It costs but a trifle and thousands o test its efficacy. 2)

AN INTERESTING SERVICE

Held Tuesday Evening at the German Reformed Church.

Last evening the Sunday school of the German Reformed church held their Christmas celebration. The recitations of the children were interspersed with music by the school, by the choir and by individual singers. Rev. Keller, of Hartville, delivered an address which was listened to with keen attention and hearty appreciation on the part of the audience. Everyone present—and the church was crowded with people—enjoyed the occasion as one of great interest. Just before the close of the festivities the pastor, Rev. J. B. Rust, expressed his thankfulness to the young people of the congregation for the beautiful and useful present made to him by them. After the distribution of the gifts to the children the people returned to their homes satisfied that the evening had been well spent.

A BOX OF POISON

And What Came of It—A Well-Worked Surprise.

Mr A. J. Criss, foreman of the painting department of the Bucher & Gibbs Plow Co., was completely taken by surprise on Christmas Eve by the painters of his department. He had quietly procured a large fat turkey for each of the boys, and thought to surprise them, but the boys, not to be outdone, were prepared, and when each had received his turkey one of them stepped forward, and in a neat little speech presented Mr. Criss with a good sized box with a skull and cross-bones labelled on one side, remarking on behalf of the painters: "I present you this box of poison, to be taken twice a week in small doses." He was requested to open the box of poison, and it was found to contain an elegant plush covered shaving outfit, consisting of a fine ivory handled razor, mug and ivory handled brush. Last Christmas Mr. Criss' hands presented him with a complete set of Dickens' works, 15 volumes, elegantly bound in cloth. To say that Mr. Criss appreciates these tokens of friendship would but mildly express it.

"From Bar Room to Pulpit."

(COMMUNICATED.)

From this week New York papers, we learn that Sam. W. Small delivered his lecture last Sabbath in Chickering Hall, and his strikingly picturesque and graphic description of his own struggle in the bondage of the drink habit and his final deliverance, were powerful. He recounted the events that led to his becoming a slave to strong drink, and his awakening to his lost condition. He gave a most thrilling description of the terrible struggle he had to free himself and also his friends' despair and his family's anguish until he stood firm on the rock of total abstinence. Our people can hear this same lecture from the lips of Mr. Small himself, on Thursday evening, in the Tabernacle, in Canton. The house should be filled. We are informed that the young ladies of the Y. W. C. T. U. are meeting with good succes in selling tickets for said lecture.

HOTEL ANNOUNCEMENT!
The undersigned, formerly with Amos Byers at the Farmers' Hotel, has leased for a term of 5 years
THE "UNION HOTEL," 51 North Market St.,
from G. W. Heidenbrand, the late proprietor, and has thoroughly remodeled, painted and decorated the entire building; also put in new furniture, beds and bedding, and in every way made such improvements as are usually found in a first class Hotel. I hope to announce that I am thoroughly prepared in every detail to care for the former guests of the "Union" and the travelling public, and solicit the patronage of all who appreciate good fare and accommodations at "live and let live" rates.
The Hotel is accessible by street railway from all the railroad stations in the city, has a telephone in the office, and has connected with it a large stable and sheds, well fitted up, where horses will be thoroughly cared for.
DAVID BYERS.
