THE DAILY NEWS.

Princess and Page.

I.

Spring in France is sunny and fair,
Spring's sweet odors enchant the air.

Into the Louvre's casement wide
Poureth the sunshine's golden tide.

Princess Marguerite standeth there,
Jewelled daisies amid her hair.

She glances down, and whispers low,
"Who is the page that waits below—

"You handsome youth with joyous air,
With broad, white brow and shining hair?"

The page looks up: his eager glance
Rests on the fairest face in France.

Glance answers glance with meaning sweet,
Fair page—fair Princess Marguerite.

II.

The summer scented zephyrs glide
Into the Louvre's casement wide.

Summer's sunshine in golden sheen
Glimmers around Queen Catharine.

"What handsome page," she mutters low,
"Is he that waiteth now below?"

"The velvet cap that crowns his curls
Is clasped with a daisy wrought of pearls.

"Last night he sang an old song sweet,
'Si douce, si douce, est la Marguerite.'

"Hear and heed; so have a care,
My handsome page—my daughter fair!"

III.

The autumn winds chant wild refrain
Above the dark and sullen Seine.

A pallid moon with spectral light
Changes to ghostly day the night.

Over the river's bosom spread,
Widens a strain of fearful red;

Out of the depths there rises now
A pale dead face with cloven brow,

And tangled 'mid the blood-stained curls
There gleams a daisy wrought of pearls.

ROMANCE IN REAL LIFE.

Marriage After a Thirty-Three Years Engagement.

On Sunday last Miss Matilda Griffith, who has long been a respected resident of Greenville, and Mr. John Grant, of Ireland, were married at the residence of the former by Rev. E. F. Buist, D. D. The Greenville Enterprise says:

The incident is a pleasing one; a romantic history attaches. Thirty-three years have fled since the parties became engaged, nor have they seen each other in that time, and during a long portion of it were ignorant of each other's whereabouts. They were both attached, when mere children, in their native Ireland; but when the engagement became known, the families of both were opposed to it from opposite religious views, and that of Miss G. contrived to send her, against her will, to the United States. Mr. G., all disconsolate, enlisted in the British army, not being aware at first whither the lady had gone. His career as a soldier continued twenty-six years; in the meanwhile he fought through the terrible Sepoy rebellion in India, making as many hairbreadth escapes "in the imminent deadly breaches" as Othello. He returned to England some three or four years ago, and, having in the meantime had some correspondence with the lady by letter—for his devotion never faltered—sailed for this country. She was on her voyage at the same time to old Ireland, and the ships passed each other. He found his way to the great West, and having been prostrated by cholera, and losing the means brought with him, he went to Montana to recruit. Last Friday he arrived by the cars in Greenville, suddenly and unheralded, and forthwith sought the house of Miss G., who knew him instantly on sight, but he did not recognize her in the same manner, for she had changed from the fragile girl to the mature woman. Of course she was agitated and overjoyed as he was, and there being no longer any impediment, an immediate marriage was determined on. The result was their union on Sunday, as before stated.

Explosion of Kerosene Accident—A Young Lady Scalded to Death.—The Wilmington (Del.) Commercial records the following distressing accident, which occurred in that city on Wednesday night:

A young lady named Laura Caswell, a teacher in one of our public schools, was retiring to about half past ten, and was all ready to get into bed, when she turned to a coal oil lamp, it is supposed, and attempted to extinguish the light by blowing down the chimney. The flames was thus blown down into the oil and the lamp exploded, throwing the blazing oil all over Miss Caswell's night-dress and the clothing she had just taken off lying near. Enveloped in flames, she ran screaming into the entry communicating with her room, where her father immediately afterwards found her. He made every effort to extinguish the flames, and a brother of the young lady's tore up a piece of stop-carpet and threw it over her head. This saved her head from burning, but her whole person, from her neck down, was horribly burned before the flames could be extinguished. By this time Miss Caswell's room was on fire, and it required the efforts of the family to save the house from destruction. Mr. Caswell, in his attempt to save his daughter, had his hands badly burned, all the finger nails being burned off one hand, and the other being so much injured that it will be a long time before he can again use it, if indeed he ever can. Medical aid was immediately summoned to dress the wounds and alleviate the sufferings of the poor girl, but the physicians pronounced her case a hopeless one from the first. She lingered until about ten o'clock next morning, when death put an end to her sufferings. Her body and hands were most severely burned, and her person, except her head and feet, was one mass of scorched flesh. She was a young lady but eighteen or nineteen years of age, in the full bloom of early womanhood, attractive in personal appearance as well as in character, and leaves a large circle of friends to mourn her sad and sudden death.

The Spanish De Conto, whose duel with the Cuban Porto, at Lundy's Lane, Canada, has already been reported, has been called upon by a reporter for the New York World, and was informed that there had not been any duel. Several gentlemen met at the point mentioned and two of them engaged in a target shooting, and Senor Porto was wounded in the leg "by an accident." The ingenious Spanish editor says that the targets were placed at ten paces. He called the affair a diplomatic and was generally reticent concerning the matter. Mr. De Conto stated that he did not fire until Porto had fired his second shot, believing in his power to outdo his antagonist with half the powder. It was further stated that Mr. Porto was not the editor of the articles attacking Mr. De Conto, but that he made himself responsible for them, and thus brought about the target shooting near Niagara Falls.

Havana Market.

HAVANA, June 12.—The sugar market has been rather more quiet this week than the previous week, and the authorized government board of brokers place Nos. 11 and 12 at 8¼a8⅝ reals per arroba. Coffee—superfine at $18; other classes at $12a14 per 100 lbs; triage do at $10a11 do.

EXCHANGE—Closing at 13a13½ for 60 days sight bills on London, and payable in do. Paris and Continental payable there francs, at 60 days sight at ½a¾c. New York, Boston, &c., and payable in currency, 60 days sight, 26½ discount; do do short sight, 24½ do. Spanish gold, for Spanish bank bills, at 2½ premium; commercial or trade discounts at 11a12 per cent per annum.

The trade reports place sugars as follows: For whites through at $5¾ to $7¾ per 100 lbs; yellows do, 18 to 20, at 44½ to $5¾ do; browns do, Nos 11 and 12, at $4¾ to $4¾ do; Cucurucho do, 7 to 10, at $3¾ to $4¾ do; Muscovados and centrifugals as last advised.

Shipped, during the week 38,680 boxes and 5700 hhds, of which for the United States 24,94 boxes and 2828 hhds; leaving stocks on hand at the shipping ports, Havana and Matanzas, equal to 384,427 boxes and 19,044 hhds, against for the same period of 1868 of 487,793 boxes and 14,152 hhds.

MOLASSES—Light business, steady for clayed at 6 to 6¼ reals per keg; and Muscovados at 6½ to 7 rls do. In other island produce nothing new to report.

FREIGHTS.—Rates for Europe have improved; no advance in United states shipments. Falmouth for orders with £2 5s to £2 10, direct; to load at outports £2 7s 6d to £3 15s. Liverpool—£2 7s 6d paid for 900 hhds molasses, and £2 7s 6d for 2400 boxes sugar; same proportions for other ports. Taken for the United States, north of Hatteras, British brig Oak Point, 450 hhds sugar at $8 75 each, and molasses on deck at 64 50 per hhd or 110 gallons, as usual.

EXCHANGES—As given above.—Sales of sterling during the week, 60 days sight, amount to £178,000; do Paris 1 190,000 francs. Total sales United states currency and gold $883,000; United states gold short sight to 4¾ premium.

Our business goes very heavy, not knowing what a day may bring forth. We deal with and for absolute necessities—not more. Speculation has no chance to breathe.

Boston Market.

BOSTON, June 18.—COTTON.—The market for cotton is quite firm and prices have been steadily advancing the past week. With the prospect of light supplies for the balance of the season, holders are quite indifferent about selling, and look for a further advance. The sales have been 3600 bales, and we quote 27a28c for ordinary; 28¼a29c for good ordinary; 30½a31½c for low middling, and 31¾c a 32½c for middling, including uplands and Gulf. Stock on hand about 7000 bales.

DOMESTICS.—Considerable activity in cottons, and there is a very firm feeling with the prospect of a further advance on account of the increased cost of production. Woolens have been selling more freely, the clothiers having been free purchasers, but prices continue to rule low and unsatisfactory.

GUNNY CLOTH.—Demand quite active and sales of 1700 bales at 22¾a23c currency, and 10½c gold, in bond. Higher prices are now asked.

GUNNY BAGS.—Market quiet at 16¾a17c, currency.

HAY.—The sales have been at $18a23 per ton, and choice lots at some advance. The market is better supplied.

NAVAL STORES.—In spirits turpentine the sales have been small at 46a47c per gallon, closing at 46c. In tar, rosin and pitch very little doing.

Wilmington Market.

WILMINGTON, June 19.—TURPENTINE.—Sales of 115 barrels at $3 for virgin, and $2 60a2 65 for yellow dip, per 280 lbs.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.—Sales of 200 bbls at 38½c per gallon. Other sales have also taken place, but we could not get the records.

ROSIN.—452 barrels changed hands at $1 70 for black, $1 80 for strained, $2 for extra No. 2, $2 25a3 70 for No. 1, and $4a5 for low pale.

TAR.—Only 20 bbls received and sold at $2 25 per barrel.

COTTON.—One small lot (7 bales) sold at 30c for mixed.

HAY.—194 bales Northern sold from wharf at 70c per 100 lbs.

Augusta Cotton Market.

AUGUSTA, June 18.—COTTON.—The market to-day has been quiet but firm, without material change in prices. Sales were on a basis of 31½c for Liverpool middling, and amounted to 548 bales; receipts 7 bales. The stock on hand to-day by actual count is 2871 bales, including over 500 bales already sold and awaiting shipment.

AUGUSTA COTTON STATEMENT, JUNE 17, 1869.

Stock on hand september 1, 1868	1,607
Receipts since to date	92,884—94,491
Exports and home consumption	91,620
Stock on hand May 31	2,871—94,491

Savannah Market.

SAVANNAH, June 17.—COTTON—the market during the past week has continued steadily to advance in prices, the demand being confined almost entirely to purchasers for domestic account.

The healthy state of trade in this country, with diminishing stocks in the raw material there being scarcely enough to supply the wants of the consumer, has had the effect of running up prices here. our market closing firm at the following quotations: Middling 31; low middling 30; good ordinary 28¾.

SEA ISLAND.—About 70 bags were sold early in the week, since when there has been nothing doing for the want of stock. The little that now remains is limited at prices which have caused its withdrawal from the market. With this state of things there are no quotations to give. The receipts at this port since June 10 amount to 2025 bales upland, of which 1950 were received per Central Railroad, 73 bales per Atlantic and Gulf Railroad, and 2 bales upland from Augusta. The exports for the same time have been 4692 bales upland and 159 bales sea island, of which 527 bales upland and 1 bale sea island were shipped to Havre, 2483 bales upland and 158 bale sea island were shipped to New York, 824 bales upland to Baltimore, and 763 bales upland to Philadelphia.

RICE.—Very dull and stock small. Clean, common to prime 7¾ 8½c nominally; inferior rough $1 50a1 75; sea coast do $1 75a2 per bushel. Stock of clean rice at present in the city 250 tierces.

Interior Cotton Markets.

COLUMBIA, June 19.—The business in cotton during the past week has been light, the amount offered being very small. In the meantime, prices have materially advanced. We now quote middlings at 30.

ORANGEBURG, June 18.—Cotton in better demand. Sales of the week 20 bales. We quote: Ordinary, 25½; low middling, 27½; middling 28.

Columbus Cotton Market.

COLUMBUS, March 18.—Rain has been falling in this section heavily all but two days of the week, with a prospect of continuance. The effect has been greatly to increase the growth of grass and stop labor. In many localities the cotton fields were badly cleaned. This weather will make them worse. The cotton plant is full of sap and growing rapidly—but as yet few squares are forming. If a drought succeeds or the rains continue, the results will be disastrous to the crop. If all goes well the receipts at this point will amount in 1869-70 to some 75,000 to 80,000 bales.

This season here is a prospect of 250 to 300 bales more to arrive. To the receipts should be added about 125 bales received at the factories, which was not warehoused. This will make the receipts thus far 48 072 bales.

Saturday middlings were quoted at 29; sales 215 bales (160 good stock low middlings brought 28½c); Monday 29¼, sales 33 bales; Tuesday 29½c, sales 158 bales; Wednesday 30c, sales 20 bales; Thursday 30a30½c, sales 90 bales. 72 bales strict good ordinary 29½c.

Counted warehouse stock this afternoon show 6,69 bales, of which some 50 bales belonging to the manufacturers. The following are given as nominal quotations, with most buyers withdrawn: Ordinary 27½; good ordinary 28½a28¾; low middlings 29½a30; middlings 30a30½c. Warehouse sales for the week 5 3 bales; shipments 611 bales.

Week's receipts 61 bales against the corresponding week of last season, and 66 the previous week of this year.
