ASSIGNEE'S SALE.

By virtue of a deed of assignment made by Vincent B. Carroll and Emily, his wife, to me as assignee, dated on the 16th day of September, 1889, and recorded in the office of the Clerk of the County Court of Ohio County, West Virginia, in Deed of Trust Book No. 29, page 38, I will sell at public sale on the premises, on SATURDAY, the 23d DAY of NOVEMBER, 1889, commencing at 10 o'clock a. m., the following described property, that is to say: All that certain tract of land, situated one mile northwest of West Alexander, on the waters of Little Wheeling creek, in Liberty district Ohio county, West Virginia, and adjoining the lands of the heirs of James R. Bell, deceased, William A. Whitham, D. T. Atkinson and others, and bounded as follows: Beginning at a hickory tree in a small run, in the divided lands formerly owned by Moses Hull and thence with Hull's line, north 25 degrees, west 85 poles to a beech in Hull's line; thence north 64½ degrees, west 156 poles to a black oak in the divided lands formerly owned by William Collins; now D. T. Atkinson; thence south 31 degrees, west 123 poles to a sugar tree in Whitham's line; thence east 195 poles to the place of beginning, and containing one hundred acres more or less. This being the same property that was devised to the said Vincent B. Carroll by the will of Joseph Carson, deceased, now of record in the Clerk's office of the County Court of Ohio County, West Virginia, in Will Book No 7, page 81.

TERMS OF SALE—Three thousand dollars and as much more as the purchaser may elect to pay, in cash, on day of sale, the balance in two equal installments at one and two years, notes bearing interest from day of sale to be given for the deferred payments, the title to be retained until payment is made in full.

LIVE IT DOWN.

Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

Has your life a bitter sorrow?
Live it down.
Think about a bright to-morrow;
Live it down.
You will find it never pays
Just to sit, wet-eyed, and gaze
On the grave of vanished days;
Live it down.

Is disgrace your galling burden?
Live it down.
You can win a brave heart's guerdon;
Live it down.
Make your life free from blame
That the lustre of your fame
Shall hide all the olden shame;
Live it down.

Has your heart a secret trouble?
Live it down.
Unless grief will make it double,
Live it down.
Do not water it with tears—
Do not feed it with your fears—
Do not nurse it through the years—
Live it down.

Have you made some awful error?
Live it down.
Do not hide your face in terror;
Live it down.
Look the world square in the eyes;
Go ahead as one who tries
To be honored ere he dies.
Live it down.

OUR GIRLS.

Dancing and Dances—Good Word for Swimming—Fair Mountain Lion-Slayer.

'Twas once American maidens shrewd
Sang loudly of Yankee Doodle,
But now they lay for the British dude—
Especially for his boodle.

—Boston Courier.

A good many society girls of the period left school prematurely.

The Chorolistha is the last London dance; from choros, a dance, and olisthanein, to glide.

Never talk base ball to a pretty girl. Ten to one she will make you ashamed of your ignorance.

Physicians of eminence now advocate swimming as a necessity to our physical development.

Carlotta Banks, of Sacramento, saved her three young brothers from death while the paternal mansion was on fire. It is feared she will lose her eyesight.

Martha Tulldge, of Dakota, is 19 years old. This year she plowed, sowed and reaped forty acres of land and sold 600 bushels of wheat. All this was done without male assistance.

Tillie McCready, of Mississippi, determined nine years ago never to marry a man who neither smokes, drinks, swears, chews or uses slang. She is not married yet and thinks of making a compromise if she gets a chance.

Girls more backward than boys in their first swimming lessons? On the contrary, they learn more speedily before the age of ten, but thereafter the boys are more venturesome—the sex running to rashness as they add to their years.

Matilda Moore, of Greenfield Springs, Col., has killed three mountain lions, can ride as well as any cowboy and is an accomplished pianist. Her father took her west four years ago from Boston to save her life. She is now healthy and happy.

Marie Bullock, of London, was engaged to a young man. He came to see her one night under the influence of liquor. A row followed. He promised to reform after marriage. She insisted that he reform before. He objected. She dismissed him and is now the wife of a prosperous attorney.

Miss Mae Macey is entitled to the distinction of best girl swimmer of Chicago. She is tall and supple, and has a faculty of cutting through the water at marvelous speed, easily making thirty feet in three forward glides. She floats like a feather, and enjoys a ramble sixty feet below the surface.

The ambition of American girls to marry titled foreigners is one of our national reproaches as well as a slur upon modern civilization. There can be no decent excuse urged in behalf of those who thus degrade matrimony and sacrifice the best instincts of their sex to an inordinate and disgusting vanity.

Ethel Sanderson, of Boston, is the daughter of a wealthy commission man. She is highly educated and has traveled in Europe, and is an accomplished linguist and musician. She can cook an eight-course dinner without aid, and can keep house better than her maiden aunt, who has done nothing else for forty years.

A new fancy of luxurious New York girls is to wear real Japanese gowns—which the Oriental importers bring over especially for them—in their bed-rooms as a substitute for the ordinary wrapper. These gowns are exquisitely pretty and comfortable, and Miss Bigelow, who was married last week, had one of the palest pink, embroidered in silver, in her trousseau. They are made of crape of the heavy Japanese sort, which has much more weight and substance than the China crape, and are covered with delicate needlework in silk and metal.

"There is a new dance called 'The Dream,' which is said to be a veritable dream. The wife of the composer dreamed the dance, and at once awakened her husband, who arose and composed the dance to her steps. It is in the schottische time, and will be very popular. We will also have the dances of last season—the Yorke, the glide waltz, the graceful La Belle Canadienne, the Hungaria, a variation of the mazourka and the mazourka and the lancers. There will be changes in the time and method, but the indications are that the waltz movement will be a favorite. It is safe to say that the liveliest dancing will be a glide.

A daughter of the household was told to get some sweet potatoes and put them on to boil. She did as directed, but when the dinner hour arrived the potatoes were not done. They were boiled still longer, and then were not done. They were then baked, with no better success. Finally the mother went to see how many such tubers she had. Going to the box where they were kept, the mystery was solved when she found that her daughter had taken dahlia bulbs, which lay near the box, instead of the sweet potatoes. Probably the dahlia tubers will not sprout any better in the spring for having been boiled.

OUR BOYS.

Interesting Clippings Concerning Young America and His Cousins.

There never schoolboy was who'd not
Good motives with his sins,
If he'd an enemy he'd try
To "set him on his pins."

—Yonkers Gazette.

Arithmetic is the sum of many a small boy's troubles.

Because a boy is a remarkable little shaver is no sign that he will become a barber.

When a young man applies for a situation he should always have a cigarette in his mouth.

Ten million pennies are about to be coined. This will make the small boy vote solid for the Administration.

As a little Indian boy was wading in the Feather River, near Oroville, Cals., last week, a fish nipped off the big toe of his left foot.

J. T. Trowbridge, the well known writer of books for boys, is over seventy years of age, and lives at Arlington, Massachusetts. He has made a fortune with his pen.

"Well, Tommy, how are you getting along at school?" Tommy (aged eight)—First rate. I ain't doing as well as some of the other boys, though. I can stand on my head, but I have to put my feet against the fence. I want to do it without being near the fence at all, and I guess I can after a while.

The following is an extract from a real composition written by a small school-boy in New Jersey. The subject given by the teacher was the extensive one of "Man." Here's what the small boy wrote: "Man is a wonderful animal. He has eyes, ears, mouth. His ears are mostly for catching cold in and having the earache. The nose is to get sniffles with. A man's body is split half way up, and he walks on the split ends."—Lippincott's Magazine.

Sunday School teacher (in New York)—All these things, children, that I have been speaking of, will take place when the millennium comes. Small boy (who reads the papers)—Ain't a goin' to be any millennium, ma'am. Teacher—Why not, Tommy? Small boy—Chicago'll get it.

Out of a large collection of schoolboys' blunders which I have accumulated in many years of school teaching I should like to offer you one. I asked, once, in a history paper, for the date of some event in ancient history, and got for a reply: "A long time ago, before the Christian error."—London Spectator.

Selling newspapers is not what it used to be, and the average newsboy has to get up and hump if he expects to make both ends meet. One cause for this is that local newsdealers sell a larger number of papers over the counter than they formerly did, and the other cause is the fact that a large number of women, especially elderly ones, have entered the trade, and you occasionally find a full grown man selling papers.

The career of Hon. George F. Gober, who has just been elected Judge of the Blue Ridge Circuit by the Legislature of Georgia, is an incentive to the young men of the country. Mr. Gober is only 34 years of age, and is perhaps the youngest man ever elected to the Judicial Bench in Georgia. He graduated from the University of Georgia in 1875, taught school for a couple of years and then read law. Admitted to the bar, he soon achieved success.

A school friend of the Emperor of Germany says: "In history, especially in Prussian history, I was told he had no peer; could draw the plan of any battle field on which his ancestors had fought, at a moment's notice, and had all the facts and figures at his fingers' ends. In modern language he was also very good, but in mathematics and the languages of antiquity he was nowhere. Accustomed to a simple, useful life, and not yet having become blase through much admiration, he was a pleasant youth, who stood well in the estimation of his school fellows."

As for boys, they need love more than girls. I suppose they will cry out against that as an extravagance; but it is true. Girls will content themselves with loving; a boy must be loved. And there is not much less than this fact at the bottom of the other fact that so many boys go to mischief. They are counted as more independent and self-reliant than girls, so that, while the latter are petted and warded, the boys are expected to take care of themselves. When he no longer gets fondled and loved at home, he is homeless, and you may look for him almost anywhere trying to satisfy his hungry soul with something else.

A Pressing Invitation.

Merchant Traveler.

"Say, are you goin' to John Williams' ball?"

"I guess so. I got an invite."

"Was it pressin'?"

"Rather. Johnny saw me in the street an' says if I didn't show up at the ball he'd come over and wipe de pavement up wid me."

Trifling Injuries.

Football Player (feebly)—"Did we win?"

Sympathizing Comrade—"We did, old fellow."

Football Player (excitedly)—"Never mind that dislocated thigh, doctor. Take these broken teeth out of my mouth so I can holler!"

HOSPITAL REMEDIES.

A New Method of Treating Diseases.

What are they? There is a new departure in the treatment of diseases. It consists in the collection of the specifics used by noted specialists of Europe and America, and bringing them within the reach of all. For instance the treatment pursued by special physicians who treat indigestion, stomach and liver troubles only, was obtained and prepared. The treatment of other physicians, celebrated for curing catarrh was procured, and so on till these incomparable cures now include disease of the lungs, kidneys, female weakness, rheumatism and nervous debility.

This new method of "one remedy for one disease" must appeal to the common sense of all sufferers, many of whom have experienced the ill effects, and thoroughly realize the absurdity of the claims of Patent Medicines which are guaranteed to cure every ill out of a single bottle, and the use of which, as statistics prove, has ruined more stomachs than alcohol. A circular describing these new remedies is sent free on receipt of stamp to pay postage by Hospital Remedy Company, Toronto, Canada, sole proprietors. THIRD PARTY TACTICS.

Temperance Lecturers Who Sail Under False Colors—Views of a Correspondent.

To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

SIR:—On the evening of the 5th there was delivered in this place, by Harry B. White, of Ohio, a "lecture on temperance." His object in making a tour of the State at the present time is ostensibly to organize lodges of the Independent Order of Good Templars, and to rejuvenate those which have disbanded from lack of interest. But his lectures develop an object much deeper than this, though a prominent head-line of the hand-bill announcing his coming states that "he does not talk politics."

This head-line led the writer to expect a good, old-fashioned lecture on temperance, without any admixture of politics whatever; but Mr. White had not spoken long until it was discovered that the tenor of his discourse was point blank against the high license principle of the Republican party. True, this principle has not yet been announced by the Republican organization in this State as a party, but all legislation of any value in other States for the regulation of the liquor traffic by means of high license with incidental local option has been by and through the influence of the Republican party.

It is said that when conversing in private with Republicans here, Mr. White claimed to be a Republican, and that he stated that Foraker would be re-elected Governor of Ohio because the whisky men would support him. The result, however, demonstrates the reverse; and a close inquiry into the causes of the result will perhaps show that many Prohibitionists voted with the saloons. But on the rostrum he declared himself both a prohibitionist and a Woman Suffragist. It is known that woman suffrage is one of the final objects of the Prohibition party.

Against high license the lecturer cited by way of analogy fifty-four murders committed in West Virginia within two months, despite the most stringent laws in opposition to murder; "therefore," he reasoned, "how in the name of God can the liquor traffic be controlled by high license?" Thus overlooking the fact that his conclusion rebounded with double force when applied to prohibition; for, if by a most rigid law with an overwhelming public sentiment behind it the State cannot suppress murder, how in the name of common sense is a law wish but a weak public sentiment in support of it going to prohibit the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors?

He argued further that if the liquor traffic could be broken up there would be more employment for the workingman; forgetting the fact that the labor market is already overstocked, and to turn the men employed in the traffic suddenly into other channels would create still greater competition, a proportionately less amount of work, and consequent idleness and suffering. He also incidentally confirmed the fact that prohibition does not prohibit in Kansas.

His audience was exceedingly slim; and the remainder of his lecture was little more than a repetition of stale jokes to keep his hearers awake, and an overdrawn picture poorly executed of a doubtful incident in the life of some drunkard for rhetorical effect.

Not satisfied with the crushing defeat of the Prohibition Amendment at the late election, nor with the rapid strides of the Republican party in the direction of practical temperance through high license in other States, Third Party workers under the disguise of temperance lecturers come thus early into West Virginia to work up a sentiment in favor of prohibition ready for the next Congressional campaign. The evident intention of Prohibition leaders in this State is to put candidates in the field to draw away votes from the Republican nominees, or to throw their influence on the side of the Democratic party for the purpose of defeating the Republican party at the polls. The sentiment is to be worked up in the meantime through the local lodges of the Independent Order of Good Templars, and the local clubs of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, many of whose charter and honorary members are known to be Prohibitionists. The sentiment in favor of temperance created by each of these useful temperance organizations, is to be prostituted to the mercenary schemes of a pseudo-political party.

Such lectures as these are an everlasting injury to the temperance cause. Wherever delivered they bring the cause into disrepute. The public soon discovers that the object is not so much to keep young men away from the saloon, as to build up the waning fortunes of a clique of politicians.

Opposition to the saloon is, as an abstract principle, right, but constitutional prohibition is found to be both inexpedient and unsatisfactory. It is shown to be utterly impossible to make men moral by legislation. The incentive to morality and practical temperance must exist as an element of the human mind; for, where this element is weak, or uncultivated, there is little or no morality.

Both sound statesmanship and intellectual philosophy therefore suggest that our temperance work commence by the cradle at home. Indeed, the highest ambition of every woman should be to shape the minds of her own children in the mold of temperance and morality at home, and thus demonstrate that

"All true trophies of the ages
Are from mother-love imparted,
For the hand that rocks the cradle
Is the hand that rules the world."

Newburg, W. Va., Nov. 12.

"WHY need it be?" we say and sigh
When loving mothers fade and die,
And leave the little ones whose feet
They hoped to guide in pathways sweet.

It need not be in many cases. All about us women are dying daily whose lives might have been saved. It seems to be a wide-spread opinion that when a woman is slowly fading away with the diseases which grow out of female weaknesses and irregularities that there is no help for her. She is doomed to death. But this is not true. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is constantly restoring women afflicted with diseases of this class to health and happiness. It is the only medicine for these ailments, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee from the manufacturers of its giving satisfaction in every case, or money paid for it will be refunded.

Dr. Pierce's Pellets, the original and only genuine Little Liver Pills; 25 cents a vial; one a dose.

Ladies

In delicate health and all who suffer from habitual constipation, dyspepsia, biliousness or piles, should try the pleasant fruit laxative, Elixir of Dates. Sold in 50 cent bottles by C. R. Goetze, W. W. Irwin, John Laughlin, Logan Drug Company and Goodwin & Co., wholesale agents.

A DUTY TO YOURSELF.

It is surprising that people will use a common, ordinary pill when they can secure a valuable English one for the same money. Dr. Acker's English pills are a positive cure for sick-headache and all liver troubles. They are small, sweet, easily taken, and do not gripe. For sale by Logan Drug Co., J. T. Goodwin & Co., C. R. Goetze, A. T. Young, John Coleman. DAW-9

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria,
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria,
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria,
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Sick Headache.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

The Features of the Money and Stock Markets.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Money on call easy, ranging from 5 to 6 per cent, last loan 5 per cent, closed offered at 5 per cent. Prime mercantile paper 5½@7½ per cent. Sterling Exchange quiet and steady at $4 80¾@4 84¾. Sales 265,977 shares.

The stock market was quiet to-day, though the dealings extended to an unusually large number of shares and the temper from the opening to the close was moderately bullish. The movement of prices after the first half hour was steady though tending slowly upwards well into the afternoon, when the buying assumed larger proportions and the rise was accelerated. The Southern stocks were the most noticeable feature, though Richmond & West Point seemed to drag after its sharp advance of the past few days, and the Grangers followed with marked movements in the specialties. The trusts, with the exception of Cotton Oil, were noted. Sugar was the only one which made any material final advance, and that was comparatively dull throughout the day.

The final prices show uniform gains throughout the list, and Sugar and Oregon Transcontinental are up 1¾ per cent each, Tennessee Coal a like amount, Jersey Central 1¼, Louisville & Nashville 1¼, Rock Island, Denver, Texas & Fort Worth, Lackawanna, Norfolk & Western preferred and St. Paul 1½ each, Consolidated Gas 1½, Hocking Valley and Canadian Pacific 1 per cent each, and others fractional amounts.

Railroad bonds moderately active; sales $1,528,000.

Government and State bonds dull and steady.

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—Wheat—A large business was transacted on speculative account, and the market was quite strong most of the session. There was active buying by shorts, and at the same time the advanced prices induced considerable realizing by the long interest. Wheat, however, seemed to be all absorbed without causing much if any reaction in prices until about half an hour before the close, when a weak feeling set in. Corn—A good business was transacted with the feeling weaker. Oats quiet at inside figures; provisions easier, prices showing little change. Flour firm and unchanged. Wheat, cash No. 2 spring 81@81½c; No. 3 spring 65@66c; No. 2 red 81@81½c; December 81½@82⅝c, closing at 82c; year 81c; January 81½@82c, closing at 81½c; May 85½@85⅝c, closing at 85c.
