Home Intelligence.

The Outward Man.

Since the days when Adam and Eve made their fig leaf garments, until the present time, mankind have clothed themselves in different ways, as their comfort, convenience and necessities or the imperious commands of custom and fashion have dictated. The Esquimaux covers himself a foot thick, with furs; the Negro in Central America, rejoices in a complete suit of palm oil; and the native of New Zealand beautifies himself by tattooing.

In this civilized land, the dresses are of infinite varieties, according to the taste and purse of the wearer. Philosophers have argued that a man should be judged by his actions, and not by his dress. That appearances are nothing.—But until the world is much better than it is now, philosophers will preach in vain; and until men are gifted with a vision, which reads the inner thoughts, as well as the outward appearance of their fellows, they will judge by what they can see, and treat a well dressed man better than one in rags.

This being the fact, those whose clothes are seedy, will be glad to learn that Messrs. BARTLETT & BROWN are fully prepared, both with the material, and the requisite skill, to render the outward appearance of any man, favoring them with a call, as prepossessing as the form given him in nature, will permit. It would be well to remember, also, that the penalty of buying cheap clothes, is the same as that of going to law—certainty of losing your suit and having to pay for it.

Pianos.

The music loving public will learn with pleasure, that in consequence of the reinstated health of Mr. POMEROY, he has reconsidered his resolution to retire from business. By reference to his advertisement it will be seen, that having sold his assortment of sheet music, and musical instruments, except pianos and melodeons, to Mr. GEORGE ADAMS, (in the same building,) he will, in the future, confine himself exclusively to the sale of the two last named instruments. There are several reasons why it is decidedly to the interest of the purchasers, in this vicinity, to buy of Mr. POMEROY, rather than order instruments from the east. First, because being an accomplished musician himself, he is capable of judging correctly the quality of every instrument he sells; secondly, he warrants all his sales, and is here on the spot, to make the warrant good. He delivers all his pianos in the parlor of the purchaser, at his own risk, thus obviating all danger from transportation.—And last, but not least, he guarantees that the price shall be as low as similar instruments are sold in any city of this Union.

Profitable Farming.

We would like to know if any of the Trumbull county farmers can make an exhibit of more profitable farming, than the following, given by HARMON AUSTIN, Esq., of this township: "In April, 1854, I plowed ten acres of warm, sandy land with MORLEY'S double Michigan plow, and without harrowing, planted it in corn. The season being the driest and most unfavorable ever known. I got only $200 worth of corn. In September, I cut up the corn, set it in shocks, then without plowing, sowed and harrowed in about 15 bushels of wheat, from which I harvested this season, $300 worth of wheat, making the product, of the ten acres of land, one plowing and one harrowing, in the space of 18 months, of $500, or $50 per acre.

Stuttering Cured.

Dr. FRENCH, who is now stopping at the American Hotel, advertises that he can treat this disease, or habit, successfully. Whether it be a nervous disease or simply a habit, is a matter of little consequence, so that it can be cured.—Those who are afflicted can call on Dr. FRENCH, and consult him.

Agricultural Meeting

The annual meeting of the Trumbull County Agricultural Society, will be held at the office of the Secretary, on Monday the 3d day of December next, at one o'clock P. M. At which time the Committee on crops will report. All persons expecting to compete for premiums, on farm crops, will have them entered with the Secretary, by that time, and be on hand with their specimens and affidavits, forms for which, were published, with the list of premiums last spring. Officers for the ensuing year will be elected, and some other matters of material interest come up. As many as can, are requested to attend, or else "forever after hold their peace."

PHILO E. REED, Secretary.

Faithful Love.

An England paper announces the approaching marriage of Sir Thomas Trowbridge, and Miss Louisa Gurney of Norwich. Sir Thomas was in the battle of Alma and Inkermann, and greatly distinguished himself by his gallantry. At the battle of Inkermann, he commanded a battery which contributed materially to the defeat of the Russians. By during that terrible fight, a cannon ball carried away both of his feet. Expecting to bleed to death, he retired to be sewed to the rear, and directing his men to raise him upon his gun carriage and take him to the front, that he might see the issue of the battle, and in that position, he continued coolly to direct the fire of his battery until permitted to share in the shouts of final victory. Contrary to all expectation, the wounded man's life has been spared, and he was about to be rewarded by the happy consummation of a long cherished attachment with the beautiful, amiable lady who is to share his titles and honors, while she consoles and repays his sufferings.

Mrs Swishelm on Baby Shows.

The poor dupes of mothers are to be pitied, rather than blamed; some of them are decent, innocent women, who have no definite idea of the light in which they place themselves, and most are too nearly idiotic to be accountable. But it is not right that humanity should be degraded thus in these persons; nobody expects any respect for humanity from Barnum. The parties really to blame for these exhibitions are the city authorities who grant licenses, and people of ordinary sense who go to see anything so totally devoid of attractions. Ugly, stupid women, and ordinary, vulgarly-dressed children, are no great rarity in this republic; and anybody who gives a quarter to see a lot of them, deserves a pair of donkey's ears. The exhibition is akin to the old model artist shows and when Barnum and Wood visit a city to bring shame on the mothers of it by one of these shows, the sons of that city should see them safely past the suburbs on a pair of rails.

A New Project.

We learn from the Canfield Republican, that a project is on foot to unite Columbiana and Mahoning into one county. It is not likely that it will succeed, as there are a great many obstacles in the way. Salem is spoken of as the new county seat. It is a town remarkable for the rapidity of its growth. Should Columbiana and Mahoning be united, their population would be nearly 60,000.—or the third county in Ohio. The vote at the late election would have stood thus—Chase, Republican, 4,710; Medill, Bourbon, 3,631. If Ohio had only half as many counties, our taxes would be far lighter.—Cleveland Leader.

AT a late speech delivered at Alton, Illinois, Ste hen A. Douglas said:—"There are but two parties in the country—the Nebraska party on one side, and its opponents on the other. The Nebraska party is the constitutional party of the country; the opposite party is of course, opposed to the constitution."—Bad whiskey is driving the wretched man mad! Three years ago there were not in the nation fifty honest men in favor of repealing the Missouri Compromise; all the rest were opposed to the Federal Constitution! all who are opposed to opening up free territory to the cause of slavery, are opposed to the Constitution! The Constitution guarantees to American citizens no other privilege than the power to spread slavery! Such is the opinion of a man who is determined to become chief magistrate of this great republic! We think that we see the Locofoco party party nominating him; and we think, also, that we see the Locofoco party electing him!—Cleve. Leader.

IT is said that W. T. Bascom, Esq., one of the editors of the Ohio State Journal is to be Clerk of the Senate of this State.—Clevelander.

Mr. B. is, we understand, a candidate for the post, and we hope to chronicle his election. He will make an excellent officer, and deserves a unanimous vote at the hands of the Republicans of the Senate. In the campaigns of '54 and '55 his labors in the Journal have elicited the unqualified approbations of the Republicans of Ohio.—Akron Beacon.

It is all true, as the Beacon says, and if any man in Ohio deserves the meed of "well done good and faithful servant," Bascom is that man. We hope he will receive at the hands of the Republicans any office he may wish to take or any he is willing to take.—Cleveland Herald.

THE PATENT PETTICOAT LIFTER.—The latest notion from the land of shoe pegs and wooden clocks, says somebody, is an apparatus whereby ladies can manage their skirts while stepping into or out of a carriage, going up or down stairs, and in the streets, and all the while keep their hands in their pockets. The plan is perfectly simple, and the inventor exhibited at the Crystal Palace a lady figure, with the machine attached, to a large and admiring crowd of both sexes, the other evening. There are four small pulleys attached to the waist, underneath the dress, over which are rove small cords, one end of which is attached with diaper pins, severally to the front, rear and sides of the skirt at about the height of the knees. The other ends terminate in loops which are led into the pocket on either side. If a lady wishes to go up stairs, she pulls loop No 1 in the right pocket, and instantly the dress rises in front, so that the ascent is made with perfect grace. No. 2 in the left hand pocket elevates the rear in the same manner, and all pulled at once lifts all the skirts knee high! This manoeuvre is intended for very muddy crossings.—Buffalo Republic.

VERDICT FOR MRS. WARREN, OF RAVENNA.—It will be remembered that two years ago, Mrs. Mary Warren, of Ravenna, received serious injuries by the overturning of an omnibus in Cleveland.—The omnibus was upset through the carelessness of the driver of Geo. Thompson's carriage, who ran against and upset the omnibus. Mrs. Warren had her jaw broken, and otherwise seriously and dangerously injured. She sued Thompson for damages, and last year obtained a verdict against him, in the Common Pleas, of $950. The defendant appealed, and week before last the case was again tried in Cleveland, in the District Court, when the jury rendered a verdict in favor of the plaintiff, of $500.—Portage Democrat.

ON Tues ay of last week the Allegheny Valley Railroad, from Pittsburgh to the Kiskimmetas river, was opened. A train of cars, with the directors of the road, and the members of the Pittsburgh press, passed over the road to that point, a distance of about 31 miles.

Trains will run regularly from this time forward extending their trips from station to station as the track layers progress, until they reach Kittanning which they expect to do about the 26th of November. That done, there will be a formal opening, and the business of the road become established.—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

Washington's Style of Living.

Washington, by his marriage, and subsequent inheritance, had become a considerable fortune, and was enabled to live in ample and dignified style. His military aids, the Fairfaxes and his kindred, consisting of officers of rank, had perhaps had their influence on his mode of living. He had his coach and four with black postilions in livery, for the use of Mrs Washington and her children. As for himself, he always appeared on horseback. His saddle was well filled, and admirably regulated—His stud was thoroughbred and in excellent order. His household books contain registers of the names, ages and marks of his favorite horses—such as Ajax, Blue skin, Valiant, Magadia, (A. ab.) &c. Also his dogs, chiefly text hounds—Vulcan, Singer, Ringwood, Sweetlips, Forrester, Music, Rockwood, Truelove, &c.

He was an early riser, often before daybreak in the winter, when the nights were long. On such occasions he lit his own fire, and wrote or read by candlelight. He breakfasted at seven in summer, at eight in winter. Two small cups of tea and three or four cakes of Indian meal (called hoe-cakes,) formed his frugal repast. Immediately after breakfast, he mounted his horse and visited those parts of the estate where any work was going on, seeing to everything with his own hands.

Dinner was served at 2 o'clock. He ate heartily, but was no epicure, nor critical about his food. His beverage was small beer or cider, and two glasses of old Madeira. He took tea of which he was very fond, early in the evening, and retired for the night about nine o'clock.

If confined to the house by bad weather, he took that occasion to arrange his papers, post up his accounts or write letters—passing part of the time in reading, and occasionally reading aloud to the family.

He treated his negroes with kindness, attended to their comforts, was particularly careful of them in sickness, but never tolerated idleness, and exacted a faithful performance of all their allotted tasks.

Washington delighted in the chase.—In the hunting season, when he rode out early in the morning to visit distant parts of his estate, where work was going on, he often took some of the dogs with him for the chance of starting a fox, which he often did, though he was not always success ful in killing them. He was a bold rider and an admirable horseman, though he never claimed the merit of being an accomplished fox hunter.

PHYSIOLOGY FOR CHILDREN—In easy lessons, by Mrs. Jane Taylor.
This little work is devoted to human physiology and explains, in an interesting manner, the structures of the human frame, the form and uses of its several parts, the means to be employed for its preservation and perfection, and the sources from which danger is to be apprehended.
It has proved to contain many useful hints about clothing, diet, exercise, health, &c., and if faithfully studied and observed by those for whose benefit it is prepared, it may ward off many a fit of sickness, save many a doctor's bill, and lengthen out many a life, to say nothing of the fair development of the form, the improvement of the complexion, the preservation of the teeth, &c. A careful study of this work will open the eyes of children to the wonders of our physical frame, which, as the Psalmist beautifully says, "is fearfully and wonderfully made," and to the wisdom and benevolence of the Creator in the adaptation of the parts to their ends, and will lead parents, instead of feeling surprised that carelessness, neglect, exposure and indulgence, produce so many pains and diseases, to exclaim with Watts:
"Strange that a harp of a thousand strings
Should keep in tune so long."

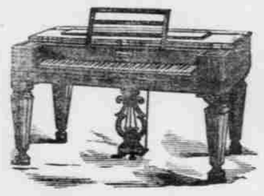
PIANO FORTES!



I WISH TO SAY TO THE MUSICAL PUBLIC of this vicinity, that owing to the immense expense attendant upon the business, I have sold my stock of Pianos here, and devote myself with redoubled activity (and ever to the finest makers, I will add) to the sale of instruments, that I have sold my entire immense stock of Music and Small Instruments to Mr. Geo. Adams, who will conduct the business as heretofore at the old stand. He is now my legitimate agent for my former customers, and respectfully solicits for him the patronage heretofore extended to me in this department. As for myself, I am now ready to receive orders for Pianos, of the best regular, factory sale, of LEAND FOSTER AND MELODEONS. I am now receiving the largest stock in this place, I have ever purchased, and am prepared to say the best stock you have examined. It shall be my aim, as it has been, to sell some but finest I believe to be the best instruments, and at such prices as to make it it an object for persons in purchase of an instrument of lasting as Cleveland, Pianos are, first. I will select my Instruments with the greatest care, deliver them and warrant them not only to be good, but to satisfy the purchaser. I have now been selling Pianos and Melodeons for over ten years, and in the United States, and a few of those who have purchased Pianos at me within the last 5 years, to whom persons interested can refer:

MERCHANT TAILOR and Clothier, JOHN L. WEEKS
No. 14 Market Street, Warren, O., (opposite the court House.)
The patronage with which this establishment has long been rewarded by the public generally, and especially those who appreciate a very superior kind of work, and consider their own interest renders any other advertisement almost superfluous.
He receives, early in each Winter season, a stock of CLOTHS, CASSIMERES, VESTINGS and TRIMMINGS, with a choice assortment of READY-MADE CLOTHING and FURNISHING GOODS, and a carefully selected and extensive assortment of HATS AND CAPS, all of the most style, and in short almost everything that is wanted to improve the outer man, can at all times be found.
From long experience in the business, and having arrangements in New York so as to be posted up in everything that is new, both in goods and styles of garments, it is evident that a more perfect and extensive establishment of the kind cannot be found in this section of country. (Oct. 17, '55)

NOV & DEC. APPOINTMENTS.
DR. S. D. HARDMAN, Physician for Diseases of the Lungs, (formerly Resident Physician to Cincinnati Marine Hospital,) now Physician to the Brompton Lung Hospital.
Will be at his rooms, Haskill House, Warren, Tuesday, Nov. 27.
Ravenna, Premiss House, Nov. 28.
Akron, Exchange House, Nov. 29.
Jefferson, American House, Nov. 29.

Millersburgh, Dec. 7.
Dr. Hardman treats Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma, Laryngitis, and all Diseases of the Throat and Lungs by MEDICATED INHALATION, lately used in the Brompton Hospital, London. The great point in the treatment of all human maladies, is to get at the disease in a direct manner. All medicines are estimated by their action upon the organ requiring relief. This is the important fact upon which Inhalation is based. If the remedy is directed, we take medicine directly into the stomach, if the lungs are diseased, remedies inhale and breathe vapors directly into the lungs. Medicines are the antidotes to diseases, and should be applied to the very seat of disease. Inhalation is the application of this principle to the treatment of diseases of the lungs, for it gives as direct access to those organs as food and drink which go out of reach of every other means of administering medicines. The results are why consumption, and other diseases of the lungs, have heretofore resisted all treatment, has been because they have not been approached in a direct manner by medicine. They were intended to act upon the lungs, and yet were applied to the stomach! Their action was intended to be local, and yet they were administered that they could only act a secondary action, expending their principal and immediate action upon the unoffending stomach, whilst the foul ulcers within the lungs were unmolested! Inhalation brings the medicine in direct contact with the disease, without the disadvantage of any violent action. Its application is so simple, that it can be employed by the youngest infant, or feebleest invalid. It does not derange the stomach, or interfere in the smallest degree with the strength, comfort or business of the patient. The report of the Brompton Hospital, London, shows a recovery of four-fifths of cases treated by Inhalation. If properly employed, there is no case so low, it will not benefit.
☞ The Inhalations are compounded from the original formulas used in the Brompton Hospital, London.
No charge for consultation.
CONSUMPTION CURED.—CASE OF MR. U. R. MONTGOMERY.
Three years ago Mr. Montgomery began gradually to fall in strength and flesh, with almost incessant hacking cough, and all the symptoms of Consumption. In the winter of 1853 took a violent cold, with increased cough, expectoration, night sweats and emaciation. His case continued to grow worse, and in the spring of 1855, was attacked with an alarming hemorrhage from the lungs, and increased debility. He then applied to Dr. Fitch, of New York, but with no benefit, as they prescribed for his case. After a course of treatment by inhalation, he is restored to health, and is actively engaged in business.
SALEM, O., Oct. 3, 1855.
The above is a correct statement of my case and am truly grateful to Dr. Hardman for the restoration of my health. o 31 WM. R. MONTGOMERY.

A RARE CHANCE to buy a house and lot on Washington Avenue, in Warren, at a very low mark. The lot is about two acres square, very handsomely situate. There is on it a new frame house and an excellent well of superior water. There is ground enough to warrant a division of the lot, the house be sold to one party, and the whole will be sold together, or apported to suit the purchaser. The situation is fine, a good neighborhood, and nigh enough to the High School. The owner, R. M. Morrell, being desirous of selling, offers the place for $1,100, half down, balance in two payments. For further particulars, call on T. J. McLAIN.

STATE OF OHIO. Trumbull County, ss. In the Court of Common Pleas.
William A. Ogle, vs. Augustus A. Burr, David Matthews, Abner Hubbard and Joshua W. Lamberson.
The said William A. Ogle has filed his petition in said court, setting forth, since a debt owing to the plaintiff on a note by said plaintiff against said Burr, Matthews & Hubbard, at the September Term of the District Court for Summit County, Ohio, A. D. 1854, upon the amount of $2,158 56 is found due from said Burr to said plaintiff, and is ordered to be paid to the plaintiff, or a larger indebtedness from said Hubbard to him, and on which the said Burr is bound as surety, and which he has paid, or a mortgage from said Burr and said Matthews, of a certain tract of land, in the township of Ravenna, in said County, and the Joshua W. Lamberson, by mortgage of said Lamberson, setting forth that said Matthews, in the year 1846, had contracted said lands to said Lamberson, who has always been in possession of the land, and has paid the rents and profits thereof from that time; that said Matthews has received under said contract, by way of interest on the purchase price of said land, about one hundred dollars, and of said Lamberson, as a lien on said land, and that the amount still due from said Lamberson for the use of said land, be applied on the indebtedness aforesaid to the plaintiff, and that the land mortgaged, be sold in favor of the said Burr, for loss against said Burr, be released from the lien of said Mathews, to an extent equal to the amount paid him as interest, and for other proper relief. The said Augustus A. Burr and A. Lee Hubbard, are not inhabitants of said state, and an order of publication has been made, requiring them to answer said petition on the fourth Saturday after this date, or said petition as to them will be taken as confessed.
