TUESDAY EVENING ..... 20 1861.

[From the Southern Field and Fireside.]

The Dying Soldier.

Lay him down gently where shadows lie still Below by the side of the bright mountain rill,
Where spread the one of grass the velvet chosen,
A covering each for repose to secure;
Where opening flowers their fragrance breathe
From every stem, and where lingering wreaths,
And fluttering leaves their murmurous song
In chorus are chanting the bright summer long—

Lay him where young hero. See, from his side Flows slowly the current whose dark pulsing life
Is ebbing away the bright sands of life,
A decay of fever this wilder me of strife.
Fresh breezes his fest disturbed are
Over his face, where the light no the sky;
Oh! let him rest in the bosom spreading dome
Till he shall arise in angelic, "Oh! take—take me home."

Lay him far away o'er mountain and fen
Where the mellow flute no fall enter again;
Where no more shall he to welcome in joy
Rush with a proud yet gay joy on child,
And wish d back the eyes while your lip sadly sing

Lay him with the thought that we never more
Shall see the loved one dwelling eternity's shore!
Lay him where we shall feel by our tears
Kiss and weep. No them 'dew of ye re,
Fresh dew of death mingle in the blue
The sighing grave. Mind last by the Lay him where the sun in the heath
The school-boy, as he with mus cand on the Lay him where by my side there lies Lay him where I shall mingle my name with the man.

Lay him where fair cheek whiter still grew
And lips, which I shall my at last adieu!
Lay him where I shall Then raising his hand,
Lay him for the smiling lips band,
Lay him for the smiling lips band,
Lay him where I shall over his face
The shadows of death seemed stealing
Lay him where I shall farewell—my battles are o'er,
I shall never more well rally no more!
Lay him where I shall see my country is free,
Lay him where I shall rise, earth fades from my sight,
Lay him where I shall closing on his long dreamers sigh.

Lay him where a bright mel sin today,
On the wings of angels his soul is away.
Where long ones are bowed—to angelic they
Over head of lies fir, in des h' out to sleep.
Lay him where the weep—weep! I bid you weep,
And a tear shed over the young martyr's grave.

When, heart of the South—weep, maiden and wife,
Wreath darkly with cypress, love's bright mystic
Weep for the Hero, so brave and so free,
Who by his byle death 1 life to good for thee!

ASTRONOMICAL PREDICTION VERIFIED.—Soon after the Halley comet appeared here, on the 1st of July of the next comet, the astronomers unanimously announced as the result of the r calculations respecting its orbit, that it must have been a bright and conspicuous object to eyes in the Southern hemisphere during the month of June. This prediction has been confirmed by a letter from Dr. Moesta, Director of the Chilian National Observatory at Santiago, dated June 17, wherein he states that a bright comet had been visible there since the beginning of June. A comparison of its place in the heavens, as there observed, shows it to have been following the very path which astronomers had predicted it had done, after it became visible here. The prediction, with regard to its brilliancy and conspicuousness, the Southern stars has been triumphantly verified.

The Great Virginia Remedy, and no HUMBUG.—PETERS' INFALLIBLE REMEDY FOR GONNORHŒA AND ALL SECRET DISEASES.—This great American remedy, containing no Mercurial or Balsamic properties, excels everything heretofore offered the public in its curative, restorative and renovating powers, and the medical world are astonished when it is that the above remedy will cure the above diseases and confounded when they have ocular demonstrations of the facts. But the proprietor, who has known of the remedy for twenty-odd years, has known of a case of twenty years' standing to be restored to perfect health, and all but in cases of shorter duration to be restored, without a single exception, and therefore challenges any case of Gonorrhœa which the remedy will not cure, provided the directions are carried out with prudence on the part of the patient, and any one purchasing half a dozen bottles, and using according, in his or her case, he guarantees a perfect cure; and, in case of failure, will furnish additional medicine, free of charge, to complete the cure, through his agents; and a cure will be effected without inconvenience to the patient.

MISS MARY SCOFIELD, PRECEPTRESS, No. 232 SALTONSTAL STREET, BALTIMORE—"Dear Stranger has Relief."—This lady suffered for years with her old inflammatory Rheumatism in its most malignant form. She first contracted the disease when two years old, by being vaccinated with matter from a child that had the white swelling; from this time to womanhood her sufferings were extreme—she never had relief from pain until cured by HAMPTON'S TINCTURE.

[An Extract from the Letter.]

"I often wish my parents had known of this remedy when I was a child, as I believe I should have been saved the excruciating pain I have been subjected to, as well as the deformity of body must carry to the grave, and my parents would not have been under such heavy expenses from doctors' bills and in sending me, as they did, to be celebrated Springs in England in search of health. I wish all the afflicted world could see me and hear the benefits I have derived from this tincture of Hampton's. I try to make all acquainted with its virtues with whom I come in contact.

"Gentlemen, I am a thousand times obliged to you, and you are at liberty to use my name and also to tell.

"I remain yours in gratitude,

GREENHAW WOOLEN COMPANY,

OF THIS CITY,

organized last year, and in order to make such goods as would not compete with, but would rather aid other Southern manufactories by furnishing grades and styles of Goods that have never heretofore been made in Virginia, they fitted their mill with machinery of the best and finest quality. They are now manufacturing FINE CASSIMERES and CLOTHS of every variety, from Fine Virginia Merino and Merino Wool, and solicit the attention of the trade in the South to their goods. All who have seen their ARMY CLOTHS manufactured at first expressly for the Virginia Military institute, pronounce them at least equal if not superior in quality, to those they had been purchasing heretofore, and quite as cheap.

The Virginia State and Central Agricultural Societies, at their fair held in this city, in October last, awarded to this Company a GOLD MEDAL for their exhibition of Woolen Goods, which included some beautiful SHAWLS, BLANKETS, &c. Purchasers may rely upon every piece of Goods manufactured by us being what it is represented and under no circumstances will this Company be induced to work shoddy in their Goods, nor will they card any cotton with their wool.

TO THE PUBLIC.—Undoubtedly a report has been circulated that the Hot Springs have been converted into a military hospital and barracks for soldiers. The report is absolutely false. The establishment has been opened for the reception of visitors from north, east, and south, about twenty days. The proprietor is prepared to accommodate in the most comfortable manner, one thousand persons, and to furnish them with every delicacy the country affords. Visitors can have hourly communication with every portion of the south by means of the Telegraph, which passes through the centre of the Virginia and Tennessee Railroad, and connected by a railroad belonging to the company. They are in a region remote from the theatre of war—in no danger of invasion from any quarter—in the midst of a brave, loyal and faithful population, who have contributed so largely to the cause of the South which is liberally and patriotism unsurpassed.
