OVER 100 KILLED IN STORMS THAT SWEEP 4 STATES

Arkansas and Missouri Are Greatest Sufferers; Death Lists Growing Hourly; Immense Property Damage.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE)

Kansas City, June 6.—Death lists in the storm-swept sections of Arkansas, Missouri, Mississippi and Illinois grew hourly tonight as belated reports were received from communities which suffered in a series of tornadoes Monday night and early today.

Late tonight the deaths of 107 persons had been reported, a number of other persons were unaccounted for and believed dead, and several hundred had been injured, of whom some will die. Accurate estimates of property damage were not available, but all figures ventured by property owners in the stricken communities ran into the hundreds of thousands.

Incomplete tabulations showed the following deaths:

Arkansas, 57.
Missouri, 39—possibly more.
Mississippi, 15.
Illinois, 1.
Tennessee, 4, with a score missing in the overturning of the Mississippi packet Eleonore.

The casualties in Arkansas were from every section. Scarcely a county escaped the path of the storm, which traversed the entire state.

Jackson and Vicksburg suffered from the storm in Mississippi.

Many of the casualties in Arkansas and Mississippi were negroes. In Missouri, the Poplar Bluff section was well-night devastated. McClure reported the single death in Illinois.

THIRTY DIE IN MISSOURI STORM

Poplar Bluff, Mo., June 6.—Thirty or more persons were killed and at least seventy-five were injured in a storm that swept this section today. The damage to crops and buildings is estimated at hundreds of thousands of dollars.

The storm first passed through Oxley, where several barns and light buildings were torn from their foundations. At Stoddard, however, the storm had gained in intensity, and in addition to those killed, three persons were injured so seriously they are expected to die. William Simpson and wife, of Popular Bluff, who were killed, had passed the night at Stoddard after attending the funeral of Mr. Simpson's mother there Monday. A daughter of Mrs. Edward Fields was hurled 200 feet, but was uninjured.

Two men injured at Sikeston probably will die. They were struck by flying timbers.

Bud Bond, of Bernie, was killed by lightning while asleep. His wife was uninjured.

Owing to crippled wire service the names of many reported dead in the rural districts cannot be obtained. The storm was general and it is feared that later reports will show still heavier loss of life.

TRAPPER IS SENT TO CEBOLLETA COUNTRY TO EXTERMINATE WOLVES

Albuquerque Game Protective association recently received complaints of the depredations of lobo wolves on the Cebolleta grant, and of bears on the upper Pecos. The complaints were promptly referred to the United States biological survey. Yesterday, J. S. Ligon, predatory animal inspector for New Mexico, called on officers of the association and stated that an expert trapper was already on his way to the Cebolleta country with instructions to stay there until he had cleaned out the wolves. Mr. Ligon himself was on his way to the Pecos to investigate the bear proposition. Bears are said to have killed twenty-five cows there during the last few weeks. "If the facts are as stated," said Mr. Ligon, "a trapper will tackle them at once."

Local game protectionists express themselves as much gratified with the prompt action of the biological survey in these cases. They figure that every "varmint" killed means many dozen head of game and livestock saved. They are urging still closer co-operation between stockmen and the various game protective associations in combatting the predatory animal menace. Among other things they are urgently recommending that congress double the $250,000 appropriation for fighting these pests.

BIG ATTENDANCE MARKS OPENING OF CONFERENCE

School Men Hear Interesting Speeches in Las Vegas; Aztec Further in Time From Vegas Than Washington.

(SPECIAL DISPATCH TO MORNING JOURNAL)

East Las Vegas, N. M., June 6.—The New Mexico Educational conference opened with a large attendance of superintendents and higher institution men. Also it marks the opening of the summer school of the New Mexico Normal university, with an unprecedented number of teachers in attendance, approximating 550.

The center of interest here is U. S. Commissioner of Education P. P. Claxton, who arrived this evening and will be kept busy speaking at each session of the conference. One of the unusual circumstances connected with the arrival of Commissioner Claxton in New Mexico was his meeting with Superintendent Swinney, of San Juan county, at Lamy this morning. Commissioner Claxton left Washington nine hours after Mr. Swinney left Aztec. Each of them traveled towards Lamy as rapidly as the train would carry him, and arrived at their destination within ten minutes of each other.

Auditorium Crowded.

The meeting tonight crowded the auditorium of the Normal building. State Superintendent of Public Instruction Alvan N. White presided and the first speaker on the program was County Superintendent Dex Maris, of San Miguel county, who, in welcoming the educators in behalf of the county, strongly advocated the elimination of third grade teachers in New Mexico. He was followed by Rev. R. S. Dum in an address of welcome on behalf of the city of Las Vegas, and response was made by Mrs. S. F. Culberson, superintendent of Roosevelt county, after which, as the first speaker on the regular program, M. L. Fox was introduced and spoke on the subject of "The School of Tomorrow."

Mr. Fox was followed by Dr. Claxton, both of the speakers agreeing that the high school work should begin with the Seventh grade and that the educational system looking to the bachelor's degree should end two years sooner than the present college course, making fourteen years of schooling instead of sixteen years.
