Eastern Markets Yesterday

(By L. J. Overlock)

BOSTON, Dec. 5.—Hancock, North Butte and Live Oak were the active specialties again today. Butte was strong, and sales were heavy all day. It certainly looks as if this stock were being accumulated without bidding up the price. Hancock sold off on rumors of assessment to come soon, but all stock offered was quickly taken by people who know the value of the property. The same crowd is still gathering in the Live Oak around 35. Range is strong at 52, and the reduced dividend is not bringing out any stock. We look for a continuation of activity and higher prices.

MECHANICAL ENGINEERS

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—Members of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers from all over the United States and from several foreign countries will meet here this week to perfect plans for the most progressive movement ever undertaken by any engineering organization. More than forty committees are being appointed, each one of which is to investigate some particular industry and thus permit the society to serve it for the betterment of social and industrial conditions. Aside from the betterment to the industrial world from the introduction of standardized and more economical methods, it is expected that this movement will aid greatly in bringing the engineering profession into a share of that prominence and leadership now largely held by men in other walks of life. The sessions of the meeting will begin tomorrow and continue until Saturday. Dr. A. G. Humphreys, president of Stevens institute and also president of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, will preside.

Army Post Mass Meeting at City Hall Tonight.

AGE AND YOUTH FOR MARK SMITH

How the Sentiment Runs in Rock Ribbed Graham

The manner in which the old pioneers of Arizona are backing the younger generation in Arizona today in fighting for democratic victory, which means the upholding of the constitution which was adopted by the people is enough to make the republicans drop a little bit lower every day, as they continue their losing campaign.

An incident of how the old and young and the big and little are standing by the democratic colors in old Graham county is given in the account of the meeting held in Safford when the Mark Smith party of the democratic candidates reached that place. An account of this meeting follows, as it was sent to the Arizona Democrat:

SAFFORD, Dec. 1.—"I voted for Martin Van Buren in 1836, when Andy Jackson was in the president's chair, and I am going to vote for Mark Smith and Henry Ashurst in 1911, just before Taft goes out of the chair."

This remarkable statement was made to Mark Smith last night at the close of one of the greatest political demonstrations ever known in democratic Graham county. "Grandpa" John J. Quinn made the announcement. Mr. Quinn, who is 94 years old, is a resident of Safford. He voted for Van Buren when he lived in South Carolina, and was but 19 years old, the laws at that time provided that any men over 16 years was a qualified voter.

"Grandpa" Quinn was one of the vice presidents of the Safford meeting and boasts of a record of attendance at every democratic meeting held in Safford in the last two generations.

Another pledge was made to Mr. Smith in Safford, this one by "Little" Wiley Jones, a nephew of the Hon. Wiley Jones, who is campaigning with the democratic candidates. "Little" Wiley Jones weighs but 276 pounds and is a democrat all over, which is going some. Jones made the following statement to Smith:

"I can't vote for you and Ashurst, Mr. Smith, because I am a member of Cameron's Arizona Disfranchised Voters' league. I am 21 years and six months old and have lived in Arizona for fifteen years, yet through Cameron's work, am unable to vote. If all the 7000 voters disfranchised by Cameron are working as hard for the democratic ticket as I am, those 3000 majorities they are talking about will be a great deal larger."

"Little" Wiley was also a vice president of last night's meeting, a living proof of the slap taken at young Arizona by the Cameron enabling act.

Mark Smith was given an ovation that brought tears to the eyes of the veteran representative, and, urged to continue by the crowd, made one of the most brilliant speeches of his career, devoting a great deal of his time to the tariff question, one with which he is thoroughly familiar.

Reese Ling of Prescott, in his speech, paid particular attention to the records of the republican reactionaries and dealt at length with Cameron's appointment of a Boston boy to Annapolis to the exclusion of capable lads born and bred in the territory. He also spoke of Cameron's record on statehood, and with the predicament in which Wells and Doe would find themselves should the impossible happen and they be called upon to take office, swearing to support the constitution of Arizona of which they have been notoriously the bitterest of opponents.

POLITICS AND POLITICIANS

Richard Croker, former Tammany Hall leader, picks Mayor Gaynor of New York City as the logical democratic candidate for president.

Col. F. E. Boothby, three times mayor of Portland, will be a candidate for the republican nomination for governor of Maine.

A movement has been started to erect a handsome monument over the grave of the late Senator John W. Daniel, in Lynchburg, Va.

The decision of Rhode Island to hold biennial state elections leaves choose her governor and other officers annually.

The Rolph administration, which is about to assume its duties in San Francisco, will inaugurate a plan of city government almost identical with the commission form of government.

Encouraged by the re-election of Governor Foss the progressive republicans in Massachusetts, it is said will endeavor to prevent a solid delegation being sent to the republican convention for President Taft.

General Henry H. Lincham, the "Father of the House of Representatives," who has served 17 terms in congress from the First Pennsylvania district, may lose that title, since the republican leaders in Philadelphia are said to have decided that he shall not be named for re-election.

INDIANS NOT DYING OUT

(Leslie's Weekly)

Exclusive of Alaska, the Indian population of the United States in 1910 was, in round figures, 265,000, as compared with 243,000 in 1890 and 270,000 in 1900. Contrary to the popular notion, the Indian is increasing like grass in numbers, moreover is far less surprising than in his growth in industry and intelligence. The 5470 Indians residing in New York, chiefly remnants of the old Iroquois, follow the same pursuits as their white neighbors, dress the same, and, save in complexion, differ from the whites in no essential particular. Much more than a third of all the Indians in the United States, or 115,000 reside in Oklahoma. Most of these are members of the old five civilized tribes (Cherokees, Creeks, Choctaws, Chickasaws and Seminoles), each of which in the old Indian territory, which was part of the present state of Oklahoma, had a civil government of its own for two thirds of a century, with schools, churches, values, factories, mercantile houses, banks and other accessories of the highest civilization to be had.

DUPLICATING TOWN NAMES

(Syracuse Post-Standard)

Springfield, Kan., is no more. Its $10,000 schoolhouse, its hotels, its stores and its halcyon prospects have all moved away, and the eastern buyers of Springfield, Kan., municipal bonds are entitled to one piece of short grass prairie. There are now but twenty-eight Springfields on the map. Thank heaven for that.

But there are still twenty-nine more Manchesters than we have any need of, twenty six corpus Kingstons, seventeen Romes and seventeen Rochesters, sixteen burgs, mostly in the west, rejoice in the name of Paris, forty communities have complimented the father of his country by naming themselves for him and forty-four, including Lincolnton, Lincolnville, Lincolndale, Lincoln City, Lincoln Center, Lincoln Lake and Lincoln Place, have assumed the name of the great emancipator. Twenty-eight Troys, a shovelful of Unionvilles, Viennas, Victorias, Waterloos, Wellingtons, Napoleons, Nelsons, Lafayettes, Lees, Grants, Blaines and Roosevelts, and scattering bunches of Smithvilles, Taylorvilles, Jonesboros and Lewistons make up a great part of the inventory of American communities.

"Charley dear," said young Mrs. Torkins, "the cook we took without a recommendation has left us."

"I suppose," was the weary reply, "that is because we're among the things she didn't consider of sufficient value to take with her."—Washington Star.

THE THEATRES

(New York World)

The box receipts are good in New York, the showing is much below the standard in the rest of the country. Seventy-four plays were closed last week. Nearly a third of our professional actors are out of employment, and some of them are of continental reputation. The owners of theatres in small towns are turning their houses into picture shows, thus adding to the embarrassment of the companies in their efforts to make dates for tours.

While theatre managers attribute the loss of patronage to the cheap competition of biograph and phonograph, the public is not likely to agree with them. The big theatrical syndicates have committed the triple error of overdoing the star business, doing it badly and charging too much for it. Big rewards repaid the ingenuity of the managers who invented the system of putting a play on in New York, advertising it extensively and then sending out half a dozen companies to play it through the south and west. But while they got cream, those that follow find skim milk. The provinces have grown wise.

A Des Moines man had an attack of muscular rheumatism in his shoulder. A friend advised him to go to Hot Springs. That meant an expense of $150.00 or more.
