$200 CHILDREN'S COLOR COMPETITION

IN CASH PRIZES

will be awarded by The Washington Times for artistic ability demonstrated in reproducing in colors the advertisements printed below. The advertisements will appear each Sunday for ten weeks. Prizes will be awarded as follows: $20 each week—first prize, $10; second prize, $5, and 5 consolation prizes of $1 each.

WALKER HILL DAIRY: Follow as near as possible colors on paper top of Simpson's Bottled Milk.—ELK GROVE BUTTER: Use your own judgment.—GEORGE C. SHAFFER: Use your own judgment.—HOLMES BAKERY: Use your own judgment.—GEORGE & CO.: Use your own judgment.—PHILLIPS' SAUSAGE: Color pig same as on original package and use own judgment as to lettering.—PEOPLE'S COMMERCIAL AND SAVINGS BANK: Follow as nearly as possible colors of original little home savings bank and book.—THE RILEY UNIVERSITY: Use own judgment.—A. LOFFLER PROVISION CO. (Inc.): Use own judgment.—"THE VELVET KIND:" Use own judgment.—N. AUTH PROVISION CO.: Use own judgment.—CARRY'S ICE CREAM: Use own judgment.

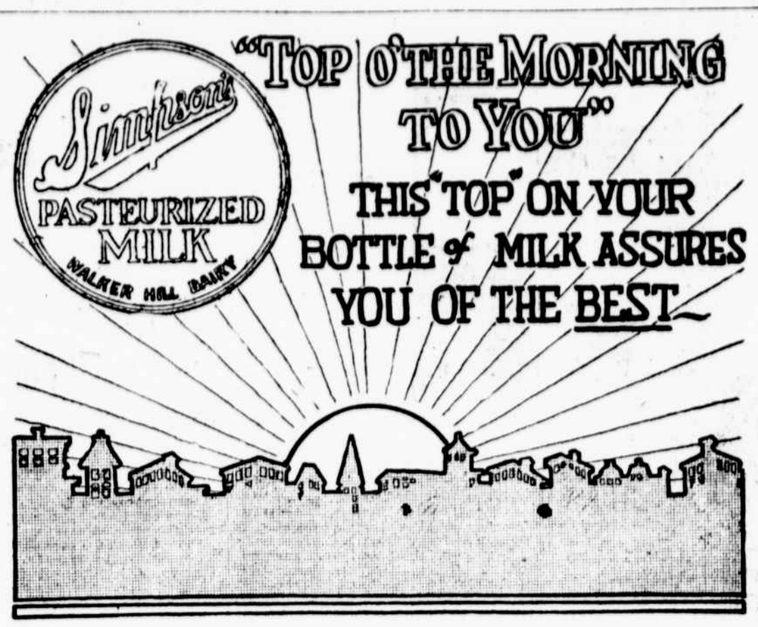
Name .....

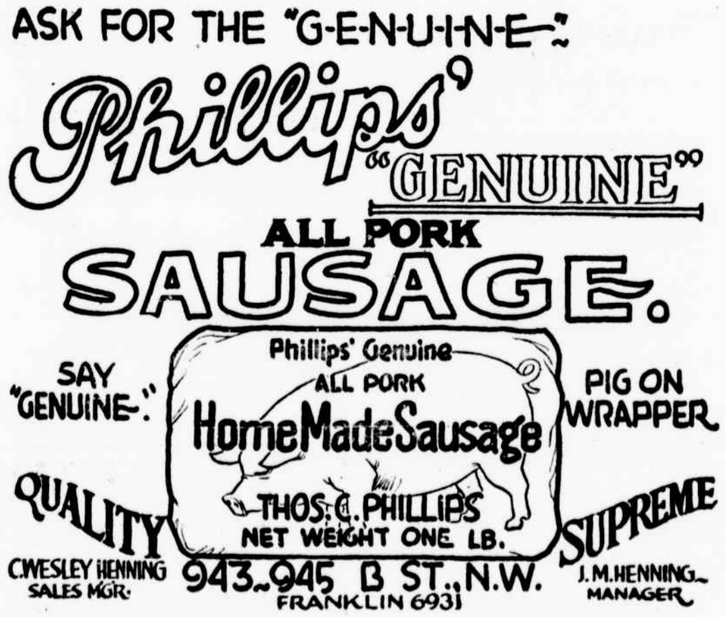
Address .....

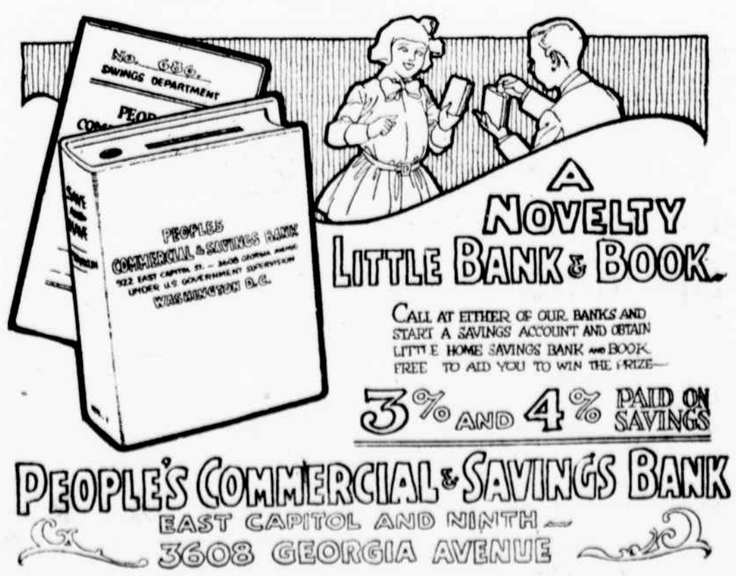
Age ..... School .....

LAST WEEK'S PRIZE WINNERS

First prize, Lillian Shakleford, 630 Third street northwest; second prize, Lucille M. Brown, 4236 Eighth street northwest; consolation, James C. Wheat, 750 Hobart street northwest, Marion Brown, 800 Varnum street northwest; Helen Lewis, 1423 Monroe street northwest; Margaret Donovan, 3619 Tenth street northwest, and Dita Downey, 3561 Tenth street northwest.

Rules of Competition—Give name, age, address and school attended. All school children of Washington are eligible except members of families of Washington Times employes. Contestants must color all advertisements. Beginning with this week's contest winners of the two major prizes will be ineligible. All contestants must have efforts at The Washington Times office by 9 A. M. next Friday. Prize winners will be announced in this space next Sunday.






Fill in coupon at top and mail your exhibit to the Color Contest Editor, The Washington TIMES.