FUNERAL OF REV. PHILLIPS

Pittston Thronged with Friends of the Dead Priest, Who Come from Far and Near.

IMPRESSIVE SERVICES

Many Priests of the Scranton Diocese Are Present and Take Part in the Ceremonies—Solemn High Mass Is Celebrated—Profuse Floral Decorations—Fully Fifteen Hundred Parishoners from Hazleton Were in Attendance.

Special to the Scranton Tribune.

Pittson, May 20.—The funeral of the late Rev. Father Edward S. Phillips, rector of St. Gabriel's Roman Catholic church, Hazleton, took place in this city this morning, attended by a throng the like of which has never before been seen at a funeral in this city. If attendance counts for anything at a funeral, then the assertion that Father Phillips was one of the most widely known and highly respected priests of the Scranton diocese is very true. It was like a holiday in Pittston today, save for the absence of gay decorations, and almost with the rising of the sun people began congregating on the streets ready to silently pay their last tribute of respect to one who had been such a true friend and who had met so sad an end.

All the mines in this vicinity were idle, and many places of business were closed during the services, while in Plains, where Father Phillips had at one time been the parish priest, there was a general suspension of work, and the public schools were closed. Hazleton, the scene of the deceased's last pastorate, was probably the best represented of any of the out-of-town places, and fully 1,500 people from that place were in attendance, several societies attending in a body.

It was about 10 o'clock when the funeral cortege moved from the house of Father Phillips' sister, Mrs. John Dougherty, in Port Griffith, to St. John's church, and a long procession it was. In the line were the following societies: Ancient Order of Hibernians, Division 10, Hazleton; Division 7, Freeland; Division 6, McAdoo; Knights of Columbus, Hazleton; Knights of Father Mathew, Hazleton; East End Fire company, Hazleton; St. Aloysius society, Harleigh; Brotherhood Protective Order Elks Pittston and Hazleton, and Ancient Order of Hibernians, this city, and the United Mine Workers.

The church altars were appropriately draped for the occasion, and the following priests took their places in the sanctuary as the remains of their deceased brother were carried before the altar where he had served his apprenticeship as altar boy to Father John Finnen, deceased:

Scranton—Rev. J. O'Reilly, Very Rev. N. I. McManus, Rev. W. P. O'Donnell, Rev. E. J. Melley, Rev. P. J. McManus, Rev. M. J. Loftus, Rev. Griffin, Rev. J. V. Moylan, Rev. P. Lavelle, Rev. J. J. O'Malley, Rev. C. J. Manley; Forest City, Rev. R. Welsh; Olyphant, Rev. D. Murphy; Rock Lake, Rev. J. M. Smoulter; Parsons, Rev. T. F. Kernan; Carbondale, Very Rev. T. J. Colley, Rev. George Dickson; Minooka, Rev. Thomas Rea; Wilkes-Barre, Very Rev. P. C. Naugle, Rev. P. J. Lynott, Rev. R. A. McAndrew, Rev. C. J. Goeckel, Rev. P. Deselchamp, Rev. Henry Burke; Athens, Rev. M. P. O'Rourke, Rev. F. Klowski; Old Forge, Rev. W. Gibson, Rev. J. F. Jordan; Great Bend, Rev. J. Fagin; Susquehanna, Rev. M. J. Manley; Bentle Creek, Rev. W. F. Shield; McAdoo, Rev. Peter Malloy; Pittston, Monsignor E. A. Garvey, Rev. Brehl, Rev. A. F. Greve, Rev. O'Byrne, Rev. McHale, Rev. Quinnan.

A solemn high mass was celebrated, and the officers were as follows: Celebrant, Rev. Father Greve, of St. Mary's church, Upper Pittston; deacon, Rev. Father Curran, Holy Savior church, Wilkes-Barre; sub-deacon, Rev. W. B. O'Donnell, Holy Cross church, Scranton; master of ceremonies, Rev. Father T. F. Quinnan, St. John's church, Pittston. The office of the dead was chanted by the priests of the diocese previous to the celebration of the mass, the chanters of the office being Rev. J. V. Moylan, of Scranton, and Rev. J. V. Hussie, of Plains. The libera Me was chanted by Rev. Father Moylan and Monsignor E. A. Garvey performed the absolution of the body.

There were many floral tributes, the gifts of personal friends and societies, and among the designs were the following: Broken column, inscribed "The Miners' Tribute to Labor's Friend," from District 7, United Mine Workers of America; scroll, inscribed "Our Friend, His Motto Was 'The Laborer Is Worthy of His Hire,'" from District 9, United Mine Workers of America; pillow, from Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, 299, Hazleton; cross, inscribed "Our Chaplain," from Ancient Order of Hibernians; pillow, Knights of Father Mathew, Hazleton; casket bouquet, Ladies auxiliary, Ancient Order of Hibernians, Hazleton; casket bouquet, calla lilies, Mine Workers of Alabama; anchor, cross and two large casket bouquets, from former parishioners at Hazleton.

At the conclusion of the mass, the remains were taken to Market street cemetery for interment beside the parents of the deceased, and the following acted as pall-bearers: T. M. Coniff, Plains, Ancient Order of Hibernians; John P. Gibbons, Plains, Knights of Columbus; William Joyce, Hazleton, Knights of Columbus; James Kerrigan, Sugar Notch, Ancient Order of Hibernians; James P. Gorman, Hazleton, Knights of Columbus; P. T. Norton, Wilkes-Barre, Knights of Columbus.

Bishop Hoban was not present at the funeral. That Father Phillips had greatly endeared himself to the members of the United Mine Workers and the Ancient Order of Hibernians was evidenced in the large representation of these societies at the last sad rites. Besides the members of the Mine Workers, a number of district officers and organizers were present.

THEATRICAL.

ATTRACTIONS TODAY.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—"Faust" (afternoon); "Three Musketeers, (night).

LYCEUM THEATRE.—Schumann-Heink concert.

Vera De Noie Company.

That a circus in town helps the theatrical business, was proven beyond a doubt at the Academy of Music last evening, where the Vera De Noie company opened a week's engagement. The theatre was crowded and not a few had to stand.

The play selected for the initial performance was from the pen of Miss De Noie herself, and for the work she well deserves the highest praise of both the press and public; the press of New York city was certainly liberal with praise and favorable comment when Miss De Noie first produced the piece in that city at the Fourteenth street theatre.

"Devil's Island" is the title, and it is written around the life of Captain Dreyfus, who was a prisoner on that isle for a long time, having been sent there for a crime he never committed. In the play instead of using the name of Dreyfus, Maurice De la Tour is substituted, which part was well interpreted by Mr. William Richards, an actor of rare ability. The part of Pauline La Tour, wife of the captain, was acceptably portrayed by Miss Maud Renard. Jos. C. Schenan proved himself a very versatile comedian in the character of George Maxwell, a newspaper correspondent. The other members of the company were equally good. The scenic effects were superb, the ship scene especially, being the best piece of stage mechanism ever shown in this city. Electric calcioms were used to further beautify the magnificent scenery.

This afternoon the first of the daily matinees will be given. The bill is "Faust." Tonight "Three Musketeers" will be played.

At the Lyceum To-Night.

As the season of theatre entertainment is nearing an end, is it not a glorious setting to have the brilliancy of the late afternoon sun commingle with the lustre of the evening star, resplendent in all its glory as reflected in the personality and magnetism of the great contralto, Schumann-Heink. The firmament tonight from which echoes again and again voices and music filled with divine melody will be the Lyceum stage. There have been voices of considerable merit heard upon this stage before, but never so complete a combination of art, voice and unpretentious talent as will be presented this evening. "The Prologue," by Leoncavalla, made famous by America's "Campanini," and the "Templar Song," from Sir Arthur Sullivan's "Ivanhoe"; the beautiful "Loch Lomond" and the famous "Barber's Aria" from the "Barber of Seville," and Rossini's great comic opera, ab these to be sung by the eminent actor vocalist, Frangcon Davies, is well worth going miles to hear.

Miss Maud Powell, the violinist, needs no introduction to any American audience. When a violinist has been chosen as soloist for such gigantic bodies of cultured musicians as the Colonne orchestra and Lamarreaux orchestra of Paris; the Philharmonics of Berlin; the Philharmonics of London, under Mr. Cowen; the Manchester orchestra, under Herr Richter, and the unsurpassed Boston Symphony orchestra, under Gericke, her reputation is established.

Those who will fail to hear to-night's concert will indeed be unfortunate. There are only a few seats left. Those with gallery seats reserved will find admission at 7 o'clock at the main entrance.

"Sis Hopkins."

I Like You Sis, Because——

I like you, Sis, because you're quaint,
And just a plain girl through and through;
I like you, Sis, because you're that;
Because you're heart is good and true.

I like you, Sis, because—I do;
And let me tell you more than this,
I like you, Sis, because—I swear,
I like you best—because, you're Sis.

Sis will be at the Lyceum next Friday night, with Miss Rose Melville presenting her.

John Drew Coming.

It is an open secret that it was an intense relief to John Drew when his manager, Charles Frohman, secured "Richard Carvel" for the actor's present season, the star having been heartily tired of the modern "parlor plays" in which he has so long been popular.

In "Richard Carvel," in which he will be seen at the Lyceum theater on the 24th instant, matinee and night, he is, by all accounts, still the peerless, social, gallant in matinee estimation, though garbed in antique cut and fabrics. Since Mr. Drew has reigned involuntarily as the arbiter of masculine dress in this country, his several costumes in "Richard Carvel" the colonial dandy, may be safely accepted as authoritative.

THE MARKETS.

Wall Street Review.

New York, May 20.—The late upward movement of stocks last week failed to continue today, although there was some resistance at times in the way of strength for individual stocks. There was a progressive decline in the influence of these special movements and the day closed with the market quiet, active and decidedly weak at about the lowest of the day all around. The market was not very manifestly influenced by the news of the day, but seemed rather to move as the result of technical causes. Taking of profits on last week's late rise was the principal cause of this. The market opened irregular and then yielded all around to the realizing, but recovered quite strongly in response to a movement in the coalers. There was some strength among the Southwesterns, apparently on the score of published reports of a projected new steamship line from a Mexican port to the Orient. The movement in the coalers was apparently speculative. The strength in St. Paul was not explained by any news, but the buying was called good. The stock yielded, however, in the late weakness and closed at a net loss. The weakness of Union Pacific was an effective factor in upsetting the market. Allegations of a further issue of convertible bonds to finance the purchases of Northern Pacific stock were the prime factors in the stock's weakness. It closed at par 7½ points below Saturday's close, and at the lowest of the day. Other notable weak stocks were Atchison, which lost 4%; Consolidated Gas as much; Sugar, 3½; Manhattan, 2¾; Rock Island and Metropolitan Street Railway, 3; Louisville, 2¾; Amalgamated Copper, 2½; and a large number of stocks from 1 to 2. A number of the minor industrials showed notable strength, although their best prices were reduced by the late weakness. Total sales today, 981,600 shares.

The bond market generally was dull and irregular with some yielding in the late trading in sympathy with stocks. Total sales, par value, $3,250,000. U. S. bonds were all unchanged on the last call.
