common Pleas No. 3. There will be three docket clerks' desks, with additional book racks, paper files, etc.

More aggrunous is also required for the business of Common Pleas courts 1 and 2, which has not diminished in the least since the new court was established. The work will cost $5,000.

Married in London.

News has been received here of the marriage, July 22, by special license, of John Noble Barlow, of Providence, R. I., to Elizabeth, daughter of the late Andrew Armstrong Johnston, of Westmoreland county, this State. The event occurred at Westry Hall, Grosvenor Square, London. The bride is a niece of Mr. O. Fitz, of this city, and a cousin of the late District Attorney Johnston. She went to Paris about a year ago to study art. Her husband is also an artist.

THE invalid must be fed in order that the resisting and recuperative powers be sustained. But this does not mean that ordinary food should be given. The most nutritious and easily digestible food must be used. Mellin's Food possesses both these requirements.

IT IS BLAINE!

Malicious Tips Given Out by Envious Rivals Help Rather Than Hinder the New Town.

Blaine, on the Monongahela, advances too rapidly to suit every taste. A slow-going "settlement," attracting little notice, would have escaped the malicious efforts of Blaine's enemies. But the unexampled sales of lots going on in the new town, named after the great Secretary, seem to have aroused feelings of jealousy that find expression in false and senseless rumors. In the meantime, confident in her unrivaled position, reassured by daily evidence of public preference, and content with the progress she is making, Blaine goes steadily forward, never doubting her destiny, or that her lot buyers will be enriched, while investors in the lands of malignant competitors are wasting their dollars. Parties of visitors are taken up every day on the 12:05 P. M train, Pittsburg and Lake Erie Railroad, returning by the train that reaches the city at 5:05 P. M.

TWO STREET CARS COLLIDE.

An Ineffective Brake Causes an Accident That Might Have Been Worse.

A Fifth avenue cable car collided with a Duquesne motor car at the corner of Fifth avenue and Grant street at 7 o'clock yesterday morning, wrecking the latter and delaying traffic for half an hour.

The Duquesne car had arrived at the crossing first and was signaled to go ahead by the flagman, Charles Wangalen. When the car was about half way over the crossing it was struck by car No. 38 of the Fifth avenue line, the gripman of which narrowly escaped serious injury. An investigation proved that the brake of the Fifth avenue car had gotten out of order on the way down from Oakland, and that it was impossible to stop it in time to prevent the accident.

FINDINGS OF THE CORONER.

A Number of Mysterious Deaths Under Consideration Yesterday.

In the case of John L. Rhine, killed by the cars at Stewart station, the verdict was arrived at yesterday that death was due to his own neglect. Alcoholism was ascribed as the cause of the death of Patrick O'Donnell, who died at the Homeopathic Hospital Monday night. The remains found floating in the Monongahela river on Tuesday had not been identified and that case was continued. The husband of Mrs. Wilson, the lady who died from the effects of heat at the Market house, had not arrived from Vicksburg, and that case was also continued to await positive identification.

A SPLENDID BUSINESS OPPORTUNITY

Presents Itself to Contractors, Housebuilders and Real Estate Investors

AT M'KEESPORT, PA.

All the works in this lively young city are in full operation and business men are preparing for booming fall season. But one complaint is heard and that is scarcity of houses.

The Boston Iron and Steel Company, a new feeder to the immense National Tube Works, has completed its new extensive works and has employed 200 iron workers, and will employ as many more in the near future.

The new Monongahela Blast Furnaces are now in full operation, employing about 300 newly arrived workers.

The United States Iron and Tin Plate Manufacturing Co. are doubling their capacity, and the W. Dewees Wood Company has made and is yet making very large extensions. About 1,000 newcomers, with their families, must be furnished with home and shelter. The Highland Land Company, limited, owns a large plan of lots within four or five minutes' walk from these immense establishments, on a healthful elevation, easily accessible by paved street, and supplied with water and light from the city of McKeesport. On this hill is a large grove of magnificent forest trees (Highland Grove), partly used as a public park, and the view from the hill into the valley is one of the if not the finest along the beautiful Monongahela valley. Highland Grove already has a population of from 1,000 to 2,000 people, who are employed in the older establishments. The Highland Land Company, limited, is composed of liberal-minded men They were the cause of securing for McKeesport the Boston Iron and Steel Works, by making the company a donation of $20,000 worth of real estate, and they have spent large sums for improving streets and opening squares for public use. The Highland Land Company, limited, is now ready to make liberal arrangements with people who will come and build houses for themselves or for the employes in the works, or with business men who will come and build business houses for the accommodation of the people.

WILL TAKE HIS TIME.

Chief Brown Is Not in a Hurry to Appoint a Head for the Fire Department—He Talks Entertainingly About His Trip to the Dakotas.

The appointment of a fire chief will not be made for several days, and Chief Brown, whose duty it is to make the selection, said yesterday that he did not know positively who the man would be, though several newspapers seemed to be fully informed on the subject.

"I have four men under consideration," said Mr. Brown to a DISPATCH reporter last evening, "and have not yet definitely settled which one it will be. There are several men whom I desire to consult before the appointment is made. I want to have a talk with Mr. Evans, who is still nominally Chief. He is attending the annual convention of chief engineers at Springfield, Mass., but I expect him home to-morrow or Thursday. I also want to have a talk with Mr. McCandless and several members of the Underwriters' Board before the man is named."

Mr. Brown and Mayor Gourley held a conference of considerable length yesterday, but both said that the subject of the appointment of a chief was not under consideration. Chief Brown comes home from the Dakotas wearing a healthy sun-tanned countenance, and talks quite interestingly concerning his recent trip. The crops in the far Northwest, he says, have not been overestimated, and the traveler becomes weary of the monotony of grain fields. For hundreds of miles the country through which he passed, he says, presents almost an unbroken harvest field, the wheat that is unthrashed still standing in shock. He met many Chicago wheat speculators, who are thick on the ground in the Dakota, Iowa and Nebraska wheat country. They are buying up the crops as they stand in the field, and, as is usual in that country, advance to the farmers 50 per cent or more on the purchase price. The ruling prices there for wheat in the field is 65 cents a bushel, or 20 cents less than it is worth in Chicago.

RESTRAINING MR. KINNEY.

The Canadian Courts Forbid the Negotiation of the Wood Note.

H. H. Kinney, the sharp who, it is claimed, swindled Captain John A. Wood out of a note for $6,991 25, is not having a rosy time since his arrest in Canada. THE DISPATCH received the following special from its representative in Toronto last night:

"To-day Judge Street issued a peremptory order restraining Hubert H. Kinney, his solicitors, agents and all other persons in Canada from negotiating a note for $6,991 25, said to have been obtained by fraud and forgery from John A. Wood, of Pittsburg. A new coloring has been given to the promissory note transaction, and Kinney will have to stand his trial for this as well as the charge of embezzlement."
