☞ FROM THE RICHMOND WHIG.—MR EDITOR: It is a saying of an intimate friend of mine, that there is an economy that does not always save. This truth of this I had especially verified when recently on a visit to your city. I was desirous to test the Daguerrean art, and to procure a few likenesses of myself to carry back to my friends. Having heard much of the dollar pictures, and wanting several likenesses, I felt in rather an economical mood, and determined to try them.—But what was my chagrin and disappointment when I could obtain nothing better than caricatures, even after repeated trials. The operator was doubtless as anxious as myself to make them a little better; but the fault was principally in the fixtures and an excess of light. No wishing him to lose his time and labor, I paid him for his trouble, and bought out Mr. Whitehurst's Gallery, whose pictures I had seen and approved. I found it well arranged and furnished, and had the satisfaction soon to obtain three excellent pictures with which my friends were much delighted, and all pronounced them perfect. Hereafter I intend to say to all my acquaintances, avoid the dollar pictures, and apply to Whitehurst, if you wish a good likeness, and thus save your money.
Yours, &c.

☞ WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY. The New York Evening Mirror of October 21st, says: "We are so much in the habit of taking or puffing medicines, though we believe little about them than swallow them, any day. But this Balsam of Wild Cherry is so near one of Nature's own pure preparations, and has effected such extraordinary cures under our immediate knowledge, that we are bound in justice and truth to chronicle its virtues, and publish its fame to the world. We have neither time nor inclination to report the particulars of a cure it has effected for one of the compositors in the office of the Mirror; and we can only refer those afflicted with Coughs and Lung Complaints, to directions and testimonials."

The undersigned, feeling grateful for the relief afforded by the use Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, deems that it is but an act of justice to say, that but for the use of that valuable remedy, his wife, long afflicted with what she and all others considered Consumption, would have probably been, ere this, in her grave. But the dangerous and unpleasant symptoms have been removed by the use of a few bottles, and she now attends to her daily usual avocations as usual.

He is of black complexion, can read and write, and is good at cards. Simon has been hired for many years on the James River and Kanawha Improvements, and for two years under Messrs. AMELIA LAND FOR SALE.
I DESIRE to sell my plantation lying in Amelia county, upon the Appomattox river, at Bevell's bridge. The farm contains 600 Acres, about 400 of which is cleared, and for the most part good land. The improvements are ample and in good repair. It is distant from Richmond about 30 miles, and from Petersburg something less, while it is convenient to the Danville and the Clover Hill Railroads—the river likewise furnishes a cheap and ready access to market. The neighborhood is pleasant and agreeable. My intention is to sell, and persons wishing to buy, are invited to view the premises.

FARMERS READ!!—ANHYDROUS GYPSUM.
(Copy.) LONDON, April 24, 1845.
ANALYSIS and Chemical examination of a sample of Anhydrite or Anhydrous, (dry) Gypsum or Sulphate of Lime, for Mr. GEO. DUNCAN, Truro, Nova Scotia, by ANDREW URE, M. D., F. R. S., Professor of Chemistry.
SPECIFIC Gravity: 2.85, being the medium density of the Mineral as stated by the best Mineralogists.

100 parts of the Sample consist of—
Pure Sulphate of Lime, without water	95
Oxide of Iron,	2
Muriate of Soda, (Chloride of Sodium)	1
Moisture in the pores of the Mineral,	2
	100

The above Composition resembles the Anhydrite of the Tyrol, in containing 1 pr. cent of Common Salt. In ordinary Gypsum, there are 21 per cent. of water, so that the above is proportionably richer as a Manure, especially for mixing with Guano; for fixing its loose Ammonia, and of supplying to soils the Gypsum so useful to the growth of Clovers, and of all leguminous plants. The 95 parts of Sulphate of Lime, (present in 100 of the sample,) consist of about 39 of Lime, and 56 of Sulph—95.
(Signed,) ANDREW URE.

ANHYDROUS GYPSUM.
This newly discovered Manure which has been found to have wonderful properties in promoting vegetation, is now offered for sale in this city. Its effects upon growing crops are surprising, and it preserves them from the ravages of insects. A single trial will establish its virtues. The following certificates are from parties well known in this country:
Wm. Clarke, Esq, of Belmont, communicates: "Two experiments were tried on the same day, done by sowing the Swedish and Aberdeen Turnip, and using as a manure, Anhydrous Gypsum; and the other by sowing a part of the same seed on Lands adjoining, and using stable manure. The result was follows: Where the Anhydrous Gypsum was used the plants were up two days earlier, and are in perfect health. The others after coming up were all cut off by the fly. The introduction of this new Manure for agricultural purposes should not be overlooked, as it evidently forces vegetation, and protects it from being destroyed by insects.
Turnips are cultivated largely in England for feeding of Stock.—Mr. Jas. Copeland of Colchester, N. S., is an English Practical Farmer, who understands the cultivation of that root thoroughly—was induced to try the Anhydrous Gypsum on Turnip plants that were up from 3 to 4 inches high, in consequence of their not appearing thrifty. He strewed the Anhydrous Gypsum all through the drills round the plant, and in eight or ten days a great change took place, for the better, and the result was finally an uncommon large growth of turnips, many of them weighing 17 lbs. each, and surpassing any crop that he ever saw in England. (Truro, 1846.)
A. M. Cochran, Esq., of Maitland, Nova Scotia. Having used Anhydrous Gypsum by strewing it on the top of stable manure, in drills, and laying the seed (or cut potatoes) in the usual manner, an extraordinary growth ensued. He tried potatoes in drills adjoining, with stable manure alone, and a great disparity of growth followed.
It has been ascertained by Scotch Chemists that the hard brown substance that forms in potatoes when diseased, is ammonia, which has been called rot.
Manures generally, such as stable Manure, Guano, &c., are carbonates, and are non conductors of electricity. When the atmosphere is in a certain state, and drought ensues, the circulation of succulent matter is checked and the potatoe then becomes diseased—by using Anhydrous Gypsum alone, or combining it with stable manure, or Guano, the plant receives its nutriment from sulphate of Ammonia, which is a conductor of electricity, and gives the electric action to the plant, which ensures health and vigor, and prevents rot. The instructions should be closely attended to—many experiments have been tried on various flowers, roots, and particularly onions, by merely strewing round the flowers and on the beds on the surface of the soil. All have been successful.
Thos. J. Brown, Esq., of Colchester, used the Anhydrous Gypsum on very poor grass land, and it gave an uncommon crop of grass years in succession.
Owing to the chemical compound of this mineral, there is little doubt as to its being an invaluable introduction to the agriculturist.

HERE IS YOUR REMEDY!
HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT.
A most miraculous cure of Bad Legs, after 33 years' suffering.
EXTRACT of a Letter from Mr. William Gibson, of 70, Saint Mary's street, Weymouth, dated May 15th, 1851.
To Professor Holloway:
Sir—At the age of 18, my wife, (who is now 61,) caught a violent cold, which settled in her legs, and ever since that time they have been more or less sore, and greatly inflamed. Her agonies were the tracting, and for months together, she was deprived entirely of rest and sleep. Every remedy that medical men advised was tried, but without effect; her health suffered severely, and the state of her legs was terrible. I had often read your advertisements, and advised her to try your Pills and Ointment; and, as a last resource, after every other remedy had proved useless, she consented to do so. She commenced six weeks ago, and, strange to relate, is now in good health.—Her legs are painless, without seam or scar, and her sleep sound and undisturbed. Could you have witnessed the sufferings of my wife during the last 33 years, and contrast them with her present enjoyment of health, you would indeed feel delighted in having been the means of greatly alleviating the sufferings of a fellow creature.
(Signed,) WM GILPIN.
A PERSON 70 YEARS OF AGE CURED OF A BAD LEG, OF THIRTY YEARS' STANDING.
Copy of a Letter from Mr William Abbs, Builder of Gas Ovens, of Rushcliffe, near Huddersfield, dated May 31st, 1851.
To Professor Holloway:
Sir—I suffered for a period of thirty years from a bad leg, the result of two or three different accidents at Gas Works; accompanied by scorbutic symptoms. I had recourse to a variety of medical advice, without deriving any benefit, and was even told that the leg must be amputated, yet, in opposition to that opinion, your Pills and Ointment have effected a complete cure in so short a time, that few who had not witnessed it, would credit the fact.
(Signed.) WILLIAM ABBS.
The truth of this statement can be verified by Mr. W. P. England, Chemist, 13, Market Street, Huddersfield.
A DREADFUL BAD BREAST CURED IN ONE MONTH.
Extract of a Letter from Mr Frederick Turner, of Penhurst, Kent dated December 13th, 1850.
To Professor Holloway:
Dear Sir—My wife had suffered from Bad Breasts for more than six months, and during the whole period, had the best medical attendance, but all to no use. Having before healed an awful wound in my own leg with your unrivalled medicine, I determined again to use your Pills and Ointment, and therefore gave them a trial in breast, and fortunate it was I did so, for in less than a month a perfect cure was effected, and to the benefit that various other branches of my family have derived from their use is really astonishing. I now strongly recommend them to all my friends.
(Signed.) FREDERICK TURNER.

THIS next term of this institution will commence on the 1st of October. The course of study will embrace all the branches pertaining to a thorough English education, together with Ancient and Modern Languages. Last year more than 150 pupils were in attendance at the same time, but during the next term the number will be restricted to 100—twenty of whom will be received as boarders in the family of the Principal. Charge for board, washing and all usual accommodations for ten months, $220, as heretofore. Tuition in English, from $25 to $40; according to the advancement of the pupil. French, Spanish or Italian, $20; Latin, $15; Music, $7 per month. The German Language will be taught orally or by the usual method, to as many as may wish to acquire it, free of charge.
Rev. J. P. Safford will occupy the position which was filled by the Rev. W. J. Hoge last year. Mr. Safford is a gentleman of varied and accurate scholarship, and has had several years experience as an instructor in some of the best institutions in our country.
Young Ladies from the country, as well as from the city, are desired to be present on the first day of the session. It is often a serious inconvenience, and discouragement to a pupil to enter a class which has made even a week's progress.
Payments invariably in advance—one-half on the first of October, the other on the first of March.
UNIVERSITY OF VIRGINIA, Aug. 24, 1852.
Rev. M. D. Hoge—Dear Sir: I am gratified to learn that you have associated with you in your very flourishing School for Young Ladies, my friend and former pupil, Professor J. PAIGE SAFFORD.
Mr. Safford will make a worthy successor to your late associate Rev. Wm. J. Hoge, now called to another field of usefulness.
I have ever regarded Mr. S. as a gentleman of superior talents and his varied efforts and uniform success as an instructor, leaves no room for doubt as to his entire success in connection with your institution.
Mr. S. is a ripe scholar. His extensive, accurate and varied attainments, scientific as well as literary, will enable him to bring to the task of training the mind and taste of young ladies much more than the ordinary advantages of even distinguished teachers.
Very respectfully, yours, &c., WM. H. MCGUFFEY.
Mr. Safford has my highest confidence as a scholar and gentleman.
JAMES W. ALEXANDER.

LAND AGENCY IN TEXAS.
THE subscribers, having been connected with the Land Offices of Texas for the last fifteen years, and acted as agents, in purchasing, selling, paying taxes from persons in cities, and giving a general superintendence to lands, and collecting debts in said State, respectfully offer their services to such persons as may wish to engage them.
Many forfeitures are about to accrue from failure to pay taxes. Claims otherwise good will be barred by adverse possession of three years, that being the limitation. Owing to some one of these, among other causes, the best lands are in a condition to be lost.
Having made it our business to become acquainted with all the laws relating to titles, and being determined to attend diligently to all claims confided to us, we require in all cases, an advance in cash sufficient to cover the expenses of investigation; when this shall be done, we are willing to take a continuing interest in the lands or attention and services.
