LOCAL LEGISLATION

The city council held an important meeting last night. All members present but Mr. B. A. Weathers, who was sick. The principal thing of interest was Colonel Camp's proposition to buy the electric light plant and supply the city illumination. The city declined the proposition for two reasons; first, it was too indefinite, nothing being offered the city for its utility; second, the council has the proposition of bonding and improving the present plant.

A motion was passed making the salary of Captain Bull, chief of the fire department, $60 per month in cash or scrip.

Mr. Carmichael made a motion that members of the police force be put on the same basis but received no second.

Now that two officers, Captain Bull and Street Inspector Moore, receive their salaries on a cash basis, it does not look just that the other city officials are not treated in the same manner, considering the increase in cost of living over previous years. The council ought to be prompt in seeing that its salaried officers, who certainly earn their wages, are treated alike.

After the consideration of bills, etc., the council adjourned.

Alderman H. C. Jones of the fourth ward, having moved into the second, tendered his resignation. We desire to say in this connection that Mr. Jones presented to the Star reporter a communication, the substance of which was to thank the people of the fourth ward for the honors conferred, but having lost that communication we await the gentleman's second copy for print, and beg his pardon for our carelessness.

DREADFUL ATTACK OF WHOOPING COUGH

Mrs. Ellen Harlison, of 300 Park St., Kansas City, Mo., writes as follows: "Our two children had a sever attack of whooping cough, one of them in the paroxysm of coughing would often faint and bleed at the nose. We tried everything we heard of without getting relief. We then called in our family doctor, who prescribed Foley's Honey and Tar. With the very first dose they began to improve and we feel that it has saved their lives." Refuse substitutes. Sold by the Postoffice Drugstore.

GOT HIS PATENT

B. H. Seymour received word yesterday from the patent office at Washington that he has been granted a patent for his crosstie cutter and veneer mill. This question being settled, Mr. Seymour will now proceed to put his machine on the market.

BEST COUGH MEDICINE FOR CHILDREN.

When you buy a cough medicine for children you want one in which you can place implicit confidence. You want one that not only relieves but cures. You want one that is unquestionably harmless. You want one that is pleasent to take. Chamberlin's Cough Remedy meets all of these conditions. There is nothing so good for the coughs and colds incident to childhood. For sale by all druggists.

GOING TO TRAVEL

BALLARD'S HOREHOUND SYRUP

Immediately relieves hoarse, croupy cough, oppressed, rattling, rasping and difficult breathing. Henry C. Stearns, druggist, Shullsburg, Wis., writes, May 20, 1901: "I have been selling Ballard's Horehound Syrup for two years, and have never had a preparation that has given better satisfaction. I notice that when I sell a bottle they come back for more. I can honestly recommend it." 25c., 50c., $1. Sold by the Anti-Monopoly Drugstore

GOING TO WORLD'S FAIR

Several Ocala people, going to the World's Fair at St. Louis, will want good trunks and traveling bags, such as Smith has on sale at the Ocala Furniture Company.

CHRONIC BRONCHITIS CURED

"For ten years I had chronic bronchitis so bad that at times I could not speak above a whisper," writes Mrs. Joseph Coffman of Montmorenci, Ind. "I tried all remedies available, but with no success. Fortunately my employer suggested that I try Foley's Honey and Tar. Its effect was almost miraculous, and I am now cured of the disease. On my recommendation many people have used Foley's Honey and Tar, and always with satisfaction." Sold by the Postoffice Drugstore.

Private William Moorman, the veteran manipulator of the Grahamville ferry, was in the city yesterday discussing local, state and national politics with his host of friends here. There are few people in the county who take a deeper interest in political matters than does Mr. Moorman, nor is there a man who reads closer on these questions. He says he has the meat of the egg for his friends and the shell for those he opposes.

A KENTUCKIAN

Is a Candidate for Sheriff in Marion County, Florida

Through the return of William Finnell yesterday from a four months' trip to Florida, it was made known that Allan Rodgers, formerly of Woodford county and well known in Fayette, is a candidate for sheriff of Marion county, and with splendid prospects of winning the race. Twenty years ago Mr. Rodgers went to Ocala, Fla., and settling in that county he became a part of the great enterprise that country has shown. Always a leading spirit, he allied himself with the progressive people and has engrafted himself upon their affections. He is a democrat, firm in the faith, and rendered many a valuable service to the party before he left his "old Kentucky home." He has several relatives and numerous friends in Woodford county and Lexington who remember him and wish him well in his present endeavor.

Judging from the sentiments expressed in the Florida papers concerning him, Mr. Rodgers is well thought of in that community and it looks like he is a sure winner. The Tampa Tribune has the following to say about him and his race:

"The voters of Ocala can make no mistake in making Mr. Rodgers sheriff, and it is to be hoped that he will be unanimously elected in the approaching primary. He has enough friends in Tampa and South Florida to carry the election, and should they be permitted to cast their ballots for him he would have the office in his grasp right now."—The Lexington Democrat.

THE VETERAN VOTE

Will Go to An Old Comrade

"There are about 5000 Confederate veterans in Florida. They have at the lowest estimate as many sons and sons-in-law, whose vote is controlled largely by their influence. This vote will go solid, almost to a man, for C. M. Brown for governor." Thus spoke a high Confederate veteran yesterday. Mr. Brown was a captain in the First Florida regiment, and served under Gen. Robert E. Lee from the first to the last day. The four bullets which he now carries is proof of his bravery at Seven Pines, Bull Run, Olustee and Petersburg. The Southern men in Florida are not going to forget C. M. Brown on May 10, no matter how well they like the other candidates who are running for governor. A man who fought side by side with them or their fathers, and who never showed his back to the enemy is the man who will get their votes for governor. That man is C. M. Brown. With these 15,000 votes, and the many others which his sterling honesty and ability will bring him, will carry C. M. Brown very near a winner in the first primary.

A CURE FOR HEADACHE.

Any man, woman or child suffering from headache, biliousness or a dull, drowsy feeling, should take one or two of DeWitt's Little Early Risers night and morning. These famous little pills are famous because they are a tonic as well as a pill. While they cleanse the system they strengthen and rebuild it by their tonic effect upon their liver and bowels. Sold by Wm. Anderson.

FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR
Cures Colds; Prevents Pneumonia

TODAY'S STOCK SALE

Thirty-Two Animals Sold and a Big Dinner Partaken Of.

The sale numerically was a great success. The sale lasted until 2 o'clock. Thirty-two animals were sold, consisting of grade and thoroughbred heifers, young bulls, cows and full grown males. As Mr. Chambliss will make an announcement of the different cattle, to whom sold and the price, we refrain from noting the same.

The bidding at times was quite spirited, though taking the statement of the auctioneer, Colonel Edmondson, who is a veteran in the business, and Mr. Russell of the Indian Territory, who is also a grower of thoroughbred stock, the prices realized were not those generally made or received at stock sales elsewhere in sections of the country where annual sales are made of thoroughbred cattle.

The purchasers consisted of people from South Florida, Middle Florida and a few from North Florida. Among our home buyers we can mention Edwards Bros., Colonel Miller, H. L. Anderson, and Walter Ray of Leroy.

At 12 o'clock the sale was discontinued for an hour and a half, and those present were invited to the east of the auction lot to partake of a sumptuous feast which had been prepared under the directions of Chef Charlie Ball, and his colored assistant, Perry Edwards. There were four sheep, four hogs, three goats and four gallons of burgoo, a substitute for coffee, tea and any other liquor you might think of. Messrs. John Edwards, Chazal, Chambliss, and others saw that the crowd was waited on. The edibles, placed on nice wooden platters, consisted of the barbecued meat, rolls, and two kinds of cake and pie. These last were supplied by Mr. Schlemmer, the Exposition street baker. Under the shady trees, on the soft green grass the crowd enjoyed, without any exception, the finest barbecued dinner that has ever been served in Marion county.

As soon as the meal was partaken of, the auctioneer called the crowd together and the sale continued. A short distance to the east of the auction stand were a pen of very fine Berkshire pigs, born in October, and raised on the Erral farm, at Plymouth, Orange county. The superintendent of that farm is William Edwards, who started four years ago, under very trying circumstances, with these fine hogs, and today is making quite a success of the enterprise. William Perry, a Northern man, is the owner of the property, and spends his winters in Florida. Just next to this pen was a box of Berkshire shoats, brought by Mr. W. M. Gist of McIntosh, and certainly very handsome.

Most every section of the county was represented, among those being the Edwards Brothers, Harry Clarkson and wife, H. L. Anderson and wife, Mr. S. J. Knight, Henry Gordon, G. B. Enecks, Orange Springs; Mr. Gabe Priest, Daisy; Captain Pooser, Col. J. M. Martin, Dr. Thompson, Hon. H. W. Long of Martel, D. A. Clark of Martel, E. L. Wartmann of Citra, J. M. Sims, Mr. and Mrs. G. K. Robinson, W. D. Carn, S. A. Standley, Mr. and Mrs. Sistrunk, B. H. Seymour, Mr. Bitting, Colonel Eichelberger, Ed Carmichael, Dr. Newsom, Dr. William Anderson and wife, Colonel and Henry Livingston, Major Wright of Oxford, S. A. Rawls, Colonel Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Pyles, Captain Bridges, Mr. and Mrs. Zewadski, J. M. Barco, Mrs. L. Tyler, Mr. Atkinson, General and Ray Bullock, Colonel and Jack Camp, Frank Turner, John Pasteur, Mr. Drake, Fate Miller, J. C. Mathews, Captain Harrison, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Gerig, Mrs. Chambliss, Mr. Bellair, Mr. and Mrs. Clyatt, Newcomb Barco, and many others that we cannot recall.

Everything passed off pleasantly. Too much praise cannot be given Mr. Chambliss for the methodical manner and the extreme care in which he made the needed preparations for this eventful occasion, and the praise of everyone is on their lips for the man and the splendid public spirit he has displayed in furthering the interests of Marion county.

As the eloquent auctioneer well remarked, these sales were the beginning of an industrial interest that in the next decade would overshadow every other industry in the county.

AN AFRICAN ADVENTURE.

Paul du Chaillu's First Encounter With a Monster Gorilla.

In his "Explorations and Adventures In Equatorial Africa" Paul du Chaillu tells of his first encounter with a gorilla.

"We saw an immense one coming straight toward us out of the woods," he wrote. "As he came he gave vent to terrible howls of rage, as much as to say, 'I am tired of being pursued and will face you.'

"It was a lone male, the kind which is always the most ferocious. This fellow made the woods resound with his roar, which is an awful sound, resembling the muttering of distant thunder. He was about twenty yards off when we first saw him. I was about to take aim and bring him down where he stood when my most trusted man, Malaonen, stopped me, saying in a whisper, 'Not time yet.'

"We stood in silence, gun in hand. The gorilla looked at us for a minute or so, then beat his breast with his gigantic arms—and what arms he had!—then gave another howl of defiance and advanced upon us. How horrible he looked!

"'Not yet,' whispered Malaonen.

"Again the gorilla made an advance upon us. Now he was not twelve yards off. His face was distorted with rage. His huge teeth were ground against each other so that we could hear the sound. The skin of the forearm was drawn forward and backward rapidly, making his hair move up and down and giving a fiendish expression to his hideous face. Again he roared, a sound which shook the woods like thunder. It seemed as if I could feel the earth trembling under my feet. The beast, looking us in the eye and beating his breast, advanced again.

"'Don't fire too soon,' said Malaonen. 'If you don't kill him he will kill you.'

"This time he came within eight yards of us before he stopped. I was breathing fast with excitement as I watched the huge creature. Malaonen only said, 'Steady,' as the gorilla came up. When he stopped Malaonen said:

"'Now.'

"And before the beast could utter the roar for which he was opening his mouth three musket balls were in his body. He fell dead almost without a struggle."

Joint Affliction.

When the Halliday twins were babies their mother always referred to them collectively. This was natural enough, for they shared everything, from their baby carriage to chicken pox.

As they grew a little older, however, there were slight differences between Elnora and Eudora, but Mrs. Halliday took no account of them. When they had reached the age of seven, she still referred to them in a way which struck casual listeners as amusing.

"Where are Elnora and Eudora?" asked a cousin, who had come to spend the afternoon.

"The twins have gone with their father to have one of their teeth out," said Mrs. Halliday calmly.—Youth's Companion.
