My courage strengthened as I gazed;
The words came rushing to my lips.
The old, old tale of love was told.
She glanced down at her finger tips.

And then she spoke in accents low,
While blushes mantled her cheek.
"It may be wrong for me to ask,
But why would do you get a week?"

Wm. Richards, of the American Flag mine at Walapai mountain, has bought the saloon building in Kingman, formerly owned by P. Canavan.

By previous engagement, Judge Leonard, W. Jackson and other distinguished citizens of Kingman came in on Monday's stage to attend the wedding.

Messrs. Hempf and Hensel, two old Mohave county miners who have been in Tombstone for the past two years, are among us again, and are now working at Cerbat on the Fleets mine.

William Bland came up from the Goodman ranch on the Sandy on Friday with a load of vegetables, eggs, chickens, butter and other farm produce, which found a ready sale. He returned yesterday.

District Attorney Bisbeby and his son, Willie, left on Thursday for a trip to the Sandy country. Our District Attorney has a happy family of children besides with pleasure, and we hope he will be able to pick up a few fat fees during his trip.

On Friday last Messrs. Gaston, Emmons and Watkins each received a trio of the thoroughbred fowls from the Pioneer Poultry Yards of Mrs. L. J. Watkins at San Jose, Cal. The fowls stood the long journey well and arrived here in splendid condition, proving that distance does not prevent lovers of fancy fowls from procuring what they desire in that respect.

On dit, that a party of ladies and gentlemen are about to charter the steamer Gila for an excursion trip to the mouth of the Colorado river. This would be novel as well as interesting and instructive.

The steamer Mohave, which has been running on the Upper Colorado river, between the Needles and the head of navigation in charge of Capt. John A. Mellen, arrived in Yuma one day this week, where she will do duty for a season. The steamer Gila, Capt. Fitzhugh, will do all the river business hereafter.

Prescott Miner.

General Sedgwick, land commissioner of the Atlantic & Pacific, on his trip to Prescott, entered patents for 135,000 acres of land. This is part of the million acres land grant granted by the Atlantic & Pacific [illegible] and Cattle Company, composed of Hallgarten Bros., and other New York capitalists, who have shipped [illegible] head of stock upon Peach Springs, Yavapai co., to Hedbrook, Arizona. Henry Warren is the manager of the company.

Wells, Fargo & Co., have closed their office at the Vulture camp. The Pratjory Case.

The preliminary examination of the case of the Territory of Arizona against W. W. Dannenhower, on a charge of perjury alleged to have been committed on the 20th of April last on the trial of an assault and battery case in the Justice's Court in Mineral Park, came up last Tuesday before the Hon. John M. Murphy, County Judge, sitting as a committing magistrate. The prosecution was represented by W. O. Bisbeby Esq. District Attorney, assisted by Messrs. Williams & Hyde, and the defense by J. W. Stephenson. The examination lasted until Friday afternoon, all the testimony having to be taken down in longhand. The case was examined exhaustively, and after the evidence was all in, his Honor, who had given marked and close attention to the case throughout, remarked that argument was unnecessary, and ordered the defendant to be held to answer, with bail fixed at One Thousand dollars, which was furnished, and the defendant thereupon released from custody. The case excited a good deal of attention on account of the gravity of the offence charged, and the social standing of the defendant. It seems out of testimony given by Mr. Dannenhower in the case of the Territory against J. N. Dalton, L. R. Thompson and H. W. Hitchcock, in which he was the complaining witness.

Work on the Colorado River.

If we mistake not, it was the Forty-eighth Congress that made an appropriation of $25,000 to improve the Colorado river. The appropriation was secured through the influence of Representative Cassidy, of Nevada. The money was placed at the disposal of Capt. A. H. Payson, U. S. Light House Engineer, and also the supervision of the work to be done on the river. Capt. Payson, whose official business engages his attention most of the time at present, on the northwest coast of California, delegated authority to Capt. Smith, an engineer of much practical experience, to do the work. He was accordingly furnished with four miners to do the blasting, a carpenter, an engineer and two firemen. Capt. John A. Mellen, who is an old Colorado river pilot, was added to the corps and was placed in charge of the boat. Capt. Smith having been provided with such force of white men as he needed, went prepared a number of Mohave Indians and started on his hazardous task of clearing the river of impediments to navigation. His first camp was at Six-mile Rapids, about six miles this side of El Dorado Canyon, on the 15th of last November. At this point he mined out of the bed of the river thirty-six bowlders, each weighing from four to fifteen tons; from the bar were removed one hundred and thirty bowlders, weighing from two to twelve tons each. At Mojave Point a dam was put in 300 feet long—20 feet on the bottom, 8 feet deep and 10 feet wide on top. At Bowlder Rapids, on the Nevada side, they removed 1,600 tons of bowlders and cut a ditch 300 feet long through the Point 6 feet deep and 10 feet wide. Back further, on the Point, another ditch was cut 150 feet long, 6 feet deep and 10 feet wide. This done, there were one hundred and fifty giant powder blasts put in between the two ditches in the rock. The result was that it loosened the dirt, and since the high water the Point which had been a mere detriment to navigation, has been washed away, and has had the effect also of improving the channel of the river greatly by sluicing the rapids. All this work, including the building of a boat in San Francisco, 104 by 28 feet, and paying all the white men, and also, from fifteen to thirty Indians, cost $15,000, leaving a balance of $9,000 to be expended next year in similar work. To say the least the amount of work done for the money is remarkable, and the gentlemen under whose supervision it was done, deserve much praise, for they have rarely exhibited remarkable tact and much engineering ingenuity and skill.—Yuma Sentinel.

SUPERVISOR HENKLE'S WEDDING FESTIVITIES.

The Hall and Supper.

Early on Monday evening last nearly all of our best citizens gathered at the Court House to witness the marriage of M. W. Henkle of Mineral Park and Mrs. J. C. Sanders of Gold Basin. The occasion being one of rare occurrence in our small town, and both parties being so well known, it called forth the people from the surrounding country. Mr. Henkle having made it generally understood that all within reach were cordially invited to attend and enjoy the hospitality he prepared to offer on the occasion. Music Mountain, Hackberry, Kingman, Gold Basin, Stockton and other mining camps were well represented, and all were eager to wish the prospective bride and groom prosperity and happiness as they were launched forth upon the sea of matrimony.

At exactly half-past eight the groom, followed by his best man, W. M. Krider, and second groomsman, Wm. Gard, took his place in front of the dais, and immediately after the bride was led in escorted by her old friend R. G. Patterson, and attended by her maids Mrs. Krider and Mrs. Gard. The ceremony, though short, was performed in a most impressive manner by Hon. John M. Murphy, County Judge of Mohave county, assisted by Judge Bisbeby. No sooner were the worthy couple pronounced man and wife, while their many friends came forward to offer congratulations and good wishes. After a few minutes devoted to handshaking etc., the floor was cleared for dancing in which most of them present took part, and many were seen tripping the light fantastic who seldom indulge in such frivolities. Those who did not care to join in this harmless amusement formed in groups about the room, and passed the time in animated conversation and in enjoying the excellent music furnished by Alstrey's string band.

At midnight the hall was cleared and tables brought in laden with refreshments in the shape of numerous varieties of cake, wine, lemonade, etc. Visitors helped the hungry and thirsty, and judging from the expression of satisfaction and content on the countenances of those who partook of the many good things provided, we are safe in speaking of their excellence. Toasts were offered by Judge Williams, John Fox, and others. When all had been helped amply and repeatedly, the tables were cleared away, and dancing resumed and continued until early morning.

All went home well pleased with themselves, the world in general, and wishing that some more good citizens would emulate to take unto themselves the bliss and trials of matrimony. There was positively nothing to mar the evening's pleasure and everyone felt grateful to Mr. Henkle for his kindness. R. Thompson acted as floor manager and master of ceremonies and deserves praise for his untiring efforts in seeing that all were provided with partners. The ladies who had charge of the refreshment department also deserve much commendation for the way in which they succeeded.

The bridegroom has been long and favorably known in this community, and now occupies the responsible position of chairman of the Board of Supervisors, and has the reputation of being the most conservative member on the Board. The bride has lived in Gold Basin for the past six years and is much respected by the miners of that camp for her many acts of kindness and hospitality to them, and has a host of friends in in that district, and, in fact, throughout the county.

The Miner extends its congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Henkle, and wishes them a long life of happiness and prosperity.

MINING IN MOHAVE.

ITEMS FROM THE VARIOUS MINING CAMPS.

Chas. E. Sherman has five men at work on the Independence mine at Chloride. He has about six tons of $200 ore on the dump, but will not make a shipment until he gets a carload. He is now drifting on the 90 foot level but will soon sink the main shaft another fifty feet.

We noticed Geo. Mendes loading up a two-horse wagon with provisions and mining material at Boucher & Co's last Monday. He was going over to work on the Sunday School mine with Stephen Smith.

On the Queen Bee mine about a mile west of town there are three parties working on separate leases. Jones and Doggett have sunk a fifty-foot shaft and are now drifting, while Asbury & Co. have about completed one of the same depth, and Greenfield & Co. are sinking still another. Each of these parties sink and draft fifty feet for the ore they can stope out of the ground thus opened up, which is a very good way for the owner of the mine to get it prospected. If more mine-owners would adopt Mr. Sherman's policy in this respect a great many more mines would be worked and a great deal more money placed in circulation in the county.

On the Silver King mine in the G. O. D. basin Mr. H. Amey has three men at work sinking a shaft, which is now down about fifty feet. He is also engaged in stoping over the old dumps, and is obtaining from them quite a good deal of ore which will pay to ship.

Superintendent Raymond requests us to correct the statement, made in our last issue, that he had leased the Mineral mine to John C. Potts. Mr. Potts is going down to work on the mine in a few days but not on a lease. The mine will be worked under the management of Mr. Raymond as heretofore.

All that is needed to bring Mohave county's mines to the front as bullion producers is good, hard work and a little capital. Hard work, and plenty of it, for our high grade mines, combined with capital and economical management for those of a low grade, will soon demonstrate to the world that the mineral wealth of Mohave county is second to none.

On the Flagstaff mine at Cerbat, Mr. W. C. Parsons, the well-known mining operator of Tombstone, has two men at work, Messrs. Hempf and Hensel, who came up from Tombstone for that purpose. They have a complete sampling outfit with them, and are engaged in thoroughly exploring the mine, and for that purpose are sampling the ore in all the old workings. In the rear part of the main tunnel which is over 300 feet long they have found ore which assays over $1000 in gold to the ton. There is a good two foot of ore in this mine that will average over $60 a ton in gold, together with a fine spring of water on the claim which furnishes an ample supply for a ten-stamp mill. We shall expect to see something done with this property in the near future.

We are indebted to Mr. Edward Burke for a statement showing the results of some recent shipments of ore from the well known I. X. L. mine, situated about a mile from Stockton Hill. The following shows the results of twenty-seven days work of three men, all of the ore shipped being taken out during this time. Lot No. 1, consisting of 29 sacks and weighing [illegible] pounds sampled [illegible] ounces in silver to the ton, and yielded $[illegible]. Lot No. 2, consisting of 70 sacks weighing [illegible] pounds, sampled [illegible] ounces in silver to the ton, and yielded $[illegible]. Total amount received for the two lots $1284.55, which is over and above the amount deducted for freight and treatment. In addition to this there is still left on the dump from the same work about seven tons of ore which samples 7-10ths of an ounce in gold and 87 ounces in silver to the ton. There are some other mines in the county which are able to make as good a showing as this for the amount of work performed, but we doubt if there are any which can make a better one. Under the management of the Burke Bros., who are both practical miners, we expect to see this valuable mine take the front rank in the list of ore producing mines of Mohave county.

S. M. Gale of the Moonbeam mine at Stockton has largely increased his working force during the past week. He has now sixteen men employed in sinking and stoping, and has on hand $[illegible] of ore in sight in the stopes.

By far the richest ore now being taken out in the neighborhood of Stockton Hill is that from the Little Chief owned by Jack Kennedy. From all accounts he will soon have a carload of ore that will sample from $[illegible] to $1200 per ton. This mine has already produced $[illegible].

Messrs. Roberts and Hendrie of the Robert mine told us yesterday that the rich streak of ore in their mine still improves and has every indication of permanency.

Messrs. W. W. Clark, S. T. Aistrop, Geo. McKennett and John McCleary are working on the C. O. D. mine about a mile and a half from Stockton Hill. Since February last they have taken out about sixteen tons of ore, some of which was shipped to the Peoples Smelting works about April 1st. On that shipment one lot of two tons assayed 140 ounces in silver and 3 [illegible] to gold to the ton; another lot of three tons assayed [illegible] ounces in silver and 4 [illegible] in gold to the ton; while still another lot of [illegible] ore went 71 ounces in silver and $8 per ounce gold. Another small lot of [illegible] marked of the Kingman [illegible] Works gave 180 ounces in silver and [illegible] gold per ton. There is left on the dump at the mouth of work to date and in addition to what has already been commenced, about [illegible] ton and a half of ore which samples 171 oz. silver and about [illegible] ounces of a [illegible] grade which has not yet been assorted. This is an excellent showing for three months's work of four men and proves that the C. O. D. mine is a good paying property and in good hands.

There are a great many miners in Walapai district at the present time who are making from $5 to $20 per day, shareholders some who are making from $10 to $25 per day; and still others who are making on an average of $50 per day.

From the present outlook the mining camps of Mohave county bid fair to be the liveliest in the Territory during the coming summer. The ore is here and all that we need is more men to take it out.
