Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Edgar and son, Russell, have gone to Denver.

Mrs. J. G. Gould left last night for Los Angeles, where her son is ill.

Agent P. J. Johnson has returned from Phoenix, Ariz., where he attended the Santa Fe railway loss and damages meeting.

Harry Sinott, cashier for the Santa Fe railway, returned last night from Clovis, where he has been in the company hospital for several weeks.

Vice President W. E. Hodges of the Santa Fe railway, who arrived here Saturday afternoon on train No. 2, left last night for El Paso on train No. 809.

E. S. Elttrem, Santa Fe railway conductor, is recovering from pneumonia after an illness of two weeks. He will go to the railway hospital at Clovis as soon as he recovers sufficiently.

General Manager Scott of the Southern Pacific arrived here last night on train No. 1, traveling in his private car, and left on train No. 809 for El Paso. His headquarters are at Denver.

Dr. W. W. Dill, 310 W. Tijeras avenue, has recently located here, having come from Redlands, Calif. He was educated in the University of Pennsylvania and studied the throat and ear in Vienna. He was employed in the von Ruck sanatorium, one of the largest in the east.

MAIL CAR PUT ON DAYLIGHT TRAIN; NO. 809 LOSES IT

The demand for a mail car on Santa Fe train No. 815, from here to El Paso, known as the "daylight" train, has been answered. No. 815 left here yesterday morning with a mail car. No. 809 which leaves here at night, and which has carried the mail car, will hereafter be an express.

No. 809 will carry pouches for fourteen destinations. They will be for Rincon and Silver City, Socorro, Belen, Los Lunas, Amarillo and Albuquerque, San Marcial, Engle, San Antonio, Las Cruces and Mesilla Park. The Amarillo and Albuquerque pouches will be placed on train No. 12 at Belen.

The change was made because of the fact that mail brought here by No. 2, the fast mail and express, would lay here until 10:20 o'clock at night if No. 809 carried the mail car out of here. No. 815 leaves at 9:55 a. m., ten minutes after No. 2 arrives. No. 8, too, brings mail here for southern New Mexico points, but it is a shorter wait from No. 9's time of arrival until No. 815's time of departure than it is from No. 2's time of arrival to No. 809's time of departure.

CITIES WANT LEGISLATURE TO PASS 4 BILLS

League of Municipalities Appoints Committee to Push Them Through House and Senate at Santa Fe.

The League of Municipalities will concentrate its efforts toward securing legislation wanted by cities upon four proposed bills, according to Col. D. K. B. Sellers, vice president of the league, who was re-elected at the meeting held in Santa Fe last Friday.

The bills that the League of Municipalities wants the legislature to pass are:

Providing for the payment of street improvements and sewers by the issuance of bonds. This bill would provide for the creation of special improvement districts by petition of property holders, within which streets are to be paved or sanitary or storm sewers are to be constructed. Also it would provide for the investment of sinking fund moneys in such bonds. This bill is similar to one drawn up by the city officials here. It is to be introduced in the house by Representative Mann.

For New Occupation Tax Bill.

Protecting the fire insurance fund created for the support of fire departments.

Providing for the readjustment of occupation tax. This bill is to be introduced in the senate by Mr. Iliem.

Providing for the adoption of commission form of government by cities.

Mayor J. J. Schuler, of Raton, was re-elected president, and Colonel Sellers, vice president. H. L. Bickley, of Raton, also was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

The league will not stop with recommending the passage of these bills. A legislative committee was appointed to urge the legislature to act upon them. The committee is made up of Herbert S. Clark, chairman; Colonel Sellers and Mayor W. G. Sargent, of Santa Fe. Colonel Sellers plans to return to Santa Fe in a few days.

Learns Condition of Road.

Eleven towns and cities were represented at the meeting. They are Raton, East Las Vegas, Old Las Vegas, Santa Fe, Albuquerque, Socorro, Deming, Roswell, Tucumcari, Silver City and Artesia. Mayor Boatright, as well as Colonel Sellers, was an Albuquerque representative.

Colonel Sellers was informed by automobile tourists at Santa Fe that while the road between the capital and Albuquerque was open it could not be traversed without risking damage to a car. He made the trip by train.

FOURNELLE FUNERAL ATTENDED BY MANY FRIENDS OF YOUTH

The funeral of Harry Fournelle, who was killed by a train north of here nearly three weeks ago, was held yesterday afternoon. A big crowd attended the services conducted by Archdeacon W. E. Warren of St. John's Episcopal church at Strong Brothers' chapel.

All friends of Mr. Fournelle who saw the body were convinced that the identification was correct. The features were well preserved despite his tragic death and the fact that the body had been buried over a week before it was exhumed at the direction of Ed Fournelle, the father, to complete identification.

JANUARY MORE WET AND COLD THAN NORMAL

Precipitation Exceeded but Four Times in Last 25 Years, While Mean Temperature Has Been Lower Once

The month of January averaged far below the normal in temperature and much above in precipitation. Only once before during the last twenty-five years (January, 1912, with 29.1 degrees), has the state experienced a lower average temperature in January, and only four times during a like period has it received higher average precipitation during this month. The deficiency of temperature was greatest throughout the state, greatest, however (5 to 7 degrees a day below the normal), in the Sacramento mountains, the Sacramento valley, the Estancia valley, the plateau and foothills region of Colfax, Mora and San Miguel counties, the upper Rio Grande valley and the northwest, including practically all of Valencia, McKinley, San Juan and Rio Arriba counties. In these districts, and in a lesser degree throughout the state, the cold was almost continuous, owing largely to a succession of storms, with much cloudy weather and snow. Lower temperatures have frequently been recorded, however, likewise much higher temperatures during January.

Practically all parts of the state showed an excess of precipitation, it was small, however, over the eastern border counties, while the western border counties, and in a lesser degree the west two-thirds of the state showed the greatest excess. Periods of precipitation which were fairly general, occurred on the 5th, the 15-16th, the 22-23d, and the 28-30th. The latter was mostly rain over the lower levels of the state, while the storms of the 15-16th and 22-23d, which came with falling temperature, were largely snow storms which were heavy in the mountain districts. In fact, the snowfall averaged heavy for the state, and greatly improved the prospects for water for the coming spring and early summer.

Pressure.

The mean sea level atmospheric pressure at Santa Fe was 30.05 inches; highest, 30.43 on the 11th; lowest, 29.56 on the 30th. At Roswell the mean was 29.92 inches; highest, 30.40 on the 11th; lowest, 29.47 on the 21st. At El Paso the mean was 30.01 inches; highest, 30.48 on the 11th; lowest, 29.69 on the 15th.

Temperature.

The monthly mean for the state, as determined from the records of ninety-nine stations having a mean altitude of about 5,000 feet, was 28.7 degrees or 4.3 degrees below the normal, as determined from the departures of thirty-nine stations having records for ten years or more. January, 1914, averaged 8.9 degrees warmer than the month just closed. The highest monthly mean temperature was 41 degrees at Carlsbad, and the highest recorded temperature, 71 degrees at that station on the 29th and at Deming on the 30th. The lowest monthly mean temperature was 12.2 degrees at Dulce, and the lowest recorded temperature was 25 degrees below zero on the 17th at Regina, extreme northern Sandoval county. Low temperatures were also recorded at Dulce, Elizabethtown, Haynes, Cerrillos and Stanley. The greatest local monthly range of temperature was 75 degrees at Knowles, eastern Eddy county, and the least, 40 degrees at the Pohl ranch, near Los Lunas, while the greatest local daily range of temperature was 65 degrees at the Gallinas planting station, on the 11th.

Humidity.

The mean relative humidity at Santa Fe at 6 a. m. was 74 per cent; at 6 p. m., 70 per cent, and for the month, 72 per cent. At Roswell the mean at 6 a. m. was 67 per cent; at 6 p. m., 44 per cent, and for the month, 55 per cent. At the agricultural college the 8 a. m. readings averaged 84 per cent, the 5 p. m. readings, 42 per cent, and for the month, 64 per cent, while a forenoon reading at Fort Bayard averaged 66 per cent for the month.

Precipitation.

The average precipitation for the state, as determined from the records of 100 stations, was 0.81 inch, or 0.21 inch above the normal, as shown by the departures of fifty-three stations having records for ten years or more. The precipitation for the month was 0.67 inch greater than January, 1914. The greatest monthly amount was 4.85 inches at Noria, extreme southwest Dona Ana county, and the least, but a trace at Richland, northeast Chaves county. The greatest amount during any twenty-four consecutive hours was 2.75 inches near Nogal, on the 29th and 30th. The average snowfall for the state was 7.1 inches. There was an average of four days with 0.01 inch or more precipitation.

Wind.

The total wind movement for the month at Santa Fe was 5,147 miles, or 6.9 miles per hour; highest velocity, twenty-six miles from the north, on the 27th. At Roswell the total movement was 5,542 miles, or 7.9 miles per hour; highest velocity, forty-four miles from the west on the 12th. At the agricultural college the total movement was 5,159 miles, or 7.0 miles per hour; highest velocity, fifty-four miles from the west on the 15th. At El Paso the total movement was 7,879 miles, or 10.7 miles per hour; highest velocity, fifty-six miles from the southwest on the 12th. The prevailing direction for the state was from the west.

Sunshine and Cloudiness.

There was considerable cloudy weather during the month; for the state as a whole there were 17 clear days, 8 partly cloudy and 6 cloudy. At Santa Fe 70 per cent of the total possible sunshine was recorded, or 217 hours; there were 25 days with 50 per cent or more of the possible amount. Roswell recorded 67 per cent of the possible sunshine, and had 22 days with 50 per cent or more.

Miscellaneous Phenomena.

Thunderstorms occurred in many parts of the state on the 5th and 29th. Sleet accompanied the storms of the 15-16th and 28-30th. Fog prevailed from the 28th to the 30th at many stations. Lunar halos were observed on the 1st, 2d, 4th, 6th and 27th; solar halos on the 1st, 4th, 24th and 27th. High winds were of frequent occurrence, and gales swept much of the state on the 15th and 30th.

TUSAYAN FOREST GETS AWARD FOR LOW FIRE MARK

Smaller Number of Blazes There Than on Any Other of Sixteen National Forests in Third District.

The Tusayan national forest, situated in northern Arizona, with headquarters at Williams, has won the award of merit given by District Forester A. C. Ringland to the forest in district No. 3, which comprises Arizona and New Mexico, making the best record in the discovery and suppression of fires during the past season.

The fact that each of the sixteen forests in the third district surpassed all previous records will indicate the effort made by the Tusayan to secure the award.

Many factors had to be considered by the forest officials who awarded the prize: the percentage of fires discovered and extinguished in their incipiency, as compared to those that had gained headway and burned over one-quarter or ten acres—forest fires are classified according to acreage by forest officers; average acreage per fire; time elapsed between discovery and report; time devoted to travel and to suppression; and the general weather conditions prevailing throughout the fire season.

The Tusayan, with an acreage of 1,300,000 acres, had a total of sixty-three fires that burned in their entirety 25.75 acres, or an average of about four-tenths of an acre per fire. The percentage of those extinguished before they covered more than one-quarter of an acre was about 92 per cent, or fifty-eight in number.

SIXTEEN RIDERS GO ON A. M. C.'S FIRST RUN TO TIJERAS

The Albuquerque Motorcycle club made its first run yesterday. Sixteen riders made the trip, going to Tijeras canyon and back. The cyclists took lunch in the canyon.

Another run is to be held next Sunday. A larger number is expected to go then. The club will hold its next meeting at Carl O. Nein's shop, 220 South Second street, Thursday night.

WONDERFUL WORK IS ACCOMPLISHED AT BIG REVIVAL

Services at the Lead Avenue Church Awaken Splendid Response and Many Confessions of Faith Are Made.

The slogan, "Lead Avenue for Christ," is already becoming a power in the city. Fifty-three souls confessed faith in Christ yesterday in the Lead Avenue Methodist church. After one week of prayer and sermon, with only three calls for confession of faith, the response was fifty-three in one day. And another week set of services that are stirring the hearts and minds of the audiences that crowd the church to the doors.

Yesterday at morning and evening hours of worship the congregations were athrill with the spiritual zeal that is fired in perfect sympathy between preacher and auditors. There was not an empty seat in the morning and extra chairs were placed in the aisles to accommodate the night attendance. During the Sunday school hour, the call for Christian volunteers brought to the altar forty-four young people and three adults. An appreciated musical number was the violin solo by Mrs. Cara Hall Moore, accompanied by Miss Blanch Porterfield.

Dr. Beckman's morning discourse on "The Most Precious Word in the Bible," centered in the word "Redeemed." "Through the infinite mercy of Christ we have been redeemed, pardoned from condemnation," said the pastor. Every man who is not in harmony with God is under condemnation. Not one soul, of his own worth, escapes condemnation. Like wilful sheep, insisting on going our own way, we have scattered, separated ourselves from the light of the world, and are bound for the realms of darkness. But God in mercy, has laid on Christ all our iniquities. He redeeming us from inevitable death and despair. When any soul comes to the cross in response to the promise that "Whosoever believeth shall be saved," that penitent is conscious of the spiritual voice that says: "Go thy way; thy sins be forgiven thee." But remember also the warning, that "He that believeth not shall be damned." "Repent ye," is the call to every soul. Mark you, Christians do not claim, must not claim they are better than others; that they are sinless but must declare they have sinned and are sinful, and wholly dependent on Christ for redemption. A Christian can have no comfort in the thought their sins are small. Not only criminals, robbers, adulterers will be in the realm of the condemned but those who, having had opportunity to accept Christ, refused. You expect the preachers and deacons and Bible school teachers to be redeemed by the blood of Christ. But why not yourself? Is it because you think your sins are respectable sins?

Remember, there is no greater sin than ingratitude. Though the world may call you a fanatic if you are a devout Christian; the world has a high regard for the genuine Christian, and a contempt for the hypocrite. Prepare your lives for the sublime passing to another life so that you may be able to speak a valedictory, like one dying Christian who said to his wife: "If I am permitted I shall be your guardian angel, and open the gates of pearl for you."

The sermon at night pointed out "What every man wants to know." The chief wish of every man is to find God. College men, artisans, laborers, social outcasts all admit, no matter what their doubts, that they want to find God. Some say they find God in creation. There they have only manifestation of power. In Providence there is found only God's laws of government. In the Bible is found a revelation of God's power as demonstrated at Sinai. In the decalogue is found God's government outlined by commands. But in the new testament is found the God of mercy and love, and at the cross can every soul receive perfect joy."

The audience was gripped in a way that made it possible to hear the breathing of a breath when the sermon closed. In the after service of prayer six persons came to the altar in public confession of faith and many others requested prayers. Tonight the topic will be "Bankruptcy." The choir music will be augmented by a trombone solo by Capt. John Patton, of the Salvation Army. The motto for the week is, "Each one win one."

CROWDS GO TO STATE BUILDING ON ARIZONA DAY

(SPECIAL DISPATCH TO MORNING JOURNAL)

San Diego, Calif., Feb. 14.—Two thousand visitors thronged the New Mexico state building at the Panama-California exposition today. It was Arizona day, and the biggest crowd since the opening of the fair, was in attendance.

A special program was arranged by A. E. Koehler, Jr., commissioner of publicity, in honor of the Arizonans. In the auditorium there were six moving picture shows during the day, with lectures, and the capacity of the auditorium was taxed at each show. At the first night show this evening the crowd was so great that the foreign room was used to accommodate the overflow, and the stereopticon views of the forest service were used with great success.
