JUMPERS DISPLAY GOOD CONDITION AT BENNING TRACK

More Advanced and Work Better Than Flat Horses.

TRACK IS STILL HEAVY

Many Work-Outs Yesterday. Morris Will Have Stable of His Own.

Those who counted on good weather for yesterday were disappointed, and the Benning track was as deep yesterday morning as it has been at any time. The workouts were all slow, but everybody was busy.

Two of Gwynn Tompkins' jumpers were sent along at a lively gait, compared with the work of the rest, but it was too slow at that to amount to anything. The Colt horses were all out, as were the rest of the jumpers.

Frank Farrell had about twenty-seven out doing steady, slow work. He sent King Pepper and Unmasked three quarters in 1:27. James Boden's Masterman and Rosetint, who are both well forward, were out for long gallops and a breeze through the stretch.

Garth Works Slowly.

Garth cantered Imperialist, Trapezist, and Little Woods, but kept them going slow. Burch's two-year-olds were all out, and two or three of them were sent three-eighths in 0:43½.

James McLaughlin, who got in yesterday, had his whole string out and worked them well. Circus and Gold Dome were sent a mile in 2:00. Twilight, S. Prentiss Knut's hope for landing the Chevy Chase Hunt Cup, and Clarence Moore's Dragoman and Montrip, which are also entered for this race, went a mile and a quarter in 2:30.

The Columbia Stable's best were all out. Dr. Swartz, the swift Arkle colt that is attracting attention; Colonel Staples, and Lacquer, worked three-eighths in 0:39, while Dulcibella and Carosa went the same distance in 0:40½.

According to the best judges the jumpers are in much better shape than the flat racers. In fact, there are some very good horses entered for the hunt and steeplechase events. Among the hunters, Gwynn Tompkins' Simon Kenton takes high rank. But for an accident this big Virginia jumper would probably have beaten Almanzor at the close of the fall meeting at Benning, and he is far better now than he was last year. He is a beautiful jumper, and runs well. With Mara to pilot him his chances will be more than good in the hunt steeplechases. Almanzor, who is owned by Girard, is another good one. He is very steady, but will be called upon to carry weight that may go against him.

Black Huzzar Can Jump.

Thomas Hitchcock's Tom Coghlan and Black Huzzar are also to be reckoned with. The former was a good two-year-old, and the latter was a good three-year-old. Reports are to the effect that Black Huzzar can jump, and he is being watched.

James Hall's Virginia hunter, Captain Hayes, is considered favorably by all who have seen him. He has worked well and will probably be in the front rank with the hunters. Leo Evans' Red Hawk is a horse that showed up well last year. He fell with the boy Saffell at the fall meeting at Benning in the same race which Almanzor won from Simon Kenton, but he is better this year than last.

Among the regular jumpers, Billy Garth's Imperialist is thought to be about the best. He was a good horse last year, and is better now. Arius and Trapezist, from the same stable, are also entered for the big jumping event, the Easter Monday Steeplechase, two and one-half miles through the field.

For this event Col. J. E. Colt names Imp. Harrow, the holder of the English mile record of 1:33, and All Hallowmass. Harrow is an unusually able horse, and has developed into a good jumper. Thomas Hitchcock's fast mare, Trinity Bell, is another jumper that is looked upon as one of the best on the ground. Last, but not least, Conover will go as well as any of them, if appearances count for anything. Those who know him well say he looks better today than he has ever looked in his life.

Morris in the Market.

The only arrival yesterday was Green B. Morris, who reached Washington from all points of the compass. Morris, who has been training for Haggin during the past five or six years, is going to buy a stable of his own. He stopped at Lexington, Ky., to look over the Haggin bunch, but did not like them, and is now in the market.

JAILED FOR THEFT.

For the larceny of a pair of boots from Antonio Di Francesco, Joseph Hook was sent to jail for sixty days by Judge Scott in the Police Court yesterday.

OVER THE JUMPS AT BENNING.

JEFFORDS BESTS THE AKRON GIANT

Philadelphians See a Hot Six-Round Fight.

NO DECISION IS RENDERED

Ruhlin Almost Out in the First Round. Both Men Badly Punished.

PHILADELPHIA, March 12.—Gus Ruhlin, the Akron giant, conqueror of Tom Sharkey, and generally rated as a promising light of the heavy-weight pugilistic division, caught a tartar in the person of big Jim Jeffords, the California third-rater, here tonight, and was badly punished in a slugging match that went the limit allowed by law—six rounds.

Ruhlin ruled an overwhelming favorite in the betting before the clash, even money being freely offered, with few takers, that he would knock Jeffords out before the six rounds were over.

The Gong Sounds.

First round—Both men start fighting at once. Ruhlin puts left to jaw and right to stomach. Jeffords puts hard right to jaw and followed with left hook, which sent Ruhlin reeling backward. When they came together Jeffords sent in a right lead, which dropped Ruhlin cold.

The blow put Ruhlin to the bad, and another right sent Ruhlin to the floor. Ruhlin is on his feet, but is badly dazed. Jeffords tried hard for a knockout. Ruhlin saved himself, however, by continual clinching. Both were sparring at bell. Jeffords' fine showing set the crowd cheering.

Ruhlin was badly rattled as he went to his cernor, but soon came to.

Gus Comes Around.

Second round—Ruhlin started in at once and smashed in rights and lefts to Jeffords' jaw and stomach. Jeffords swung left to stomach and repeated. Jeffords led right to jaw and followed with right to stomach. Ruhlin missed left hook and clinched. Jeffords rushed Ruhlin and both clinched on the ropes.

Jeff Braces Up.

Round four—Ruhlin started after his man. Both landed lightly and clinched. Ruhlin put left to jaw and followed with right and left to stomach. Jeffords missed with left lead. Ruhlin right to stomach. Jeffords sends right under heart and they clinch. Gus slashed in a hard right under Jeffords' heart. A straight right brought the blood from Ruhlin's nose. Jeffords resumed courage and put his left on Ruhlin's bloody nose and left under heart, which had the crowd in a frenzy. Ruhlin tried hard for a knockout, but Jeffords is cool and clever. The round ended with both men fighting hard. Jeffords' round.

They Mix It Up.

All the Mellowness and Goodness the Epicurean Taste Requires.

NEW ORLEANS, La., March 12.—G. T. Richards', bay colt Ostrich won the Crescent City Derby this afternoon at the Fair Grounds. Mr. Richards arrived this morning from Boston. He came down to see his colt carry off the blue ribbon prize of the promoters of racing in this State. To Fuller, the rider of Ostrtich, Mr. Richards presented a gift of $1,000 and to the stable hands he gave another $500.

Ostrich and Auditor were the favorites all during the betting, first one and then the other. When the post bell rang the Eastern colt was sent to the post a favorite. Auditor showed in front at the start and Ostrich last.

Moved to Front.

Around the first turn the son of Order moved up to third place and Fuller rated him nicely until the last eighth was reached, where he was sent off for the leader. Fuller made his move at the right time, and when they got to the sixteenth pole every one in the grandstand could see that the son of Order would win.

Mr. Richards was highly elated over the victory, as he has never owned a derby winner.

It was by far the largest crowd that ever entered the gates of the track, and they went home merry as they all heavily played the favorite. Summaries:

First race—Six furlongs. Alista, 9 to 2, won; Responsive, 9 to 2, second; Magdala, 4 to 1, third. Time, 1:14. Hopeful Miss, Bride, Pure Favor, Snow Cap, and Maggie Work also ran.

Third race—Five and one-half furlongs; purse. Floral King, 9 to 10, won; Elsie L., 8 to 5, second; Uranium, 60 to 1, third. Time, 1:06 4-5. Our Lillie, Mrs. Frank Foster, Syrlin, Boundling, and Clear The Arena, also ran.

Auditor in Second.

Fourth race—Crescent City Derby, $2,500 added, 1¼ miles. Ostrich, 6 to 5, won; Auditor, 7 to 5, second; Conkling, 15 to 1, third. Time, 1:52 1-5. Rainland, Lelia, and Vestina Belle also ran.

WAR ON TIPSTERS WAGES FIERCELY

Many Firms Driven Out of Business.

OBJECT WAS TO DEFRAUD

Inspectors Acting on Their Own Initiative and Have Many Victims on Their List.

Dan Smith, against whom a fraud order has been issued by the Postoffice Department, is but one of the many tipsters and conductors of turf investment schemes who are the objects of the Government's disapproval. Many have preceded Smith since the crusade against them began, and many will follow before the Postoffice Department inspectors are convinced that this scheme of giving tips and making bets is a thing of the past.

It may be stated on high official authority that the Postoffice inspectors have made up their minds that the method of advertising for commissions to bet on races, now in vogue in many cities of the country, will be stopped. At least, the Postoffice Department will do what it can to kill them, by preventing their using the mails to further their business ends. The main point the postal authorities make is that these schemes are always fraudulent. They say that their investigations prove that it is only in very rare instances that the subscriber receives anything but a losing card in return for the money he has sent to be bet.

Not Waiting Complaints.

"We do not wait," said an official of the department, "until we receive complaints before we start after these men. If we did we would not do much with them, for the average person who deals with them is ashamed of it and does not want to admit his connection with them. There are others who feel that they are making fools of themselves if they 'squeal' when they are taken in.

"We simply watch the advertisements and when we see one of a concern we think needs investigation, we clip it and send it to the inspector in the territory in which the business advertised is located. That was how we got after Smith, although we had nailed a number of others in New Orleans before we went for him."

Some of the Victims.

Smith's was not the only New Orleans case that came to the notice of the inspectors. They cleaned out several firms in the Crescent City and frightened others so that they went into voluntary liquidation. Among those against whom fraud orders have been issued are The Co-Operative Turf and Investment Company which was shut out on August 3, last, and Maxim & Gay, New Orleans and New York, against which a fraud order issued the latter part of December. This firm, which was the largest, perhaps, in the country, caught the newspapers by obtaining credit for advertising to the extent of $100,000 or $200,000 per newspaper. This has not been paid for at the time of its collapse, only twenty days after the New Orleans races opened.

Others closed up were: John Kirby, New Orleans and Brooklyn, order issued January 9; J. E. Ward, New Orleans and Brooklyn, January 9; James F. Young & Co., American Assurance Company, San Francisco, February 3; G. A. Rose Booking Association, San Francisco, February 5; Clark & Co., Alfred W. Perry, W. A. Wolff, February 26, John R. Warden, San Francisco, March 5.

Cities in the West are now receiving the attention of the inspectors, and fraud orders against other turf investment firms may be looked for at any time.
