TRUSTEE'S SALE.

By virtue of a deed of trust, made by Joseph Frush and wife, to secure a certain debt therein mentioned, bearing date the 31st day of March, A. D. 1877, and recorded in the Clerk's office of the Marshall county court, in Deed of Trust Book No. 7, folio 468, I will sell on the premises, on commencing at 10 o'clock A. M., the following described property, to-wit: All the west one-half of that certain tract of land, situated on Zane's island, in the Ohio river, in the city of Wheeling, in said Ohio county, West Virginia, containing one-half of an acre, more or less, and being the same property conveyed to said John C. Frush by Henry Sharp, trustee for Ebenezer Zane, and wife, by deed of bargain and sale, dated the 1st day of June, 1849, and recorded in said county in Book No. 40, page 187, to which said deed of trust and said deed reference is hereby made for a more perfect description of said property. The said property is improved by a large two-story brick dwelling house, and other buildings on this lot, and is occupied as a tenement house, and is rented for $20 per month. The said property is believed to be perfect, but selling as trustee, I will convey only such title as is vested in me by said deed of trust.

SATURDAY, JULY 30, 1881,

Terms of sale—One-half in hand, or more if the purchaser prefers, the balance in two equal installments of six and twelve months, bearing interest from date, and the title to be retained until payment of the purchase money is fully made.

MEDICAL.

If you feel out of sorts, drowsy, debilitated, have frequent headache, mouth tastes badly, poor appetite and tongue coated, you are suffering from torpid liver, or "biliousness," and nothing will cure you so speedily and permanently as to take Simmons Liver Regulator or Medicine.

The cheapest, purest and best family medicine in the world.

An effectual specific for all diseases of the Liver, Stomach and Spleen.

Regulate the Liver and prevent CHILLS AND FEVER, MALARIOUS FEVERS, BOWEL COMPLAINT, RESTLESSNESS, JAUNDICE AND NAUSEA.

SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR

BAD BREATH!

No thing is so unpleasant, nothing so common as bad breath, and in nearly every case it comes from the stomach, and can be so easily corrected if you will take Simmons Liver Regulator. Do not neglect so sure a remedy for this repulsive disorder. It will also improve your appetite, complexion and general health.

PILES!

How many suffer torture day after day, making life a burden and robbing existence of all pleasure, owing to the secret and ring from Piles. Yet relief is ready to the hand of almost any one who will use systematically the remedy that has permanently cured thousands. Simmons Liver Regulator, is no drastic violent purge, but a gentle assistance to nature.

CONSTIPATION!

SHOULD not be regarded as a trifling ailment—in fact nature demands the utmost regularity of the bowels, and any deviation from this demand paves the way often to serious danger. It is quite as necessary to remove impure accumulations from the bowels as it is to eat or sleep, and no healthy body can be expected where a costive habit of body prevails.

SICK HEADACHE!

This distressing affliction occurs most frequently. The disturbance of the stomach, arising from the imperfectly digested contents, causes a severe pain in the head accompanied with disagreeable nausea, and into 20 minutes what is popularly known as Sick Headache.

CAUTION. Buy no powders or prepared Simmons Liver Regulator unless in our engraved wrapper with trade mark, stamp and signature unbroken. None other is genuine.

THE ASSASSINATION.

Why this direful and dire commotion
From the centre to the ocean?
Rumor with her random tongues
And her sixty hundred lungs,
Telegraph and telephone
Adding width and giving tone,
As over the wires throughout the Nation
Flashed the cry, "Assassination!"
Thrilling, maddening, sharp and brief—
Slaughter of the nation's chief!
Murder, with fiend-moon's charm,
Dealt by an assassin's arm.
Spreading broadcast Death's alarm!

All-Seeing Eye, All-Guarding Power,
Save him in this unmerited hour!
Why should a worthless regicide
Striked down a people's hope and pride?
Or why a useless life so sport
For mad murder's chosen resort?
The President is struck down
By murderous lunatic or clown!
Dire dart's weapon plunges in grief
A nation for its mainly chief!
Our Country's hope, light of fame,
Dependent on a mad caitiff
Or harrowing fate—or powering shame!

O swelling hearts! O tortured heads!
O harrowing sorrow, fear and dread!
This morn shrouded from sleep's soft bath,
Dreading to ask, fearful to hear
The death-tone grating on each ear!
"One chief of life"—no hope yet fair—
God's answer to his people's prayer
That, through the wildness of this night,
Ascended to the throne of Light,
Which saw bled from every human heart,
From every lip, from every fane,
O'er our broad land, in every part,
The prayer of faith spontaneous sprung
Up, as the ocean's awe-fling wave,
To God, our father's God, to save
The stricken chief, the fallen brave!

From the hearts of our million's pure prayers are ascending,
All o'er our loved land holy voices are blending,
From the highest in place and lowest in station:
"O Father of Light, spare the life of the Nation!"

THE PRESIDENT'S ASSASSIN.

A Professional Deadbeat and a Disreputable Character Generally.

Chicago Tribune:

If cheating and "beating" everybody with whom he has had any business relations from boarding house keepers to book publishers, is evidence of insanity, Guiteau is mad as a march hare. But the evidence of the would-be assassin's lunacy is confined to this class of practices. The fact of Guiteau's flitting from place to place and from occupation to occupation is not only not evidence of insanity in a legal point of view, but it is evidence of a steady purpose to "beat" his way through the world. When a person deliberately determines to live without work, to rob other persons of the fruits of their labor, frequent changes of the base of operations become a prime necessity. When one boarding-house keeper has been cheated to the last limit of endurance another boarding-house keeper is laid seige to; when in a certain occupation the dead-beat has become thoroughly known another occupation is promptly adopted which brings the tramp into relations with a new class of victims.

Guiteau has flourished conspicuously in Chicago, in Milwaukee, in Boston and in New York. He has professed law, and literature, and religion, and politics. But in every profession and in every place he has shown the cunning, the audacity and the unscrupulousness of an impudent, lazy, worthless villain and low dead-beat. People who have been brought in contact with him, and who have been hoodwinked, deceived, cheated and robbed by him, now good-naturedly call him "crazy," "half-crazy," "fanatical." But it has never occurred to any one one of these hundreds—nay, thousands—of sufferers by his peculations and impositions, to have the alleged "half crazy" scamp locked up in an insane asylum.

He has been in several jails but never in a mad-house. If Guiteau is mad there is much method in his madness. His "method" has been to cheat poor women out of board bills, to embezzle the money he collected for clients, to impose upon Christian men and women by pretended piety and devotion to the theories and practice of religion. When these fraudulent pretences became exposed and no longer served to keep him from rags and want, it has been Guiteau's custom to quarter himself upon his relatives, to cover his back and fill his belly at their expense, and in return for the bounty insult them!

He has tried to levy blackmail, threatened to shoot, intrigued desperately for "place," bored people nearly to death, lied like the father of lies, but always with a definite purpose—the purpose of extorting, without any equivalent whatever, a support from a reluctant and protesting community. He has repeatedly professed to be desperately in love, and so pestered wealthy women with offers of marriage, that it became necessary to kick him out of their presence. He is called a "fanatic" and a "monomaniac" on the subject of religion, but there is no more evidence of his true discipleship than there is that Judas was an honest man. There is no more evidence that Guiteau ever had any honest views or convictions on the subject of religion than there is that he had a genuine ambition to pursue honestly the profession of the law; and no man can become a fanatic or a monomaniac on any subject without first cherishing an honest conviction in relation to that subject.

Fanatics often exhibit noble traits of character. Indeed unselfishness is a distinguishing feature of fanaticism. But what act of unselfish devotion can be pointed out in Guiteau's career? Not one! The motive of every act has been bodily apparent, and it has always been personal gain, and a living without labor, and at the immediate expense of others. Every moment of his life Guiteau has been scheming to cheat somebody, and every moment he has succeeded, for it does not appear that he ever honestly earned a penny in the whole course of his life. During nearly the whole of his career he has been impecunious, because he succeeded only in cheating people out of small sums, whereas he desired to secure large sums. He has demanded the publication of his literary ventures, threatened editors with vengeance as the alternative of their refusal, and sued them for libel when they laughed at him. His adulteries and illtreatment of his wife compelled her to resort to to the courts to be rid of him.

There is not a redeeming feature in the villain's career. There is not an episode in it which tends to elevate the wretch above the grade of an educated tramp. The last act is the act of a baffled scamp, an act of rage and of revenge upon the last man off whose bounty he ineffectually sought to subsist. Nor is it presumed that Guiteau is a lunatic on the ground that no sane man could for a moment expect to escape the penalty of so awful a deed as the open, public assassination of the President of the United States.

For a dozen years Guiteau has lived the life of a thieving swindler. During all that time he has been an open violator of the law, and yet has escaped all punishment beyond an occasional brief incarceration in jail. Two things are very plain in connection with the act of assassination, and they both indicate presence of mind and full possession of the logical faculty on the part of the assasin: (1) He was determined to kill the President, for he did not desist from shooting until he saw his victim fall; (2) he had secured a "fast team" for escape, and the moment the President fell he turned instantly and ran rapidly towards his carriage.

All through his career, with which the public is now fortunately familiar, Guiteau has shown passion, malignancy, and vindictiveness, and these qualities are conspicuous in the act of assassination. Those people who have refused to submit to Guiteau's attempts to swindle them have invariably been abused and threatened by him. He launched vituperative epithets at them, sued them, etc., etc. Once he threatened to butcher his sister with a hatchet because she opposed him in a whim. President Garfield refused to give him an office; and he at last became so enraged at his failure to "beat" the President that he determined to kill him. Guiteau is not insane. He is a lazy, worthless, malignant devil.

BRITISH GRAIN MARKET.

Weekly Review by the "Mark Lane Express."

LONDON, July 5.—The Mark Lane Express, in its review of the grain trade for the past week, says: The weather has been uninterruptedly fine, and wheat has passed through the critical blossoming period favorably. The general position of the crops appears to be that of a healthy plant, thin on the ground and stinted in growth. Barley appearances indicate a good crop on the best lands and variable elsewhere. The oats prospect appears to be the worst regarding trade on account of the scarcity of native. Wheat advanced both in London and in the provinces, and the advance was maintained; but at the close buyers operated less freely.

Foreign trade has been on the wane the whole week. Wheat on Friday was cheaper all round, and the advance which was screwed out Monday was due to the small supply. This advance was lost on Friday, particularly regarding American red winter or spot. The decline amounted to 6da1s, yet buyers hesitated. The movement on the passage increased. The week's supply was chiefly Indian, Russian and American. Flour maintains Monday's advance, but the demand, which has been only consumptive, is slackening. The foreign supply is chiefly Australian. The European supply is very large. Prices were lower in London and the Provinces on Friday. Barley dull and rates lower, where business was transacted. Oats, native and foreign, firm and dearer. Maize quiet in tone and in buyers' favor. Sales of English the past week, 19,371 quarters, against 17,974 for the corresponding week last year.

PILES! PILES! PILES!

A Sure Cure Found at Last. No One Need Suffer.

A sure cure for the Blind, Bleeding, Itching and Ulcerated Piles has been discovered by Dr. Williams (an Indian remedy) called Dr. Williams's Indian Ointment. A single box has cured the worst chronic cases of twenty-five and thirty years standing. No one need suffer five minutes after applying this wonderful soothing medicine. Lotions, instruments and Electuaries do more harm than good. Williams's Ointment absorbs the tumors, allays the intense itching (particularly at night after getting warm in bed), acts as a poultice, gives instant and painless relief, and is prepared only for Piles, itching of the private parts, and nothing else.

Read what the Hon. J. M. Coffinberry, of Cleveland, says about Dr. Williams's Indian Pile Ointment: I have used scores of pile cures, and it affords me pleasure to say that I have never found anything which gave such immediate and permanent relief as Dr. Williams's Indian Pile Ointment.

Rescued from Death.

William J. Coughlin, of Somerville, Mass., says: In the fall of 1876 I was taken with bleeding of the lungs followed by a severe cough. I lost my appetite and flesh, and was confined to my bed. In 1877 I was admitted to the Hospital. The doctors said I had a hole in my lung as big as a half dollar. At one time a report went around that I was dead. I gave up hope, but a friend told me of DR. WILLIAM HALL'S BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS. I got a bottle, when to my surprise, I commenced to feel better, and to-day I feel better than for three years past.

"I write this hoping every one afflicted with Diseased Lungs will take DR. WILLIAM HALL'S BALSAM, and be convinced that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED. I can positively say it has done more good than all the other medicines I have taken since my sickness."

OFFICE DAILY INTELLIGENCER, WHEELING, Tuesday, July 5.

Business has been somewhat demoralized during the past week, and very little has been done owing to the excitement that prevailed incident to the terrible news of the attempted assassination of President Garfield, and Fourth of July festivities. The weather during the past week has been all that could be desired for harvesting, and the heavy wheat crop in this neighborhood will no doubt tend to reduce the price of that commodity. The supply of vegetables and fruits is large, and prices are well maintained. Groceries unchanged and in fair request. Bacon and shoulders have advanced a notch. We quote as follows:

APPLES—Sales of new crop at $3 00a3 50 per barrel; old $3 50a3 75.

BEANS—In small demand at $2 50a2 75 per bushel.

BUTTER—There is a good demand for the fine qualities, but no improvement in price; prime is selling at 12a14c.

CHEESE—Is being sold in a jobbing way at 8½a9c for prime new western factory; New York cream 10c;

CANNED GOODS—Dull and unchanged. Peaches, 2 lb cans, $1 35a1 60; 3 lb cans, $2 00a2 25. Tomatoes, 3 lb cans $1 10a1 25. Sweet corn, $1 00a1 40; Winslow corn, $1 60. Strawberries, 2 lb cans, $1 75. STOCKS—Market opened strong and ½a2 per cent higher, except for Elevated Railroad shares, which were 2a3½ lower. In the early dealings there was a general advance of ½a2½ per cent, most marked in Manhattan & Metropolitan Elevated, but before noon a weak tone developed and there was a reaction of ½a1½ per cent. During the afternoon speculation again became strong and there was an advance of ½a1 per cent, Northwestern, Michigan Central and St. Paul being the most prominent therein. In the late dealings a heavy tone prevailed, and the final sales were at a reaction of ½a¾ per cent. Chesapeake & Ohio first preferred were incorrectly reported at 4 in the noon report. It should have been 43½.

The Post says: The course of the Stock Exchange markets to-day makes it reasonably certain that all danger of a panic has passed. The theory respecting speculation which seems to prevail is that while prices may vary in a few points with varying advices respecting the President's condition, there will be no very important changes until it is certain whether the President can live or not. If he lives then the influences which were operative up to Saturday morning last will become so again. If he dies then the market will become uncertain, and there will be general suspense until the policy of the new administration becomes known.

Transactions 366,000 shares.
