(For the Richmond Dispatch.)

The Policy of the Yankee Government—The Beautiful City of Richmond—How its Fall can be Avoided.

RICHMOND, VA., May 12, 1862.

I think the policy of the whining, hypocritical, psalm singing Yankee nation is now about settled. It is to subjugate the South, rob her people of all their property, of every sort, for the purpose of paying the almost fabulous Yankee national debt, and to drive all true Southern men into exile. To carry out this stupendous scheme of subjugation and robbery, it is important for the invaders to obtain possession of this city, and for the purpose of accomplishing this object a powerful, or at least a numerous army, under the command of the most skillful of Yankee Generals, is now actually within twenty-five miles of the Capital of the Confederate states of America. If Richmond should fall into the hands of the enemy, such fall, although not fatal to the cause of Southern liberty and independence, would be a terrible blow to our cause, from the staggering effect of which it would require millions of treasure and oceans of the best blood of the land to recover. Then it seems to me that every effort in the power of the Government and people of the Confederate States, and especially of the people of the beautiful city of Richmond, should be made to drive back the insolent invader of our soil from our homes and our firesides.

Between the city of Richmond and the Yankee army of invasion is an army of Southern men, as brave and true-hearted soldiers as ever trod the field of battle in any country, or in any age of the world. Before Richmond can be desecrated by the tread of the insolent Yankee invader, this army of brave Southrons must be overcome. I believe that this southron army is almost invincible. I know that it will never permit the foe to reach this city until it is annihilated by overwhelming numbers. If it not, then, of the utmost importance, if we would save Richmond, and save the lives of the brave men of the army of the Peninsula, that every available able-bodied man should be brought into the great battle which seems to be impending. Property and liberty depend, in an immense degree, upon the result of the battle to be fought near this city within a few days, and which is liable to be precipitated at any moment, and yet you will find the extensive hotels and boarding houses, the splendid saloons, places of amusement, and the beautiful streets and public grounds of this beautiful city, all crowded with soldiers and able-bodied men capable of bearing arms. Thousands of these men are now here, while their brave companions in arms are enduring the hardships and privations of the camp, fighting almost daily, and liable to be brought into a general engagement with the enemy at any moment, which may decide the fate of Richmond.

If the beautiful city of Richmond should be lost, like many other unfortunate beauties, her attractions will be the cause of her fall.—With the aid of the stalwart men, who have been allured from the camp by the seductive attractions of this beautiful city, Gen. Johnston can drive the Yankee army from the Peninsula, or make them prisoners.

MARION.

The Gunboat Fund.

CULPEPER, May 3rd, 1862.

To the Editors of the Dispatch:

I have watched with the deepest interest the success of the Ladies' Gunboat Association, and wishing to aid in so glorious a cause, I, in company with mother and Miss Morris, went around the village to see if others would not like to cast in their mite with ours, and the result has been that all responded most willingly; though the donations have been small from each individual, yet under the circumstances they did well.—The General Hospital of the Potomac army has been in our midst since the beginning of the struggle, and the people have generously contributed, both with their time and purse, to alleviate the sufferings of the sick. Now that we are about to be left in the enemy's line, this may probably be the last aid we can extend to our brave defenders. We regret the sum is so small. Would that it could have been thousands. May the gunboat the ladies are aiding, like the Virginia, her predecessor, be the cynosure of all eyes and the admiration of the world. And the storms of battle may she ride the tempest without damage, and sink the Lincoln fleet fathoms deep, or scatter them like autumn leaves before the whirlwind. Let us trust in God, and with brave hearts meet the vandal hordes, and success will crown our efforts. Never for a moment let us cease our vigilance or relax our efforts until the last enemy has been driven from the soil he now pollutes with his treed, and the waters swallow up the last vestige of their proud navy. Please hand the amount to the Association, and acknowledge the receipt of the donations.

Respectfully, ELLA McD. SLAUGHTER.

☞ HEALTH, HEALTH—BETTER THAN GOLD.

MISS MARY BOSFIELD, PRECEPTRESS, No. 230, BALTIMORE STREET, BALTIMORE—Fresh Strange than Fiction.—This lady suffered for years with Chronic Inflammatory Rheumatism in its most malignant form. She first contracted the disease when two years old, by being vaccinated with matter from a child who had the white swelling. From this time to womanhood her sufferings were extreme. Never had relief from pain until cured by DR. KAYTON'S TINCTURE.

[An Extract from the Letter.]

"I often wish my parents had known of this remedy when I was a child, as I believe I should have been saved the excruciating pain I have been subjected to, as well as the deformity of body I must carry to the grave, and my parents would not have been under such heavy expenses from doctors bills and in sending me, as they did, to the celebrated Springs in England in search of health. I wish all the afflicted world could see me and hear the benefits I have derived from this Tincture of Hampton's. I try to make all acquainted with its virtues with whom I come in contact.

"Gentlemen, I am a thousand times obliged to you, and you are at liberty to use my name and case to all.

"I remain yours in gratitude, "MARY A. BOSFIELD.

RUNAWAYS.

$20 REWARD—Runaway, on last Thursday morning, my negro man, FRANK CHEATHAM. He has been driving a furniture wagon for T. W. Keesee for four years. Said negro is about 35 years old; he has a down look, rather stammering when spoken to; is a stout, square-built man, dark brown color, about 5 feet 4 inches high. Said negro is thought to be lurking about the city. He has a wife living in an alley between 4th and 5th streets, on Leigh. He may very probably have been furnished with a pass, and no doubt will attempt to make his way to the enemy's lines. I will give the above reward if delivered to me, or to Thos. W. Keesee, corner of 12th and Cary streets, or lodged in any jail so that I can get him again. Mrs. MARIA E. GANNAWAY. my 12—6t

$50 REWARD.—I will pay the above reward of fifty dollars for the apprehension, or for any information that will enable me to secure JAMES MONTGOMERY VADEN, who I had employed as a substitute, and who absconded from my Agent at the American Hotel, Richmond, Va., on the morning of the 5th May, inst. He is 17 years old, well grown, has light or rather auburn hair, fair complexion, about 5 feet 10½ inches high; had on a new gray military suit, trimmed with black, and a gray cap with cut trimming; also, a haversack, with the initials "A. G. C." upon it; had in the knapsack a pair of brown jeans pants, which he might put on to avoid detection. Address, A. J. CAMP, my 12—3t* Lynchburg, Va.

NOTICE.—Runaway from the subscriber, near Dayton, Marengo county, Ala., my dining-room servant, JAMES, sometimes calling himself James Clarke, a bright mulatto, about twenty-five years of age, slightly bow-legged; was raised in Richmond, Va., by a Mr. Totty. The last time he was seen he was on the York River cars, supposed to be on his way to Yorktown or some other place on the peninsula. He may have passed himself off as a free negro and hired himself to some company, as a good many soldiers were on the cars the day he was seen on them.
