Stabbing.—A stabbing affray occurred on Bridge street on Saturday morning. Anticipating the Result of the Fall Elections.

Bridge Works.—Mayor Agnew has issued a proclamation, in which he says: "The ordinance prohibiting the discharge of fire-arms, skyrockets, firecrackers or other explosive or noisy substance or thing to-day, the 4th of July, is, by order of the Council, suspended on Lincoln street, from Elmwood avenue to Gervais street, and on the streets for the distance of one square East and West of Richardson street, on the Assembly street, from Laurel to Gervais street."

That the Mayor be requested to call a special meeting of Council to consider the contract between the City and Wm. Simons. Carried.

Disorderly.—An order has just been issued, prohibiting all parties from bathing in Hampton's Pond, or encroaching upon the grounds. This will disappoint many individuals, who expected to spend the day about there.

Private McEvoy was fined $1 and costs by Justice McCord, for assault and battery on George Washington.

Trial Justice Marshall bound over Albert Castelar in the sum of $100, for malicious injury done to a stable.

Trial Justice Thompson issued warrant for the arrest of George Washington and John Velney, charged with stealing a pair of boots, valued at $12; and a police warrant for Anthony Bradley, who was arrested and had his case continued.

The R. R. R. Ogre Again.—"Scrutator," a correspondent of the Sunday Sun writes:

"This week I looked in a face from one of the Chamberlain men, who was so elated that he was like to burst with the developments. You may rely on what I tell you. If I could display on the mantle of my inkstand you would have to be blinded, you, too, as he was, and, indeed, I was. There is no over a sign of the place where it was caught. The lion and the little lambs will repose quietly together in labor words, peace is fully restored. The details are yet to be arranged, but the understanding is that Patterson is to be satisfied. Chamberlain is to receive the nomination for Governor. R. B. Elliott will be the Lieutenant-Governor. Dunn is to be Comptroller-General again. The affairers of the saintly Cardozo will rejoice to hear that he is booked for the Treasury. Judge Carpenter will subside and be Attorney-General. Governor Chamberlain will go to the Senate on the 4th of March, and Elliott will be Governor. Hoge, Wallace, Rainey and Shaills are to be reelected, although Patterson wants Carpenter instead of Hoge, and the matter is not fully determined. Bowen will represent Charleston, and Ed. Mackey will look elsewhere for a situation. Judge Mackey is to be elected Judge, vice Carpenter, promoted, while Stone is booked for Mack's place. Harley is to go to the Legislature and be "Mr. Speaker." The above is all that is definitely fixed as yet, but there is to be a caucus conclave at Columbia, I believe shortly. It was the subject of remark among the clans at a meeting, that this schedule would not suit the News and Courier; but one gentleman seemed that by remarking, with a wink that 'money heals the sore.'

"I have just heard that the Union Herald is to be resuscitated, revivified and enlarged; that Tom Cavender will be permitted to draw a salary from it and write occasional editorials. The old Senators whose terms expire will be returned. Woodruff and Jones will be clerks and public printers, if they want it. Only Moses and Whipper are yet unprovided for. It has been stated that Gov. Chamberlain himself had no part in this programme, and the proceedings were to be subject to his approval. What he will do remains to be seen. Grave doubts are entertained of his acquiescence.

Marshal Bazaine has published in Spain an account of the part acted by him in the late Franco-Prussian war; special prominence is given to the siege and surrender of Metz, and he endeavors to vindicate his conduct as a commander.
