THURSDAY MORNING.....DEC. 13 1860.

RUSSIAN POLICY IN EUROPE—Important Semi-Official Declaration.—There is in the Invalide Russe an article upon the interview at Warsaw, which, coming from so important an organ of the Russian government, demands special attention.

The writer addresses himself to the subject of the statement, conveyed by telegraph to London, that at Warsaw questions had been put by Austria to Russia as to whether the latter would recognize what had passed in Italy; and secondly as to her attitude in case of Piedmont being supported by another power? Professing to discuss these questions in the light of mere hypotheses, the writer points to the withdrawal of the Russian embassy from Tourin, as proof of the dissatisfaction. But he goes on to argue that between blame of principles and refusal to recognize facts when they become accomplished there is a wide difference. If the "unification" of Italy should become a fact, through the will of twenty-four millions of people, there would be no good reason for refusing to recognize it, for it would not be possible to break off international relations with so important a portion of Europe. France had passed, within half a century, through various forms of government, which neither prevented recognition of actual Powers nor of the rights claimed by excluded heirs. With regard to the second question, referring to Venetia and the possible alliance of France and Piedmont, the writer remarks that France has already declared that should Piedmont attack Venice, she must do so upon her own responsibility. Accepting, however, the supposition of Venice being attacked, the writer observes that if the treaties of 1815 give Austria her claim to that province, the people, upon the other hand, speak in favor of Italy. Why should Europe, however, be called upon to interfere by force of arms in favor of Austria, and against the Italian population? The writer answers—The history of this province is known. To the end of the eighteenth century it was an independent Italian republic. Napoleon destroyed and seized it. When coalesced Europe vanquished the Emperor, Austria, in her turn, and by right of conquest, seized upon French possessions in Italy. To-day Venice desires to be annexed to Italy. Never, then, for the sake of preserving Venice to Austria, ought Europe to be required to begin a general war; and although we do not know the answer of the Northern Cabinets to the question of Austria, yet no one can doubt that Prussia, and still less Russia, not having any serious interest in Venice, cannot, consequently, ever make war on account of this province. This, assuredly, is conclusive upon the subject. Neither Russia nor Prussia will draw the sword for Austria on account of Venice. So no more need be said of the Warsaw meeting.

A Living WITNESS!
HOW HE CAME TO TRY HAMPTON'S TINCTURE. A WONDERFUL AND ASTOUNDING!
MESSRS. MORTIMER & MOWBRAY:
Having seen a certificate of a great cure of Scrofula, by Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, on a servant boy in the family of the Hon. Wm. P. Thomasson, of Kentucky, with certificates of the Hon. H. Clay and others, testifying to persons cured by it, I was also induced to try the Tincture on a servant girl of mine. Her disease was scrofula in its worst form; she was blind in both eyes, and her case was so bad that I never expected to see her restored. I procured the Tincture, and I am happy to say, before she had used one bottle she began to see, and by the time she had taken the second bottle her eyesight was quite restored, and she cured of this loathsome disease, and now, though two years have elapsed, she has had no return of the disease, and I consider her entirely cured by this tincture. I give this certificate that others may be induced, as I was, to try this most valuable remedy, as I believe, from what I have seen, it would cure most diseases of this kind.

Baker's Premium Bitters.
HENRICO COUNTY, Oct. 1, 1860.
E. BAKER, Esq.:
Dear Sir—My wife has been suffering with Dyspepsia and Nervous Affection for several years, during which time she was at times so low as to give all hopes of life, by her physician, as well as by her relatives and friends, were blasted. Finally, she commenced, in small quantities, the use of BAKER'S PREMIUM BITTERS, which, in the course of six weeks, by daily using them, restored her to perfect health. I am equally gratified to state that my child about eight years old, was long suffering with the Diarrhœa, attended badly by an able physician, without giving any relief, but the use of one bottle of these DELICIOUS BITTERS restored him entirely to health and vigor. It is my firm opinion, substantiated by that of my family physician's, that BAKER'S PREMIUM BITTERS is the best medicine now before the public for the above-mentioned diseases.
Yours, most truly, P. W. J. QUARLES.

I have not discontinued business on account of the failing of my store. I am now located at the house adjoining my old stand, next door to C. W. Purcell & Co.'s Brokers' Office, and near Governor, on Main street, No. 125, where I would be pleased to meet my old customers, and the customers generally. Those in the habit of giving me their orders for FALL CLOTHING, will do me a favor to wait until I can call on them, or leave word at my store when to call on them, and all orders in my line will be as promptly attended to as heretofore. I have not, and do not intend to, discontinue business for any such cause. Call and see me, at 125 Main street. [au 23—ts] WM. IRA SMITH.

A CARD.—We very earnestly request customers and others, who have our BAGS, to send them to us full of grain, if ready to send it, or empty, if not ready. We are suffering great inconvenience for want of our Bags that are idle in various hands who have neglected to return them. In a short time we must make up bag accounts and charge the holders with them. When we send bags to any person, they should be returned promptly.
Much of the wheat we receive is damp. Farmers ought to dry it at home. Barns, granaries and "all out of doors" are too cold enough to spread it in. Farmers lose immensely by inattention to this point.
We have fallen on perilous times, when debt is fearful. Filling orders for grain, &c., on the faith of brown paper, won't do for those who want to buy them on time. A safe principle of individual economy is to make money before we spend it.

THE WEDDING RING is emblematic of the marriage relation. Gold will wear out by friction, abrasion, &c.; but never rusts—never tarnishes—is always bright. Thus, with life, the Ring is without end; so likewise is the union without interruption or end, except by the death of the parties.
The Wedding Ring being plain, shows that the fair one to whom it is given is, in the estimation of the giver, the most perfect and loveable of her sex, needing not the foreign aid of ornament to render her just the woman for him to love and cherish all his days.
