CAMPBELL, PREW & CO.
EDITORS AND PROPRIETORS.

MONDAY MORNING, APRIL 23.

THEY have been having rather a singular administration of affairs in Iowa. Gov. Stone has permitted a private Secretary, named Orwig, to affix the Governor's signature to all kinds of papers, proclamations, pardons, death warrants, Congressmen's certificates, in short to ninety-nine hundredths of the documents reqiring the signature of the Chief Magistrate of the State. Orwig was kind enough to steal only thirty-four thousand dollars worth of land warrants, when he might have taken over a hundred and fifty thousand dollars worth. That was not excessive, considering his opportunities; A legislative committee, who have been looking into the matter, decide that the Governor did not profit by this diversion of the public funds, but that he was rather careless in his mode of doing business.

ACCORDING to the testimony of Alex. H. Stephens before the Reconstruction Committee of Congress the Georgians did not want to secede, but the opponents of secession were overwhelmed by the men who were shouting that South Carolina and Mississippi had gone out of the Union. Now we learn from Ex-Gov. Sharkey's testimony that in his opinion the people of Mississippi would never have approved the ordinance of secession, if an opportunity to vote on it had been afforded them. So the Georgians adopted an ordinance of secession against their own wishes, because the Mississippi Convention had adopted an ordinance against the will of the people of that State. It is well established, we believe, that the secession ordinance in Louisiana did not receive a majority of the votes of the citizens of that State. Who did want secession? The historical student will perhaps yet be forced to the conclusion that in no State but South Carolina did a majority of the inhabitants desire to secede. Each State was seen going out of the Union, because some other States were going, and at the same time these States were going out in opposition to their better judgment and their real desires. "The politicians," says Gov. Sharkey, "got us in hand, and forced us out of the Union." And so say the people in nearly every Southern State.

A COMMITTEE of the Chicago Academy of Sciences, after investigating the alleged disease in pork, report that they find trichina in the muscles of twenty-eight hogs out of the one thousand three hundred and ninety-four examined, and they conclude that in the hogs brought to Chicago one in fifty is affected with trichinasis, in a greater or less degree. As a security, the Committee say it is simply necessary to cook the meat thoroughly, so that every portion shall have experienced a temperature of at least one hundred degrees of Fahrenheit. The Committee refer to the panic in pork produced by the wild stories of trichina, and say:

This excitement has, with little doubt, been fostered by interested persons for speculative purposes, until people have come to imagine that there is a danger in eating pork of any kind—a danger all the more terrible because hidden, little understood, and undiscoverable by ordinary means. All this excitement has occurred before a single instance of the occurrence of trichina in American hogs has been, as far as we are aware, authentically reported. In our view, it would be folly to discard this kind of meat from our list of articles of food, when all possibility of injury attending its use may be avoided by the most simple means. Let the people but understand that only one hog in forty-eight contains trichina at all; that only one in three hundred contains them in sufficient numbers to cause considerable danger, and that even in these cases the worms are rendered innocuous by proper smoking, drying or cooking—and we imagine that few sensible persons will refuse pork as food if it suits their convenience to use it.

Neighborhood News.

Remember the Mass Meeting of Wool Growers, to be be held at Steubenville, on Wednesday next, the 25th.

The Union Central Committee for Hancock county have issued a stirring address to the people of that county. They are at work up there for the Constitutional Amendment.

A county convention is called to meet at New Manchester on the first Saturday of May.

Lieut. John W. White, of the 1st W. Va. Infantry, died at his home in New Cumberland, Hancock county, on Wednesday last.

Another project is on foot to prosecute the coal shaft enterprise at Wellsburg, about which so much has already been said, and so little done.

The receipts of the town of Wellsburg for the year ending on the 5th, from taxes, licenses, &c., were $1,605 31, and the expenditures $1,705 35.

The Pittsburgh Gas Saving Company has been recently incorporated. According to the Dispatch newspaper they have the right to exclusively use Boynton's patent, which, in giving the same amount of light, saves to the consumer one-half his gas bill. Before originating the company the Commissioners examined the certificates from New York and Philadelphia, and other gas light companies, certifying to the saving of gas, and also had it fully tested at the Pittsburgh Gas Works, with perfect success.

It is now on exhibition at the Pittsburgh Theatre, and has been tried with uniform success in the private residences of some of our first citizens.

The French invented an instrument to measure light, called the Photometer which measures light with as much certainty as a farmer can measure a bushel of wheat or corn.

This test cannot fail, and it demonstates the immense value of the Boynton Invention. It is a great public benefit in these times for any company to be organized to save the public money, especially on so necessary an article as Gas.

The capital stock has been fixed at the small sum of sixty thousand dollars, which, taking into view the importance of the matter, is a merely nominal sum. It is so planed as the gentlemen organizing it wish to benefit the citizens of Pittsburgh, as they are all men of large wealth.

The Montreal Telegraph, a bitter British tory paper, says: "Fenianism is eminently a Yankee swindle; the few Irish engaged in it, with rare exceptions, are only the dupes of Yankees, who use them for their own purposes; and it is the knowledge of this which has created throughout the British provinces such an intense hatred and contempt for the Yankee government and people, and such a strong desire to have a hand in giving them a dressing, while nobody cares to waste any anger on Finnegan."

According to the Halifax Sun there has not been so much caution exercised to prevent the spread of the plague from the steamship England as ought to have been, and beds and rubbish thrown from the ship have drifted ashore at Freshwater. Parts of coffins have been seen by fishermen floating about, although, since the ship has been quarantined, no bodies have been thrown overboard. A burial party of men remain on shore and a flag is hoisted on board when a corpse awaits burial. The coffin is hung over the side, the boat puts off, the coffin is lowered into the boat, it is taken ashore and consigned to a deep trench, a series of which is prepared on the beach.

Mr. William Lloyd Garrison has written a History of the Anti-Slavery Struggle in the United States, which is soon to be published.

There is no end to plagues. The birds at Genoa are dying by thousands, from the miasmatic vapors in the atmosphere.

The negro stevedores of Charleston, S. C., are exercising one of the rights of freemen and are on a strike for $2 per day.

Boxes for the reception of letters are to be placed in the streets of Philadelphia, and their contents left at the post office every trip.

A well regulated license system for the sale of intoxicating liquors is to be tried in New York. There has recently been no restriction on the sale of liquors in that city.

An effort is making to amend New York's city charter so that the city election shall be held at the same time as the State election. The expense of the separate election is over over $25,000.

In the year ending March 31, there were 243 fires in Chicago, doing $1,157,916 damage, or $274,724 more than the insurance. Meanwhile the expenses of the fire department were 170,855.

A lady died in a dentist's chair at Philadelphia, a few days ago. She had inhaled only a small quantity of chloroform, which happened to kill her, though a post-mortem examination showed her to be perfectly healthy.

The English "Society for promoting Christian knowledge" are advertising "Hymns for use during the cattle plague, with music." They are probably to be sung to "the tune the old cow died of."

Maury, scientific charlatan and ex-rebel, now in Paris, prints an appeal in behalf of the destitute people of the South. He says they lost seven thousand million dollars by the war. But then they gained the loss of Maury.

A negro makes the singular proposition, in a Pennsylvania paper, that he will raise $50,000 among colored men for the Fenian cause, provided the Fenians will do all in their power to dispel the Irish prejudice against the blacks and go in for their right to vote.

As one result of strikes in New York, brick is $3 per thousand lower, lath have declined $4 to $6 per thousand, and lime $1.25 to $2 a barrel. Builders who have not made their purchases of material like to encourage strikes of that kind.

Winan's cigar ship, which the English engineers expected to see bottom side up as often as any other way, believes itself in the calm waters where she has been run. When Winans will start on his four days' trip to this country isn't announced.

The gold cost of the foreign imports at New York during February—28 working days—was nearly $31,000,000, which is nearly $6,000,000 more than the value of the imports in any February previous, and 250 per cent advance on the imports of last February.

At municipal elections in ten cities in New York, four in New Jersey and one in Connecticut (Hartford), held this spring, the total democratic majority was 1,613; democratic majority in the same in 1864, 5,681, a Union gain of 4,068 in two years. If this is a "democratic revival," we hope there will be more of 'em.

The hat finishers of Yonkers, N. Y., dissatisfied with their wages, have raised $50,000 for the establishment of a "co-operative" hat factory on their own hook, wisely preferring this course to a strike. The molders at Troy are progressing well in the same direction and will soon have a foundry in operation.

Artemus Ward tells a good story concerning the production of the Lady of Lyons at the Salt Lake City Theatre: "An aged Mormon arose and went out with his twenty-four wives, angrily stating that he couldn't sit and see a play where a man made such a fuss over one womkin."

Edwin Forrest's engagement in California is for fifty nights, at $1,000 a night. The contract is the most extraordinary ever made with any actor, either in this or any other country, for the reason that on arriving at California, Mr. Forrest is bound to act if he does not feel disposed to do so, while the management makes it binding upon itself to do its own part.

Two daily lines of stages now run across the plains from the Missouri river, or the ends of the rival branches of the Pacific railroad, to Denver in Colorado. Both belong to the Holladay overland stage company, and the fare to Denver is $125, time four days. The fare through to Salt Lake is $250, time 10 days: to Boise City, Idaho, 12½ days, fare $350; to Virginia City, Montana, 15 days, fare $350.

A letter was read last week in the Conference of the Methodist Church South, now being held at New Orleans, from Bishop Soule, the senior Bishop, in which he strongly urged that in case a change was made in the name of the organization it should be called the "Wesleyan Episcopal Church." It is a little surprising, if not amusing, that the venerable Bishop should hit upon the exact name which a few radical anti-slavery members of the church adopted when they seceded from the body North, and organized a denomination of their own.

ONE of the peculiarities of the late Daniel S. Dickinson was the frequency with which, in his public addresses, he quoted from the Bible. This gave him the nick-name of "Scripture Dan." The New York Herald says in its notice of his death:

"One of Mr. Dickinson's peculiarities as a speaker—that of quoting freely from the Bible—gave him the nickname of 'Scripture Dan.' This name and this peculiarity stuck to him throughout his entire career; and one of the most noticeable passages in his last public speech is the embodiment in a eulogy on our soldiers of an old and familiar hymn. The speech was delivered at the reception of General Grant in this city on June 7, 1865; and, in alluding to the soldiers, he said, with singularly affecting pathos:

"'Soldiers who are living will be honored by every man and woman; those who are dead, their memories will be revered. Those who are living will now find rest and repose; those who are sleeping will find rest.

"'On the other side of Jordan,
Where the tree of life is blooming,
There is rest for you;
In the sweet fields of Eden
There is rest for the weary,
There is rest for you.

"'There they will sleep until the great reveille of the last, when we will be mustered in at the great day of account at the final roll-call.

"'We shall know each other there.'

"Could there be any more fitting eulogy pronounced upon the now dead orator than his own words?"

DIED.
