DAILY NEWS.

THURSDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 23, 1865.

THE FOLLOWING, from a Tennessee paper, will give our readers an idea of the management of free negro labor in Tennessee:

CHILDRESS' FARM, NEAR MURFREESBORO', TENN., October 13, 1865.

MAJ. GEO. L. STEARNS: Respected Friend: I now answer your inquiries, made in a letter of the 5th instant, in regard to our laborers of last year and this.

Last year we employed 25 men, 21 women, 16 boys, 4 girls—total 66. This year 25 men, 23 women, 21 boys, 4 girls—total 73. Last year one was discharged; this year two, a boy and girl. The one of last year is working for us now a good hand. Of last year's hands fifty have continued to work for us this year, one is disabled (we are maintaining him), part of the remainder have rented land and raised a good crop. Most of the residue have offered to work for us if we need to take them. We have invariably paid in full once every month; in cotton-picking semi-monthly, having at that time some extra hands. This year we pay for cotton-picking one cent per pound. They board themselves.

As to wages, last year we paid—men $10 per month, and a ration worth $8; women, $8, and a ration worth the same; boys, $5 to $6, and a ration in proportion; in addition, a patch of cotton under our own management, which netted us the rate of $40 to each full hand. We pay this year to men $12, and a ration worth $7; women, $8 to $5, ration, $6; boys, $4 to $10, proportionate ration; in addition, a cotton patch which will net $16 to $20 to full hand. Some commute the ration for money. To four or five extra good men we pay $18 to $20; in addition, we find house, garden-patch and fuel, and furnish most of the medicines needed.

A few are energetic, industrious and economical; five-sixths have worked steadily and industriously, and are, in nearly an equal proportion, economical, though the industry and economy of the black man is not of the same kind as that of the Northern white laborer. No work can be got out of them Saturday afternoon. Most Northern persons, on close acquaintance, exclaim at their ingratitude; I call it intense selfishness. Nor have we more than half a dozen that won't steal, and from us as readily as from any one else. They are not so tractable this year as last, and it takes more watching to keep them at work, though not more than Northern laborers of the same class. Now that the war is over, they incline to rent land to work "on shares."

Hoping the above may be of use to you and satisfactory,

I am, respectfully yours,

ABNER M. WOODWARD.

THE JAMAICA INSURRECTION.—The terrible negro insurrection which lately broke out in the British Island of Jamaica, has been virtually suppressed. It was inevitable that it should be short-lived, however sanguinary, barbarous and brutal it may have been in its inception, and however great the disparity between whites and blacks as to numbers. Wherever and whenever the two races come into collision, the superiority of the whites must, in the end, by the law of nature, signally assert itself, just as it does under the ordinary conditions of civilized life. The statement has already been made from Jamaica showing that the difficulty grew out of the vices of the black race in the island, their idleness and unthriftiness, from which they became unable or unwilling to pay the usual moderate tax, though occupying lands gratuitously. The unadvanced condition of the negro population in Jamaica is well known. Whether it might not have been better, after their many years of freedom, had more direct and special steps been taken to that end by those who accomplished their emancipation, cannot be definitely determined; but having secured them liberty of action and put them on equality of privileges with its other free citizens, the British Government adopted the usual rational theory of leaving freemen to work out their own destiny. They are, in every island, free; any other policy would seem a necessity.

The population of the Island of Jamaica consists of about 315,000 blacks and 15,000 mulattoes to about only 15,000 whites. The late outbreak, as our Consul represents, was designed to be a war of extermination similar to that of the French in St. Domingo. It therefore became a very serious matter for us to observe. Had it been possible for it to succeed, it would have rolled back civilization and progressive development in Jamaica incalculably, and done injury to the black race, for there can be no question at this day that the race is better off under the influence of the white race, though not on social equality (whether with or without equal rights before the law), than in any other condition. This is shown in our own country, on every hand—in Maryland especially. Where, in a mixed community of the races, the whites preponderate in numbers, as here, we find the negro on a higher plane and in a better moral and social condition than where the reverse is the case. His condition is better in Maryland, perhaps, than in Virginia, and in Virginia than in South Carolina, Alabama, &c. The rapid emigration of white population into the far Southern States, therefore, while of the first importance to the present white residents and those States themselves, may also be of advantage to the negroes. Under these circumstances the avoidance of issues with the whites is at all times the best policy of the colored race. Those who advise them to the contrary are not their true, certainly not their wisest friends.—Baltimore Sun.

OUR young lady readers may be surprised to hear that the present style of wearing the hair in nets was practiced by wild Karens in Burmah more than thirty years ago. In a letter which Dr. Judson wrote thirty-four years ago, he said: "On one Karen lady I counted between twelve and fifteen necklaces of all colors, sizes and materials. Three was the average. Brass belts above the ankles; neat braids of black hair tied below the knees; rings of all sorts on the fingers; bracelets on the wrists and arms, long instruments of some metal perforating the lower part of the ear by an immense aperture, and reaching nearly to the shoulder; fanciffully constructed bags, enclosing the hair, and suspended from the back part of the head, not to speak of the ornamental parts of their clothing, constituted the fashions and ton of the fair Karenesses."

THE Montgomery (Ala.) Ledger reports the existence of small pox in that city to an alarming extent. It says that most loathsome and infectious disease is abroad here and rapidly spreading every day in all the wards; and that the military and municipal authorities are laboring to prevent its further increase and with some success. Under the circumstances, it warns the citizens of Montgomery not to attend the circus exhibition, but to keep close at home.

WE REGRET to learn, through our Georgia exchanges, that the Rev. William J. Sassnett, D. D., died at his country residence near Sparta (Ga.), on the 3d inst. His death will prove a great and irreparable loss, and will be regretted by all who knew him. Dr. S. was one of the ablest Divines of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. For a number of years he had been professor in Emory College (Ga.), and some six years since took the Presidency of a Methodist College or University in Auburn (Ala.) He is the writer of several text books on morals and kindred topics.

THE Secretary of the Navy has decided to send abroad a considerable portion of our surplus naval force, with orders to cruise between the principal commercial ports of each station, and visit them all as often as once every three or six months. This watchfulness will bring increased respect for our rights abroad, and prevent many vexatious impositions that have hitherto been practiced. Should Congress withhold appropriations, or otherwise apply those already made, this action of the Department will of course be suspended.

ON 15th inst. the time for receiving bids for contracts in the mail service of Virginia, West Virginia, North and South Carolina and Florida transpired, and the formal awarding of the respective contracts to parties whose rates had been accepted is under way. The contracts about to be consummated for service in the above States will go into effect on the 1st of January, 1866, and expire in June, 1867. It is reported that all the bids made for this service have been largely in excess of the rates formerly in vogue for the same routes.

Over the entire South, the introduction of labor and capital is of the greatest importance. In Louisiana, the planters are desirous of cultivating on shares, or in partnership with parties advancing capital, or even to lease their lands on the most favorable terms. The usual means of getting money are now inaccessible, while there are many planters at present in New Orleans confident of their ability to raise a thousand bales of cotton next year if they could obtain command of a capital of $50,000. The first and heavy necessary outlay used formerly to be the purchase of the slaves, which is of course now done away with; the land, too, is cheaper than before, and it is calculated that hardly more than one-fourth of the capital heretofore considered requisite is now necessary to embark in the business. The New Orleans Picayune is responsible for the assertion that, in 1861, one man, with the assistance of his wife and little boy, made four thousand dollars off ten acres of ground in cotton not many miles from that city. Such an return could hardly be surpassed by a rival gold mine or a genuine oil spring.

Among other visitors who were received on the 15th by Gen. Grant at the Metropolitan Hotel, New York, was a delegation of about fifty gentlemen from the Pacific States. In talking with them about the Pacific Railroad, the General said he expected to see it completed within five years. A meeting of prominent citizens was held on the 15th inst., at New York, at which arrangements were perfected for a brilliant reception to be given to Gen. and Mrs. Grant. It was to have taken place at the Fifth Avenue Hotel on yesterday evening. Two thousand invitations were issued. The rooms were to have been handsomely decorated, and during the evening music, fireworks and refreshments would form part of the entertainment. The Governor's Island Band serenaded the General at about twelve o'clock at the Metropolitan Hotel. Repeated calls were made by the crowd for a speech, but without success. The General appeared at the window of his room and bowed his acknowledgments.

Mr. Chauncey M. Depew, present Secretary of State of New York, has been appointed by President Johnson Minister to Japan.

SOCIAL LIFE IN NEW ORLEANS.—At the present time there are in the Crescent City about 30,000 more people than ever before, and every steamboat, steamship and railroad comes crowded with visitors. Our city is therefore very gay. In business hours it is impossible to move about without jostling, and in the afternoon Canal-street is dressed in all the glories of the Boulevard des Italiens. At our theatres several of the most accomplished artists of the country have recently made their appearance, and last night the new opera house was reopened to a German dramatic company, which brought out Guston's "Das Urbild des Tartuffe" in splendid style, and with excellent music, to the great delight of our numerous Teutons. To-night we are to have "Christine von Schweden," which will doubtless bring out both the Teutonic and Gallic elements of our society. In a few weeks we shall have the Italian opera and after that the French, which last is most endeared to our Creole population.—N. O. Times.

Orders from the Canadian Adjutant-General for the despatch of troops to the frontier, have been received at both Toronto and Hamilton, and it is understood that nine companies will be immediately sent to different points. One of the Toronto papers heads its notice of this order with the stirring appeal, "Volunteers, to Arms!" and there appears to be quite a military fever. The Montreal bankers have armed their employees, and the whole province seems to be moving for the reception or the assistance of the terrible Fenians.
