Independent Newspapers—The Chicago Tribune.

The return of JOSEPH MEDILL to the control of the Chicago Tribune has been pretty extensively advertised in our dispatches of late, and if he does not get a good send off in his new career it will not be the fault of the Associated Press. Mr. MEDILL is rather a favorite with the association and its representative agent at Chicago naturally therefore gives him a good show over the wires. For ourselves we are pleased to see him doing so. Mr. MEDILL is an able man, noted for his hard common sense views on all subjects, and also for his honest way of expressing them. With his ripe experience as an editor and public man, strengthened by his recent extensive travels abroad, he should make the Tribune a very interesting and powerful newspaper. Indeed the paper is that now. The management of Mr. HORACE WHITE, now retired, has been very able. We do not hesitate to say that to our taste he has published the most readable newspaper in the country. We only hope that Mr. MEDILL will be very sure that any changes he makes are for the better. We tender him our gratuitous warning on this point. What we have especially liked about his predecessor's management has been the independent tone of the paper on all subjects. Under him it has been a good photograph every day of "the age and body of the times," not only as regards politics, but likewise also science, literature, theology, the arts, and all that goes to make up a first-class newspaper. In these respects it has decidedly excelled the Cincinnati Commercial, a paper that owes its large circulation to the same cosmopolitan features.

Speaking of these two papers reminds us that it has lately been intimated that both of them are desirous of getting back into the Republican ranks as organs. This intimation is disposed of by the Commercial with the remark that it has found the grazing in the open prairies of independent journalism to be too palatable and succulent to think of coming inside the party fence, and for the present therefore it expects to remain where it is. Whether the Tribune, under its new management, will come inside the fence remains to be seen. We should think that Mr. MEDILL, with his acknowledged wisdom, would hesitate to do so, and especially at this time when the people themselves manifest a disposition to get on the outside. Indeed the present time may be considered the hey-day of independent journalism. The attraction of cohesion, including the cohesive power of public plunder, has been so badly burst asunder lately that the independent press can afford to be particularly independent just now. Such papers as the New York Tribune, the Chicago Tribune, the Cincinnati Commercial and the Springfield (Mass.) Republican claim that wisdom has at length been justified of her children, and that their course in opposing General GRANT's re-election in 1872 has at length been vindicated. There is no disputing the fact that the course of these newspapers, all of them being Republican in faith as well as independent in their advocacy of men and measures, did exercise a tremendous influence on public sentiment. No paper has made such ruthless and persistent assaults on the party leaders in Congress as the New York Tribune, and no paper in New England has done so much to upset Butlerism as the Springfield Republican. It is only paying a merited tribute to the great ability of these papers to say that the schemers in Congress stood more in awe of them than perhaps any two papers in the country. Even Harper's Weekly, with NAST's incomparable pencil to help it, has been overridden in its influence for the last two years by the Tribune and its independent coadjutors. That continual dripping which wears away stones, falling as it did every day, was too much for even the power of caricature, and consequently such men as CAMERON, CHANDLER, CONKLING, MORTON and BUTLER, at whom their blows were especially aimed, have experienced in person the butt end of the defeat that has taken place.

As to the future policy of the independent journalists a good deal might be said in the way of speculation. The old proverb tells us that "destruction is the work of an hour, but construction is the work of a life." To pull down is a negative employment but to rebuild requires positive elements of character. So far as regards the future policy of the Chicago Tribune we have some intimation of it in Mr. MEDILL's salutatory yesterday. It will be a Republican paper with independent proclivities. This is perhaps about as good a mixture of political qualities as can be prescribed for a Republican newspaper these days. It is a mixture moreover that is about as likely to be popular in the future as any that we know of. The people prefer it to day by a long odds to the Democratic organ grinding of the country. And now that the negative process of putting the Republican party out of power in so many States has just been accomplished there will come a demand for something positive and reconstructive in its character. The country is not going to drift along without party principles. The Republican party will speedily reorganize as a party of both principle and principles. Its leading journals will then, as they have in the past, give tone to the public sentiment of the country. As a general thing they are so much more ably and independently edited and also so much more widely patronized than the Democratic organs of the country, that it is not at all impossible that two years from now, should any leading issue arise, they will not only save the Presidential election to the party but bring it back to power in the House of Representatives.

WE observe that the Hon. SHERRARD CLEMENS, formerly of this city, participated actively in the late canvass in Missouri.

THE IRON TRADE.

Conference on Saturday, Between Iron Manufacturers and Puddlers, Regarding a Reduction of Wages—Another Meeting To day.

On Saturday afternoon a conference of iron manufacturers and puddlers was held for the purpose of agreeing, if possible, upon a new scale of prices for "boiling," etc. The difference which has existed for some time past between employers and employes has threatened to eventuate in a strike, and in order to avert any difficulty of that character and also to settle upon a new basis of wages the consultation was held. It is claimed that if the market price of iron continues decreasing, a general suspension of operations will inevitably follow, unless the price paid for puddling, etc., is reduced. The manufacturers hold that the present price of iron, about two and a half cents, does not justify them in paying six dollars per ton for puddling, and that the present sliding scale, on a basis of three cents, card rates, must be changed to meet the depressed condition of the market. It is further claimed that this depression is the result of the high price paid for puddling, six dollars per ton. The conference was held in the rooms of the Iron Association on Fourth Avenue, and a committee consisting of prominent manufacturers was met by a boilers' committee. Owing to the fact that the session was a secret one, our reporter was unable to glean particulars, but learned that the questions involved were discussed in a friendly way on both sides, without, however, arriving at anything definite. The conference finally adjourned, after the appointment of committees on behalf of both parties interested, which will meet again to-day to further discuss the subject, and, if possible decide upon such wages as will be fair to all concerned.

The following schedule, the manufacturers claim, exhibits the prices paid at Pittsburgh and other places:

New England, boiling or puddling	$3 75@4 00
Scranton, " " "	3 50
Troy, 6 heats, " "	3 75
Troy, 5 heats, " "	4 50
Harrisburg, boiling	4 50
Danville, "	4 65
Phœnixville, "	4 25
Reading, "	4 50
Bethlehem, "	4 50
Cambria, "	4 50
Pittsburgh, "	[illegible]

The puddlers allege the above table to be an unfair one, claiming that it gives prices for which no work is done, and which are causing strikes East and West. The following table they say exhibits the correct prices at which their services are being remunerated:

Leechburg, Johnstown and Apollo	$6 00	⅌ ton
Second District, comprising Wheeling, Steubenville, Ironton, Irondale, Columbus, Zanesville and Cleveland	6 25	⅌ ton
Third District, comprising Cowington, Newport, Portsmouth, Cincinnati, Louisville and vicinity, Indianapolis, Bellevile, St Louis and Terre Haute	6 50	⅌ ton
Fourth District, comprising Chicago, Joliet, Milwaukee, Wyandotte and Springfield	6 50	⅌ ton
Buffalo, New York, Niagara Falls forge	5 75	⅌ ton
Newark	6 25	⅌ ton
Fifth District, Troy, New York iron hills (six heats)	4 50	⅌ ton
Rolling iron (five heats)	5 25	⅌ ton
Paterson, New Jersey	6 75	⅌ ton
Oxford furnace	5 01	⅌ ton
Trenton, New Jersey	5 75	⅌ ton
