DEATH IN THE WATERS.

Adam and Fred Rohrig, Father and Son, Two of Abilene's Citizens, Lose Their Lives in the Smoky Hill River While Bathing—A Peculiarly Sad Accident.

We are called upon today to chronicle one of the saddest accidents that has ever occurred in this city. By it a happy home is made desolate by the loss of a father and son, and a poor wife and daughter driven almost frantic with sorrow.

It seems that about 2 o'clock in the afternoon yesterday Mr. Rohrig and Fred, feeling the extreme heat, drove down to the river for a bath. They went to a place just below what is known as Humbarger's ford, and were accompanied by J. E. Brown, Geo. W. Loyd, Chas. W. Hill and L. Lipps, with whom they took a bath and swim in the river.

What took place can perhaps be best told in the language of the four survivors who gave their testimony before the coroner's jury this morning.

J. E. Brown: "The river was muddy on the north side and two of us, Fred Rohrig and myself, swam to the south bank where the water was not so deep and was clear. We were on that side for some time when Fred said, 'Let us go and get my father and Mr. Hill and bring them over.' We went across, wading all the way. While returning with Mr. Rohrig we stepped into a hole and lost our balance. Mr. Rohrig caught me around the neck and called for Fred who at once came to his assistance. He then let loose of me and caught Fred and both went under together. I went under as well. They were seen no more until found at the bottom of the river. When Mr. R. let go of me I was almost exhausted and could scarcely get to the bank. Fred was found within a few feet of where he went down and his father about thirty feet farther down stream. It was about half past three when the drowning took place. I was on my back when Mr. Rohrig seized me so I could not aid him."

Lewis Lipps: "I stayed on the north side with Mr. Loyd, who could not swim, for fear of an accident while bathing. The others came across and when we saw the three start to return we left the river and started to dress. On looking around we saw him within perhaps ten feet of the bank and heard Mr. Brown cry for help. I ran to the bank but when I got there not a ripple was to be seen. Mr. Brown afterwards came up and swam to shore but the other two did not. We were all the best of friends and there had been no harsh words that afternoon. Mr. Rohrig was found lodged against a log; Fred against a snag, about four feet from the bottom."

Chas. Hill: "I was about 50 feet up stream when the accident took place. Could not help them as I am a poor swimmer and had all I could do to get across myself."

Mr. Loyd gave similar testimony, corroborating the story given by Mr. Brown and Mr. Lipps in every particular.

The coroner's jury, which was composed of Geo. Ogden, Richard Waring, A. S. Seeds, Geo. E. Shearer, M. P. Shearer and Dr. J. W. Felty brought in a verdict of "death by accidental drowning."

As soon as the news was brought to the city yesterday afternoon, hundreds drove to the scene of the accident. The bodies were carried to Eicholtz's undertaking rooms where they have remained until today.

The news was carried to the home on Vine street. The wife and mother, a delicate natured lady, upon hearing the sad tidings, fainted away and has spent the hours ever since in moaning and weeping in a half delirious manner over her great sorrow. Grave fears are expressed lest the blow may prove dangerous to her life.

The whole burden of the grief thus falls upon the oldest daughter at home, Katie, who with a brave spirit seldom witnessed in one of her years, is carrying the load of grief and caring for the little ones of the family and watching over the stricken mother.

Adam Rohrig was 53 years old. He was born in Baden, Germany, and had lived in this country about 30 years. For 25 years his home was in Griggsville, Ill., being married in that State. Then in 1886, he moved to Abilene, where he has since resided, carrying on one of the principal barber shops in the city. He leaves a family of nine children—two of them married. There are at home to mourn the loss of a kind and indulgent father three girls and three boys, the younger members of the family being aged six, ten, thirteen and sixteen years respectively.

Frederick Rohrig was aged 25 years and six months. He was born in Illinois and came west with the family two years ago this month, after the father had got the business started. He was a partner with his father in the shop, the "Gem," the firm name being A. Rohrig & Son.

Mr. Rohrig was a pleasant, agreeable, upright business man whom all will miss from our streets. He was a most kind and indulgent father and the family ties were much stronger than are often found.

Fred was a well-liked young man. He was quiet, unobtrusive, yet attentive to business, and was idolized by the fond mother and sisters.

Miss Katie, who is left as the mainstay of the family, has been the leading saleslady in the Daylight store for some months.

The funeral services will be held tomorrow at the home at 9:30 a. m., Rev. Dr. J. L. McKeehan officiating. Mr. R. was a member of several secret societies, etc., whose members will attend in a body.

Mrs. H. C. Wendorf, of Perryville, Ills., and Miss Lillie Rohrig, who is visiting at Riggsville, Ills., have been telegraphed for and are expected in the morning.

POLITICAL PYROTECHNICS.

Dr. Tobey Discharges Democratic Doctrine at a Small Crowd—He Succeeds in Completely Befuddling the Minds of His Hearers.

The court room was fairly well filled Friday night by the audience gathered to listen to Dr. N. D. Tobey, of Salina, who had been advertised to speak on the political questions of the day. By actual count there were 127 persons in the room and of this number probably forty per cent were Republicans who had wandered in to see what kind of an argument a Democrat could make anyhow.

The old soldiers wanted the court room for a post meeting and there came near being a collision of interests and persons over the fact; but at last the leaders fixed the thing up and the veterans were forced to give way to a Democratic harangue.

'Squire German was chosen president and introduced Dr. N. D. Tobey, of Salina, who began speaking a little after nine o'clock.

The speaker at his first break came down flat-footed in the midst of the tariff question and stuck there throughout the time of his lengthy discourse.

The Doctor has got the tariff question down in about six hundred and eighty columns of nonpareil, and no doubt it would be an interesting speech if it could all be delivered at once. He was, on this occasion, compelled to abridge it so much that he left out the most important parts of the address.

He raved about the importation of foreign labor, but did not explain how free trade was to remedy the matter. Kansas farm laborers, he said, are well paid, but he did not explain that it is on account of the protected farm products that they are so remunerated.

The Mills bill was lauded as a sort of special dispensation from the powers that be, but he did not tell his hearers why it favors every necessity of life or death in the South and discriminates against the North.

Altogether it was a lame apology for a free-trade speech. It is probable that the Cobden club will have nothing these ready-made ramblings misunderstood the Doctor's order and sent him a second or third grade article.

2 he springing of a bogus telegram on the audience knocked the speaker completely out at one time and it was half an hour before he could get his audience in listening order again.

Dr. Tobey will make a very balting race against John A. Anderson who will not have to make a speech in order to defeat him by an overwhelming majority.

Bogus telegrams are pretty small shot for a great political party to use and act as boomerangs every time. The holy show the Democratic brethren made of themselves last night should be a warning to all future dabblers in such cheap-John methods.

Southwest Teachers' Institute.

The executive officers of southwest institute district have met and selected the following dates for holding their institutes, during the ensuing school year:

The initiatory session	Oct. 13,	1888.
The second "	Nov. 17,	1888.
The third "	Dec. 8,	1888.
The fourth "	Jan. 19,	1889.
The fifth "	Feb. 16,	1889.
The sixth "	Mch. 16,	1889.

Due notice will be given of program and place of holding institute.

EXECUTIVE COM.

Runaway.

Yesterday morning at 11:30 a horse belonging to Mr. Dobson, former janitor of the central school building, while tied near the school house, broke loose and ran down Seventh street, turning into the alley between Buckeye avenue and Spruce street. Meeting was in progress at the Christian church at the time and two buggies were hitched in the alley. The loose horse and the cart attached collided with these, badly wrecking Isaac Hart's cart and tearing a wheel from R. H. Love's buggy.

Willowdale Republicans.

The Republicans of Willowdale township met at Funkhouser school house Saturday evening and organized Willowdale Harrison and Morton club by the election of M. Low, president; L. P. Hantz, vice-president; Alex Taylor, secretary, and W. S. Decker, treasurer.

State Vice President C. H. Pattison, of Solomon City, was present and gave an explanation of the objects of the club, closing with a strong argument in favor of organization.

C. S. Crawford, of Abilene, followed with a resume of the history of the parties, closing with a strong and well-put argument for protection and Republican doctrine. The club starts out with a strong organization and is bound to be a success.
