☞ NORTHERN PAPERS.—Our friends would greatly oblige us by sending any Northern papers they may chance to get in their possession to this office. The highest price will be paid for those of the latest dates. The public will thus receive the news at the earliest moment.

Intervention.

The Examiner, of yesterday, in the course of some remarks upon our article of the day before, with regard to the rumors of foreign intervention, which were rife in the city a few days ago, says:

"We know that many consider it dismaying to lay before the people any expectations of probabilities which contemplate the close of the war. They think it will enfeeble their energies and stimulate impatience. But this should not be the effect, and it is not the natural effect. The tendency of hope is to encourage and to energize new efforts. Hope fills the shoot with which many a gallant army rushes into battle. It is that which enables men to bear all manner of trial and hardship."

All this is true enough with regard to hope. But when the end of hope is disappointment, then it were better that hope had never existed. The reaction is always worse than the stimulant. It depends in a great degree, too, upon what sort of hope it may be—whether rational or not—whether it ought to be encouraged. The sort of hope that would lead men into danger, with the expectation of a miracle to save them, could not, we should think, be a sentiment which a wise statesman would encourage in a people. Just such a hope we take this of intervention to be. If it ought to energise our efforts it most certainly has not done so. On the contrary, it made us relax, from dependence upon the flattering tale it told, and the consequences were nearly fatal. We hardly need repeat the fable of the countryman who called upon Hercules to draw his wagon out of the mud. The sort of hope that we indulged in last year was analogous to that of the countryman. We stood with folded arms and called on Hercules, and Hercules would not come.

That kind of hope which is placed in our own exertions is the hope we ought to encourage. It is that which swells the fury of the soldier when he goes into battle and makes him invincible. It is not hope of assistance from some distant quarter, nor from some remote contingency. It is based upon the heart and his own strength, and he knows where they will go. Self-reliance is the true spring upon which to found all hopes of success.—Two men of equal strength engage in a difficulty. The one hopes they will be parted by the bystanders, and therefore does not fight with half his natural energy. The other pitches in as though there was no person in existence except himself and his antagonist. Both have strong hopes; the one in intervention, the other in his own strength. Which will be victorious?

Our object is to encourage hope, but that species of hope only which springs out of self-reliance. It is vain to say that the hope of assistance from abroad will not relax our energies. It has done it before, and it will do it again. In Hoover's days of the first Revolution, the year after the alliance with France, our hopes were so high, and our energies so much relaxed, that it was very near proving fatal to the cause of independence. And so it was last year with the Confederate States. We wish our countrymen to avoid all such errors in the future, and for that reason we urge upon them the groundless nature of intervention. Recognition must come, in the Enquirer's opinion, it will come when we have established our independence without it, and not until then. If England would not acknowledge us a year and a half ago, when the Yankees had no navy, and a very small army, why is she to acknowledge us now, when the Yankees have a powerful navy of iron-sides and 1,000,000 men under arms—when, too, England is in great and visible alarm about Canada?

We think it may be true about recognition, but we do not believe it will take place until we shall have established our independence.

Touching Their Sensibilities.

The pitcous groans of the New York Chamber of Commerce over the destruction of Yankee property upon the high seas by Confederate cruisers show where the shoe pinches, and where we ought to strike the enemy if we would hurt him most. The doleful lamentations of those hucksters exceed the jost diamonds in a mile to our ears. Nothing can equal the satisfaction which they experience from robbing other people except the anguish they suffer in being robbed themselves. The vital part of these gentry lies in their pockets; the sensitive nerve of their whole system is in their purses, and when that is effectually pierced the death agony is sudden and tremendous. A great deal has been said about invading the North, and seizing the great centres of its wealth—Philadelphia, New York, and Boston. This would be desirable if practicable; but whether it is practicable or not is another thing, which is more important, is practicable, and that is to cut off the sources of its wealth and the golden streams which supply the reservoirs of its prosperity. If Northern commerce upon the ocean could be destroyed, or even to any great extent crippled, we should do the Lincoln empire more damage, at less cost, than by any land invasion of their territories. The peculiar sensitiveness which the North manifested long ago in regard to privateers ought at once to have taught us where our blows could be most effectively struck. They would never have singled out privateersmen as the objects of peculiar vengeance, and threatened to treat them as pirates if they had not felt that the privateers were assailing their weak spot, and that when we had only two or three little vessels upon the waters. Now that we have several efficient vessels, sailing fast and well armed, they are thrown into convulsions, and begin to tremble for the future. It is evident that the true way to retaliate for their plunder upon land is to assail them upon the seas, and make it a matter of uncertainty whenever a ship leaves a Northern port whether she will ever arrive at her contemplated haven. For this purpose we must increase our navy and our private armed, and make no distinction between them and any other class of our fighting men, to retaliate life for life, upon every prisoner in our hands. We are glad to learn from the doleful statements of the New York Chamber of Commerce that the Confederates have several other formidable vessels in course of preparation, besides those which have already spread such consternation throughout Yankeedom. We trust they may harass Yankee commerce upon every sea and make a speedy prey of their rich argosies of California and the Indies. We have skillful and gallant naval officers in abundance, and the time is at hand when they will reap laurels as rich and abundant as their brethren upon the land. Our Government should elevate its most powerful energies to this means of harassing the enemy and of building up a strong navy. The iron-clads of the United States can never accomplish much at sea—They will be slow sailers, and not easily handled in a rough sea. Our fleet ships, where they cannot fight them, can easily escape them, and when they cannot carry off their prizes, can sink them, which is just as bad for the Yankees. Let us hear some more groans from the Chamber of Commerce.

Captain Maury

The mission of this distinguished Confederate citizen abroad, whatever it may be, could not have been confided to better hands. No man on this continent has as enviable a fame throughout the limits of the civilized world. His name is familiar as a household word in all the seats of science and all the courts of Christendom. The moral weight of his character is equal to the grand influence of his intellect. Wherever he goes he will make friends for his country and for himself.

☞ AGENCY FOR OUR TROOPS IN RICHMOND.—We learn that Surgeon-General Warren has appointed Dr. O. F. Manson, of Granville, General Medical Agent in Richmond, to attend to the wants of our soldiers. A better appointment could not have been made. The distinguished services of Dr. Manson as a hospital and army surgeon, his known ability in his profession, and his high character as a gentleman, richly entitle him to the confidence of our people. Dr. Manson has made the neatest arrangements for our sick and wounded soldiers. Ambulances will be at the depots for the purpose of conveying them to the hospital; and, in addition to this, Dr. M. will aid all of our soldiers in obtaining furloughs, passes, their pay and discharges when they seem to be justly entitled to them.

Our excellent Surgeon General, Dr. Warren, has been, and is now, indefatigable in his efforts to relieve our sick and wounded soldiers. It was assumed by some of the opponents of Gov. Vance that the office of Surgeon-General was not necessary, and ought to be abolished. The best evidence that that assumption is erroneous is found in the fact that Dr. Warren has already visited and relieved hundreds in the hospitals in Virginia who would otherwise have suffered greatly.—Raleigh Register. [*]

DIED.

On the 20th instant, of typhoid fever, ESTELLY VIRGINIA HILLYARD, the only daughter of John W. and Millicent A. Hillyard, aged 8 years 1 months and 14 days.

Sleep thee, sweetest ESTELLY, thou hast gone to rest—
Sweet as that rosebud on thy drooping breast;
Thy little hands had scarcely learned to move,
Thy lips to speak a gentle mother's love.

Her funeral will take place to day (Thursday) at 4 o'clock from her father's residence. The relatives, friends, and acquaintances of the family are respectfully invited to attend.

On the morning of the 29th inst., at half-past 2 o'clock, BESSIE LEE, daughter of George and Mary Jane Bargamin, aged 1 year 7 months and 11 days.

Tribute of Respect.

At a meeting held October 23d, 1862, at the camp of the Third Company of Richmond Howitzers, near Bunker Hill, the following preamble and resolutions were offered and unanimously adopted:

Whereas, It has pleased Almighty God in his dispensation to remove suddenly from our midst, our beloved and esteemed friends and comrades, R. BURLEY BROWN and JAMES E. CARSIDY, who, by their high sense of honor, generous disposition, and amiability of character, had endeared themselves to all with whom they were daily associated: Therefore, be it

Resolved, That we deeply deplore the loss of our friends and comrades, who, up to the time of their decease, performed cheerfully and manfully the duties required of them, and when in the face of the enemy exhibited the utmost coolness and bravery, becoming men of loyalty and true courage: Therefore, be it further

Resolved, That we feel sensibly our loss, and will ever cherish a fond remembrance of those whom we honored and so highly esteemed. Be it further

Resolved, That in this hour of affliction, we beg sincerely to tender to each of their respective relatives our deepest heartfelt sympathies, and request that a copy of the above resolutions be published, and forwarded to them as early as practicable.

BOHANNON'S FOR SALE—This place is located on the Pleasaway creek, a branch of the Rappahannock river, in the county of Essex, about five miles from the town of Tappahannock, is at the head of navigation, and contains 309 acres of land, about half of which is in good timber—heart pine, some white oak, &c; has a large warehouse and wharf immediately on the shore, and is the only depot for an extensive back country. Owing to the chief partner (who resided upon the place) being now in the service of the Confederate States, and finding it difficult to have the same managed, we shall on THURSDAY, the 27th day of November next, (if fair; if not, the next fair day, Sunday excepted,) expose to sale, upon the premises to the highest bidder, the above-named place. Also, the crop of Corn, (about 200 barrels,) Provender, stock of Cattle, Hogs, Mules, 1 Steam Saw Mill, with its appurtenances, and Farming Utensils. The storage and wharfage on the grain, prior to the war, paid the interest on from ten to twelve thousand dollars, and possesses many other great advantages which can be obviously specified to any one wishing to purchase. Suffice it to say that, upon the opening of the blockade and peace, no one knew of no place that could offer to a company or capitalist equal inducements. The dwelling house is small, but almost new, and, with the advantage of the saw mill, could be made very convenient at a low cost. Good and convenient new barn, small smoke-house, and several cabins. For further information, the citizens of Richmond and convenient thereto will apply to Thos J. Bagby, Esq., office No. 8 Wall street, with stamp enclosed. Come and see, or address D. SOOTE or Dr. THOS. LATANE, Bestland P. O., Essex county Va.

VALUABLE LITTLE FARM, seven miles below the city of Richmond, in Henrico county, containing one hundred and forty-six acres, FOR SALE AT AUCTION.—We will sell at public auction, on MONDAY, the 3d day of November, (that being Court day,) in front of the Court-house, at 12 o'clock, that valuable little farm, situated as described above, containing one hundred and forty-six and sixteen one-hundredths of an acre, on the middle or new Charles City road, adjoining the lands of John G. Allen, John Nettles, Parply Irby, and others. About forty acres of the said land are cleared, and well adapted to the culture of wheat, corn, &c., and would answer well as a market garden. The balance of the land is well set in pine and oak. The improvements consist of a framed dwelling (needing some repairs) and the usual out-buildings. The location is very healthy and society quiet and respectable. A plat of the land can be seen in our office.

TERMS—Made known on the day of sale.

TRUST SALE OF VALUABLE REAL ESTATE IN THE CITY OF RICHMOND, on Broad street, at the corner of 1st.—By virtue of deeds of trust from Wm. Bootwright, and Wm. Bootwright and wife, the first dated the 9th day of April, 1857, and both duly recorded in the Hustings Court, Richmond, by consent of the grantors therein, and by request of creditors, as therein required, the undersigned trustees thereby appointed will sell, at public auction, on the premises, on TUESDAY, the 25th day of November, 1862, beginning at three o'clock P. M., that very valuable real estate, consisting of a Lot fronting 134 feet on the south side of Broad street, running back on the east side of 1st street at right angles 130 feet, to an alley 10 feet wide, with two excellent brick Tenements thereon—one having a handsome granite front, and admirably well located, and handsomely arranged for a dry goods store. This is justly regarded as amongst the most valuable real estate (for investment) now on the market. A plat and survey of the property can be seen at the office of the auctioneers.

Mrs. Priscilla Bootwright, who has heretofore held a life estate in a part of this property, will convey her interest, and thus give a fee simple title to the purchaser.

TERMS.—Cash, as to one-fourth of the purchase money; remaining three-fourths at one, two, and three years respectively, with legal interest from the day of sale; the deferred payments to be secured by lien on the property, or CASH for the whole purchase money, at the option of the purchaser.
